OBSERVE 'SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK'

Ontario Edges Bonnies, 65-64, In Center Loop

A first class cliff hanger ended as a taller Ontario team nipped a hard-fighting Bonnie Builders Club, 65-64, on the Jewish Center gym floor.

Bonnie led at the half, 26-22. They were only one down at the three quarter mark, 46-45. The fourth quarter lead changed hands five times before Ontario pulled it out of the fire.

Dick Eschelman, of Bonnie Builders, led all scorers with 23 points. Bob Grad was high point man for Ontario with 21 points. The loss knocks Bonnie Builders out of the race for second round honors.

Paced by Milt Lewin's 14 points Raybo led all the way to their second win of the round. Bob Swedlow led the Main Auto attack with 20 points.

Bill Mackin of Duratile led all scorers for the evening with 35 points.

One Record Survives Frosh-Soph. Tank Meet

All but one swimming record was smashed Saturday as Columbus Academy hosted the third annual freshman-sophomore invitational meet at the Viking pool.

Academy's George Trautman won two of the nine individual events, finding time to establish a new mark in the 400-yard freestyle (4:57.6) in the preliminaries.

Greenfield's Bob Wilkin placed first in both the 200 and 100 freestyle events and was named the meet's "most outstanding swimmer" for his afternoon's work:

Here are the summaries:
200—1, Wilkin; 2, Silverman; 3, Oech. T—2:03.4. 50—1, Hastings; 2, McCormack; 3, Reiser. T—:24.9. INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY—1, Trautman; 2, Aschinger; 3, Antle. T—2:36.6. St. Mary's Nun Is Given Shell Merit Fellowship

Sister Mary James, O.P., a mathematics teacher at St. Mary of the Springs Academy, has been awarded a Shell Merit Fellowship for advanced study at Cornell University this summer.

N. H. Miles, Shell division manager, said she was among 100 outstanding high school science mathematics teachers from the U.S. and Canada selected to attend 1963 graduate seminars at Cornell and Stanford Universities.

Sister James was graduated from Albertus Magnus College, New Haven, Conn., with a bachelor's degree and obtained her master's at Harvard University.

James Carroll Finishes Course

Airman Second Class James B. Carroll is being reassigned to Red Bluff Air Force Station, Calif., following his graduation from the United States Air Force course for radio equipment technicians at Keesler AFB, Miss.

The airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Carroll of 1587 Richmond-av, is a graduate of East High School. He attended Shasta State College, Redding, Calif.

Airman Carroll's wife, Marcia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hartway of 784 Miller-av.

We Hope It Doesn't Happen Again

Imagine what it would be like today if the word went out that the banks had closed and that you could no longer draw out your money!

Thirty years ago this week, on Mar. 6, 1933, we experienced this situation. In my particular case it didn't mean too much as far as my money in the bank was concerned because it was merely a token.

I had just started in the newspaper business in Greenfield, O., in October of 1932. I was already experiencing the hardships and the hard knocks of business. The tragedies that came with the depression took their toll but likewise they provided their strengthening influences. I would never want to go through another one, but I'm sure my later course has been tempered by such experience.

The late John D. Rockefeller, Sr., ran out of dimes and had to give his caddy a dollar. In some cities taxi drivers were accepting postage stamps. In our then very weak weekly newspaper we were accepting eggs, vegetables, chickens and, yes even a dog, in payment of subscriptions.

Many people claim it couldn't happen again. I hope not. Yet, a careful analysis will show that in many ways we are treading on thinner ice today than at that time.

The bank holiday, incidentally, provided some humor as well as pathos.

Many steps have been taken to forecast economic trouble. We must consider the fact that the U.S. owes more gold that it owns! It is one thing to forecast. It is another to do something about what we find before it is too late!

'PROVING GROUND FOR TANKS?' QUESTIONS ROBBIE

ROBBIE REVIEW, Hartley Newspaper's street improvement expert, couldn't help but spot the miserable condition of this East Columbus street—it was brought to his attention with jarring emphasis as anyone who's traveled it will testify. In case you haven't guessed, it's Courtright-rd, just off of E. Livingston-av. "We mention that so that you can arrange a detour on the way home if you value your car," Robbie added.

Whitehall's largest apartment complex ever — a $5 million project — was batted about the city's council chambers Tuesday night but never got out of the bull pen.

The solons tabled any action on the Lamby-In area setup after hearing some 75 residents speak out in protest both during the session and the recesses.

Main points brought out by the citizens was that such an apartment system would cause local schools to become overcrowded and would also increase traffic dangers in the neighborhood.

Council committees will attempt to straighten out the matter during a special session called for Saturday morning. Both the opponents and the proponent, Attorney James Maxwell, will get a chance to offer their views at that time.

Maxwell maintained that it was the type of development suitable for "young married people or for older people to retire to." He's representing the developer, Metropolitan Columbus Investment Corp., and also added that he didn't think children would be allowed in the new project.

In other action, the solons:

- Passed an ordinance authorizing Service Director Robert Mickey to install gasoline tanks and pumps for use by all departments of the city.
- Authorized issuance of notes for the city's share, $194,238, of the cost of improving Maplewood-av. Assessments will be made against homeowners for the remainder of the $388,800 job.
- Gave an okay to resurface streets in the Country Club Estates area.
- Passed an ordinance pro-

Educational TV Is Getting Big Eye By Superintendent

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

It's been called the "idiot box" and the "boob tube," but to the Whitehall School District television is being eyed as the greatest thing for education since the McGuffey Reader.

Robert Crabbs, superintendent of the Whitehall district, sees educational television as a "great means for improving the quality of our educational program."

He pontificated about this and other factors in the project during two-day workshop held Monday and Tuesday in Rosemore School.

A host of educational television researchers spoke on the subject to nearly 300 teachers—including all of the Whitehall faculties along with other interested persons.

"There can no longer be any doubt that educational television can and does teach," Crabbs told the contingents in discussing the current status of the innovation in Whitehall and commenting on the future of it for that suburb's children.

As Crabbs sees it, complete TV installation for all Whitehall schools isn't a thing to be laughed at. He's already investigated the fact that the district can borrow 50 per cent of the funds needed for such an installation from the federal government through the National Defense Education Act.

The big thing holding back the project now, Crabbs pointed out, is a decision on whether the system wants to install cable television or micro-wave television.

The later, he said, is the most economical, but it still has a few "bugs" in it that have to be worked out.

Presently, Rosemore is the only Whitehall school that is set-up to receive MPATI signals (that is signals emitted from a broadcasting airplane that circles over Purdue University and sends out programs to five surrounding states).

After the decision on the type of installation is made, Crabbs wants to "work toward having all of our schools tied together in network fashion."

He's speaking somewhere in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Of course, Whitehall wouldn't have to latch onto MPATI's signal. It can rig up a closed circuit set-up itself and transmit right from one school building to all the others in the district.

This type of operation was demonstrated to the teachers during the workshop session with Whitehall science faculty members providing the on-camera "talent."

Questions like whether TV should be used as a basic approach to certain subject areas, or if it should be used in a supplemental way to current teaching methods, are still two questions bothering Crabbs.

"These questions must be answered," he said somberly. "And, they will be answered through the exhausting study of research and experimentation that we've been making and will continue to make."

Crabbs added that by next September he hopes to equip Whitehall High School the same way as Rosemore is presently set-up. He said he couldn't say at this time how long it would be before the district plunges head-first into the project.

"We're moving in the right direction, though," he said confidently.

Civic Association Pens Pool Information In Letter Form To Bexley Residents

In an attempt to present the "true facts" of the Bexley swimming pool situation, a five-page letter has been sent out to residents by the Bexley Civic Improvement Association (BCIA) that states:

(1) A history of the pool situation, and

(2) Advice to residents on how they can show their support for the project.

The letter, sent to 4,400 Bexley homes, is signed by the association's chairman, William Birch.

"At a very late date, in fact after the lease had been signed for nine months and a considerable amount of time, energy and money expended by a large group of interested and concerned Bexley citizens," Birch said, "a relatively small group of Bexley residents are petitioning the Bexley Council to reverse its carefully considered and unanimous approval of the Bexley civic swimming pool and thus prevent its construction."

Birch explained that the letter was produced because "so many statements have been made and rumors circulated, not founded on fact, that the board of trustees of BCIA thought it should bring all Bexley residents up to date on the history of this movement and the true facts of the situation."

The chairman assured that the pool is "going ahead full speed" largely due to the support of residents who have subscribed over $90,000 at the date of the letter (Feb. 28).

"Many of the bond holders have no children," Birch pointed out, "and many are past the age when a pool is important to them as individuals."

"These people believe a pool supplies healthful, wholesome recreation and is needed for the youth of our community. They know the pool will help Bexley become a better place to live just as good schools, churches and playgrounds help."

The association has offered residents three items that can be employed to "show support" for the project. These include:

- Buy a bond—or, an additional bond.
- Make sure your bond payments are up to date — or ahead of schedule if possible.
- Let Mayor (William) Schneider and the members of the Bexley City Council know that you appreciate their support and look forward to swimming this summer.

"Any facility that brings the people of a community together also helps weld it into a solid, substantial community," Birch said in closing. "We cannot stand still, but we must be progressive if we want to attract good citizens and maintain property values."

WalnutRidge Y-Teens Will Sell Sinkers

The Walnut Ridge High School Y-Teens will sell doughnuts in the Walnut Ridge area on Saturday morning between 8 and 10.

Individual doughnuts, stick and glazed, may be purchased for six cents each on Friday after school, but dozens and half-dozens only will be sold on Saturday morning.

Profits go to the Senior Y-Teens Club.

ADULT ART CLASS SCHEDULED AT CAP

The fine arts department of Capital University will again conduct a non-credit art class for adults in water color painting.

The eight-week studio class will start Tuesday, Mar. 12, and meet each Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Huber Hall of Fine Arts.

Under the direction of Richard J. Phipps, the class will deal with methods and techniques in water color painting. Previous experience in drawing or oil painting is recommended.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 students. Registration may be completed through the treasurer's office at Capital.

Regional Planning Aid Is Sought

Co-ordinated planning on a county-wide basis will become a reality if federal participation is approved through the Housing and Home Financing Agency.

Application for a federal grant of $874,670 will be filed this week by the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission, according to Harmon T. Merwin, commission director.

Chief objective of the planning program will be recommendation of standards for such areas as industrial, commercial and residential zoning, water sewer facilities and service, flood control, and transportation.

Standards will also be recommended for development and use of recreational facilities, utilization of open space, agricultural space and conservation areas, and community appearance and science values.

Local participation in planning costs, amounting to approximately $437,330, will be in the form of work credits, with participating agencies furnishing man-hours and materials in lieu of funds.

A third phase of the "Comprehensive Regional Plan," transportation, will be dealt with in a separate application for federal assistance. Transportation planning will be undertaken in co-operation with the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The application for participation in the project by the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency will be accompanied by supporting resolutions passed by Columbus City Council and the Franklin County Commissioners. The resolutions cite the urgent need for county-wide planning, and express confidence that area planners have formulated a workable beginning for continuing, co-ordinated regional planning.

A prospectus, prepared by staffs of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission and the Columbus City Planning Commission, will accompany the application for federal aid.

The planning program was prepared under direction of the Interim Co-ordinating Committe, representing 11 area planning agencies. Participating agencies, in addition to the Columbus City and Franklin County planning commissions, include:

The County Mayors' Association, Downtown Area Committee, Franklin County Commissioners, Columbus City Council, Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, Development Committee for Greater Columbus, Ohio Department of Highways, Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency.

Application for federal assistance to complete transportation plans must await approval of the land use and facilities phases of the total program, according to J. W. Wiess, deputy director of planning and programming for the Ohio Department of Highways.

If approved by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the federal agency will provide three-fourths of the total esti-

WINTER HAIR PROBLEMS

Don't think "parched hair" is strictly a summer complaint. Winter also takes out its wrath on your hair, but the problems are different. The sudden change from overheated rooms to the bitter cold outdoors affects the hair. It tends to become dry and brittle.

Hair is bundled under hats and scarves, so that fresh sunshine and breezes that are often beneficial don't get a chance to help keep it healthy.

With an eye on spring fashions, let us help with your winter hair problems now. Excellent treatments are available. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BE. 5-5474. Town & Country Shopping Center.

Lida Berger, Ronald Knipp Repeat Marriage Vows At Hilltop Lutheran

The altar of Hilltop Lutheran Church was decorated with sunburst arrangements of white carnations against a background of frosted jade foliage and the aisle was lighted with single-branched candelabra, accented with beautyberry and white satin, for the wedding of Miss Lida Linanne Berger and Mr. Ronald Burval Knipp, Feb. 23.

Rev. John Hydinger read the marriage service at 7:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ellen Berger of 333 S. Eureka-av, and the late Mr. William F. Berger. Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Knipp of 1599 S. James-rd are parents of the bridegroom.

Mr. Everett Foltz escorted his niece to the altar. She chose a gown of bridal satin designed with crescent neckline outlined with Alencon lace and seed pearls, long, tapered sleeves and a princess silhouette skirt, accented with lace and pearls and continuing into a wide chapel train.

A queen's coronet of pearls and brilliant stones held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a full sheath of white Belmont gardenias with beautyberry and natural polished foliages.

Mrs. Donald Dover served as matron of honor, and Miss Jean Ann Berger, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. Mrs. Ronald Coulter, also a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gary McClish were bridesmatrons.

They wore identical gowns of azure blue peau satin with batteau necklines, bracelet sleeves and skirts with soft streamer bows in back.

Each wore a matching flower plateau with circle veil, and carried a sheath of white beautyberry and one large white Duchess glamellia.

Mr. Roger Hankle served as best man, and guests were seated by Mr. Rolland Halley, Mr. Charles Gierhart and Mr. Ricky Berger, brother of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

The new Mrs. Knipp was graduated from South High School and is employed at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Mr. Knipp was graduated from West High School, attended Ohio State University and is now enrolled at Franklin University. He is a bailiff of the Court of Common Pleas, Franklin County.

Following an extended motor trip, the couple will be at home at 2848 Proctor-dr after Mar. 9.

Group Fetes Children

Two special programs were sponsored during February by the Evening Group, Council of Jewish Women, for children of Columbus Children's Psychiatric Hospital.

The children from the hospital were taken to Veterans Memorial to see "The Story of Celeste," as performed by the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, Feb. 16, escorted by Mrs. Richard Coomer, Mrs. Theodore Stone and two social workers.

Future plans include a tour of the Ohio State Museum Mar. 16, a magic show, and a trip to the zoo.

Broad Street Church Dates March Meets

Women's Association of Broad Street Presbyterian Church has arranged its March calendar as follows:

Executive board will meet at the church Thursday, Mar. 7, 9:30 a.m., with Mrs. John Lowery, 2350 Club-rd, presiding.

Each year, women of Broad Street Church join together for a dinner meeting, with husbands and other guests invited. This year the date has been set for Thursday, Mar. 14, with dinner at 6:15 p.m. and program at 7:15.

Circle 12 will be in charge of the decorations.

Speaker will be John M. Meister, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1950. He is active in civic affairs of that city, in addition to denominational responsibilities with the board of Christian Education. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees, Princeton Theological Seminary.

World Service Day at the church is planned Thursday, Mar. 21, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Circle Day will be held Thursday, Mar. 28, with hostesses to be announced later.

Author Somerset Maughn says: "I do not fear death . . . The odd fact is, I think though we know we shall die, we don't know it with the same force and conviction as we know that if we go out in the rain without an umbrella we shall get wet."

British Club Plans Meet

The Eastside British Club will meet at the Federal Savings and Loan Building, Reynoldsburg, Tuesday, Mar. 12, 8 p.m.

There will be a bring and buy sale, and games.

Hostesses are Mrs. Jean Fick and Mrs. Jocelyn Kirkendall.

Any British or Commonwealth born women are welcome to attend. For further information, call Mrs. Gwen McConnell UN. 6-3618.

Brandeis Women Plan Study Group Meeting

The Brandeis University Women's Committee midweek study group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Loeb, Jr., will meet Thursday, Mar. 14, 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Harry Hofheimer, 345 S. Harding-rd.

The book to be reviewed is "Letting Go," by Philip Roth. Mrs. B. W. Abramson will be discussion leader. Tea will follow.

The Fabric Doctor

"Are Imported Fabrics Safe for Making Dresses?"

—Miss N. E.

Dear Miss N. E.:

Some of the imported fabrics that are so popular now have the seeds of sorrow buried in them. They are luxurious in texture and fascinating in color and pattern . . . but! in many cases the colors are not fast. They "bleed" or "run" even when carefully drycleaned. Other imported fabrics are not pre-shrunk and when made into dresses, the first washing or cleansng is the last.

Standards for fabrics in many foreign countries are not up to those of American manufacturers. However, that does not mean you cannot use foreign fabrics in the dress you want to make.

Test a small swatch of the material for water-fastness or ask your drycleaner to test it. He'll test it with drycleaning solvent, too. And if the fabric has not been pre-shrunk, your drycleaner can do that for you. Then you can go ahead and make the dress just as you wanted.

Remember, your professional drycleaner is a skilful, trained fabric maintenance man. He'll be glad to help you if you call on him.

Casadesus Dates Show At Capital On Tuesday

Jean Casadesus, "a pianist of quality with a personality and a presence quite his own," performs on the Mees Hall stage at Capital University Tuesday, Mar. 26, at 8 p.m.

Casadesus, whose renditions appear on RCA and Angel records, launched his debut as soloist under the baton of Eugene Ormandy in 1947 as winner of the Philadelphia Orchestra Youth Contest.

The following fall he won the first medal at the Geneva International Competition. Since then he has toured frequently throughout Europe and Latin America.

His annual North American tours have included appearances with the New York Philharmonic and the orchestras of Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

In January of this year Casadesus appeared on the Telephone Hour television program playing the second and third movements of Saint-Saens' "Concerto No. 2 in G Minor."

Ticket information may be had by contacting the Office of Public Information, Capital University, Bexley 9.

Seven Area Students Win In Contest

Students in the Hartley Newspapers area have won seven of the eight places in the annual Americanism essay contest of the American Legion and Auxiliary in Franklin County, it is announced by William R. Schnug of Hilliard, county essay chairman. Five of the seven are in the Bexley school system.

Grade 10 — Howard T. Albin of Bexley High and Sharon Dunkle of South High.

Grade 11 — Joseph H. Lessem of Bexley High and Mary Christine Lindenberg of Walnut Ridge High.

Grade 12 — Jeffrey Fischer of Bexley High and Anne Madaglia of Bishop Watterson High.

Their essays are being judged this week along with 104 others submitted from 13 other sections of Ohio. The state winners will be announced later this month.

Students from 16 schools in Franklin County submitted 78 essays in this year's contest.

Ask Zone Change

Preliminary plans, submitted by Majestic, Inc., 8 E. Long-st, call for two structures and 35,800 square feet of floor space. Council will be asked to change zoning from suburban residential to general commercial.

Muskie Dinner Set For Mar. 23

With the second annual Ohio Huskie Muskie Club award dinner only two weeks away, last minute efforts are being made by some muskie anglers to qualify for membership. Many of them caught trophy fish but failed to enter them at the time.

This is the word from club officials who are completing plans for the Mar. 23 event to be held at the Baker Motel Restaurant on U. S. 40, 10 miles east of Zanesville. To be eligible, the muskie must be entered during the year it was caught.

PRESIDENT BOB Johnson of Marietta pointed out that the dinner and program are open to anyone interested in muskie angling. Reservations must be made with Huskie Muskie Club secretary Bob Wilson, 250 Guernsey-av, (Columbus) by Mar. 15.

This year membership will be granted to 16 anglers and an additional 19 will receive honorable mention citations. The dinner is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Feature of the program to follow will be fish stories telling how winning fishermen caught their trophy muskies. There will also be a display of photographs and mounted muskies.

that due to the cold weather, "the editorial won't hatch, the ink won't run, and the static electricity is holding the sheets together so they won't go through the folder. Here's what we could print. You will get the rest when the weather warms up." And with the high water Monday we had visions of floating your paper to you this week!

The Ohio State Monthly Magazine will appear today with opposing slates of candidates for alumni organization offices. Two tickets will outline their political objectives. Shades of the Rose Bowl-Fullen fracas are already projected. It is hoped we can use our heads and remember that Ohio State is an institution of learning and that those educated there will prove worthy of the title of being educated by refraining from rebuilding a ruckus.

The Gay Philosopher says, "A nudist colony is where men and women go to air their differences."

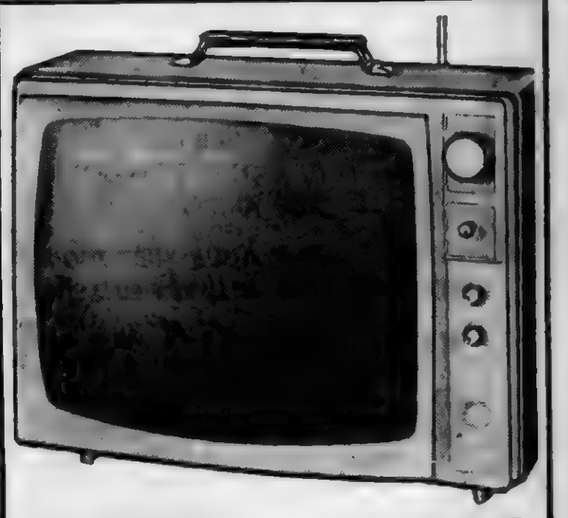
How about that?

Jimmy Crum of WLW-C told an interesting story in a local meeting this past week.

It seems a father was being pestered by his young son to go out and play baseball. Father wanted to read the newspaper and so he clipped out a map of the world from the paper and proceeded to tell the small boy, "When you finish putting the world together I will go out and play baseball."



In a few minutes the boy returned with the map clearly put together and the father was amazed. But the boy explained that it was a simple task because on the back of the map of the world was a picture of a little boy. "I knew if I could put the boy together I would be able to put the world together," he said.

Crum is doing a nice job in this area in paying the proper tribute to our famed Buckeyes and Fred Taylor not only for their part in producing good basketball entertainment but for the good influence they are having on the young people in this area.

NEARLY A LEGEND, BUT SCARED TO DEATH

Who Is This Man 'Spook' Beckman?

By JOHN AUBLE JR.
Hartley Amusement Editor

Behind the big, bold, brash "Pitch a Hissy" and "Rusty Dusty" terminology — made nearly a legend by a Columbus radio personality — stands a man whose fear of the public has, at times, reached phobia proportions.

Sound strange? It is. But, then again, personable Fred "Spook" Beckman hasn't had the most usual life in the world — not by a long shot.

He chatted at length about this "publicphobia" over a cup of Sunday morning coffee in the basement "hideout" of his attractive East Columbus home.

"It's a funny thing, but I'm always nervous in public. Somehow I don't feel that I live up to their expectations of what I should be," he said shyly.

Just to demonstrate how far his fear has gone, Spook actually, by self-admission, "chickened-out" of numerous MC jobs and even turned down a part in a Playhouse-on-the-Green production last summer ("No Time for Sergeants").

In the private, quiet confines of the WTVN radio studios, however, the Beckman voice rings loud and clear in a Now-Hear-This tone ("the kind of a sound you'd expect from a 6-foot, 215-pound ex-Marine named "Spook," he says). This is just the opposite from the way he feels and lives in his own heart and mind.

"I try not to talk at people," he said, spouting some of his own philosophy with the sincerity of a man dedicated to having the public like him. "I talk with people and that's the way it has to be in this business."

For Spook Beckman, the entertainment world is now big business. But, it wasn't always this way.

Born to a small family in Peoria, Ill., Spook was not quite three when his father died and young Beckman was shipped to Roosevelt Military Academy. He spent three years in the Marines (17 to 21 years of age) and headed for Florida.

It was in the Marines that Fred was changed to Spook. "I'd stand guard duty at night," he remembered. "Once I took off my helmet and some buddies saw the moon shine on my blonde hair. They said I looked like a 'spook' and the name stuck."

He cut his announcing teeth on a WSPB microphone in Sarasota, Fla., at the age of 21 while working 16-hour days at three jobs that included everything from waiting on tables to night-watching for a retail trailer sales firm and sleeping right in the showroom.

WDOD Chattanooga, Tenn., heard him and beckoned. Beckman bought it. He was there with transplanted Columbus personalities Bud Palmer and Joe Hill. Hill, now a Columbus sportscaster, got an opening for Spook on WLW-C TV, where, starting in 1951, he was destined to stay for 3½-years and eventually marry his present wife, singer Marilyn Daye.

Along with winsome Marilyn, Spook wrote a show and sold it to WTVN-TV. That, too, lasted some three years.

It was a bright and shiny summer day in 1957 when Spook's high-pitched, circus-barker rasp first hit the radio waves here as he filled a morning show spot and decided to devote his talents to this medium. Things went smoothly until 1961, when he took his walk from WTVN over a disagreement about the change to a rock 'n' roll format.

On Oct. 23 of 1962 he returned to WTVN, where he's now meeting bigger success than he's ever known. Still, the Beckman uncertainty has him frightened.

"This business is like a tightrope," he said somberly. "You walk a fine line.

"Paul Murphy (program director) is helping me gain confidence in myself," he claims with admiration. "He's giving me the benefit of direction. What little style I have is becoming more solid. Maybe I'll hit my stride when I'm 40. Gee, I hope so."

Anyone who works as hard at it as he does has just got to.

Stella Passed 'Screen' Test By Hartley Editorial Staff

STELLA STEVENS

Put me in a street car and call me desire if Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hasn't got a big star on their hands in a young lady named Stella Stevens.

She, perhaps, passed the greatest test of stardom ever last week when the publicity photos arrived to promote her latest fim venture, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

It took exactly one hour and 37½ minutes before the Hartley Newspapers male editorial staff members halted their wolf-whistling that has proved to be a sure sign of success.

Just to make my point, the same staff whooped it up for an hour and 39 minutes over publicity photos of Connie Francis, a little longer with Sophia Loren, and reached an alltime high with Zsa Zsa Gabor—just so you can compare.

Now, of course, we must consider that MGM still cameras may have outdone themselves in making the comely miss prettier than she actually is. However, scans by the more scientific members of the staff failed to reveal any touch up work so we have to assume that photographic improvements must be discounted.

The real test of this gal's future came when our Business Editor Ron Barlow, who's usually all business, started thumbing through the publicity releases in search for further information on this miss.

All he found, however, and we pass it on to you, is the fact that Stella (who's reportedly 38-24-36, in the usual order) had to work hard for the "Eddie's Father" picture in that she had to go to bowling school.

In a "courtship" sequence, the shapely Miss S. teaches rocketing comic Jerry Van Dyke to bowl like an expert. And, since Stella is not exactly a ten-pin champ, she had some learning to do.

For two solid weeks every day—from nine to three—the actress worked out with bowling champions Don Jones and Dick Song at the Paradise Bowling Alley in the Westchester area of Los Angeles.

The movie also stars Glen Ford, Shirley Jones, Dina Merrill, Roberta Sherwood and Ronny Howard. This column, however, shouldn't be construed as a plug for the flick because, frankly, we haven't been able to preview it yet.

THEN THERE WERE TWO . . .:

East 'Cracks' Walnut; Vikings Upset Rams

Two area teams remained in the running for their respective tournament honors after weekend play was completed in the A and AA district cage tourneys.

NOT SO MUCH a surprise was East's opening AA win over outclassed Big Walnut, 73-42, in AA play Saturday at Grandview.

Four other area quintets bowed out of the tourney picture as Grove City toppled Bexley, 55-39, Arlington subdued Eastmoor, 59-53, Worthington clobbered Hartley, 73-45 and Linden eliminated St. Charles, 44-43.

Academy got off to a running start against the Rams, who had beaten them twice during regular season. The Vikings held a slight 13-10 margin at the first-quarter break. Academy increased its margin to eight points early in the second stanza but Bob Yates came off the bench to spark a Ram comeback that carried them to a 26-23 intermission lead.

BUT THE RELENTLESS Vikings charged right back and the lead swapped hands all through the second half until Steve Blake put Academy on top to stay, 46-45, in the last minute of play.

The Vikings then proceeded to build up a five-point advantage by connecting on free throws. The lead withstood St. Mary's desperate last-second rally that cut the winning margin to two points.

Ed Laws paced a well-balanced Viking offense with 15 points but Mike Leahy also hit the double figures with 10 markers.

BIG WALNUT was little match for East's state-ranked Tigers. The Bob Hart-directed quintet jumped off to a 39-16 halftime lead and Walnut never was in the game thereafter.

All Tiger cagers made the scoring column as Hart emptied his bench. Ed Waller and Bob Galloway provided most of the Tiger scoring punch with 16 and 13 points, respectively.

BEXLEY COULDN'T quite match Grove City's slick-moving offense Friday at the Coliseum. The Lions fell behind by eight and then by 15 as the Greyhounds slowly pulled away.

Jeff Schmidt's 11 markers was best for the Lions who closed out their '62-'63 cage ledger with a 5-14 record.

EASTMOOR'S last-quarter bid to pull ahead of Arlington fell seven points short Saturday. The Golden Bears built up apparently safe leads twice only to have the battling Warriors rally to cut the margin.

The Warriors, trailing by 14 points at the outset of the final period, put the pressure on the Bears and drove to within one point in the last two minutes of play.

The Bears, however, crossed up Eastmoor's full-court press by calmly connecting on free throws to ice the victory.

Steve Howell poured in 23 points to spark the Warrior scoring attack but teammate Ed Lowe also contributed 16 markers.

HARTLEY STAYED in contention with Worthington for one quarter Saturday before the Cardinals clipped the Hawks' wings by outscoring the losers, 26-5, in a hot-shooting second period.

The Hawks got their offense working better in the second half but Worthington also managed to maintain their wide margin. Tom Schlager (15), Jack Diamond (12) and Randy Rodich (10) paced the Hartley offense. The loss closed out the Hawk cage season at 7-12.

ST. CHARLES lost out in a nip-and-tuck match with Linden Saturday at Grandview. Neither team could garner more than two-point lead after the Cards overcame an early Linden lead.

Don Clark's pair of free throws in the final 16 seconds of play provided the Panthers with their winning edge. Dick Ferris and Mick Baumann supplied the Carolians with their scoring punch, collecting 16 and 14 points, respectively. The defeat ended St. Charles' season at 10-9.

Both East and Academy resume their attempts for further tourney success Friday evening on separate courts. The Tigers (17-1) meet defending champ Newark (8-10) at 6:30 on the AA court at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

OOP—LAWS LOSES LENS—LARRIMER LOCAL LANCELOT

IT'S NO LONGER an optical illusion to see basketball players crawling around the floor on their hands and knees. With contact lenses becoming more popular than the jump shot on the hardwood, it's not too uncommon anymore to see the little melodrama enfolding in this sequence of pictures. On the left, Academy cager Ed Laws (with ball) halts his drive for the basket abruptly as he is separated from a contact lens. St. Marys' George Maurer and the Vikings' Steve Blake (41) look on. Teammate Terry Larrimer (right picture) saves the day for Laws by locating the missing lens after a short search. Larrimer returns the elusive bit of vision to Laws (right) as Viking coach Phil Hess (left) returns to the Academy bench. Action occured in third quarter play of A sectional tourney Friday evening at Otterbein. The Vikings upset St. Marys, 51-49.

Franklin Five Nabs 3 Berths On All-Jr. High

Franklin dominated the city-wide selection of the Junior High All-Star basketball squad this year, collecting three of its division's 10 spots.

Other schools that nabbed more than one berth were Everett, Champion and Linmoor, in the North Section and Marion-Franklin in the South Section.

The All-Star squads:

NORTH SECTION

SOUTH SECTION

HONORABLE MENTION

Shadywood LL Boosters Set 1st Meeting Friday

Parents who wish to help promote the fifth annual boys summer baseball program, sponsored by the Shadywood Park Boosters Association, are urged to attend an organizational meeting at Walnut Ridge High School Friday, Mar. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

The association, a voluntary, non-profit group, has lost its present recreational area on S. Hamilton-rd, but suitable new land has been made available on the site east of Walnut Ridge High School.

FOR THE PAST four summers the Shadywood group has sponsored a baseball program for over 400 years, ages eight to 14, in the Hamilton-rd-Livingston-av area, south of Whitehall.

Parents are urged to attend the meeting if their boys are enrolled in any of the following schools: Woodcrest, Willis Park, Shady Lane, Pinecrest, Leawood, St. Philips and Walnut Ridge Junior High School.

Registration for the summer activity will take place at the Walnut Ridge High School on Wednesday, Mar. 13, 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Boys who wish to join the program must be accompanied by a parent.

Viking Cagers Laws, Holzman On All-County

Academy placed two cagers —one on the second team and the other on the honorable mention list—in the All-County League basketball selections following Tuesday's voting by loop coaches.

Viking Ed Laws, a 6-0 senior, was named to the second team while Ken Holzman gained honorable mention recognition.

FIRST TEAM selections were dominated by University and St. Mary's, the league's one-two finishers this past season. The Little Bucks pulled down two berths by placing juniors John Howard and Don Burr on the mythical squad while the Rams filled two additional slots with the selection of seniors George Maurer and Tom Sauer.

Other second team members besides Laws were: Don Haueisen and Roger Essig, Dublin; Larry Landis, Canal Winchester; Bill Skeen, Hamilton Township, and Bill Guy, University.

Bread, Jars By-Passed By Modern Fisherman

If, for some reason, it should stop snowing in the next couple of months, fishermen all over the area will dust off the fly rods, search frantically through the attic for their tackle box and then hustle down to that favorite river or lake to set a head start on the '63 angling season.

Probably no one will be more anxious than our little brother, who is an avid fisherman. We have been promising a fishing trip for three years now, and after backing out each time—we're afraid we'll never wiggle off the hook this [illegible].

THE COLD FACT of the matter is, however, that the last time we went fishing the big attraction was the city park ponds, and the vogue of the day was catching bluegills and sunfish in submerged mayonnaise jars baited with soggy bread crusts.

Needless to say, the fishing business has improved its techniques by leaps and bounds since those days, and frankly, we're just not up to date.

We suppose the fear of impending disaster directed us to stop in and talk with Dick Reeves of the Reeves Brothers Sporting Goods Store at the Central Point Shopping Center last week.

WE HAD HEARD from the grapevine that in recent years the artifical baft people have been directing their attention to the development of soft, pliable-plastic baits with a realistic feel and appearance that could fool most people, to say nothing of an unsuspecting gill-breather.

Although Dick peddles everything from black bugs to green grasshoppers in the way of soft, artifical bait, we were particularly interested in several items that hit the market late last season—a bit tardy for most area anglers.

Of particular interest were two items manufactured by the Burke Flexo-Products Co., of Traverse City, Mich. One is labeled the "Snake Smorgasbord" and about the only thing this little reptile seems to lack for realism is a forked-tongue.

THE SAME COMPANY also includes black and flesh-colored night crawlers on its production line. The plastic makeup of the worms is more durable than rubber with the colors molded in. Some type of secretion even provides the worm with that slippery sensation.

"Most people laugh the first time they see the soft, artificial bait," Reeves said, "but nevertheless it's becoming pretty widely used by fishermen. This type of lure was introduced about four years ago, but it's been improved each year. It's softer now, and the colors are better and more realistic."

Reeves explained the advantage of the new lures. "If the fish doesn't hit the hook on the harder lure the first time, it won't make a second pass. If it finds the bait is rigid, it will discharge the lure."

THE SNAG PROOF Company put a product on the market late last season that is just that—snag proof. The lures (frog and soft craw) are also soft plastic with the hooks built inside of the bait itself.

"Sales on this type of bait are accelerated each year," Reeves said. "Due to the expense of live bait, people are going more and more to the artifical lures." Reeves also remarked that live bait peddlers are worried that the cold winter might cut down on the size of the soft craws this spring.

Another lure, so new that its U.S. patent is still pending, has been introduced by the Rapala (Finland) people. It's a hand-made, hand-painted minnow that appears to have a third dimensional quality.

THE LURE was secretly used in Wisconsin during a four-year testing period. "It must catch fish," Reeves commented. "At least the game warden at Alpena, Mich., must think so. He called here long distance to order five of them last summer."

Then there's the Weber "true-life minnow" (soft plastic), and Dick even has a mouse in stock that "floats and swims." The Heddon Company reports that it's been known for fish to be caught with an everyday clothes pin using a hook as a companion.

Nevertheless it seems to us that the poor fish have very little chance these days to escape the well-equipped angler after our "brush up" visit with Dick Reeves.

ANYWAY we purchased a snake and three worms and departed with a whole new outlook on the sport and we also have a firm resolution to work that fishing trip into our summer schedule.

Frankly, we were so amazed with snakes literally crawling out of glass display cases that we forgot to ask Dick what we really wanted to know.

EAST MAT RUNNERUP

Falcons Nab District Laurels; Rosenblum, Holloway Repeat

Franklin Heights grappled its way to the top of the high school wrestling heap over the weekend as the Don Woodland-coached Falcons wrapped up their second consecutive district mat crown, outpointing runnerup East, 74-51.

Worthington battled Pleasant View to the wire for the third spot in the tourney, edging the Panthers by a single point, 43-42. Other final team scores were: Arlington, 29; Whitehall, 23; West, 20; University, 16; Linden, 12; Circleville and Hilliard, 9; Central, 5 and Walnut Ridge and Bexley, 4.

IN THE INDIVIDUAL competition, P-V's John Holloway (112 pound) and Whitehall's Alan Rosenblum (120 pound) defended their weight classification tittles.

Two other matmen, gunning for repeat wins, were not as fortunate as Franklin Height's Aziz Dere lost out in the 120-pound semi-finals to Roger Young of East and illness forced Walnut Ridge's Don Pinkston to forfeit the 138-pound slot in the quarter-finals Friday. The Scots mat hopes were further dimmed as Kearney Pinkston, Don's brother, missed the 133-pound competition — also due to illness.

F-H took three of the 11 final slots as John Riggs (127 pound) Dan Green (133 pound) and Ed Jefferies (165 pound) nabbed decisions in their individual classes.

BOTH WRESTLERS who competed in the finals of each weight division will move on to the state competition Friday and Saturday at St. John Arena. The semi-finals are set for 1:30 p.m. Friday with finals getting underway at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Maple Heights is the defending state champion.

Here are the individual results:

Arlington maintained its eight-year mastery over all other Central District swimming entries Friday by nipping second-place Academy, 87-78, in the annual meet at the OSU Natatorium.

WORTHINGTON PLACED third in the meet with a total of 40 points. Other finishes were: Greenfield, 26; Newark, 22; Bexley, 20; St. Charles, 0 and Whetstone, 4.

Arlington finished first in the final event — the 200-yard freestyle relay — as Academy came in third after Newark.

The Vikings were also nosed out in the individual qualifying department, 11-13, by the Bear tankers. Five records were broken during the course of the meet—two of them by Academy.

DENNIS MILLER set a new mark in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:19.2 while teammate Hugh Westwater toppled the 100-yard breaststroke standard with a 1:08.3 finish.

The state swimming finals will be held Friday and Saturday at the Natatorium. Prelims are set for 3:15 p.m. Friday with diving scheduled for 9:45 a.m. Saturday. Race finals will get underway Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Here are the individual results:

LACKED SOMETHING

Marine 'Fair' Is No More Than That

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

I suppose I have too much showman blood running through me to get hepped up over the handling of this year's Marine Fair, which ran until last Sunday in the Buckeye Building at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Boat shows can be real crowd pleasers, but the Marine Dealers wing-ding took on too much of a "boat warehouse" flavor to get me excited.

There seemed to be a mighty important thing called enthusiam lacking in the effort. If you liked boats, though, you should've felt right at home.

Just to give an example of the lack of spirit, they had a booth there promoting Coral Gables, Fla. (you figure that one out), with a gal supposedly holding the "Miss Coral Gables" title.

Half the fun of a show like this is snapping pictures. They wouldn't even let the press shoot a few of this Miss. An agent in the booth first asked me if the picture would be used "for sure" in the paper.

"The plant might burn down tonight," I retorted, noticably disturbed at his attitude. "Then, nothing would get printed, right?"

He wasn't satisfied. "How do I know you won't touch up the photo," he pressed, "and use it for bad publicity?" I thanked him for his time and walked away. Who needs that kind of protection, Miss Coral Gables, whoever you are?

Not All Hikers Observe Rules

Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club says that many hikers are trying to test their physical stamina possibly at the risk of losing their lives by failing to comply with the basic safety rule of facing oncoming traffic.

In addition to the safety factors involved, the AAA official reminds that pedestrians walking along streets or highways not having walks must comply wtih a section of Ohio law that reads:

". . . pedestrians may walk along or upon such street or highway, and, when practicable, they shall face the approaching traffic and shall exercise due care to avoid approaching traffic."

"While penalties are provided for failing to comply," notes the AAA official, "the incentive to obey must still be to return home healthy . . . and alive."

Schacht Warns Grain Program Deadline Nears

March 22 is the deadline for local feed grain producers to file "intention-to-participate" forms, warns Carl W. Schacht, Franklin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee chairman.

He explained that this is the first step that must be taken before growers can take part in the federal program to divert part of their grain acreage to conservation use.

Participation in the program allows not only diversion payments to be made to the farmer, but makes him eligible for price-support payments and either price-support loans or purchase agreements.

Chairman Schacht pointed out that the program represents a savings for the farmer by eliminating unneeded production, guarantees him a substantial income, aids the nation's land conservation and saves the taxpayer from the expense of handling government-owned grains.

ASCS Office Now Relocated

The Franklin ASCS County Office has been moved from E. Broad-st to 1090 W. Goodale-blvd, announced Carl W. Schacht, committee chairman.

Off-street parking, better working conditions for employes and increased service and convenience to the farmers are among the advantages of the change, Schacht believes.

Bureau Sponsors Safety Contest

The Farm Bureau Advisory Council Safe Driver Contest starting Mar. 15 will involve over 1,500 women representing 79 counties in Ohio, and approximately 16,380 families who are members of councils. The contest will continue through Sept. 16, according to Litta Roberson, director of women's activities.

Cash awards for three advisory councils in each of the four regions of the state will be given and one council couple in the state will be given an all-expense trip to the Farm Bureau state convention in November. Awards are also scheduled to be given to the women's committee in each region.

Old Bills Are Causing Woes For Fair Board

The Franklin County Agricultural Society needs $9,000 to pay back bills, and county commissioners can't give it to them.

Fair officials told commissioners Thursday that they have $12,300 in unpaid bills. However, commissioners have appropriated only $3300 for 1963.

The debts accumulated several years ago when the society was unable to pay its bills.

Fair Secretary Carl Crandall said the 1963 fair will open Aug. 12. Fair officials have added another day to the event this year so that a Saturday is included in the fair week.

Civil Defense Offers Course

A three-hour Home Preparedness Course will be conducted on Tuesday, Mar. 12, from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. This course in survival techniques will be given in the Civil Defense auditorium at 1045 S. High-st.

The class will be limited to the first 40 persons to place reservations by calling HI. 9444.

'Be Realistic,' Juvenile Officer Urges

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

By FRANK J. RYAN

(Editor's Note: Juvenile delinquency is a topic of serious national concern. Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover Reports: "As a group, persons under 18 years old represented (during 1960) 43 per cent of all arrests for the more serious crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft." In succeeding articles we will view the area of juvenile problems from the local level.)

Juvenile delinquency will always be with us. It can NOT be eradicated. Experience — from the day of Cain and Able to today's headlines of youthful savagery — tells us clearly that crime and lawlessness are here to stay.

This, in essence, is the unvarnished truth as seen by a man who has dealt with troubled and troublesome youth for the past 13 years. He is Captain Phil Momburg, chief of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department, and a veteran of 24 years as a police officer.

Momburg's observation is certainly not negative when viewed in its full context. He says, for example: "Let's be realistic, and think in terms of control and reduction."

While stressing the fact that there is no "cure-all" answer, the veteran police officer believes that much can be done in dealing with the problem before it becomes a police or a court matter.

Momburg is in agreement with the generally accepted belief that delinquency is not confined to any specific group, location, or environment. Nor can it be attributed solely to the presence of slums or lack of adequate recreational facilities.

Both the "soft" and the "hard" schools of approach to the problem have their good points, he believes, but neither represents the total answer.

"There is no single approach that is totally effective," Momburg said. "We must continually look for new approaches."

Momburg cited the recent Sabin on Sunday program in illustrating the difficulty of effectively reaching all people in a public education campaign.

Even though all agencies concerned with the polio prevention program joined forces in complete unity and harmony, the response still fell short of 100 per cent, he said. And this despite the promise of absolute immunity from the dread disease.

There will always be those, he said, who, for one reason or another will not be reached. This is why he thinks in terms of reduction and control, rather than eradication of the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Not all juveniles who come to the attention of police are delinquents, Momburg pointed out. The first contact is usually with a uniformed patrolman at the neighborhood level. It might represent a neighbor's complaint of too much noise, or a minor traffic code violation.

Momburg's views on youth in general are anything but negative. He is quick to remind that the problem youth who come to his attention represent only three to five per cent of the local juvenile population.

Momburg gives the impression of a man "with a mission" when he discusses, for purposes of public education, the subject of youth problems. He has done extensive public speaking before civic and service groups both in and outside the local area.

Using a set of "flash cards" in detailing the broad base of youth problems, Momburg elaborates on such areas as family, playmates, church, school and police. "Family," he explains, is listed at the base of the chart because the family is the greatest single influence on a child for future behavior.

In discussing the influence of "family," Momburg stresses the importance of the first six years or formative stage of a child's life. This area of direct parental responsibility can mean the difference, in later years, between adjustment to society and juvenile delinquency, he says.

The initial selection of playmates or companions is another area that should concern all parents, Momburg points out, reminding that children are judged and can be influenced by the company they keep.

In pointing out the need for a greater emphasis on church, Momburg says that all too many of the juveniles who come to the attention of his bureau will say they do not go to church; that they quit going to church; or that they were sent (rather than taken) to church.

Schools deal with the various problems of juveniles, he says, through visiting teacher programs, as well as employment of staff psychologists and psychiatrists. However, too many parents feel that their responsibility ends once their child has entered school.

In presenting his talks, Capt. Momburg deals at length with the part played by the police juvenile bureau in the total picture of youth problems. This is by design, and not intended to minimize the part played by other agencies.

Momburg believes that progress in control and reduction of juvenile delinquency calls for a coordinated effort, with each of the related agencies working diligently within its own sphere, and cooperating with all other agencies.

The police attitude is becoming more professionalized, Momburg said, with the emphasis on rehabilitation rather than retribution.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation of the juvenile bureau — its objectives and its relationship to other agencies concerned with juvenile delinquency and youth problems.

NOTED OHIOANS

We of Ohio have a right to be proud of her sons and daughters who have done many things in many fields. They have done much to remind others that here in the heartland of this nation we breed a race able to stand with the best. Here are a few of many:

First, we have produced six Presidents of the United States. U. S. Grant had been a great soldier, having had much to do with the destinies of the nation, before going to the White House. Rutherford B. Hayes and James Abram Garfield were good Presidents, the latter falling at the hands of an assassin.

William McKinley, born in Niles, had been an officer in the War Between the States. He, too, suffered a violent death while in office.

William Howard Taft became Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court after having served as President. His two sons, Charles and the late Robert, both born in Cincinnati, have been active in public affairs.

Warren G. Harding unfortunately was a victim of too much trust in too many he thought true and loyal friends.

Eddie Rickenbacker, born in Columbus, came up the hard way and is now known, after brilliant military service, for his expressed and practiced religious beliefs and for his deep belief in the greatness of this good land.

He Makes Difference When Trouble Comes

All people have their troubles. No person can escape them. "Man that is born of woman is of few days, and full of trouble" (Job 14:1). The same writer wrote: "Man is born unto trouble as the sparks fly upward" (Job 5:7).

Rev. Langlois

The best of people will get sick and have sorrows and disappointments, but a person should be able to see a difference in the attitude of a Christian and of an unsaved person when trouble comes.

The followers of Jesus were troubled because of His forthcoming death. Jesus' word to them was: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. . . I go to prepare a place for you" (John 14:1-2).

What should our attitude be when trouble comes to us? We should not deny the facts, neither should our attitude be that of stoicism, epicureanism, or cynicism.

When we get sick, we should be willing to say with Job: "though he slay me, yet will I trust in Him" (Job 13:15).

When we are passing through great sorrow and disappointment, we should be willing to say: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (Rom. 8:28.).

When we lose our loved ones, we should be willing to say: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord" (Job 1:21). And when the Christian dies, he can say with the Apostle Paul: "I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand" (2 Tim. 4:6).

Christ makes the difference when trouble comes. In fact, it's good to have Him with us at all times.

Bearded Ones Are Not Always Nuts

I have a newspaper friend who wears a big mustache and likes to inflate and burst paper lunch bags.

Or rather, he was my friend. Now he is having second thoughts. In the meantime at every chance he explodes paper bags near my ears, an act that never fails to orbit me momentarily about three feet above my seat.

Normally my questionable friend curbs any sadistic tendencies he may harbor. But several weeks ago I wrote a column unfavorable to esoteric art, poetry and opera. In it I used the term "bearded nuts."

McPeek

In the past my mustached, questionable friend also sported brush on his chin. At the time he labored on an American newspaper in Europe, the editor of which abhored hirsute adornment of any style.

In the editor's efforts to have his recalcitrant staff member bare his true face, a great struggle of wills evolved (although neither of them is named Will). As the brush war dragged on, my friend wearied of battle and returned to the United States — sans beard, but with a bristling sensitivity to "non-beard buffs." (Aren't all buffs bare?)

My bag-bursting, questionable friend does not dispute my contention that an "artist who slaps a canvas with the end of a hemp rope dipped in Kemtone" and wears a beard, is, in all probability, a "bearded nut."

His umbrage stems from the possibility that the term may be interpreted to imply that all who wear beards are nuts.

He demanded that this matter be corrected. If this was not done, he hinted he would send to the House Un-American Activities Committee poison-pen notes implying that my loyalty may not measure up to DAR standards. Coupled with the fact that there always is a great supply of rumpled lunch bags cluttering up the newsroom, I will heed his threat herewith:

IT IS NOT NECESSARILY TRUE THAT ALL BEARDS CONCEAL NUTS!

Sensing my cowardice, he repeated his threat, hissing through his waxed hedge that it might be wise if I also tossed in a few toutful words about his latest magazine story, "A Runner In The Mist," which is in the current Atlantic Monthly (March).

When I inquired if the story was about a London track meet, he hissed even more violently, tempting me to run in the mist.

Calming somewhat, he took me on his knee and in a paternal manner explained that it was a "tender, sensitive, heart-rending story about loneliness that everyone should read if they would like to have a "fuller, deeper appreciation of the beauty in life." (Such redundancy should reap him a fortune if he is paid by the word.)

Choking back my tears, I rushed to the typewriter. This is the result.

What the hey, it's little enough to do after he bought me a pizza from his Atlantic Monthly check.

And I might as well go all the way. His name is James McCormick.

Spring–Does It Seem Close Or Far Away?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROD COCHRAN

It has been said that there is no "off-season" for the outdoors, and this, of course, is true. But with the weather we've been having, this is the nearest thing to an off-season.

Ice fishing has tapered off, fox hunters are pretty well hunted out, and the longest open hunting season, for ruffed grouse, has closed. Most of us will simply hang on for the next month or six weeks until a warm April day calls to us like the Pied Piper's flute.

Actually, the spring activity has started. Birds are moving around, and the crows and robins that wintered in Southern Ohio hollows have been seen for several weeks. Cowbirds are back. Song sparrows and some others sing infrequently and rather hopefully it seems. Ducks are seen trading up and down the valleys more frequently and in ever-increasing numbers.

Here is an important lesson—temperature does not govern bird migration and activity. Most people believe that the migrators stay South until it warms up. It is the sun that pulls the invisible strings. As the days get longer, the birds start their northward flights. Perhaps the birds should wait for warmer weather, for each year there are tragedies. Birds are lost in late winter storms and perish. The insect-eaters are most susceptible. Martins, for instance, come back and find cool weather and no hatching insects. When this happens, they starve. But for untold generations, birds have been tied to the lengthening and shortening of days, and it will ever be so.

While we're waiting for spring and watching the birds, it is a good time to reflect on the past season. There was a short deer season, although the deep snow and cold weather probably kept some hunters home. Those who hunted, though, saw deer or deer sign and most everyone considered it a successful season.

Rabbit hunting was very good in some localities, and so-so in others. Pheasant hunting generally seemed to be about the same as the year before, and nothing to brag about. Quail hunting was exceptionally good in quite a few areas in Southern Ohio. Duck hunting was poor as predicted, but early hunters who got a chance at locally-reared ducks did not do too badly. Those who tackled the real trophies of the waterfowl clan, Canada geese, found them available if they wanted to work at it.

Going back a little further, to a season that will whet your appetite for some early spring fishing, last year's fishing was unquestionably superior. Five state fish records were set during 1962, according to the Outdoor Writers of Ohio which keep such books. None of the state records are held by anglers in this area, but the challenge is there just the same. The writers claim that a year when five records are set is unheard of, but it happened just that [illegible].

It's like the old Florida joke — a northerner watches a huge stringer of whopping bass unloaded from a boat onto the dock. "The man who caught those fish is a liar," he exclaimed. Everyone knows that outdoor writers never lie, so we must accept the records. The new ones were set in these categories: largemouth bass, nine pounds, two ounces; channel catfish, 14 pounds, three ounces; flathead catfish, 65 pounds; black crappie, three pounds, and muskellunge, 31 pounds.

Does this make spring seem closer, or farther away?

Urges Second Look At Record Of U.N.

To The Editor:

The League of Women Voters urges us to support the United Nations Organization, which amounts to supporting our own downfall. I urge any of the members of that body of dedicated women to look at the record of UN actions involved in keeping the peace.

The Korean conflict provides all the information needed to forever silence any literate person, who cares to acquaint himself with the facts, regardless of his opinion of the purported claims of the internationalists and their UN supporters.

The Communists circulated a 'white paper' (in 1945) totally disavowing any belief in the principles of the UN charter and have used the machinery of that organization only as an instrument by which the internal affairs of other nations might be manipulated or subverted, without the use of force in the military sense.

In our American Bill of Rights we find a clear expression of each of the basic tenets necessary to the protection of the individual. The same may not be said concerning the [illegible]ntradictory 'jargon' used by the authors of the U[illegible] Charter.

We have now reached an im[illegible]sse in this hemisphere which calls for a decisi[illegible] inviting the efforts of Americans dedicated [illegible] the principles set forth in our Constitution, [illegible] heretofore ably expressed by Americans [illegible]nigh places. The discussions of our present situation by Mr. U. Thant and Mr. Castro, are typical of the whole pattern of "peace-keeping" on the part of the UN.

Self-preservation requires that we pay closer attention to the facts involving our survival, nationally and individually. A course of action based upon fact would automatically rule out American participation in the intrigues of the United Nations Organization, and would relieve us of the presence of a highly dangerous group of intelligence agents now freely circulating in and about the UN headquarters, New York.

"CITIZEN JIM"

Frosting On The Cake
By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

One of the most gratifying developments of the last 10 years is the long overdue "housecleaning" in elementary and secondary education. More trash had sneaked into the "long hair" jargon of theorists than most parents realized. Then a loud protest was heard all over the country as people discovered with shock that "Johnny and Mary" couldn't read.

Just plain, old-fashioned teachers, who had large and dependable quotients of common sense, moved into the "modern mess" fast, and some correct things began to happen all over the country. Kids were again taught their letters, then taught to spell and read one syllable words.

Those of us who grew up on the McGuffey Readers, and had used them as teachers in the little old-fashioned country school houses, got a new breath of hope from this uprising of parents who had made the discovery that basic education was "way off the beam."

Thousands of high school graduates have failed miserably in recent years to carry college level work because they couldn't read.

See Slums Coming

As a resident of the Hilltop of the best part of 70 years, I call to the attention of our community newspapers the slum conditions that are being permitted to grow like a cancer on the Hilltop. Conditions that have led to the condemnation of property in other parts of the city, but conditions that could be prevented if this city will enforce existing laws and pass others necessary to stop things that lead to slums. When we have asked the city officials to clean up these conditions, we are told that they have no authority, as none of the present city laws cover the situation.

Persons who were evicted by slum clearance in other parts of the city, have moved into all parts of our city and are continuing to make slum conditions, just as they did before.

Those of us who reside here are too old to start all over again with another mortgage at age 70 and are helpless to stop this spread of slums. We need the aid of every right-thinking citizen to stop it before it is too late.

Schools Will See Science Program

General Motors "Previews of Progress," a dramatic, educational stage demonstration depicting science in action has been scheduled for Walnut Ridge High School Friday, Mar. 8, 9:45 a.m.; Bexley High School, Friday, Mar. 8, 1:30 p.m., and Champion Junior High School, Wednesday, Mar. 13, 9 a.m.

The purpose of this noncommercial program is to encourage youth to pursue studies in science and engineering and to point out some of the many opportunities available in these fields.

One of the highlights of the program will be to demonstrate the "Sunmobile" that converts the sun's power to electric energy. Other demonstrations include a jet engine, an illustration of gyroscopic principles and a small vehicle that skims over land and water on a cushion of air.

Dear friends,

We believe it will surprise you to know that there are more than fifty separate service items connected with the average funeral.

Naturally the many details involved call for careful organization. Absolutely nothing can be left to chance.

You will observe that properly directed funeral services move quietly, with a complete lack of confusion. We assure you that this does not simply 'happen'.

Respectfully,

Film Is Slated At Brookwood

Young Adults of Brookwood Presbyterian Church will present "The Inn Of The Sixth Happiness," in Cinemascope and color starring Ingrid Bergman and Curt Jergens, plus a Buga Bunny cartoon, Sunday, Mar. 10, 7 p.m. in the church assembly room, 2685 E. Livingston-av.

"Stretch forth thine hand..." And the withered arm that stretched forth toward Him was made whole.

Today, the hands of Protestants reach forth...with help...to their brothers in countries over seas.

And doctors in many lands, supported by your Church, reach for the stretched arm of the sick child ...and quickly the child receives a life saving serum or anti-biotic.

the GOOD NEWS!

An excited aliveness!... That describes a man getting good news over the telephone. Then, there is the gospel, which means "The Good News" which gives life when it comes to a man. It generates life anew. This Good News is proclaimed weekly and oftentimes daily, through God's messenger in His Church. Jesus announced the Good News when He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Matthew 10:10. Listen to the proclamation of the Good News in the church of your choice on Sunday.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Vacation Fun For Ohioans

A new concept in vacations for Ohio residents is beginning to take hold in Central Ohio.

Organized by the Switzerland of Ohio Vacation Association, the new plan calls for spending your vacation in the beautiful hills of Monroe County, where facilities have been provided for entire family groups.

A brochure, describing the challange of trails, fishing and outdoor life, has been prepared by the vacation group and is offered to any interested parties. The brochure includes the names and descriptions of vacation farms taking part in the project.

Each description quotes an individual cost for what would appear to be an economical family vacation within easy reach of Central Ohioans.

But, sinc local sportswriters are touting Ohio State basketballer Gary Bradds for all American honors, it seemed only fitting that all-American gal Stella Stevens got the same treatment. How's that for logic?

In Training

Albert N. Davies, 17, son of Mrs. Helen M. Davies of 69 Santa Maria-ln, Whitehall, is undergoing nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

NEWSPAPER METHODS STUDIED

C. CARLTON HARTLEY, publisher of Hartley Newspapers (at rostrum), presided at a dinner meeting Mar. 2 that climaxed a two-day conference of the Suburban Press Foundation at the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago. Suburban publishers and editors from throughout the nation participated in newspaper improvement workshops. Hartley is flanked at the table by other publishers, representatives of industries and management, and journalism college faculty. Hartley Newspapers' managing editor, Marcus T. Orr, also attended the conference.

Redco Announces Opening Of Construction Center

An organization, one of which could easily start with a piece of land and end up with a fully constructed home provided with everything but the family that will live in it has announced plans for a grand opening in the Columbus area.

Redco Interior and Exterior Design Co., 749 Grandview-av, has enjoyed almost phenomenal growth since its beginning three years ago. Until this time the company has contracted for work only through personal solicitation, references from prior clients or by phone calls from interested persons. But now, according to Redco spokesman Gordon Roberts, "We feel it is time to open our business to the general public by advertising and staging a grand opening at our display rooms."

Roberts continued, "In the display rooms at 749 Grandview-av the public will see the type of work we do and ideas utilized in constructing a 'harmonious home' from the ground up."

The grand opening at Redco will take place during the week of Mar. 11 through Mar. 16.

The organization is made up of qualified construction crews, design and lay-out men and even an architect to make the original plans for a complete home. Roberts added, "In many cases a prospective home buyer will spend three or four sessions with our architect in completing plans for the new home."

Along with the construction of a home or office, the Redco Co. will furnish furniture, refrigerators, stoves, carpeting, draperies and other items to make the home complete. In this case the furnishings will blend with the construction of the dwelling as advised by a Redco interior decorator.

The company specializes in residential dwellings, offices, recreation rooms, additions or alterations.

Some of the many construction projects already completed by Redco include the inside paneling and new party rooms at the Arlington Arms, a new front for Presutti's Suburban Restaurant and the interior of the Lockbourne Air Force Base NCO Club, which has received national recognition.

The grand opening of Redco will mark a new milestone in the progress of a rapidly expanding organization and the public is cordially invited to attend.

RobertsUpholsteryHasBeen In Business Over 35 Years

Shopping for upholstery material in your own home is one of the conveniences offered by Roberts Upholstery at the rear of 4365 E. Broad-st. Simply picking up a phone and calling BE. 1-1236 will bring a Roberts Upholstery expert to your home with a complete selection of samples of materials for any type of upholstery job.

Specializing in complete custom re-upholstery and restyling, the firm has remained a family-operated enterprise since it was established over 35 years ago. At one time the company manufactured furniture items in the university district of Columbus under the leadership of the family father, John W. Roberts.

Since the death of John Roberts the organization has been run by Mrs. Angela Roberts, widow of the founder, Alvin Roberts, son of Mrs. Roberts, serves as manager and another son, John, works on a part-time basis.

Along with the family the firm employs four other men to aid in the operation of the business.

Located at the same address for the past 15 years, the upholstery company takes great pride in its reputation and quality of work. Tentative plans call for expansion into the retail furniture trade by offering medium and higher priced items, by nationally known manufacturers, to the general public. The opening date for the new facilities will be announced at a later date.

75th YEAR

WEARING a diamond tiara, signifying the 75th Diamond Anniversary of Main Federal Savings and Loan, is Barbara Waid of 1779 W. Mound-st. Barbara was on hand for the opening of the celebration Mar. 1, to point out a display replica of the famous Hope Diamond. Each of the three Main Federal offices has this display to represent the theme of the observance, "Saving Is Hope." Personnel in the offices, during the month of March, will be attired in clothing reminiscent of the 1888 period, the year Main Federal was founded.

Water Pure Says Wright

Water Superintendent Frank Wright testified as to the purity of city water last week after receiving complaints as to its taste.

Wright explained there is a heavy organic count in the water that will not affect its purity. Some of the bad taste, he added, is picked up in the lines after the water leaves the treatment plant.

ART DISPLAY

The public is invited to view a display of paintings by local artists in Lowe Brothers Paint Store in the Great Southern Shopping Center on S. High-st., Saturday, Mar. 16. Paintings will be judged by a panel of three art instructors and prizes will be awarded at the completion of the exhibit.

Flood Control Needs Full Speed Ahead

And the rains came . . . on top of frozen ground and heavy snow!

The result is known to all in this area, and we can be thankful the heavens overhead closed as soon as they did.

The flood of this past week serves to remind us again of the urgency of real concern over some kind of flood control program. This is not a simple thing. It calls for a gigantic and costly development of dams and construction.

The old Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District went along some 17 years without any activity. Now a new and much smaller district serves the area and it appears that they are taking steps that will lead to some early action for flood control.

This project deserves full speed ahead and the people of this area should speak up and demand that this program be given its rightful place . . . first consideration.

We have seen how close we can come to real disaster. We will never know from one spring to the next when a death taking toll will fall. Postponements may end in great destruction.

No Action At Bexley

Bexley Council — even though they did have all members present — met in a near-record 16-minute, 35-second session Tuesday night. No legislation was passed.

Majority of the time was taken to discuss bug killer spray, which one resident, Mrs. Charlotte Westwater, claimed two weeks ago was harmful to "bees and sunflowers."

Mayor William Schneider assured the council members that he explained to Mrs. Westwater that the spray was tested by experts at Ohio State University and that it killed only mosquitos and young flies.

"It won't even kill old flies," the mayor said. "Besides, we have to spray — the board of health requires us to."

About the effect on posies, Council President S. J. Kurtz said, "She's just got some unusually sensitive sunflowers."

An Analytical Look At Lamby Lane

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

There's certainly nothing "Lamby-Pamby" about proponents or opponents to the Lamby-ln development in Whitehall — a project destined for more controversy in that suburb.

Battles lines have been drawn for nearly three weeks since James Maxwell, attorney for Metropolitan Columbus Investment Corp., announced the firm's intention to construct a $5 million apartment complex.

The announcement brought the following repercussions:

• Wright-av residents rallied en masse, mostly protesting the opening of that street, which is currently a dead-end.

• Whitehall council has been stampeded with angry residents concerned with the safety of their children and the overcrowding of schools (to say nothing of dropping property values and other related items).

• Whitehall's Planning and Zoning Commission member Craig Wright has squared off in opposite corners with Maxwell.

To add to the already confusing complex of problems associated with the development, Maxwell told the residents and council Saturday morning that he thought, perhaps, that a nursing home would be built on the land instead.

And, it doesn't take a political genius to spot the fact that the nearness of the May primary election is doing nothing to help the chaos.

Likewise, it doesn't take a political analysis to spot the fact that the various factions involved in the hassle are all pretty much in the dark as to the outcome.

Leading the list of groups up in the air, of course, is city council. Although Maxwell's zoning request was originally approved by planning and zoning, council is up in the air over okaying the parcel without first finding out what Maxwell plans to build there.

Maxwell, on the other hand, claims he is also not sure just what the final decision on construction will be. As late as last Tuesday, however, he mentioned that the 150-bed nursing home was almost a sure bet.

It seems to be a matter of what should come first — the chicken or the egg, with Maxwell seemingly standing on firm ground with the fact that he doesn't necessarily have to offer concrete building plans for rezoning on his side.

An observer to discussions by the various residents can pretty well assume that the property owners are downright opposed to any development of the land.

The Wright-av folks, who have been offering the biggest protest, are concerned with the opening of the road that

GAHANNA GRAD VICKI LAUFFER
. . . Does Some Crystal-Ball Gazing

Ohio's Junior Miss One Of Three Asked Back To Mobile

By JOHN AUBLE JR.

Gahanna resident Vicki Lauffer had a whirl-wind year as Ohio's Junior Miss but activities reached hurricane proportions last week.

It was then that she was selected as one of three to be a featured guest during the finals of the America Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Ala.

Deep in the heart of Dixie, Vicki was treated as a celebrity in her own right. She is staying as a guest of the city, the pageant and the chamber of commerce.

In fact, the 18-year-old is getting to like the beauty bit so well that she revealed in a telephone interview Tuesday that she hopes to "pursue" the Miss America title.

Should the home-town Gahanna and Columbus School for Girls' alumna make good her efforts, she would be only the third Ohio young lady to be selected for the Miss America crown.

She would be the second from the greater Columbus area—the last one being Mary Campbell in 1922 and 1923.

"Of course, the Miss America title is every girl's wildest dream," Vicki said over long-distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lauffer ,at 338 Granville-st in Gahanna, feel that Vicki should finish her theatrical arts education at Stephens' College (Columbia, Mo.) first. So does Vicki, for that matter.

The all-American-girl-looking Miss Lauffer was chosen as Ohio's Junior Miss last year. "We think it's giving her a lot of fine experience," Mrs. Lauffer said. "It's actually helping her to find herself and decide what she wants to do as a career."

Beauty competition isn't a particularly foreign thing to this lass. She was one of WTVN's Teen Queens and won fourth place in Talentsville USA. In her first contest pursuit, she placed third in the Central Ohio beauty pageant and was second in the Queen Isabella competition.

As far as talent is concerned, she's got a king-sized share here, too. She plays the marimba and has won music honors in youth competition at both Ohio State University and Capital University.

Oddly enough, the perky red-head never participated in any beauty competition while attending Columbus School for Girls or prior to graduation from Gahanna.

"Actually," Mrs. Lauffer added, "we wouldn't even encourage her to strive for the Miss America title if she wasn't a good loser. But, she's gained a lot of self-reliance and knows how to lose gracefully."

Eastern Jaycees Circulating Street Improvement Booklet

An attractive 12-page brochure, entitled "A Better Street . . . the Key To A Better Neighborhood," has been made available for Whitehall by the Eastern Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce to inspire "civic pride."

According to Paul Knoblauch, treasurer of the Jaycees, the book will be distributed to property owners on various Whitehall streets in need of improvement.

It's designed, partly by Service Director Robert Mickey, to serve as a guide for property owners as far as procedures for street improvements are concerned.

The booklet contains several photographs depicting vivid before and after shots of Bernhard-rd, Pierce-av, Ross-rd, Yearling-rd and Westphal-av (south from Main-st).

"Even though we're catching up with most of them," Mickey said, "there are still quite a few streets in Whitehall in need of improvement. It's up to the property owners to take action."

Mickey singled out Robinwood-av, Country Club-rd and

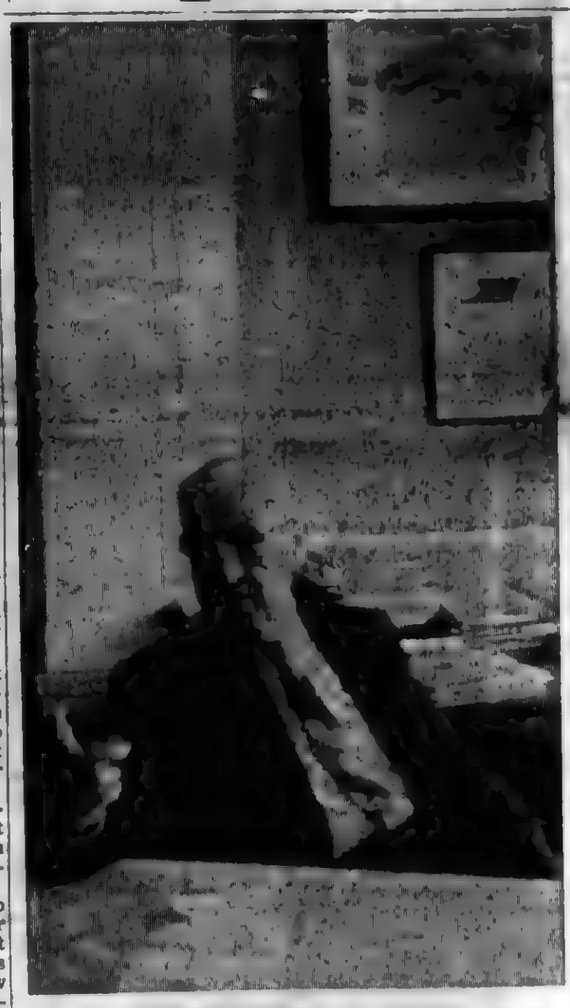
Girl Scout Leaders To Be Trained

Girl Scout leaders from the entire East Side will join others in going back to school this spring.

In the greatest training effort ever undertaken by their organizations, the 1,850 troop leaders in the six-county Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council will polish up their present knowledge of Girl Scouting and learn some new tricks, too.



The sessions are being worked progressively around the area with the first ones being held this week at the Jeffrey Mansion, 165 N. Parkview-av, and Shady Lane Presbyterian Church, 4117 Livingston-av.

The wind-up in the East Side will be an evening session at Jeffrey Mansion on Tuesday, Mar. 19, from 7 to 10. The leaders will then sit in on other sessions at later dates around the county.

The purpose of the training is to prepare Girl Scout volunteers for the program change that will become effective in September.

Mrs. Lowell Jenkins, Ohio Trefoil Council volunteer training chairman, says that the Girl Scout Council is ready and eager to train new volunteers, as well as experienced ones, for leadership of troops in the new age levels.

"We believe that Girl Scouting will be more fun than ever before, for leaders as

THE PAST
. . . A Long Way Up

'ERNIE' MEANS 'SERVICE' TO GREATER COLUMBUS

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
and ED CHURCHILL

As the legendary counterpart of his last name, Columbus Service Director Ernest Harold Stork has been bringing "bundles of joy" to this area for nearly half a century.

And, perhaps the only reason that he too hasn't been tagged a legend is that no one can keep up with him long enough to pin the tag on.

At the end of this year, Stork will celebrate 45 years in public service. When chatting about this in his city hall office, he appeared more like a "freshman" in government rather than an aging veteran.

He was 69 last January 6, but the drive and desire for community development hasn't dwindled for Ernie. If anything, it's more solidified after being distilled with the sweetness of past experience.

How do you describe Ernest Stork in words? Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake said it this way:

"Of all the public officials I have known over the years, Ernest H. Stork is, to me, the one who best exemplifies the concept of a dedicated and devoted public servant.

"For 45 years, Mr. Stork has been a guiding spirit in the development of Columbus from an overgrown country town into the largest city in Ohio in area."

Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes said of Stork:

"His exemplary life and service to his city merits the heartiest approval of all Columbus citizens."

Empty words by politicans? Not by a long shot. Public servants close to Ernie have heaped praise on many occasions—and not for the benefit of the press.

And, it's considerable, too, when you realize that Stork is nearly single-handedly

Officials Believe 'Raiders' Won't Tempt Many Engineers

By FRANK RYAN

The universal shortage of qualified highway engineers was highlighted this week by the "friendly" raid of West Virginia and Indiana highway officials on the Ohio Department of Highways.

Ohio's neighbor states seem primarily interested in luring away any qualified engineering help they can recruit. But there is an added incentive that brings them to the Buckeye State — to return native sons who strayed over the border in the past few years.

"A number of West Virginia people have taken jobs here (in Ohio) over the years," K. L. Bergstrain, personnel representative for the West Virginia State Highway Commission, told Hartley Newspapers. "These people have family ties in West Virginia, and we want to see if we can get them to come back home."

Similar sentiments were expressed by W. N. Rose, personnel representative for the Indiana State Highway Commission. Rose said Tuesday:

"Ohio has had the reputation for the past several years of having a fast-moving highway program."

Both agreed that Ohio's construction program gave the Buckeye State first choice of the qualified engineers available.

Bergstrain said that West Virginia has instituted similar recruiting drives in Pennsylvania and Michigan. He said that about 36 contacts have been established in both Ohio and Pennsylvania, while the response in Michigan has been "much less."

Interviews for prospective applicants were conducted in a downtown Columbus hotel. The visits were announced through advertisements in local newspapers.

Rose said Indiana will recruit in all neighboring states. He said the one-day Ohio stop resulted in more than 30 contacts.

Many of the potential engineering candidates were interviewed for both West Virginia and Indiana vacancies, the personnel men said.

There was no apparent connection between the recruiting visits and the current austerity program in state government.

"Frankly, I didn't know about the governor's austerity program," Rose said.

Both agreed that the jobs affected by the austerity program "are not the type we're trying to fill."

Whitehall Park Named After Former Solon

Whitehall council passed a resolution naming the city's first and only municipal park after the late Orton L. Davis, a former solon in that city.

Davis

The resolution explains that Whitehall appropriated and purchased real estate for a municipal park in the fall of 1961 and spring of 1962 and had it partially developed for recreational purposes and further development.

Davis died Feb. 12, 1962, Mar. 5.

just prior to the "fulfillment of his desire for a City Park," the resolution states.

The park land lies north of Main-st, east of Hamilton-rd, south of Fairway-blvd and west of Country Club-rd. It will be officially known as the Orton L. Davis Memorial Park.

The deceased was re-elected councilman-at-large shortly before his death. He had previously been a Fourth Ward Republican councilman. He was a retired butcher and charter member of Eastview Methodist Church and the Men's Club at the church.

The resolution took effect

WHEELCHAIR FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

THE LATEST and best available wheelchair is presented to the Crippled Children's Society by members of the Columbus Chapter of the American Business Club (AMBUCS). From left to Bill Fiddaric, AMBUCS project chairman; Lee Hall, club president, and Jack Treese, executive director of the Crippled Children's Society. This chair will be loaned to handicapped children as part of the AMBUCS program of helping the youngsters. The business group is part of a nationwide civic organization of business and professional leaders. Funds are obtained by various money raising projects. The national goal of AMBUCS is to furnish young men and women with college scholarships for study of cerebral palsy therapy. At the present time five students are attending Ohio State University on AMBUCS scholarships.

Court Clears Up Fuzzy Sale Case

Common Pleas Court Judge George Marshall has ruled that "fuzzy mirror muffs" are not an essential item, and cannot legally be sold on Sunday.

In ruling against sale of the decorative item used to frame inside "rear view" car mirrors, Judge Marshall upheld a Municipal Court conviction of Martin Wohnstein, a clerk of Shoppers Fair of Columbus, Inc., 3616 E. Broad-st.

Wohnstein was charged after selling one of the items Jan. 14.

Judge Marshall also upheld a Municipal Court conviction of another clerk at the store, Arlene Maynard, who sold a collar pin.

Both cases have been returned to Municipal Court for sentencing.

Girl Scout News

TWIN LAKES

Twin Lakes is the name of the new Girl Scout neighborhood organization, which is made up by combining Jamesrd neighborhood and Christ the King neighborhood.

There are thirty-two troops in this newly formed neighborhood. Neighborhood meeting will be the third Wednesday of every month at eight o'clock at Christ the King School.

The officers of this new neighborhood are Mrs. George Shields, chairman; Mrs. Sam Schneider, vice chairman; Mrs. Earl Knies, Jr., secretary; Mrs. A. H. Grosheimer, Jr., and Mrs. Wilbur Kilburger, troop organizers; Mrs. William Janes, troop consultant; Mrs. Robert Fick and Mrs. Fred McCool, camping representatives; Mrs. Neil Veigel and Mrs. S. J. Brigham, council delegates.

Mrs. Earl Knies, Jr., and Mrs. John Byrne, council alternates; Mrs. John Hamsher, special sales; Mrs. R. G. Seidle, chairman of nominating committee with Mrs. A. H. Grosheimer, Jr., and Mrs. Wilbur Kilburger members of nominating committee; and Mrs. J. J. Van Balen, publicity chairman.

On Feb. 2, a Patrol Workshop for Leaders and Patrol leaders was held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Christ the King School under the leadership of Miss Dorothy Gamber, better known as Dash, and assisted by Nina Muldrew.

Purpose of this workshop was to further instruction for those who already were using the patrol system and to acquaint those who had not been using it. This was attended by approximately 50 girls and 20 adults.

As a service project in February, Twin Lakes neighborhood made six hundred and sixty candy valentines and delivered them to the State Hospital.

At Easter time each year a similar project will be carried out by making and filling Easter baskets for the Hospital.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK

Girl Scout Week really began Mar. 9 with Girl Scout Sabbath when girls of the Jewish faith attend their synagogue in uniform.

Mar. 10 is Girl Scout Sunday.

Monday was Homemaking Day.

Tuesday, Girl Scout Birthday (Mar. 12) was Citizenship Day, Wednesday was Health and Safety Day.

Thursday (today) is International Friendship Day. Friday is Arts and Crafts Day, and Saturday is Out-of-doors Day.

'YW Wives' Units Arrange Spring Series Of Classes

Young mothers and wives will learn new skills and enjoy a "morning out" at one of the "YW Wives" groups in the city, sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association.

All groups provide competent baby sitters for preschool age children.

This spring term, a swim workshop is available for all "YW Wives." The group will meet Wednesday afternoons, 2 to 3, with no extra fee involved. Call the YWCA, CA. 4-9121, for registration or information for all centers.

"Apron Strings Holiday," meeting at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, will feature the following groups and teachers: "Copper Enameling," Vada Bietler; "First Aid," Patrolman Charles Beeler; "Introduction to Interior Decorating Workshop," Perry Davis, and "Gym and Swim."

Beginning with Mar. 13, the group meets Wednesday mornings, 9:30 to 11:30, followed by luncheon and speakers in the afternoon.

Hilltop YW Wives plan eight weeks of "self improvement" to include exercise, beauty and grooming with Mrs. Charles Trachevski.

The group meets at the Hilltop YMCA Center, 2879 Valleyview-dr, Wednesday mornings, 9:30 to 11:30. Any woman interested in this program is invited to guest day, Mar. 20.

Eastside YW Wives meet Tuesday mornings, 9:30 to 11:30, at Shady Lane Presbyterian Church, 4117 E. Livingston-av.

A six-week "Home Arts Workshop" is planned to include choice of knitting or embroidery, Mrs. Ernest Ocker; "Basic Bridge," Mrs. Donald Will, and feature days, which will include "Your Speech Personality," Mrs. Paul Dilley, "Interior Decorating," Glicks, and a "Sewing Machine Demonstration," Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Guest Day, Mar. 19, is open to the public.

SPRING CHECK-UP

When you glance into your mirror do you feel satisfied with the reflection? If not, why not? To much avoirdupois will cause unbecoming bulges and you will appear years older.

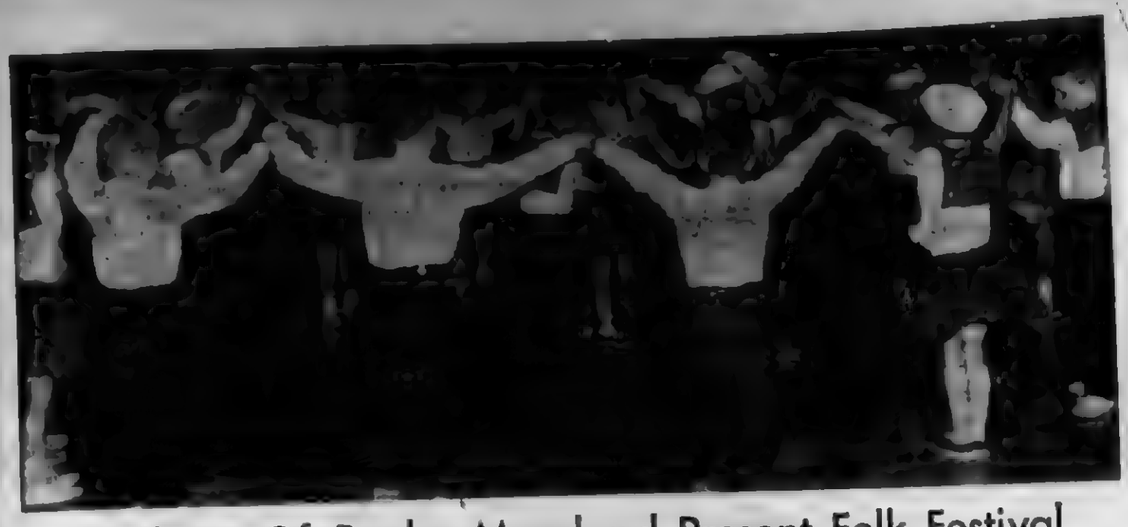
Last season's hairdo will do absolutely nothing for you this spring. It's time for a change. You can look trim and attractive without too much effort on your part. It's spring check-up time for YOU.

If for one reason or another you are dissatisfied with your appearance, seek professional advice. A new hairstyle has been known to do the trick. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BE. 5-5474. Town and Country Shopping Center.

Cancer Rays Collect Old Auto Tags

Celia Kahn Lazarus Cancer Ray, assisted by the Haughton, Zenker, Doan and Schonthal Rays is holding the annual old license plates drive, Mar. 9 through April 6.

Columbus, county, Upper Arlington, Grandview and Minerva Park departments of sanitation will pick up old license plates if they are placed next to weekly collection for these departments. They may also be taken to the nearest main shopping center and placed in clearly-marked orange U-Haul trailers.



Deposit all defaced plates by Apr. 6, for on this date they will be sold for scrap. Proceeds will go to the Columbus Cancer Clinic for out patients of Franklin County.

The money helps provide transportation, supplies and sickroom equipment for patients of the clinic.

Reformation Lutheran Plans Spring Meeting

Reformation Lutheran Church Women will hold their spring general meeting Tuesday, Mar. 12, 8 p.m.

Milton Ain, State Bureau of Juvenile Research, will speak. All women of community are invited.

Students Of Bexley-Maryland Present Folk Festival

BRIDGING THE WORLD wth arms out-stretched are the children of Miss Nancy Guentzler's first grade of Bexley-Maryland Avenue Elementary School at their recent Folk Festival. The combined school-PTA function had children of every class participating in cultural festivities by featuring a foreign country. Youngsters studied the countries, and presented songs and dances, dressing for the part.

Bexley Unit To Hear Capital Head

All parents are invited by Bexley-Cassingham PTA to hear Dr. Harold Yochum, president of Capital University, speak Thursday, Mar. 21, 1:30 p.m. in the Cassingham cafeteria.

Dr. Yochum will discuss "It's Your Child, Isn't It?"

Dr. Yochum, president of Capital University since 1946, has received distinguished honors in the educational and theological fields.

As author, lecturer, educator, he was selected one of the "Ten Outstanding Men in Columbus" in 1953. He recently drew national attention on his stand of conducting Capital University building projects without federal aid.

He is the chairman of United Appeals in Franklin County for 1963.

Hobbyists To Exhibit At Heritage

Three East Side professional men — Dr. Lewis R. Basch of 2860 E. Broad-st, Martin Marx of 265 N. Remington-rd, and Dr. Aladar Zipser of 2710 Brentwood-rd, will exhibit their non-professional hobby, painting in oils, at the next exhibit of pictures at Heritage House, Columbus Jewish Home for the Aged, 115 College-av, beginning Mar. 24.

The exhibit will open with afternoon tea from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, when the public will have an opportunity to meet the exhibitors and see the pictures on display.

Serious in their hobby, none of these three has had formal training in art. Marx has taken some courses in Indianapolis with Elmer Tablinger, and is now studying with the Adult Art Class at the Jewish Center.

Marx is by profession a bio-analyst, Dr. Basch is a dentist, and Dr. Zipser, a surgical chiropodist.

All three work in oil and do landscapes for the most part.

Their paintings will remain on display the remainder of March and through the month of April.

Another exhibit is planned by the Art Committee of Heritage House for May by a major professional painter, Mrs. Oliver E. Bemis (Beatrice B. Bemis).

PWP UNIT TO HEAR ROSENFELD SPEAK AT MARCH MEET

Paul Rosenfeld, assistant director, Franklin County Mental Health Association, will conclude his discussion series with the Greater Columbus Chapter of Parents Without Partners, Inc., with the topic, "Adults—for Better or for Worse."

Single parents, both men and women, are invited to attend Tuesday, Mar. 19, 8:30 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church, 125 E. Broad-st.

Parents Without Partners is a national, non-sectarian, non-profit, educational organization devoted to the welfare and inteersts of single parents (widowed, separated or divorced) and their children. Those interested in further information may contact Mrs. Juanita Mattes, 125 E. Broad-st, AX. 1-1817.

Meatless Meal May Star Tuna Lasagne

Thrifty Italian cooks have always known how to give their pasta (macaroni dishes) a lot of flavor and satisfaction value.

Their secret is cheese—soft ones mild in flavor, some semi-soft ones and richly flavored, some firm and nippy. In a country with a long seacoast they also have a wide choice of fish and shellfish which frequently enrich their pasta [illegible].

We take a cue then from them for this quite different version of lasagne featuring tuna instead of meat, and studded with chunks of shiny black olives. Two typical Italian cheeses add their essential flavors and nutrients.

So hearty a dish as this needs little in the way of accompaniment. Some Italian green beans, perhaps, and a crisp salad with Italian dressing. Crusty rolls or bread with plenty of fresh, sweet butter.

TUNA LASAGNE

½ lb. lasagne noodles (or any wide noodles)
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
2 6½-ounce cans tuna, drained and flaked
1 4-ounce can pimiento, drained and diced
¼ cup chopped parsley
¾ cup pitted ripe olives, chopped
1 lb. sliced Mozzarella cheese
Grated Parmesan cheese, for topping

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender; drain and set aside. Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour and salt; gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in tuna, pimiento, parsley and olives.

Arrange alternate layers of noodles, tuna mixture and cheese slices in buttered pan, beginning and ending layers with noodles. (At this stage, dish may be covered and stored in refrigerator until ¾ hour before serving time.)

When ready to bake, sprinkle top generously with Parmesan cheese. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes, or until top is bubbly and browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

OSU Mothers Plan Tuesday Luncheon

ASSIST EASTER SEAL EFFORT

WANTS INDEPENDANCE

Chuckie Makes Gains With Therapeutics

Four-year old Chuckie Fairbanks is learning a lot of things these days at the Easter Seal Treatment Center, such as how a fella buttons and unbuttons clothes, laces shoes and feeds himself.

Chuckie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks, 2945 Eastmoreland-dr, got a later start at learning these skills than most children, as he is a cerebral palsy victim with spastic quadriplegia.

He entered the Center of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children in 1960 and seems to be progressing well.

He has occupational therapy twice a week and a therapist is working with him to strengthen muscles for future shirt removal.

In addition to the button face above, Chuckie works with a wooden shoe, a lace board and buckles to help him in future brace removal.

He has received feeding instruction and has now graduated to a regular baby spoon from the special built-up spoon he previously used. All treatments are designed to pave the way for a normal, independent life for Chuckie.

Physical therapy treatment and group room socialization activities are also included in Chuckie's twice-a-week visit to the Center. Over 80 children receive care, treatment and education here thanks to public support of the current Easter Seal campaign.

CHUCKIE FAIRBANKS practices his "buttoning and unbuttoning" lessons on a felt face that has removable eyes, mouth, hair and hat to make different faces.

Miss Diehl To Address Heritage CCL Meet

Heritage CCL will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Horn, 649 S. Broadleigh Thursday, Mar. 14. Co-hostess will be Mrs. John Haselwood.

Miss Dorothy Diehl, principal, Clinton Heights Elementary School, will speak on "The Cardboard Frankenstein," or why have report cards?

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Fish, Fish Products Are More Plentiful

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Grapefruit (mediums), apples, winter pears.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cabbage, green onions, lettuce.

Other Foods — Frozen fish, beef and pork "specials," fryers, large eggs, cheddar cheese.

How's fishing? Cold is the only word, but there's a warmer situation at the seafood display of your favorite market. Inventories of fishery products generally are higher than last year. These include frozen fish and shellfish, and canned fish — particularly tuna, pink salmon and Maine sardines.

Of the popular fish products, frozen halibut is in largest supply, up 141 per cent over last year. Supplies of fish sticks are also up 37 per cent, shrimp 37 per cent, and canned tuna five per cent above a year ago. In lesser supply are haddock, oysters and breaded shrimp.

Mrs. Franks

For fresh fish, meaning unfrozen fish, dealers say you'll have to wait later than usual this year —probably until late March or April. The Great Lakes are still frozen over, and the ice is deep. Fish experts say the prospects for the popular varieties of lake fish are good, when the ice begins to break.

The large supply of frozen fish products makes fish an economical protein choice, whether or not you're observing meatless menus. Also, fish ranks high—right along with red meat, since an average serving of fish contains the same amount of protein as an average serving of meat.

For those on low-calorie diets the lean fish are particu arly valuable. The white fishes such as cod, haddock, flounder, and sole are almost fat free.

To get the best in frozen fish, be sure it is solidly frozen when purchased with no discoloration or browning of the flesh. Good quality frozen fish also has little or no odor. These guides to quality can be used when the fish is not wrapped or is in a transparent wrapper. For packaged fish not permitting visual inspection, rely upon label information including grade and inspection stamps. Brand familiarity and display conditions are also helpful.

Official grade standards have been set for a limited number of important fishery products. These include fried fish sticks, fillets of cod, haddock and ocean perch, halibut steaks and raw breaded shrimp. The three official grades are U.S. Grade A (top quality), U.S. Grade B and Substandard. Grading is optional at the present time so you may not find the grade stamp on all brands.

Inspection is also optional, but fishery products can be packed under continuous inspection of the Department of Interior. Such products are so labeled, indicating the product was examined for wholesomeness and that the processing and packing was done under approved conditions.

Remember that for breaded products the net weight given on the label includes the weight of the breading material. And the proportions of fish and breading may vary a great deal. Your past experience with a particular brand is probably the best buying guide.

East Side Streets Included In Plan

A $36 million street and freeway program — much of which is in the East Columbus area — is scheduled this year, City Engineer Robert F. Werner reported.

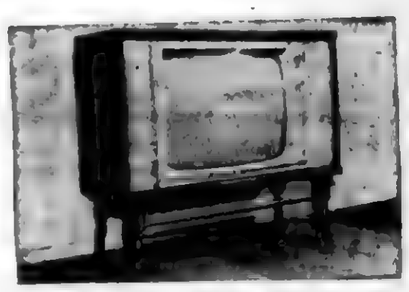
The figure includes $28 million of interstate expressways on which the federal government pays 90 per cent, while the state and city each pay five per cent.

Werner's plans do not include projects currently underway such as the Parsons Expressway and the underpasses at Morse-rd and E. North Broadway. These were programmed under last year's schedule.

The major interstate projects will help solve the East Side traffic problems and will complete the innerbelt system.

The innerstate system, which encircles the downtown area, will be completed with the $14 million Fulton Expressway.

One and possibly two sections of the East Freeway will be placed under contract this year. Each will cost $7 million. These sections, when completed, will be a limited access highway from the innerbelt to the Hanford Village area.



Also scheduled is the installation of a 32-foot permanent surface on Courtright-rd between Livingston and Deshler-avs.

A program of new streets will cost $1.5 million and include Weyant-av to Hampton-rd in the East Side.

MINA BERN, singer of Yiddish and Israeli songs and ballads and one of the foremost stars of the Jewish stage, will appear in the nation-wide tour of the Farband Theatre Troupe scheduled for a stopover show Thursday, Mar. 21, at Agudas Achim Synagogue. The show, "The Blacksmith's Daughters," goes on stage at 8 p.m.

THURSDAY, MAR. 21

Yiddish Stars Set Agudas Achim Show

A Yiddish Theater Ensemble of seven outstanding stars of the New York Jewish musical comedy stage will be presented at Agudas Achim Synagogue Thursday, Mar. 21, at 8 p.m.

The Brotherhood of the Agudas Achim is sponsoring the appearance, according to Harold Covel, the group's president.

Featuring a musical adaptation of "The Blacksmith's Daughters" by the late great Yiddish dramatist Peretz Hirshbein, the Ensemble will also give a concert program of Yiddish folk songs of Israel in Hebrew, as well as humorous skits.

Their appearance here is part of a nation-wide tour under the auspices of Farband-Labor Zionist Order. This year's tour marks the 50th anniversary of Farband, the national Jewish fraternal order.

Tickets may be obtained from the Synagogue office, any Brotherhood Board member or at the door.

18 Whitehall Teens Complete City's Civil Air Patrol Tour

Whitehall's Civil Air Patrol Squadron completed it first basic training class last Thursday evening with a formal ceremony as all the new cadets took the Cadet Oath.

The course covered military discipline and courtesy, drill, and a history of CAP and the US Air Force and is designed to prepare the cadet for the advanced booklets of the aviation education course.

A highlight of the basic training was a three day bivouac in southern Ohio where the cadets learned the fundamentals of winter survival and land rescue techniques.

The cadets, all of the Whitehall area, are Glen Burke, Larry Clark, James Cook, James Donoghue, Jr., Robert Gerkin, David Hutchison, Thomas Isner, James Lascola, Patrick McCarrick.

Michael McConnel, Bruce McLeish, Stanley Robinson, Roger Scher, Edward Teagardner, Richard Volz, Marvin Waugh, William Weber and Martin Wolfe.

C/2C Raymond Bull completed an additional achievement in the advanced training program and was awarded the White Training Ribbon and promoted to Cadet First Class.

In the coming month, the new cadets will travel to Don Scott Field to take part in the Flight Orientation Program.

A complete ground school will be given to the cadets to introduce them to the light aircraft used in the Civil Air Patrol Search and Rescue missions and will be climaxed by two hours of flight time in the dual passenger aircraft.

Whitehall's CAP Squadron is now accepting new cadets. Interested teenagers are invited to attend one of the weekly Thursday evening meetings starting at 6:30 p.m. at the Holy Spirit Church at the corner of E. Broad-st and Yearling-rd.

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

BY ANNE MALAY

Some 200 WYHS juniors took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test Mar. 5.

Very high scores on the test will be eligible to compete in a second test that may make them eligible for one of the scholarships offered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Since Whitehall - Yearling has never had anyone qualify for this second test, advisors and faculty members hope the class of 1964 may bring recognition to Whitehall through examination scores.

This year the WYHS Senior Band sent four representatives to the District Solo and Ensemble Contest at Capital University Mar. 2. Contestants received the following ratings: Bob Kuhn, vocal solo, excellent; Ted Hopkins, flute solo, excellent; Carol Fleener, clarinet solo, superior; and Bambi Markham, flute solo, good.

The Senior Band presented its first evening concert of the year Mar. 8 in the high school auditorium.

The band presented a variety of music ranging from the works of Bach to modern South American selections. Included on the program were "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral," from Logengrin, by Richard Wagner; "A Festival Prelude," by Alfred Reed; "Salute A.S.B.D.A. March," by Kenneth Williams; and "United States Steel Suite," by Leroy Anderson.

The first three numbers will be presented once again but under slightly different and perhaps more strained circumstances — at the District Band Contest to be held Saturday, Mar. 16. On that date WYHS will once again play host to nearly 25 different schools. The bands will be judged on performance and sight reading ability.

Last year the WYHS Band received a superior rating at the district enabling them to go to the state contest, where they were awarded an "excellent."

It has always been said by those who follow the band that it always rises to the occasion. Band members hope this to be another of their many profitable experiences at contests and competitions.

About 60 WYHS Student Council and Inter-Club Council members plus student council members from neighboring schools participated in the Student Council workshop held Mar. 4 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The four guest high schools included Bexley, Westerville, Hamilton Township, and Bishop Hartley.

The workshop was under the leadership and guidance of Mr. Roger Sweet, from Beaver Creek High School, and Mrs. Compton, dean of girls at WYHS.

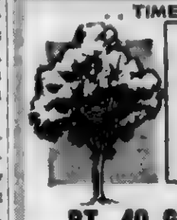
As the workshop commenced, the large group was divided into five smaller ones for general sessions in problem solving. Each group was given two hours to remedy a hypothetical situation which might occur in any high school.

After the groups had organized and outlined strategies to their situations, they met to disclose the solutions to their assigned problems. Groups were then graded on the basis of originality and rational approach to their problems.

Following the group sessions there were general discussions on problem solving, parliamentary procedure, and qualities essential to an adequate student council.

For the remainder of the afternoon students made centerpieces for the Teacher's Appreciation Banquet which was held that evening.

Teachers were escorted to the banquet by student council members. At the dinner the groups that had assembled earlier for the workshop presented the cheers, the school songs and the problem solving exercises they had worked out that morning. A magic act concluded the entertainment.



Minor children must file Federal tax returns if they earn $600 or more.

Prizes awarded in a sales contest are income and must be included on Federal Income tax returns.

Bexley High School
LION's ROAR

By BETSY BEUST

"The Sound of Music" will be presented by the Bexley Band Parents Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased at the door for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The combined Junior High School and High School Bands will perform, and selected talent from the Band Parents and the student body will be presented.

Junior and senior National Honor Society members will be inducted tomorrow at a morning assembly.

The induction will be conducted by seniors who were selected in their junior year.

The High School Choir under the direction of Mr. C. Robert Myers will compete in the District Choir Contest this Saturday at Whitehall-Yearling High School.

Cincinnati St. Xavier placed first in both A and B divisions at the Bexley Invitational Debate Tournament last Saturday.

Fergus Theibert, president of the Bexley Lions, presented the B division awards donated by that group. The Bexley High School Debate Team will attend the State Debate Finals tomorrow at Ohio State University.

Next Monday the Hi-Y basketball team, wearing boxing gloves and obeying girls' rules, will play the Y-Teens team.

Following the game, the teams and spectators will be served refreshments in the student lounge.

Junior Joanne Coopersmith has been chosen by Student Council as the American Field Service representative for Bexley.

She is in charge of making arrangements for next year's foreign exchange student.

Bexley High School's Dramatics Club will be featured in the spring issue of the National Thespian Magazine for high school drama groups. Last year's play "See How They Run" will be featured. In charge of the write-up is senior Harriett Nalty.

Auction Sale

The Lutheran Welfare League will sponsor an "Auction of Antiques" Thursday, Mar. 21, at the Youth Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds. The event will last all day.

A WORLD FAMOUS cornetist, Leonard B. Smith, is scheduled to conduct a session for local high school teachers at Capital University Saturday.

Stork—

responsible for civic improvements in the Columbus area such as:

- Sponsoring and designing the Master Plan for the Columbus Zoo.
- Preparing text and maps for county-wide zoning.
- Writing the entire text for Regulations for Land Subdivision for the city.
- Consulting in planning the Park of Roses.
- Designing a flood protection plan and a plan for beautifying the city's river and water reservoir areas.

Besides this, Stork had a hand in the selection and purchase of a site for the city's second sewage treatment works; construction of millions of dollars worth of new trunk sewers, water lines and city streets, and rehabilitation of the municipal power plant.

What does Stork see in the future for Columbus and Franklin County?

One of his most cherished ideas is the construction of a mall on the near West Side, as a complex of federal, state, county and city office buildings along W. Broad-st, on the West Side of the Scioto River.

Another goal is to annex the township "islands" within the city. Although a somewhat controversial view, he feels that better service could be given to these areas, were they part of the city.

Probably the most spectacular of Stork's ideas is an elevated freeway, over Sandusky-st, to handle the increased flow of traffic in that area.

As for retirement, evidently that thought hasn't crossed his mind—at least he doesn't bother to mention it.

Ernie retired for three years from city employment, but spent those years as development consultant for the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce and as chief engineer for the State Office Building Commission.

But, after his short tenure as a "retiree," he was drafted by incoming Mayor Westlake as City Service Director in 1960.

Being on 24-hour call doesn't give Stork much of a private life. He does like to relax at home with his wife, Clara, and do some gardening.

He has a son, Richard, 35, "same age as the city hall," says the director, who lives in Cleveland, and a daughter, Mrs. H. A. Dorsey, in Mexico City.

The Storks, who live on Cooke-rd in the far North Side, are members of Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church.

He was born on E. Mound-st, in what now is the Market-Mohawk Urban Renewal Project area.

"It gives you a funny feeling to know you and the city are getting older and they are tearing it down to do it over again," he said of his childhood community.

Considered an expert in his own right, Ernest Stork doesn't have much use for "out-of-town experts," because they "don't feel the pulse of the people. If you want to know something, ask someone who is right in the middle of the situation and they can give you a better answer than some guy who has no feeling, other than to make money," he theorized.

Evidently that is the way most people feel about Stork—"If you can't find it here, ask Ernie—he'll know."

That is the tribute most often paid to Columbus' Ernie Stork—the man with a vision.

Music Clinic Slated At Capital Saturday

Leonard B. Smith, world premier cornetist, will conduct a clinic for area high school musicians and teachers Saturday, Mar. 16, at 2 p.m., in Bexley Hall on the Capital University campus.

Smith will be in Columbus for the weekend when he will be featured as guest soloist with the Capital University Concert Band Sunday, Mar. 17, at 3 and 8 p.m., in Mees Hall auditorium.

Smith has been featured in more than 3,000 concerts, festivals and regional and national clinics throughout the United States and Canada.

He has played first trumpet with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Ford Sunday Evening Hour, Philadelphia Orchestra, Jam Handy Motion Pictures Studios, Cities Service, Voice of Firestone, Music America Loves Best radio programs, March of Time newsreel, Movietone News, Detroit Civic Light Opera, Chevrolet New Car showings, Radio City Music Hall, New York, and solo trumpet with the Barrere Little Symphony.

There are no reserved seats for the two concerts nor an admission charge. A free will offering will be taken.

Bexley Prof Recognized

A Bexley resident was among five Ohio State University faculty members who received recognition last week as outstanding teachers.

He is Dr. Harold J. Grimm, 76 N. Stanwood-rd, professor and chairman of the history department.

GROUND RULES

by

If you will stop a moment, think it through the main reason for the grass looking greener on the other side of the fence is because THAT fellow, your neighbor takes pride in it by proper care.

Now is a good time to make arrangements for grass substitutes whose you have found it impossible to grow grass satisfactorily, among these would be English Ivy, Myrtle and Pachysandria, all of which will do well in shady areas.

Select your sweet pea seeds, your gladiolus bulbs as they can be planted as soon as ground can be spaded, also you can start planting trees, shrubs and Evergreens.

Now is the ideal time to prune most trees, vines and shrubs that lose their leaves in the fall, late winter or early spring. Major exceptions are roses, shrubs and trees that flower in the spring.

Do the final pruning on roses during warmer weather, when buds tell you how much of the cane is still alive.

In an extremely tough winter such as the one we have just experienced, prune lightly. After growth has started you can see if winter injury has killed some branches that will need more trimming. In pruning, cut back tall upright growth. Remove water sprouts, those long upright suckers from large branches. Thin out crossbranches and all weak growth.

Pruning time is ideal time for finding scale insects, tent caterpillar eggs and other pests. You will remove some by pruning, then get ready to spray with dormant oil on the first day that it stays warm for 5 to 6 hours. This gives oil time to dry on bark to kill insects.

Scholer Warns—'Get Rid Of Old License Plates'

Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer stated this week that during the 30-day period, from Mar. 1 through Mar. 31, when both 1962 and 1963 license plates may be used, there is always a strong possibility that discarded plates could be found by irresponsible persons who might use them illegally or in the commission of a serious crime to avoid detection.

Should this occur, the chief pointed out, the owners of the discarded plates would probably be subjected to questions from the police.

This can be avoided by following a couple simple suggestions the chief said:

1. After removing the license plates, the owners can deface the numerals by hambering and bending.

2. After defacing, the plates may be deposited in containers which will be located in the various shopping centers throughout the city, beginning Saturday, Mar. 9.

The collection containers are being furnished by local Cancer Ray groups who will donate the proceeds, from the sale of junked plates, to the Columbus Cancer Clinic for aid to outpatients of the Franklin County area.

Dec. 6, 1876, the Hayes-Tilden presidential election was disputed. Rep. Hays had been given 185 electoral votes and his opponent, Tilden, received 184. In March, 1877, a special electoral commission decided in favor of Hayes.

ONG Signal Co. Needs More Men

Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 137th Signal Battalion, Ohio National Guard, has launched an intensive recruiting campaign to bring the unit up to its full authorized strength, according to Capt. Donald E. King, commanding officer.

Prospective guardsmen can enlist at the National Guard Armory, Building 63, Fort Hayes, from 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday, and till 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Age limits are 17 to 35. Written consent of parents is necessary for enlistment of men who have not yet reached their 18th birthday.

Daily Parade Of Troubles Hits Juvenile Bureau

(Second of a series — By FRANK RYAN)

Come along with me on a tour of duty with officers of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department. It is a good way to learn the bureau's objectives, and its position in the area of juvenile problems and delinquency.

It's about 5 p.m., and officers are questioning a 16-year-old youth. He is suspected of check forgery, an offense usually thought of as an adult crime.

The boy has no previous record of any serious offense. Oh, yes, a little difficulty due to playing hookey from school and some problems with accepting authority both at school and at home. But nothing serious enough to warrant police or court action.

The boy knows nothing about the stolen checks that were cashed. The questioning continues. It's a surprising sort of interview for one accustomed to gaining knowledge of such matters from the family "idiot box."

There is no shouting, no threatening and no bluffing. Each of the two officers who interview the youth have essentially the same approach. Basically it is this:

"A market owner has identified you as having given him one of the stolen checks . . . This is your first big trouble, but it is serious trouble. Now is when you've got to make up your mind if you want to continue to have trouble, or do something about it . . . Do you want to become a con?"

"No," the boy says, and he draws the word out for emphasis.

Now I'm not going to kid you, son," the officer continues, "you're going to be locked up tonight; not in jail, but you'll be kept at the detention home at least for tonight."

The scene was more like a father talking to a neighbor's son, than a police officer to a law violator. The boy responded.

"Really, I don't know why," he started, as he told of taking a book of blank checks from a car. "They were sitting there, and looked so tempting.

"I thought it was a big deal. I thought I could get away with it."

The youth admitted to cashing four of the checks; total amount, about $16.

He told a story all too familiar to officers; of having built a reputation in his neighborhood. "They (the other kids) think I'm a big deal."

"I don't go to church," the boy said in answer to a question, "but I'd like to." He also expressed a desire to see a psychiatrist.

Feigning or sincere, the youth obviously was confused, in need of help, and dangerously close to the point of no return. His immediate future will rest with the decision of the juvenile division of the Franklin County Domestic Relations Court.

Now it's time to witness other facets of the bureau operation. We are delivering an "informal summons," notifying parents that one of them is to appear with their son for a traffic violation hearing. In another case it's a notice for a parent to appear with a juvenile to discuss a complaint that has come to the attention of the juvenile bureau.

It's shortly after 6 p.m., and we are on our way to talk to a youth whose stepfather has requested help in bringing his stepson into line. When we get there, we learn that the boy's mother has sent him to a relative's house to spare him the interview.

After refusing to become a referee for the domestic squabble between the husband and wife, the officer left the following words of advice: "When you two find each other, then you'll find room for the boy."

It's 7 p.m., and the cold, damp weather gives promise of a light duty tour. The promise holds good until 8 p.m. when a cruiser is dispatched to investigate a report of four juveniles loitering in an alley. We're in the vicinity, so we meet the cruiser.

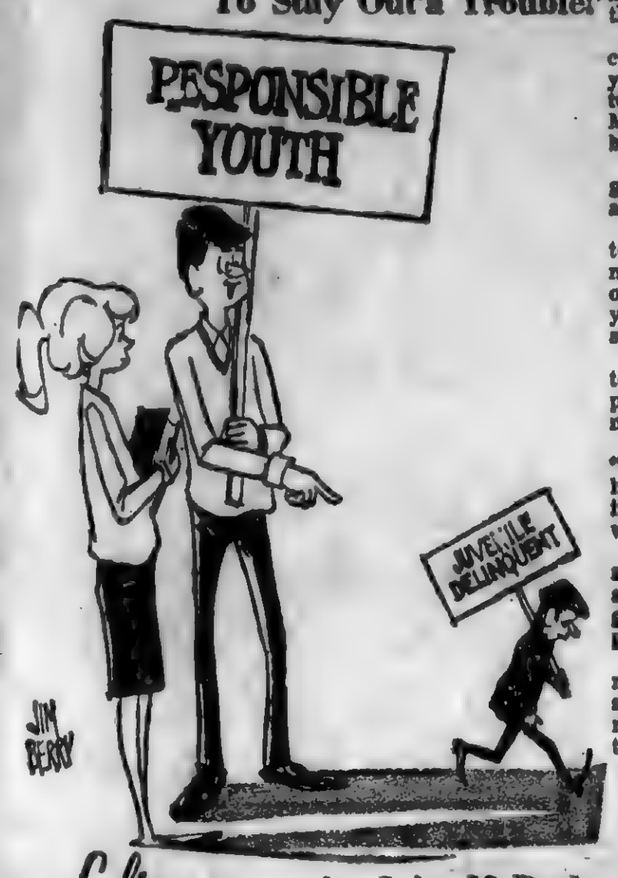
The officer tells us that four boys were reportedly "wrestling around" near a garage, but have apparently left the scene.

We continue our lonely vigil along side streets and main thoroughfares. A settlement house is closing for the night, and we note that a police cruiser glides slowly by the building; a gentle reminder to the homeward-bound youth to behave. (Our car is unmarked, so we go unnoticed).

Back to the main street we go to check places where groups of teenagers are known to congregate. All is quiet.

It's about 10 p.m. now, and most of the kids apparently are where they belong — at home.

Another police radio call dealing with a juvenile is heard. The emergency squad is taking an unconscious youth to Children's Hospital. Again we are in the vicinity, and follow the Fire Department unit to the hospital.



The boy is 16 years old. The cause of his state is unknown. He was brought home, unconscious, by two companions who told his parents they had found him in the street.

The boy bore bruised and cut knees, but no other signs of injury. Among the possible causes are poisoning, internal injury or acute intoxication. There is no odor of alcohol.

This boy is the center of much attention and grave concern. Officers from the juvenile bureau begin to fit scattered bits of information together.

They learn from the boy's father that he had had a fight the day before with another boy. They learn from the boy's younger brother the names of two of his companions of the evening. The youth's address is close to the area where the four juveniles were seen earlier in the evening.

'It's No More Trouble To Stay Out'a Trouble!'

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

The full story was learned through some quick police investigation. The youth and his three companions were those who had been seen earlier in the evening. They had stolen and consumed an undetermined amount of vodka, hence the lack of strong alcohol odor that otherwise would have been apparent.

The youth responds to treatment, and is to be released from the hospital. His mother is instructed to accompany him to the juvenile bureau "hangover and all" at 9 o'clock the next morning. The whole experience is one the teenager will not forget for quite some time, according to both the juvenile officers and the parents.

Back at the juvenile bureau we discuss activities with Sgt. Pat Montenaro, senior night officer.

He tells us of a 15-year-old who visited the bureau to request that he be sent to the detention home. "I hear they treat you pretty good over there," he says.

It developed, Montenaro said, that the boy had committed some property damage at home. The youngster thought he would fare better under custody of juvenile authorities than with his father. Montenaro thought correction, in this matter, could better be done at home.

Montenaro is a firm believer that a healthy degree of home discipline is the surest safeguard against the necessity for eventual court discipline.

He is an outspoken advocate of a generally tougher policy in dealing with errant youth. He does not believe in continued probation for a youthful offender who has violated a current probation. "If you tell them (the teenagers) you're going to do something, you had better do it," he says.

Montenaro believes that parents must be made to assume more responsibility; that they should supply the initial "crackdown" to avoid future and more serious trouble.

Generally speaking, Montenaro belongs to the "hard" school of thought concerning juvenile delinquency. But this fact would be hard to discern in listening to him deal personally with the youth who come to his attention.

Montenaro stressed that delinquent behavior is a factor with only about five per cent of all teenagers. He said he feels that three per cent of this group could be reached with the right type of program.

There was one element that occurred to this reporter in looking back on the many hours he had spent with several of the juvenile bureau officers; not once did any of them use the word "punk" in talking about the troubled and troublesome youth.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation and attitudes of the juvenile court.

16-Year-Old Drivers Hazard; Can Ride Bus

To The Editor:

I frequently drive down Norton-rd between 7:30 and 8 a.m.

For several months I had considered calling the superintendent of the South-Western City School District or the principal of Pleasant View High School to report some of the teenage "speedsters" I have seen.

There has been an increase in the number of cars, carrying full loads of teenagers and being driven recklessly and at a high rate of speed on this road.

Many school buses travel Norton-rd every school day and a worse accident could occur at any time, than the one last Thursday.

I was in the car behind that of the teenager who hit the school bus in the rear.

The bus, going south on Norton-rd, stopped for a stop sign then carefully and slowly turned onto Alkire-rd.

The youth's car did not stop for the sign, and plowed into the rear of the bus.

The car had "zoomed" past me and went headlong into the intersection.

I was about 10 car lengths behind.

I waited, some distance back, until the Highway Patrolman motioned for the cars to move on.

As I passed the car, the teenage driver had a "smart aleck" grin on his face as though he had done something "cute."

If the tax payers provide money for school buses, these kids do not need cars to drive to school and show off to their friends.

Fortunately, no one was injured, but with the many buses on Norton-rd every day, more serious accidents may occur, unless parents and teachers control more adequately, teenage driving.

Surely, with the recent death of four Hilliard area youths, it is time for parents to be more firm and school authorities more realistic about the hazards of 16-year-olds driving.

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The Socialists and "parlor-pinks" never quit their nonsense. Year after year these benighted "divider uppers" carry on a constant attack on our American Way Of Life. Most of them are educated "so far beyond their native intelligence," as the immortal Mark Twain said.

Right this moment, we see the consummate folly of a tax cut without any honest attempt by the present administration to cut crazy spending for lots of "guff and goo" that contributes nothing to the real common good. All this insane extravagance is to inflate the growing army of parasitical "minders of other people's business."

Medicare is again in the forefront of their determination to socialize medicine and surgery and make the oldest and most honest profession into a political football. Not one single added service of genuine dedication could possibly come out of complete nationalization of our most vitally important public service profession.

The moment we allow this error to become intrenched in our body-politic, all of the incompetents who lack both skill and proper basic training, would move in and God help any unimportant private citizen who tried to clear the air about lack of attention to the individual patient.

Another area where the "dividers" are striving to hog-tie our safety and common need services is our public utilities. Gas, electricity, transportation, telephones — all operate under constant threat of terrific trouble. Floods, breakdowns, tornados, fires; all these hazards are always with us and if the Socialists ever succeed in taking command of these again God help this country.

Mr. JFK is in deeper trouble only half way through his first term than he realizes, perhaps. The real disease is the fact he is surrounded by a menagerie of longhairs who are publicly, (or secretly) determined to destroy all profit making enterprise.

In another issue, we spoke of some famous Ohio People. Here are some more:

Ernest Ball was born in Cleveland. He wrote "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling".

Tell Taylor was born in Findlay. His "Down by the Old Mill Stream" will live as long as there are barbershop quartets.

In entertainment the list is long. Annie Oakley, born Phoebe Moses, was a spectacular circus entertainer long ago.

Beloved James Thurber was born in Columbus.

Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, husband and wife, will not soon be forgotten at Ohio State.

The Gishes, Dorothy and Lillian, were born in Springfield. They began their work back in the silent movie days.

Charles Frohman, show producer on Broadway, was born in Sandusky.

Bob Hope was born in England, but was raised in Cleveland.

Joe E. Brown was born in Holgate.

Roy Rogers was born in Duck Run, Scioto County. His real name is Leonard Slygh.

Here are some more:

Lowell Thomas, Woodington, radio and books of travel; O. O. Think Again About Insecticide Effects

There always are a few persons out in front of the pack.

Such a one is my friend and former neighbor, Charles Barnett, veteran house builder who lives at 859 Chestershire-rd on the Hilltop.

Years ago in summer evening porch talks, Barnett, concerned for man's indifference to his own health, would expound in great detail about the dangers posed in the reckless use of chemicals in agriculture and in prepared foods.

McPeek

Articulate and well read on the subject, Barnett's concern was about the long-range ill effects that may result in man after years of consuming foodstuffs grown with the aid of insecticides and pesticides and then packaged or canned with the aid of chemical preservations.

Did I listen to him? Sure, but more in curiosity than in alarm. Like many nincompoops, I believed that man has the physiological strength to absorb these chemicals and develop an immunity to any danger that may be inherent in them, as did some mosquitos to DDT. (Disregarded in my ignorance was the fact that it took the mosquitos many generations to develop immunity to DDT.)

Even after reading the recently published "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, a controversial book devoted to the reckless use of chemical poisons, I didn't become unduly alarmed. It was only after the uproar it created in the chemical industry that I began to have second thoughts, even third thoughts.

Each time I read a piece of propaganda released by a spokesman for the chemical industry I realized that Miss Carson's book deserved much more attention than I had given it.

Not only is most of the chemical makers' propaganda feeble and distorted, but a great deal of it is downright dishonest. Anyone with the slightest intelligence should be able to see through it.

In an effort to counteract any threat to their profitable enterprise, they have accused Miss Carson of being an alarmist, an extremist, a radical, and some have gone so far as to imply she is more than naive, she is stupid.

But not once in all of the material I read did I find a single fact or contention that should make anyone disregard Miss Carson's concern.

Let me cite a typical example of the chemical industry's propaganda. It is part of an article that appeared Jan. 21 in a large metropolitan newspaper which ran a series condensed from "Silent Spring." The article, co-authored by two chemists representing one of the nation's largest chemical makers, was printed by the newspaper as a gesture to permit both sides to present their views. The following is quoted from the article:

". . . 'Silent Spring' may do more harm than good. The general reader may not immediately recognize those faults. For instance, Miss Carson refers to residues resulting from use of some insecticides and pesticides. She cites findings of harmful results of some residues. She reports on illnesses, and even death, linked to uses of such chemicals."

The article then skips to another generalization unrelated to the foregoing remarks. I reread the article, once, twice, three times. What did it say? Where were the denials? Where were the refutations? What about the "for instances?"

There certainly were none in the article. I even went to the trouble of getting a copy of the article as released from the chemical company, in the chance that part of it inadvertently had been omitted when printed by the newspaper. But it was printed fully.

I have read other articles disputing Miss Carson's book, and frankly not one of them contained a single fact or contention that merits serious attention.

So it is quite obvious that Miss Carson, a biologist who spent four and one-half years compiling her book, must know of what she has written. And it seems to me that it behooves all of us, for our own safety and welfare, to do something about the menace of these poison chemicals.

If nothing else, we should all write to our congressmen and demand that stricter legislation be enacted to prevent reckless, if not criminal, use of poison chemicals.

Lent Is Time To Renew Things Of The Heart

Here we are in the middle of Lent. We are in the midst of a real opportunity to grow more fully in the way of Jesus Christ. Yet I hear many people ask—"What is Lent?"

Lent is a season preceding the great and wonderful festival of Easter. It is a time of self-evaluation, a time for spiritual housecleaning.

Rev. Clark

In the olden days the early church set aside 40 hours for this renewal, then the period was lengthened to 40 days (six weeks). But it wasn't long before the spirituality of the church was weakened. With time Lent became nothing more than a lifeless formalism. It became like a shell without its kernel. There has been a tendency to let ritual take the place of the real deepening and renewing of one's faith.

Yet, I sometimes wonder if many people err in the opposite direction. It is possible for us to throw out the tangible reminders of ritual so that we forget Lent altogether. In this time of spring, which is truly a time of renewal, we ought to pause in our daily activity and take time for finding God.

If you want to renew your life, why not promise to take on one or two disciplines of ritual in your church? For example, why not plan to be in your pew every Sunday from now on through the Easter season? That's not asking much of you, but it takes effort on your part. Or, why not set aside a time of quiet each day for you and God alone? During this time try to get a better perspective on life. Then, too, you can decide to study one book in the Bible between now and Easter. These are some of the rituals that can deepen and renew your faith.

The deep meaning of Lent is in this opportunity to develop your spiritual discipline and devotion. Lent is not just giving up something; rather it is taking on something for your own spiritual growth. Such growth demands your discipline and exercise.

For your renewal today and in the coming weeks add this habit and ritual of the soul: One, do somebody a good turn and keep it a secret. Next, do two things each day that you don't want to — just for exercise. Finally, be unafraid, for even if you are hurt by someone, do not show it. Show instead your loving words, your kind acts and your joyful service. If you do, Lent will not become a mere series of prescribed rituals, but it will become a renewal of the heart.

East Five Dominates All-City

City League cage king East heavily dominated the All-league selections announced early this week by loop coaches by placing all five members of the Tigers' starting quintet on the first seven.

Ed Waller, Bob Calloway, Mike Hammond, Ken Fowlkes and Avery Godfrey nailed down first team berths. Central's Tom Fullove, the coaches' only unanimous selection, and Linden's Nelson Hunter rounded out the first team selections.

EASTMOOR AND Walnut Ridge, the area's other two CL representatives, failed to place a cager on either the first or second team. Both the Warriors and Scotties scored in the honorable mention department, however, as the former landed sophomore Steve Howell on the list while the latter nabbed a spot for sophomore John McQuaid.

Only one area matman — East's Clarence Gossett — advanced past the quarter-final cutoff mark over the weekend as Maple Heights snared its second state wrestling title in as many years, topping runner-up Toledo St. Francis 40-34.

Gossett was decisioned in the heavyweight class by Solon's Dennis Meggyesy in the semi-finals Saturday at St. Johns Arena but his progress helped to accumulate a total of 10 points for the Tigers who placed in a three-way tie for thirteenth place in the team standings—highest finish among area schools.

WEST AND Franklin Heights gathered two points apiece while Pleasant View garnered one point. Three area grapplers won in opening round competition but lost out in the quarter finals. They were John Holloway of P-V, Roger Young of East and Franklin Heights' John Riggs.

138 — Phil Burke (Toledo St.

Tigers Down Bears; Nab Semi-Final Spot

East's rampaging Tigers, odds-on favorites to cop honors in the Central District AA cage tourney, inched closer to the area's regional berth at Canton with wins over Newark (56-35) and Arlington (70-64) this week.

The Bengals, running their seasonal mark to 19-1, earned a spot in the semi-finals with with their twin win. East battles Watterson (18-3) for a finals berth tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

East had little difficulty in securing its ticket to the quarter-finals Friday as the Tigers tamed the defending champion Wildcats. The CL champs raced off to 15-6 first-period lead and were never challenged thereafter.

The Bob Hart-coached crew banged in a sizzling 52 per cent of their floor attempts and controlled the boards against the Newark quintet.

The Tigers displayed their balanced offense once more as Ed Waller (13), Mike Hammond (12) and Avery Godfrey (12) all finished in the double figures.

The Tigers really had their hands full with Arlington Tuesday night, however, as the Golden Bears forced East into the final four minutes for its victory.

Statistically, East never trailed in the game after overcoming an early two-point Arlington margin. But statistics fail to indicate how closely the Bears dogged the Tigers right up to the wire.

East, outshot from the field (percentage-wise) by Arlington, 57-52 per cent, saw the Golden Bears breathing down its neck as late as the final four minutes of play (52-55).

But Bob Calloway and Godfrey hit for quick goals and Waller iced it for East with five points in the final three minutes.

Waller paced the Tiger offense with 21 points (despite sitting out an entire period because of foul trouble. The 6-4 pivot man had plenty of assistance in the scoring department, however, as Ken Fowlkes added 18 markers and Godfrey and Calloway chipped in with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Academy, the area's only other quintet in the running for tourney honors last week, dropped off the Class A tournament trail Friday, suffering a 61-33 setback at the hands of Darby Valley king Jonathan Alder.

The Pioneers never trailed after overcoming an early Viking lead, limiting Academy to only ten field goals during the course of the game. Alder hit at a 45 per cent clip.

Jonathan Alder led by ten at intermission but upped that margin considerably in the final 16 minutes, outscoring the Vikings, 34-16.

Ed Laws was the only Academy cager to make the double figures, notching 11 points. The loss closed out the Viking season at 7-14.

CLOCK WATCHERS—Checking the time for new swimming records at Columbus Academy has become a popular pastime each time these Viking tankers took to the pool during the past two months. Academy swim coach Frank McGraw (second from right) has been doing most of the clock-watching while this quartet of variety splashers has been doing most of the record breaking. Pictured, left to right are Henry Richter, co-captain Hugh Westwater, Dennis Miller, McGraw and Ross Shepard.

Sports Smorgasbord From Soup To Nuts

Just as a number of people feared, the proposed point-system plan for selecting the state's top high school football champ, via post season playoff games, is in hot soup with a batful of stumbling blocks to overcome.

Arlington coach Marv Morehead, a member of the committee working on the plan, reported Friday that "we've made some progress, but in a nutshell, there's a lot more involved here than we thought. I guess you could say we're still confused—but at a higher level."

THE SAME INITIAL problems have been magnified after meetings with the state commissioner with no ready-made solutions present on the horizon.

Biggest roadblocks still standing are (1) What type of point system should be used? (2) What kind of a differential should be used for teams scheduling a different number of games or playing too many games out of their competition? (3) Who will do the recording of the point system? (4) Would the defending state champ occupy any position in the succeeding year's playoffs? (5) In case of a tie, how would the rating be figured?

"THE LENGTH OF the season would take us past Thanksgiving. Then you have the weather to consider," Morehead said. "Since the point system would not only involve the top team but also the teams it had played, we might need an IBM setup to keep track of every football game played in the state.

"We're still hopeful that solutions to these problems can be found," Morehead concluded. The committee will bring its findings to a state board meeting during the Mar. 29-30 weekend.

Hardwood Robbery . . .

ANYONE CONSIDERED writing the Justice Department about the "Coach of the Year" selection this season? Admittedly we weren't much of a Fred Taylor man when Jerry Lucas and Co. were dropping 'em in for the Bucks.

"Who couldn't win three Big Ten titles with players like that?" was the general consensus. So what happens when 'Frantic Fred" whips up a basketball filet mignon out of what most pre-season scribes labeled "leftovers"?

Something like giving the best actress award in "Little Red Riding Hood" to the woodchopper's wife.

'It Would Kill Me' . . .

TOMMY HENRICH on the new enlarged strike zone: "Johnny Edwards (Cincinnati catcher) told me recently that the strike zone in the National League had dropped almost to the waist. The real reason this new zone was set up is to raise the area of the strike back to its proper position. Of course, the whole matter rests with the individual umpire. He still calls the balls and strikes.

If the new zone is taken literally, I think you'll see a lot of players developing a new stance of batting and switching quickly to a crouched position. As a low ball hitter, I know one thing. The new zone would sure kill me."

Yankee Finish – 125 . . .

FOR THOSE WHO take stock in the future success or failure of a major league ball club in regard to the win-loss record of said club's farm system, here's some interesting statistics as we approach another opening day.

Most successful farm organization last season was the Detroit chain (432-337). Cleveland placed sixth in the 20-team lineup (430-395) while Cincinnati was seventh at 343-328.

Don't put too much faith in determining the pennant winner from the won-loss differences. San Francisco placed 18th (482-537) while the New York (ho-hum) Yankees pulled up solidly in last place with 385 wins and 510 losses for a W-L difference of —128.

Liston-Clay Debate . . .

ROUND AND ROUND it goes. Where it stops dept. — Sonny Liston suggested last week that Cassius Clay be arrested for impersonating a boxer. Clay retorted that he "would shut Liston's big mouth" when he took over the world's heavyweight title. Asked how long he thought he would retain the crown, Clay blandly remarked—"Oh, I'd say about 10 years, Then I'll turn it over to my younger brother. Something like the Kennedys."

Maybe—maybe not but if these two components of the spoken' jab ever get around to meeting each other in the ring, the promotion boys might have to put seats in Arizona's Meteorite Hole to accommodate the crowd.

The second half of Hamilton Township's "sports spectauler" will take place Tuesday, Mar. 26 when a star-studded team of area basketball coaches take on the world-famous Texas Cow Girls on the Ranger court at 8 p.m.

A quintet, made up of Hamilton Township faculty members, defeated the All-American Red Heads earlier this year so the local all-stars will be gunning for their second win in a row over a professional girls basketball team.

The coaches lineup, which includes eight mentors from the Franklin County League, should provide stern opposition for the Cow Girls who have won 70 per cent of their games against male competition over an 11-year span.

The Cow Girls, who combine clever court ability with hardwood humor, have played in some of the nation's biggest arenas — from Madison Square Garden to San Francisco's Cow Palace. The gals have played on numerous NBC cards as well as over 150 games with the Harlem Globe Trotter organization.

The coaches lineup includes: Larry Siegried and George Hamric of Hamilton Township; Bob White, University; Harry Wolford, Reynoldsburg; Bob Miller, Canal Winchester; Ray DeCola, St. Marys; Bud Trapp, Rosary; Harry Sawdey, New Albany; Russ Gregg, Teays Valley and ex-OSU Star Gene Millard, now coaching at Bexley High School.

The Cow Girl lineup includes girls from Texas, Oklahoma and Hawaii. Program director George Hamric of Hamilton Township indicated that a preliminary game would also be included on the evening's card — probably a rematch between the Ranger male and female faculty members.

Tickets are now on sale at the Hamilton Township High School on Lockbourne-rd at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children.

Saturday Is Last Chance For Sign-Up

Saturday will be the last day for boys interested in participating in the Whitehall Boys' Baseball Association program to register.

Registration will take place at the new Municipal Building. Boys should enter from the left door on the lower level. Sign up times will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

BOYS WHO will be eight years old but not over 16 years on or before July 31, 1963, are eligible to register. Each boy must be accompanied by a parent or guardian who must complete and sign a WBBA application and pay the $3 sign-up fee.

Proof of birth (birth certificate, baptismal record, etc., or photostats) must be presented by boys who were not registered last season.

Remember — Saturday is your last chance to sign up for '63. All boys who register will play on a team.

Jewish Center Sets 'Sign Up' For AK Softball

The snow and sub-freezing temperatures are bound to disappear, according to local experts. With this in mind, the A. K. Softball Committee, co-chaired by Hirsch Hausman and Marty Gold, announce that registration is now open for the 1936 season at the Jewish Center.

The program, for Jewish Center members, will accept men who are thirty years or older as of May 1, 1963. A fee to cover uniforms, officials and equipment is yet to be determined.

A. K. SOFTBALL is offered for all Jewish Center men able to participate in the low-pressure brand of slow-pitch softball. All games are played under the lights on Thursday evenings at 8 or 9:15. A basic policy of the league is that everyone who signs up will play.

Practice sessions will be scheduled to allow players to get into "condition." League play is slated to start in May. Call Howard Banchefsky at BE. 1-2731 to register.

FATHER TIME' WEARY

Viking Swimming Trio Won't Let Marks Rest

There might be a lot of truth in the football barker's slogan about "you can't tell the player without a program" but if you didn't bring a stop-watch with you to the spectators' gallery at Columbus Academy's swimming meets this past season, you just weren't in style.

Checking the time on the splashing dashes of three Viking tankers in particular should have been a popular pastime at poolside.

ACADEMY'S Miller - Westwater - Richter trio rewrote the record books with such regularity it seemed Coach Frank McGraw might be using a hungry crocodile as a pacesetter.

Maybe it's true that swim records can't withstand the test of time as compared with other sports, but the statistics compiled by Dennis Miller, Henry Richter and Hugh Westwater this past season aren't exactly the type to be taken lightly.

For instance, between the three tankers, every school record with the exception of the free-style relay mark had gotten a facelifting when the ledger was closed on the Viking's regular season a couple of weeks ago.

RICHTER, a junior, was responsible for four of the marks, establishing new school records in the 50-yard free-style (23.6), the 100-yard free-style (52.6), the 100-yard butterfly (59.0) and the 200-yard free-style (2:01).

As Coach McGraw pointed out, Richter bettered his time in one of the four events each time he competed during the Viking's regular eight-week season.

Year-to-year improvement, which is strongly regarded by swimming mentors, was also prevalent in Richter's performance this year as Henry bettered his time in all four events — particularly the grueling 200-yard free style test (nine-second improvement).

Richter's showing in the district swim meet this year earned him a qualifying spot in both the 50-yard free-style and the 100-yard butterfly.

ANOTHER success story comes in the form of senior co-captain Hugh Westwater who in the words of McGraw, "really has come a long way since his freshman season."

Westwater's claim to fame is the 100-yard breast stroke event. Hugh reshaped the record four times during the past season with his best time set presently at 1:07.7. The Viking tanker also qualified for the state meet in his specialty and has bettered his time during a four - year span by an amazing 20 seconds.

THE THIRD member of Academy's talented trio is a junior swimmer Dennis Miller, who didn't appear to have much difficulty keeping up with teammates Richter and Westwater in the record-smashing assault during the past three months.

Miller's top venture is the 200-yard individual medley which qualified him for the state meet. Denny, who snapped the mark four times this season, improved his time in the event by five seconds his first year — cutting that by nine additional seconds this first time around.

Miller's best time in the medley event stands at 2:17.4 but longer distances seem right up Denny's lane as his name also graces the Viking record book in the 400-yard free-style category at 4:43.4.

WESTWATER, RICHTER and Miller team up with teammate Ross Shepard when McGraw calls on his 200-yard medley relay team which also qualified for the state meet. Best time for this effort was 1:50.5.

Richter and Miller will be back for another try next season and McGraw can also look to several record-breaking freshman swimmers to fill in some of the tank berths vacated by graduation.

Naturally it wouldn't be fair or even accurate to suggest that Westwater, Richter and Miller are the whole story of Academy's swimming success this past season.

But on the other hand it would be rather hard to find anyone from McGraw to the clock-watchers in the stands deny that it's kinda nice to have three guys like that splashing around in your pool.

Scottie Cagers, Matmen Feted At Assembly

A total of 19 varsity awards were presented to Walnut Ridge athletes last week at an athletic recognition assembly.

AUBLEGRAPH

'Vaud-Villities 1963' Is Coming; Need I Say More?

Vaud-Villities '63 publicity bounced into the office again this year with the soft-sell likened to a two-ton locomotive, and, after checking the press releases, this year's show seems to be the greatest thing for tired blood since "Nature's" spelled backward.

The show, this time entitled "Broadway Springtime!" will be offered Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, in Vets Memorial. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

There's something about Vaud-Villities '63 publicity sheets. Simply calling them "news and information releases" fails short in description.

The pages seem to buzz with the excitement of footlights, the melodious hum of vaudevillian favorites like "By The Light Of The Silvery Moon," the smell of heavy make-up and the thrill of a circus overture.

Instantly you're hit with the phrase, "an achievement in magic with music." If that isn't enough to start you waving flags, they come back with lines like "melodie, beauty, color, fun for everyone" or "Come and be enchanted!"

One of the biggest selling points of the show, of course, is the fact that all the talent comes from Franklin County residents. The down-home flavor of this 21st anniversary show is heightened when you consider that 47 different churches are represented by cast members.

Lowell Riley is musical director this time. Robert Murphy and Sarah Smith direct the show, and Richard Fulmer and David Denning handle production.

The 300-member cast has been in rehearsal since January at First Community Church for this presentation.

All profits will go to charity, church-sponsored charities and to show properties.

Actually, gang, you don't need the fancy press releases to sell Vaud-Villities '63. The public has demonstrated that to you in the past. Just let them know the date and curtain time — that's all. They'll do the rest.

Civic Ballet Readies Show

The Columbus Civic Ballet Company will appear Saturday, Mar. 23, 8:30 p.m. at the Hartman Theatre. A program of three ballets, "Hommage A-Glinka," "The Story Of Celeste" and "The Wedding Cake," will be presented.

Tickets for the performance are available at Summers and Son box office, 114 E. Broad-st. All seats are $2.

Eagles Plan For Dinner, Dance

The Drill and Ritual Team of Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, has announced plans to sponsor a chicken a la king and steak Italian dinner Sunday, Mar. 17, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and their families. Donations are $1 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

A St. Patrick's Day dance will follow the dinner from 7 to 10 p.m.

'How To Succeed In Business' Is Superb . . . Without Really 'Lying'

By JOHN AUBLE Jr.
Entertainment Editor

CINCINNATI, Ohio — The wacky world of carbon paper and steno pools came alive here last week during a press preview showing of "How To Suceed In Business Without Really Trying" prior to its one-week stand in Columbus beginning Monday, Mar. 18.

The musical comedy should prove the greatest thing for Vets Memorial since "My Fair Lady" — if not the greatest thing for Columbus since its sesquicentennial.

It doesn't take much effort to realize that most of the credit for this Pulitzer prize winner goes to its author, Abe Burroughs, who has delightfully managed to grab slices from everyone's office life — without much exaggeration at all.

"Play It the Company Way" is not only the scheme of how to get ahead but also one of the featured melodies. Don't misunderstand, it's not the type of musical you come away from whistling show tunes. The music is too cleverly woven into the plot for that.

Not only is the music well-woven, but the cast is such a tightly-knit group that it resembles the finest knit 1, purl 2 work of grandma.

When it comes to big stars, the show boasts Willard Waterman, whose most popular characterization was that of the Great Gildersleeve. But likable Dick Kallman, who plays the lead, is no pill either.

Nor is comely Maureen Arthur or Dyan Cannon, who carry the female roles of Hedy LaRue and Kallman's gal friend — in that order.

William Major plays the monkey wrench in Kallman's rise in business while Pat McEnnis and Joe Cowan come in with strong supporting offerings.

The twinkle and shine cast members are part of the National Company of the show, the Broadway cast of which won the New York Drama Critics award and played to more than 574,600 theatergoers.

A comparison between this touring company and the home-towners is almost impossible after viewing the finese and talent of this road group.

If anything, the company enroute to Columbus offers a fresher, livelier approach to the show, since, as with most long-run Broadway productions, the boredom of routine takes its toll.

As far as any "moral lessons" in this presentation, you're safer if you don't look for any. It falls under the bright, bold heading of "entertainment" with a capital "E".

It's a satirical look at the American social system and so up-to-date that Burroughs even slipped in the "Greasy Kid Stuff" line during a scene in the executive's washroom.

A slap at television quiz shows was included with World Wide Wickets company presenting a give-away, which leads up to the funniest line in the show.

Shapely Miss LaRue is billed as the "Treasure Chest Girl" and, before she gives clues to where the loot is hidden, she's asked to take an oath on the Good Book. "Is this a real Bible?" she asks to assure authenticity.

Performances at Vets will be Monday through Saturday at 8:15 p.m. with matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office (Richman's), 37 N. High-st. Mail orders should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHITEHALL READIES THIRD ANNUAL SAFETY CAMPAIGN

COORDINATING Whitehall's third annual community safety campaign are, from left, Patrolman P. K. Jackson, Safety Director Richard Moling, Chief Ralph Walker, Sergeant Richard Wells and Finance Chairman, W. W. Bailey. Highlight of the campaign will be a public showing of a color, sound, traffic-safety film at Whitehall High May 2. Included in the activities will be motor vehicle safety checks, bicycle and pedestrian safety programs and other "Safety Subjects" of general public interest.

Look—

council says, is not even under consideration.

Property owners in the immediate area of this Lamby-in plot have been fairly mute on the subject.

As in the course of events when emotions are involved, there have been some slightly distorted facts brought into the matter which, needless to say, have clouded the picture even more.

Mainly, among these, are opinions from a Wright-av resident that a nursing home would include "mental patients." Whitehall zoning, however, expressly prohibits any type of sanitarium and Maxwell denies the possibility of a nursing home becoming that.

Another issue brought up was the fact that Whitehall contains 70 per cent rents to 30 per cent property owners—certainly an astounding figure to any community and surely a fine reason for protesting more apartment development.

The figure was supposedly obtained from the Whitehall Building Department. Building Inspector William Martin, however, denies that the figures were ever requested from him.

According to census figures, the rental figure stands now at approximately 25 per cent—with even as much as 50 per cent being a fairly acceptable level.

The influx in apartments in the suburb is fast becoming a political club for the upcoming elections. The current council stands pat on their feelings on this matter, members feeling that there are many commercial areas that they would rather have apartments in.

"The residents have never awakened to the fact that Whitehall is no longer a residential community," one of them commented.

At any rate, apartments are causing woes with home owners. Even nursing homes are not, seemingly, going to win any popularity contests.

After the Lamby-in thing is over with, Maxwell has another apartment proposal to introduce — this one in the 4200 block of E. Broad-st and for about 150 different promay possibly be nine to 12 floors high.

U. S. grade standards have been developed by the USDA ceased fruit and vegetable products.

well as girls," she says. "I hope women who are former Girl Scouts, as well as those who have never been in scouting, will be interested in joining us."

Call the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council office, 221-3291 for information on requirements for Girl Scout leadership.

There will be four age levels beginning with Brownie Girl Scouts, seven and eight years old; Junior Girl Scouts, nine, 10 and 11; Cadette Girl Scouts, 12, 13 and 14, and Senior Girl Scouts, ages 15, 16 and 17.

The program change is designed to establish better continuity from beginning to end of the seven through 17 age range in Girl Scouting.

Each group will be distinguished by its own uniform. Brownie Scouts will wear a tangerine tie with their present brown dress. Junior Scouts will wear the short-sleeved green dress with a yellow tie.

Cadette Scouts will wear the white blouse and green skirt with a dark green arrow-shaped tie. A red-white-and-green cockade will be worn on the beret. Senior Scouts will wear the dark green two-piece dress.

New handbooks for each age level will be available in the fall. Brownie Girl Scouts will find the Brownie B's and the Health and Safety Brownie in their book. Junior Girl Scouts will find the Sign of the Arrow and the Sign of the Star and some new badges.

Cadette Girl Scouts will have Four Challenges to meet plus some new badges. Senior Scouts will have the Eight Indispensables and additional aide bars.

At training sessions throughout the council area each leader will be introduced to the new program designed for all four age levels before receiving special instruction on the one she will be leading in the fall.

Missionary To Speak At Christ Church

Rev. O. Gordon Tang, missionary of The American Lutheran Church, home on furlough from Japan, will address Christ Lutheran Church's Luther League meeting Sunday, Mar. 17.

Rev. Gordon Tang

Rev. Tang, a native of Bottineau, N. D., attended Bottineau High School, is a graduate of Augsburg College and Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul.

He served parishes in Vining and Moorhead, Minn., before departing for Japan in 1950.

The Tang family will be making their furlough home in St. Paul. They have three children, Gregory, Barbara and Sheldon.

Temple Israel's Services Slated

N. Yearling-rd as examples of deteriorating roads.

As means of explanation, the book reads:

"This is an appeal to you as a resident of Whitehall, inviting you to join a community-wide effort to make this a finer city.

"The past few years have brought splendid progress in this endeavor. Many Whitehall residents have had their streets rebuilt with concrete pavement. . . The initiative, however, must come from the property owners by means of petitions submitted through official channels."

The book spells out such "official channels" as (1) How improvement costs are met, (2) How to start an improvement project, (3) How to circulate the petition, (4) How to act on a petition, and (5) The final settlement.

Pearl Masheter did not hold out much hope to his competition for finding a "happy hunting ground" in Ohio.

"Our layoffs have not affected engineers," he said, "except for appointive jobs such as director and field division deputy directors.

"I don't suppose we have separated half a dozen engineers (outside appointive posts), and those for cause."

Masheter expressed the belief that the recruiting visits from the neighboring states was a tribute to the caliber of engineering personnel within the Ohio Highway Department. "We've got a lot of good people," he said.

The highway director did not seem concerned that he would lose any appreciable number of employes.

"I don't believe they can offer anything that we can't," he said.

On Growing Up

Firms that stay in business today have to grow and the day when a man can start in business by the seat of his pants is gone. These were the words of advice of Virgil Martin, president of Carson, Pirie Scott and Co., when he addressed the national conference of the Suburban Press Foundation in Chicago last week.

Mr. Martin lauded the suburban press. "Suburban papers have made great strides in the editorial product, and as retailers we respect that editorial product."

He suggested the suburban press join in a cooperative effort with major retail interests to explore the suburban market, its media and the common interests of both media and retailer.

Just as growth of communities has caused the large department stores to go out to the suburbs, this same growth is causing the suburban press to expand its services. We accept the challenge.

It's a Small World

It is really a small world when you tune in your TV and have an old friend drop in out of a clear sky. And it is even more delightful to enjoy a series of good healthy belly laughs while you watch the antics of the friend.

This all happened last week on the Perry Como show when former localite Gene Sheldon appeared with his well known banjo, and reminded us of the time years ago when Gene appeared as a special guest on the old Hilltop Minstrel show I directed for some 12 years.

A laugh is a good tonic.

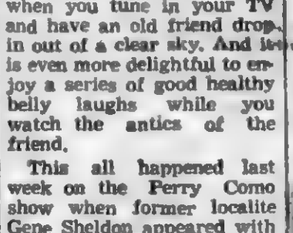
How's the Water Level?



I recently read that winter is the best time to inspect a house you are about to buy. If there is anything wrong with it this is the time it will show up.

Along this line it is good advice to take advantage of our flood season to look at houses or house locations.

Some of the wonderful beauties of a hot summer are soon forgotten when a spring flood comes in your front door or fills your basement.

Most of the American profanity has been used for years and years and it's about time we swear off.

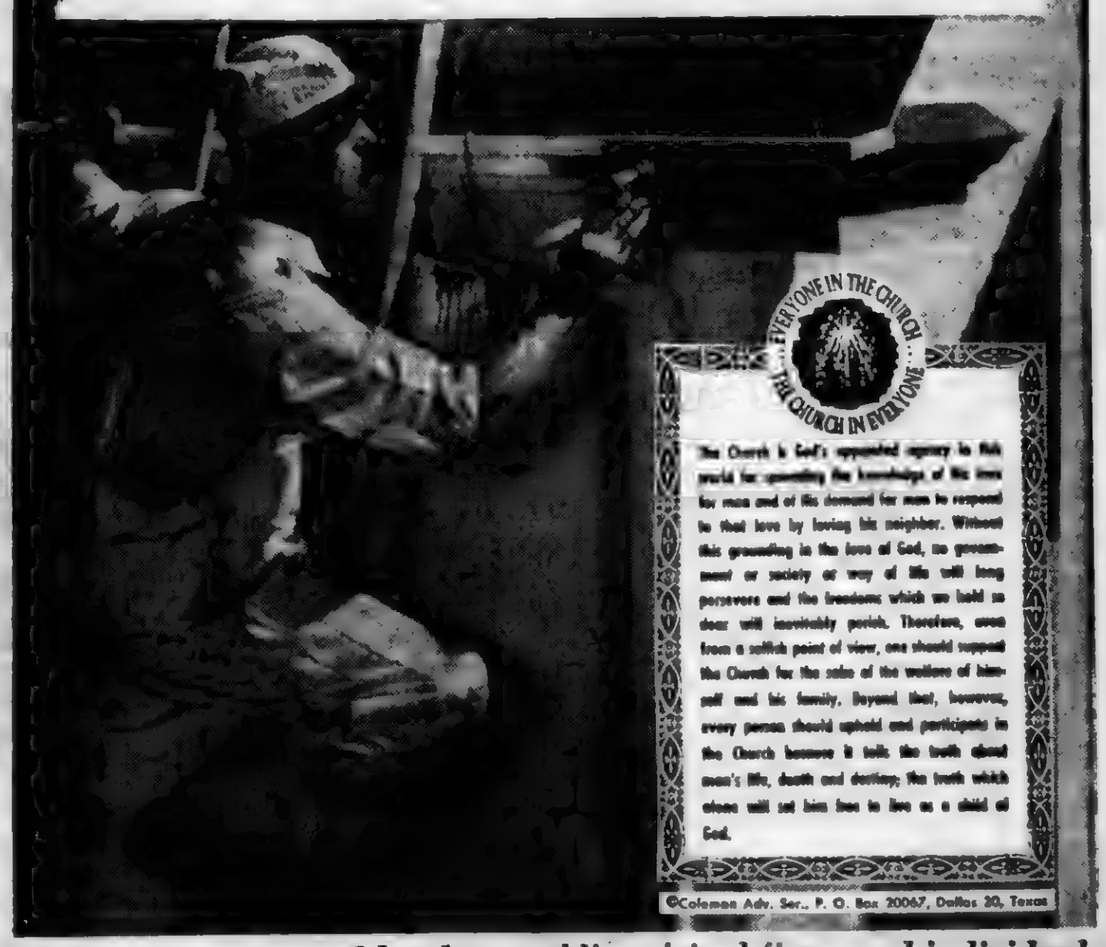
Arthur B. Leach and Son Funeral Home
2154 E MAIN AT PARKVIEW COLUMBUS, OHIO
ESTABLISHED 1908

Dear friends,

Do you know that the funeral director is under heavy penalty if he fails to conform with certain regulations?

We have always been glad to cooperate with the authorities in these matters because we realize the importance of the regulations.



Each death is reported on a standard form. This information is used statistically, to indicate the development and control of disease. The welfare of the public is thus served.

Respectively,

Arthur B Leach

PAINT . . . Protects wood and metal
GOD'S WORD . . . Protects the soul

As paint protects wood and metal from decay, rust, and corrosion, so the promises found in God's word protect the soul from the evils of sin, anxiety and despair. Hear God's wonderful promises proclaimed from the pulpit in the church of your choice this Sunday. These promises so heard will accomplish wonderful things in your soul and heart, for God says of His Word, "It shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." Isaiah 55:11.

PRESENTED TEAM BALL

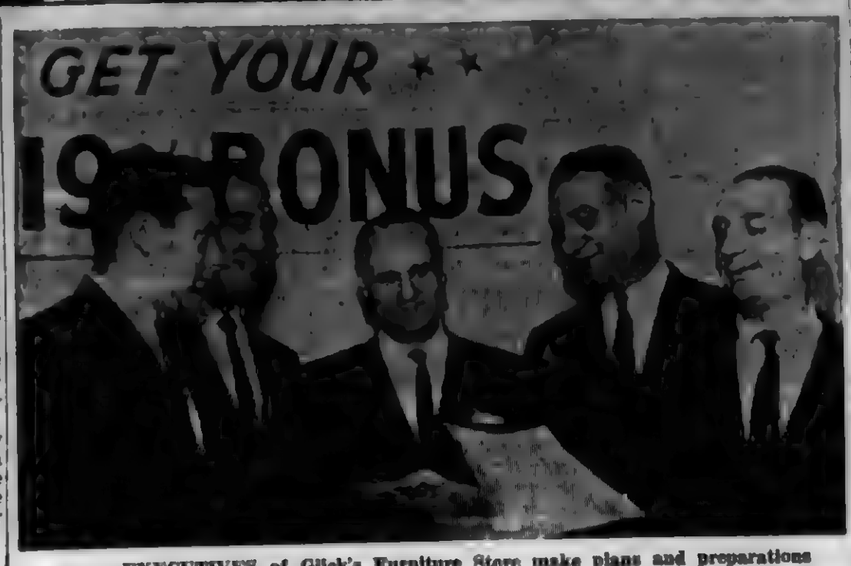
SCOTT LINDSEY, 944 Rose-pl, receives a regulation basketball, autographed by Ohio State's 1963 championship team members, from Eugene Burget, manager of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association's Great Eastern Shopping Center branch office. Lindsey was one of five persons in the Columbus area who won a personally autographed basketball. His post card was selected at random from among several thousand cards mailed during a recent contest sponsored by the savings and loan company.

North American Receives $350,000 Radome Contract

North American Aviation's Columbus Division has been awarded a $350,000 contract from the Philco Corp. for fabrication of a 110-foot diameter radome.

The large aluminum and fiberglass radome is designed to protect an Air Force radar antenna from weather and electronic signal interference as it performs its communications and surveillance functions.

The same plant recently completed construction of a 150-foot diameter radome, one of the world's largest, for the U.S. Air Force on Bever Mountain, near Baker, Ore.



Workshop Set For Bible Schools

The annual Vacation Bible School workshop sponsored by the Christian Book and Gift Shop, 170 S. High-st, will be held Tuesday, Mar. 19, at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, in the fourth floor auditorium.

"Christ's Way, My Way," will be the 1963 theme for the entire school program including nursery, beginner, primary, junior, teenage and adult departments. Daily lessons, methods and materials will be graded to the various age levels.

Trained instructors, who prepare the VBS material, will be on hand to explain the best possible way of using items in the school.

New visual aids, crafts and materials will be demonstrated.

Glicks Holding Annual 19% Bonus Event To Offer Bargains To Local Consumers

Glick's original, 37th annual 19 per cent Bonus Event began Monday, Mar. 4, according to an announcement by Robert A. Glick, president of the Glick Furniture Company.

The annual event offers Glick customers a bonus of 19 per cent of their purchases to be applied to the cost of ings from the Glick store according to the company pres-

He added, "Any family in the market for home furnishings in the next three months will find it profitable to make their selections now during the 19 per cent Bonus Event."

The savings are being offered by all five of the Glick stores including downtown Columbus, 65 E. Long-st, and in the Great Western, Town and Country and Northern Lights Shopping centers. The same program is also being offered in the Chillicothe Store.

Glick's Stores feature free delivery anywhere in Ohio and credit terms. Free storage, for future delivery and interior decorating services, are also available without charge.

Alterations And Remodeling Featured By Stonecraft Co.

The Stonecraft Company, established eight years ago to promote the use and sale of stone products in construction, doesn't do stone work anymore.

Instead, according to company manager O. J. Marcus, "We now specialize in all types of home remodeling, including room additions, roofing, siding and altering."

Marcus added that the company just seemed to outgrow the stone business, expanded to home remodeling of all types and has confined its activities to this particular field.

Samples of past work and ideas for future construction are available to the public at the Stonecraft Co. offices at 979 E. Main-st.

The business employs eight persons on its staff to facilitate speedy remodeling and repair work. Free estimates are available by calling Stonecraft at 258-8920.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

SUPER DUPER SERVICES

The Fairport Super Duper market, 200 S. Hamilton-rd, now in its eighth year of operation, is one of the best equipped food centers in Whitehall for service to the community. These include money orders, year-round air conditioning, planned music broadcasts and free loan of electric coffee makers and electronic doors. General manager Sam Bates has had more than 35 years' experience in food merchandising and management.

PLAN SALES CONFERENCE

Columbus has been chosen as the location for the First Annual Sales Conference of the D. C. Harris Co. of Wooster, O. Mar. 18 and 19. Sales Manager Jack Krouse said one of the main speakers during the seminar portion of the meeting will be Columbus resident Robert T. Farley, sales manager and vice-president of Tolliver and Curl Sealing, Inc., 2182 McKinley-av, the Columbus distributor of D. C. Harris products.

COSMETOLOGIST GETS HONORS

WANDA SHAFFER, Lancaster, an employe of the Broadmoor Beauty Salon, 20 S. Weyant, holds three of the trophies won during the month of February for outstanding hair styling. The awards surrounding Wanda represent the Grand Award and Master Hair Stylist Trophy, Ohio State School of Cosmetology State Convention, Feb. 3, at Veterans Memorial Auditorium and the Gold Trophy Award from the Hair Dressers Guild of Ohio meeting at the Neil House, Feb. 10. An employe of the Broadmoor Beauty Salon for the past five years, Wanda has received dozens of different awards for her creative hair styles since she was presented with the Master Shield Plaque in her home town in 1958. Wanda was also the originator and chairman of the Hair-a-thon in Columbus, the first of its kind in the nation. During this project local cosmetologists worked around the clock for 24 hours. A regular fee was charged to patrons and then donated to the charity of the patron's choice.

Rabbi To Attend Yeshiva Alumni Conference

Rabbi Samuel W. Rubenstein of Agudas Achim Congregation will attend the mid-year conference of Yeshiva University Rabbinic Alumni at the Yeshiva University, New York City Saturday evening, Mar. 16 through Monday, Mar. 18.

Some of the world's great Torah authorities will join in the celebrations. Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of Yeshiva University, and Dr. Joseph B. Soleveitchick, professor of Talmud, will present papers at the conference.

Rabbi Rubenstein has served as vice-president, and is presently a member of the Board of Trustees, of the Yeshiva University Rabbinic Alumni.

TO BUILD GARAGE

L. F. Donovan, 2376 Brentwood-rd, has been issued a building permit to construct a two-car concrete block garage valued at $1,800.

WILL MAKE ADDITION

Fireproof Block and Builders Supply has received a building permit to construct a $1,500 addition to their building at 3800 E. Fifth-av.

ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT

WLW-C Eyes Cincy Fortunes In NCAA Play

WLW-C TV will exercise its exclusive local rights for live coverage of the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament — telecasting the University of Cincinnati's quest for a third successive national championship.

Cincinnati's tourney opener against the Texas Longhorns will be telecast direct from the Mid-West regional in Lawrence, Kan., Friday, Mar. 15, at 8:30 p.m.

IN THE EVENT that Cincinnati wins Friday, the Bearcats will play either Oklahoma City or Colorado for the regional championship Saturday night, Mar. 16, at 10 p.m., on TV 4.

Should Cincinnati win the Kansas regional, TV 4 will also carry the team's [illegible] in the NCAA championship tourney at Louisville, Ky., Mar. 22 and 23. Game times and opponents will be announced after the Mid-West regional.

Regardless of the fortunes of the Bearcats in the tourney, TV 4 will telecast the championship game of the NCAA at Louisville Mar. 23 at 9:30 p.m.

Track Finals Here Another City First

The National A.A.U. Women's Indoor Track and Field Championships, to be held at French Fieldhouse Mar. 22 and 23, will mark the first time a Pan-American Games final tryout has been held in Columbus, in any event.

The first two Americans in each event at this meet will be eligible for the United States team which will compete at the fourth Pan-American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Apr. 27 - May 4.

JIM LORIMER, President of the sponsoring Ohio Track Club, expects as many as 20 teams and possibly 200 individuals to enter the two-day competition for national honors.

However, Lorimer points out, the meet also has much local interest, with members of the strong Ohio Track Club girls team figuring prominently in several events.

In the 440, Sue Knott will defend the championship she won at Louisville last year. The Ohio State freshman holds the U. S. indoor record in this event and is also the outdoor titlist. Estelle Baskerville will also be defending a title won at Louisville in the high jump. Among her closest competitors should be teammate Chris Miller.

FOR THE PAST two years the Ohio Track Club has won the 880 medley relay and will field another strong contender in the event this year. Other local girls to be watched are Sandy Fears in the dashes and Karen Davis in the 880.

Also entered in the latter event will be Sue Knott's sister, Sandy, now living in Cleveland, who was runner-up in both the indoor and outdoor meets in 1962.

Other entries have been received from as far as Hawaii, Louisiana, Texas, California, Canada, and even Brazil. Tennessee State University will bring their usual strong contingent to defend the team title.

Also present for the meet will be Wilma Rudolph, 1960 Olympic triple-gold-medal winner. However, her competitive status is uncertain, due to a recent appendicitis operation.

Because the meet is a Pan-American tryout, the discus and javelin have been added to the usual schedule of events, making a total of 14 events. Preliminaries will be conducted on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, with finals beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained from the Athletic Ticket Office at St. John's Arena.

Akron Buchtel Swim Champ; Academy 16th

Columbus Academy finished in a two-way tie for sixteenth place Saturday in the swimming meet at the OSU Natatorium won by Akron Buchtel.

The Vikings amassed a total of four points, thanks to the swimming of co-captain Hugh Westwater in the 100-yard breaststroke event.

WESTWATER FINISHED second in the event Friday in the qualifying round by covering the distance in 1:07, his best time of the year. The Academy senior took fourth place in the finals Saturday.

Buchtel totaled 41.5 points as compared with runnerup Cleveland Height's 37. Arlington, who edged out Academy for the Central Ohio swim title this season, finished in fifth place with 25 points while defending champ Lakewood slipped to seventh place.

Walnut Ridge World

By KEN MICK and BILL GEE

Variety personnel are practicing every day after school for the second annual Walnut Ridge Variety Show, "Highlander Minstrels," which will be presented Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, Mar. 20, 22 and 23.

The Wednesday performance will be after school with a reduced rate for school children.

The others will be at 8 p.m. for the parents and older students.

Suzanne Friedman and Annette Plaihte, two foreign exchange students from Bexley High School, spoke to the Senior Y-Teens on Wednesday.

Suzanne, from Johannesburg, South Africa, and Annette, from Norway, also visited Walnut Ridge classes during the day. They were escorted by Susan Thorn and Linda Dickerson.

John Roop, Walnut Ridge wrestler, was a semi-finalist in the district wrestling meet. Don Pinkston and Kerney Pinkston were sidelined because of illness.

A sports recognition assembly was held on Feb. 27. Awards were presented in basketball and wrestling. Judge Russell Leach spoke to the athletes.

Juniors took National Merit Scholarship Tests on Tuesday. Betty Crocker test scores were received on Monday.

St. Mary, Capital Share In Alumni Fund Drives

With five of the nine major joint solicitation campaigns completed, the 25-member Independent College Alumni Associates of Ohio (ICAA) have raised a total of $156,438 from 7,374 givers.

The Columbus workers wrapped up their fund-raising drive last week.

Fifteen colleges and universities participated in the Columbus campaign and raised a total of $37,364.

The workers contacted a total of 4,805 alumni and received 2,171 gifts for a 45.2 per cent. The average gift was $17.21.

The colleges compete on a percentage of giving. Coming out first in the Columbus campaign was Wilmington which received gifts from 86.9 per cent of their alumni living in the Columbus area.

St. Mary of the Springs was second with an 81.9 percentage. Capital, which had the largest number of alumni in the Columbus area, 1,722, received gifts from 724 for 42 per cent.

Capital alumni gave a total of $13,404.

Wilmington received $919 and St. Mary, $2,518. Ohio Wesleyan, with 49.9 per cent of its alumni giving, realized a total of $6,215.

A kite-flying contest will be held for Cub Scouts in the Eastern Review area (White Oaks District).

The Cubs' dads will be allowed to help design the kites.

The contest will be held on Saturday, Mar. 23, at 1 p.m. at Lockbourne AFB. Rain date is Apr. 6.

All kites must be homemade. Any type, size or shape is acceptable.

In addition to participation awards, there will be ribbons for specified fields, smallest kite that flies, most original design that flies, and pack with largest participation.

In this second annual kite contest, 400-500 entries are expected.

Although the teams are father and son, registation is through the pack. Each pack must give an approximate number of entries to Don Cook, camping chairman for the White Oaks District, before the contest.

Registration fee is 15 cents per kite to cover the ribbons.

Completes Navy Recruit Training

Frank Tanzillo, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hope E. Stein of 239 Ross-rd, completed recruit training Feb. 16 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the nine-week indoctrination to Navy life, recruits are trained in physical fitness, basic military law, military drill, customs and etiquette of the naval service, swimming and survival, first aid and seamanship.

Each recruit receives tests and interviews to determine future training and assignments.

REASSIGNED

Airman Third Class Alfred A. Wellman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville C. Wellman of 3016 Langfield-dr, is being reassigned to Eglin AFB, Fla., following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course for fuel specialists at Amarillo AFB, Tex.

Airman Wellman was trained to fuel aircraft, using trailers, tank cars, flight line storage tanks and associated pumping systems, and in the safety precautions to be observed during fueling operations.

Burglars Ransack Offices Of Bexley Education Board

Burglars entered the offices of the Bexley Board of Education in the high school building, 326 S. Cassingham-av, early Friday and carried off nine pieces of office equipment valued at $2,819, police reported.

Supt. E. D. Jarvis told newsmen that the offices were ransacked, doors pried open and the tops of desks "swept clean."

The burglars broke a glass panel in a door at the southeast corner of the building, reached through the glass and opened it from the inside, Jarvis said.

The thieves attempted to enter the school library but failed, Jarvis added.

Custodians left the school at 11 p.m. last Thursday and returned to find results of the burglary at 6 a.m. Friday.

Jarvis called the burglary "the work of professionals."

Taken were three electric typewriters, two tape recorders, a transistor radio, a standard typewriter, a printing calculator and a copying machine.

Blackbird Pie

Sing a song of sixpence,
A pocket full of rye
Four and twenty blackbirds
Baked in a pie.

If the blackbird pie appears on the menu think nothing of it. . . Saturday about 5 p.m. enough blackbirds flew over our place to make enough pies to feed all Central Ohio.

For nearly five minutes the skies were black with birds headed east and north.

Surely — Had the maid been in the garden
Hanging out the clothes
Along would have come a blackbird
And nipped off her nose.

IF YOU FAIL TO VOTE NOW, IT'S YOUR FAULT

A city-wide, non-partisan voter registration campaign was launched last week through a joint effort by the Near East Side Area Council and the Mt. Vernon Avenue District Improvement Association.

Both are non-sectarian and non-political organizations.

The move, according to officials from both groups, is to qualify as many citizens as possible to participate in the upcoming primary election.

The registration campaign is being conducted on a door-to-door basis by youth and adult volunteers from co-operating organizations and Columbus area churches.

Weather permitting, a team of two volunteers, will stage a simultaneous "Registration Walk" from selected distant points of the city to the Board of Elections early this Saturday, Mar. 23.

Key persons in the program are James L. Jordan, president of the Improvement Association, and Webster S. Lyman, Jr., chairman of the Area Council.

Both men, commenting on why the effort was being made, agreed:

"Hundreds of families have been uprooted from the community served by these two organizations during the past three years by government

Free Easter Day Hams Available To Readers Of This Newspaper

It's Easter ham time again! That's right . . . Hartley Newspapers and the merchants and business people in this area are again cooperating to give away dozens of Swift Premium Hams in time for your Easter dinner.

Everyone reading this newspaper, over 16 years of age, is eligible to win one of the free Swift's hams merely by filling out a coupon. There's nothing to buy and there is no cost for the coupon.

Today you will find a page of coupons in this newspaper. Just fill in your name, address and phone number and clip out the coupons. Then deposit them in the special box provided in the place of business of the merchant whose name appears on the coupon.

A drawing will be held Monday, Apr. 8, at each store participating. At that time they will present one of these hams to the name drawn. You do not have to be present to win. The list of all winners will appear in that week's issue of this newspaper.

Merchants have additional coupons in the event you have a friend or neighbor that would like an Easter ham and wants to join the fun.

Turn now to the ham promotion page in this newspaper and read the full details. Then start clipping today's coupons. Visit every store and deposit your coupons in order to get as many chances to win your ham as possible. Be sure and drop the proper coupon in the correct store.

The following firms from this area are participating:

CAP EASTER CONCERT DATES ARE EXTENDED

Due to a flood of requests for tickets to the Capital University's Easter concert, choir officials report that the group will stage an additional performance on Saturday, Mar. 30, at 8 p.m.

Originally, appearances were dated only for Sunday, Mar. 31, at 3 and 8 p.m. in Mees Hall.

There is no admission charge for the Easter concerts. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained through the Chapel Choir office. Tickets may be exchanged (if the new date is more convenient) in room 105 of Bexley Hall.

'Please Withdraw My Lamby Lane Request'

Is Maxwell's Surprise Statement

"Mr. President. . ."

"Yes, Mr. Maxwell," answered Whitehall Council President Walter Selmer.

"I would like to request that the Lamby-ln rezoning proposal be withdrawn."

With this casual announcement, Attorney James Maxwell, representing the Metropolitan Columbus Investment Corporation, ended a long-simmering controversy over a $5 million apartment project and/or nursing home on a Lamby-ln tract in that suburb.

A large crowd of protesting residents, mainly from the Wright-av area, sat silent for a time — apparently stunned by the announcement.

Speaker for the residents, Homer T. Stewart, asked what the announcement meant. Councilman Ken McIntosh filled him in by saying:

"When the legislation is brought up I will move to table it indefinitely. Such a move invokes an automatic loss of the proposed legislation, according to council rules."

Maxwell was silent on his surprise move, only commenting later during a recess that he had "no comment" about his actions.

In other council action, the solons:

• Heard Ohio Fuel Gas Co. representative Richard C. Harter offer a new contract calling for $2.65 to be paid for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumed. Two years ago they asked $2.55, which residents pay now.

Whitehall's appeal is before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

• Gave first reading of an ordinance copied from Columbus which would force business to buy and display a license for selling Communist goods. They plan to study the law and its legality.

ROBBIE REVIEW SAYS:

RESIDENTS OF this Whitehall street can extend "drop in sometime" invitations and really mean it. It's Maplewood-av, a few feet off of E. Broad-st in the southbound lane. Sure, Robbie says, the city's going to improve the whole street in the future. But, he wonders, why let it remain in this dangerous condition until then?

ALTHOUGH IN this country only a matter of months, these Israel immigrants are making quite a name for themselves putting on folk dance exhibitions from their native land. Standing, from left, are Uri Katz and Yaacov Davidovitch. Seated is Uri's recent bride, Nili, who designs and makes the costumes. They're all Ohio State University students.

Trio Working Way Through Ohio State With Israeli Dance

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

A trio of Ohio State University students — recent immigrants from Israel — highlighted a recent dance and music festival sponsored by Hadassah at the Jewish Center.

The unique thing about this group, known as the Sabra Trio, is that they're attempting to work their way through school by staging dances of their native land.

Included in the trio is Yaacov Davidovich, 1034 Neil-av, who came to this country six months ago. The dance team was actually formed by Uri and Nili Katz, 107 Chittenden-av, who immigrated a mere three months ago.

Both Uri and Yaacov are in mechanical engineering, while pretty, blond Nili is studying interior decorating. With the group, Nili contributes by designing and making all of the seven costumes used by the two talented lads.

Also featured on the bill were Rikdu Eetanu, Hadassah's own contribution to Israeli dance in Columbus and Rakdanim, the teen-age dance group which recently affiliated with the Jewish Center.

Both Rikdu Eetanu and Rakdanim are directed by Mrs. Jack Zeff, a pioneer in the Jewish folk dance movement in the greater Columbus area. In fact, she brought the first folk dance classes to the Jewish Center.

She pointed out the uniqueness of the Sabra Trio, citing them as "practically alone in their field" in the United States.

And they have impressive credentials.

Uri has been dancing since his early teens. In 1957 he was part of an Israeli student dance group which performed in Moscow as part of a Zionist delegation.

The group won first prize for their performance of "Debka Rafiach," which was one of a series of Debkas presented by the trio at the Jewish Center.

In 1960, Uri toured with a student folk dance group through Europe for three months, participating and winning prizes in festivals in France, Italy, England and Belgium.

Davidovich has appeared before Columbus residents several times in the few months he's been in this country. He teaches Israeli dance at Hillel and has directed the Hillel dancers in many performances this fall—including a TV shot.

Both he and Katz participated in the 1959 Dahlia Festival, the National Dance Arts Festival in Israel.

Their program for Hadassah had the finesse of dancers much older. Both Davidovich and Katz work well together as a team and do equally well solo.

If there is a market for Israeli dancing in this city, things should be bright for this talented threesome.

First Sign Of Spring Is Viewed

Just as the robin heralds the beginning of spring in this part of the country, so do the political campaign signs in Whitehall.

One of the first signs of spring was seen "blooming" on the Whitehall lawn of Mrs. Idola Keller, 4256 Mayflower-blvd. Mrs. Keller is a Democratic candidate for Whitehall Council from Ward Two.

As soon as the winter ground gets soft enough to pound a stake in the ground, Whitehall candidates head for their front lawns with the gusto of an advertising executive.

Next time you spot one growing on the green, remember the old saying — "If political signs appear, can spring — or, the May primaries — be far behind?"

Suspicious Persons Take Note:

'Instant Police,' Whitehall Specialty

Now I ask ya, Mr. Editor, what's a fella supposed to do when he can't even wait for the mailman without coming to the attention of the local gendarmerie?

I won't tell my full name, cause I don't want no notoriety, or publicity, or none of that jazz. But I think it's only fair that other fellas that like to hang 'round mailboxes ought to know that it ain't safe to do it in Whitehall.

Now what I'm gonna tell ya is the truth.

It's Sunday night, a little past 10, and I'm hanging 'round the mail box at the Whitehall Post Office. I got a couple special deliveries I got to mail, and I want to see how late the guy gets there to pick them up after the time it says on the box. (After all, I got 70 cents tied up in this deal).

Mind you, now, I ain't doing nothing except maybe trying to look inside the mailbox a couple times.

Pretty soon this car with two guys in it pulls around the post office driveway, and I back off from the box so as not to crowd their action. The guy at the wheel drops something in the box, and, as they drive off, I move back to my "box watching."

Well, it ain't two minutes later till this white car with the red light on top comes sliding into the driveway. "Oh, oh," says I, "it's the fuzz." And it was.

Well, this very friendly-looking officer says to me: "What is your name." Well, I seen that show on television many times, but I don't think that's what he wants to play, so I decide "To Tell the Truth."

Now this officer don't seem like he's in a big hurry to believe me, and he asks me my address and what I'm doing. So I tell him both in the same order.

Then he wants to look on the envelopes I got to see if they got the same address. I got him there—they do.

Then he wants some identification, like on a card or something. Boy, I sure got him there, I think, cause, when I'm not hanging 'round mailboxes, I write stories for newspapers. So I hands him this impressive looking "press" card and wait for his apology.

He ain't impressed—and he don't apologize. Instead he wants to know if I got any letters I'm mailing that got both my name and address on it.

Thank goodness my wife's still paying bills, and I got a couple with me she gave me to mail two weeks ago.

So the friendly officer says, "You don't mind me checking you out, do you?" And I says "Heck, no" (I figured if I said, "book, yes," I might get in out of the cold quicker than I wanted).

Well, anyway, the fuzz buzzes, and I go back on patrol by the mailbox.

Just when I get ready to Social Morals To Be Topic Of Teenage Session At YW

"Should I?" is the theme for the public affairs conference sponsored by the Senior High Y-Teens Saturday, Mar. 23, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st.

The conference is open to all senior high school girls, who must register through the Y-Teen Club in their school or by calling the YWCA. Registration fee of $1 includes a buffet lunch.

Drinking, sexual relations, cheating and social morals of teenagers will be topics of discussions.

A film, "Of Roses, Nightingales and Other Lovely Things," a story of unwed mothers, will be the "kick-off" of the conference. The girls will meet in small discussion groups, with no adult present, talking "just between us girls," later to be joined by well-qualified adults representing many professional fields.

The topic, "Mother Didn't Tell Me," will be presented by Miss Bonnie Hammock, a teacher in Columbus Public Schools.

Mrs. Rosalind Bandman, director of social services at Children's Hospital, will moderate a panel discussion on social morals.

The conference will close with an address by Dr. Herbert Manton, psychiatrist, Columbus Receiving Hospital.

Miss Audrey Norman, an East High School Y-Teen member, is general chairman of the conference with Vicki Howe, Bexley, and Meg Schultz, Worthington, as committee members. Mrs. John Gingerich, YWCA staff member, and Mrs. Bandman have worked with the girls.

At the beginning of the year the Y-Teen Public Affairs Committee was asked to draw maps, local, national and international, indicating major problems of each area.

On all maps, youth and behavior was shown as a problem, and the girls spent a meeting exploring this subject and how it affected their lives, and as a result chose the topic for the conference.

WAR 1 VETS, UNIT TO MEET MAR. 24

Due to the Easter season, the April meeting of Veterans of World War I, Capital City Barracks 461, will be held Sunday, Mar. 24, at Veterans Memorial building, room 201 at 2 p.m.

The auxiliary will meet in room 203 at the same time.

Each member will bring a wrapped 25 cent gift for sale. Refreshments will be served by the auxiliary after the meeting.

DEPUTY GRAND MATRON TO VISIT SOUTHERN WAY

Southern Way Chapter 467, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet Thursday, Mar. 28, 7:30 p.m. at South Gate Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Doris Carpenter, deputy grand matron for District 17, will make her official visit. Initiatory work is planned.

TIFERETH ISRAEL HOSTS HADASSAH

Temple Tifereth Israel, 1354 E. Broad-st, will be host this year to the Columbus Chapter of Hadassah's annual Sabbath service, held Friday, Mar. 22, 8 p.m.

Mrs. Malcolm Robbins will be the featured speaker.

CHAMPAGNE, CHAPEAUS TO USHER IN SPRING

Annual spring spectacular sponsored by the Soroptimist Club, the Champagne-Chapeau Luncheon, will be held Saturday, Mar. 23, 12:30 p.m. at the Columbus Athletic Club.

The ways and means project helps support an $800 scholarship, awarded each year to a Franklin County woman, to any accredited college of her choice.

Chapeau creations for the show are by Mrs. Dorothy Hutton, member of the Soroptimist Club. Nita Hutoh Bethel will commentate.

A magnum of champagne will be awarded to the guest wearing the most fashionable chapeau, and six runners-up will also be presented with gifts. Judges will be Mrs. June Wells Dill, Mrs. Betty Baft, Mrs. Jane Fittings, Mrs. Mary Selleck, Miss Marjorie Utley and Mrs. Eleanor Addison.

Reservations for the affair may be made with Mrs. Lester Coate, AM. 2-3927.

Hanging baskets of daffodils, ferns and garlands of wisteria will decorate the windows for the event, and the chandeliers will be hung with baskets of dogwood.

Planter boxes of spring flowers will outline the ramps and pots of tulips, azaleas and hyacinths will be used on the tables.

Mrs. George O. Petrie, 2760 Edington-rd, is general chairman of the luncheon, and committee chairmen include, in Hartley Newspapers' area, Miss June Day of Pataskala, invitations; Mrs. John Jusek, 2856 Eastminster-rd, gifts, and tickets, Mrs. Lester Coate and Mrs. Frank L. Packard, 31 E. Yearling-rd.

Femininity In Fashions

The "look" in spring fashions is feminine, says Mrs. Orena Haynes, extension clothing specialist, Ohio State University. The fashion mood calls for softness and fluid lines.

Softness appears as bloused dresses and jackets, bias-cut fabrics and soft fullness in skirts. Fabrics are soft and textured with crepes and chiffons particularly popular.

Colors have taken the fashion cue and gone soft. Pastels have gained year-around importance and there's new interest in neutrals, Mrs. Haynes notes.

The new soft look is revealed in all clothing items from coats to lingerie. Coats will have more fluid silhouettes. The slim coat will be good but a newer look is controlled easy fullness achieved through draping, seaming and bias cutting.

Several fashion ideas are emphasized in dresses — the little column dress with easy, comfortable lines, the classic "natural" dress with perhaps a raised waistline, and two-piece sweater dresses.

In sportswear, the feminine mood creates more interest in skirts. Tennis dresses and short sport skirts will replace shorts and tight pants.

Sale Will Benefit Cerebral Palsy Center

The parents of the handicapped persons who attend the United Cerebral Palsy of Columbus and Franklin County Center, will hold a rummage sale Saturday, Mar. 23, 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. at the center, 1036 E. Hudson-st.

Gardeners Invited To Forum At Y

A "Flower Garden and Landscape Forum," for the "beauty-bent" home gardener, will be held at the YWCA, 65 E. Fourth-st, Monday, Mar. 26, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. The public is invited.

The program for Monday, 1:30 p.m., will open with Mrs. Kenneth L. Sater outlining preparation of soil for planting, followed by Miss Lora Beggs speaking on "Design for the Home Garden."

Dr. James Caldwell will open the Monday evening session at 7 discussing "Lawns," followed by Mrs. Louise Griffith, "Conservation," and Howard Warwick, "Transplanting."

The Tuesday morning session, 10 to 12 noon, will have Victor Ries speaking "All About Flowers," and Tuesday afternoon, "Flower Arrangements" with demonstrations by Mrs. F. J. Ruble and Mrs. Albert Vitek. The forum will close Tuesday evening, 7:30 to 9, with Harley Bratton discussing "Roses," and C. Ralph Olin, "Orchids."

There will be displays of bird houses, garden equipment, seed catalogs, flower arrangements and new garden books.

For further information and registration call the YWCA, CA. 4-8121.

Goodwill Auxiliary Plans March Program

Women's Auxiliary of Columbus Goodwill Industries will meet Tuesday, Mar. 26, 12:30 p.m. at 1331 Edgehill-rd. Those attending will bring their favorite dish and the recipe.

A white elephant silent auction, business meeting, social hour and tour of the building are planned.

Cheese-Custard Fine Main Dish For Lent

To vary main dish monotony and to ease food-budget worries, plan to serve Cheese Strata, as a convenience and an economy dish to serve often during Lent and throughout the year. Day-old bread combined with a tasty cheese custard produces a flavorful main dish that will please everyone.

The nutritional goodness of custard made of milk and egg is enhanced with the addition of cheese. As a concentrated source of milk's high quality protein, vitamins and minerals, cheese is an ideal food for nutritious, flavorful meatless meals.

It is wise planning to include plenty of wholesome dairy products in all meals for their convenience, economy, flavor and nutritional contribution.

For a complete and satisfying meal, plan to serve Cheese Strata, buttered green beans, a crisp salad, hard rolls and butter, chocolate ice cream and milk.

CHEESE STRATA

12 slices day-old bread
4 eggs, beaten slightly
2½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon onion salt, optional
Dash of pepper
1 pound process or natural American cheese, sliced ⅛-inch thick

Trim crusts from bread slices and cut each slice in half. Arrange one-half of the bread slices in bottom of a buttered two-quart shallow baking dish (11¾x7-½x1¾ inches). Combine and mix eggs, milk and seasonings. Cover bread slices with milk mixture. Top bread with cheese slices, reserving four slices for top garnish. Cover cheese with remaining bread. Pour remaining milk mixture over bread.

Set baking dish in pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, until done, about one hour. Five minutes before end of baking time, top casserole with remaining cheese slices and return to oven to melt cheese. Serve plain or with grilled tomato slices. Makes six servings.

Cottage Cheese Rated Ideal Protein For Lenten Meals

Cottage cheese is a food that ranks high as a protein food, not only as a nourishing ingredient in meatless dishes, but also served straight from the carton as a refreshing salad or a dessert.

One of the many plus features about cottage cheese is that an average one-half cup serving is only 120 calories, yet it contributes nearly the same amount of protein as a medium serving of fish, poultry or lean meat—a low-cost way of adding to meals more of the valuable protein of milk

To add a spark to your Lenten luncheon menu, here is a colorful molded salad featuring creamy cottage cheese. As an accompaniment serve easy to make herbed biscuits — unusual and tasty way of dressing up refrigerated biscuits.

Don't forget the ice cold milk as the beverage and crisp oatmeal cookies for dessert.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SALAD

2 packages orange flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
2 cans (1 lb. each) jellied cranberry sauce, mashed ¾ cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind, optional
1 cup chopped peeled apple
½ cup chopped celery
Salad greens
1 pint carton (16 oz.) creamed cottage cheese
monds optional
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds optional

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cranberry sauce and orange juice; mix well and cool until the consistency of egg white. Stir in grated orange rind, chopped apple and celery. Pour into 1¼ quart (5 cup) ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens; fill center of ring with cottage cheese and top with almonds, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

HERBED BISCUITS

½ cup butter (1 stick)
½ teaspoon rosemary or marjoram
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
2 cans refrigerated biscuits (8 oz. each)

Combine butter, herbs and parsley flakes; mix well. Pat or roll individual biscuits into 3-inch circles. Place on un-

Optimists Will Meet

UN Correspondent To Speak At International Luncheon

The American Association for the United Nations will hold an international luncheon Thursday, Mar. 28 at noon, at the Nell House. There will be a reception and open exhibits at 11:15 a.m.

The speaker will be Miss Kathleen McLaughlin, New York Times correspondent to the United Nations. Miss McLaughlin has written several books and magazine articles in addition to journalistic work.

She began her career as a reporter for the Daily Globe at Atchison, Kan., worked for the Chicago Tribune, and in 1935 went to the New York Times as a foreign correspondent.

She covered all phases of the post-war era in Europe, and in 1951 was assigned to the United Nations coverage. Miss McLaughlin has three times won the annual award for best stories given by the New York Newspaper Women's Club.

An international wig and hair style show will be presented by Tiberi. Latest international styles will be featured.

Tickets are available at the AAUN office, 65 S. Fourth-st, or at the desk in the lobby of the YWCA.

MISS McLAUGHLIN

OES SOCIAL CLUB PLANS PROGRAM

The Fabric Doctor

"Did My Cleaner Get Spots On My Dress?"

— Mrs. D. B. M.

Dear Mrs. D. B. M.:

We often think that the cleaner spilled something on our garments when spots appear that we did not see before cleaning. Unfortunately, there are several substances which we use every day that can permanently damage fabrics; yet be unnoticed at first. Heat from simply hanging in a closet, or pressing or the passage of time will set the stain permanently. Your cleaner did not do it. When the substance was first spilled you thought no damage had been done, but by remaining in the fabric, eventually it brings about a stain which cannot be removed.

The most common substance leaving these unnoticed stains are (1) cold wave solutions which we have discussed before (2) fruit juices, coffee, tea, soft drinks, tomatoes, and beer. (3) oils such as linseed, salad dressings, mayonnaise, French dressing, cooking oils and gravy. (4) perfume and cologne (5) deodorants (6) blood, (7) ink. In most cases, sponging with cool water immediately will help, but be careful of color fastness.

Do not blame your drycleaner. The spots were on your dress, but unnoticed. The best preventive is to get your dress to your cleaner as soon as it has been in contact with foreign substances. Mark it with a safety pin. Tell him what stain to look for. You'll prove yourself to be a thrifty home-maker by taking these steps — and a happier one.

Florida Fish Stories Stir Tired Blood Here

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The first preview of spring and a visit by Moyne Morgan, 3930 Woodbridge-rd, occurred at about the same time, and my winterlogged spirits were revived considerably. Male cardinals were chirping their love songs and Moyne was chirping about the fabulous fishing around Naples, Fla. He was just back and was suntanned to prove it.

The mention of Naples was enough to whet my appetite and make me yearn for fishing weather. It brought up memories of snook, redfish, shark, snappers and jack cravelle, for I spent a week there last spring. I may never be the same.

Moyne did not fish so much right out of Naples, but took the Tamiami Trail eastward for a few miles to a fishing camp he discovered. The guide there took him fishing in the Everglades, and very possibly he will never be the same. He lost the biggest snook that was hooked, but not before the fish put on a memorable show.

"He grabbed my lure and then lay on the bottom," said Morgan. "Then the snook began twitching his head from side to side, and with each jerk the spinning reel drag let out line. The guide warned me to get ready for an explosion and to keep plenty of bend in the rod.

"All at once the snook was on the surface, raising all kinds of commotion in under the mangroves. He jumped and twisted and turned. I relaxed the pressure on him for just an instant, and he was gone. The guide estimated the fish to weigh between 12 and 15 pounds."

In my limited Florida fishing I have not witnessed the fracas that ensues when you tangle with a large snook. But I can well imagine the excitement though, for we caught some little ones last year. They acted like supercharged smallmouth bass, and the larger a snook is the more ill-tempered he gets. When you go into the mangroves after the big ones, the odds are apparently with the fish.

If small snook are the hopped-up smallmouths of that area, then jack cravelle are the monstrous bluegills. Moyne and I agreed that the native Floridians are missing a lot of fun by passing up these speedsters. Since the fish are not good to eat, they are disdained. But they hit hard, swim fast and have the knack of getting broadside to you for the best leverage. They are flat fish, and fight a lot like bluegills. But did you ever see an 18-inch bluegill? Do not overlook the jack on light tackle if you get the chance to fish in Florida.

Comparing notes is almost as good as going, so we continued. Tarpon, ladyfish (which are not ladylike) shark, bull reds (the large redfish or channel bass), and snappers (the panfish of saltwater) all came up for discussion. It was enough to make you want to go fishin'. So we did the next best thing

AN EGG A DAY? No, the caged layers that Dick Gaib, above, and his brothers, Ray and John, of Canal Winchester, own don't quite hit that average, but they come mighty close. Dick was honored recently when he won the district plaque for the "Young Farmer of the Year" at the annual conference held at Ohio State University.

Three Gaib Brothers Operate 'Egg Factory'

By JANE ROBINSON

When Dick Gaib, the young man from Canal Winchester whose operations include an "egg factory," won the district award at the state-wide Young Farmer Conference at OSU recently, it indicated one fact:

It is not necessary to be "born to the plow" to become a top-rate farmer.

Twelve years ago his father, Raymond, Sr., a Columbus accountant, moved to a country home, which included 30 acres of farm land.

Dick and his twin brother, Ray, Jr., were only 10-year-olds at the time, and their younger brother, John, was just starting to school.

But the boys were determined to become farmers and started on their own.

By the time they were in high school the brothers were farming 100 acres. Today they manage more than 325 acres and own 57 sows, 50 ewes and 3,000 layers.

Entering the 124x32 prefab cage shed, where the hybrid chickens are housed, one is greeted by the old euphony of tier after tier of hens apparently having a "cackling good time."

In each small cage two hens spend their time eating, clucking and laying eggs with machine-like efficiency.

Gaib pointed out that their forced inactivity allows extremely high production on a relatively small food ration.

Although some growers have obtained more than their .86 egg from each hen each day record, the Gaibs believe this is done with a sacrifice in size.

Obsolescence comes rapidly to the fowl employed in an egg factory, according to the figures provided by Gaib.

Buying the hens when at least 16 weeks old, the brothers dispose of them after approximately 13 months of production.

"Salvage value is awfully low," Dick emphasized, "but at least the soup factories will usually take them."

He made it plain that 20 cents a head looked good to him compared to the job of dressing and attempting to find a market for 3000 DeKalb 131's.

Such a creature admirably performs the function for which it was developed — to turn out eggs with clock-work precision.

But two to three pounds of skin and bones adds little to a Sunday dinner, the young farmer admitted.

AT CHAMPION . . .

Teacher Heads Area Council; School Science Fair Slated

Charles D. Allen, teacher of mathematics at Champion Junior High School, was elected president of the Columbus and Suburban Council of Teachers of Mathematics at the group's last meeting.

As president-elect, he will attend, as a delegate for the local council, the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics meeting in Pittsburgh, Apr. 3 through Apr. 6. He is also on the board of directors, Ohio Council, Teachers of Mathematics.

The local council includes Catholic teachers, as well as teachers from Worthington, Arlington, Bexley and Grandview.

Science classes at Champion Junior High School are preparing for the Science Fair, to be held Thursday, Mar. 21, 4 to 6 p.m. Parents and friends will attend.

PTA Parent and Family Life Education meeting, will be held Wednesday, Apr. 17, at 1:30 p.m.

Topic will be "Will Your Child Become a Court Statistic?" Guest speakers will be from the Domestic Court and the Police Department. Mrs. Richard Green is chairman.

Ferne Ziglar, eighth grade student, is building champion for the spelling bee for Champion Junior High School. Ferne was building representative for the school last year in the contest, and also represented Pilgrim Elementary when she was in the sixth grade.

Runner-up this year was Judith Roberts, seventh grader. Mrs. Stinson, SCC teacher, is directing the contest at the school.

Annual spring concert, always an outstanding and popular event at the school, will be held Friday, Apr. 5. Tickets will be ready soon.

Dr. Sanguili To Talk On Friday

Dr. Julio Sanguili, political refugee from Cuba, will speak to the Whitehall Executive Committee at its next meeting, Friday, Mar. 22.

Dr. Sanguili will discuss "Cuba, and Its Relationship to the U.S." at the 8 p.m. meeting in the Etna Road School auditorium.

A 30-minute color film showing improvements in Whitehall during the past 10 years will be shown. The theme of the meeting is not political, according to Joe Shannon, spokesman.

ANOTHER SIGN OF SPRING

EVIDENTLY these guys feel that spring is upon us, as they go about checking Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. poles along Rt. 40, west of Columbus, for any damage they might have incurred through the winter. John Ryan, of 3126 Hillgate-rd is pictured in the bucket about to check insulators on the pole. Bill Allen, 160 S. Huron-av, taps into the pole to see if it has been broken or rotted. Note the litter near the bottom of the pole that has accumulated from careless "litterbugs." Both men are employes of CSOE and the "pole check" is a spring routine which they consider rather enjoyable—in weather like we had last Friday, that is.

FFA-FHA Announces King And Queen At Banquet

Chuck Schultz and Nancy Thorton ruled as king and queen at the annual FFA-FHA banquet at Canal Winchester last Saturday night.

Nancy Thorton was the FHA member selected as the senior to receive the outstanding class award. The FFA does not announce the senior member receiving the like award until achievement day later in the spring.

Other award winners are juniors, Richard Brenner and Joan Solt; sophomores, Bill Haynes and Marilyn Brenner, and freshmen, Jeff Reinhard and Marsha Leupold.

These awards were based upon accomplishments in vocational fields, scholarship and extra-curricular activities.

The FFA also gave five awards for the farming efforts of the past year. These were won by Kenny Simpson, crop; Chuck Schultz, swine; Jim Fogle, sheep; Richard Brenner, dairy, and Chris Hockman, beef.

Darrell Parks and Mrs. Olive Woodyard are the FFA and FHA advisors.

Paul Semones Is Transferred

Airman 2C Paul D. Semones, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Semones, who reside at 1291 Shady-ln, is being reassigned to McConnell AFB, Kan., following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course for missile facilities specialists here.

Airman Semones received instruction in the repair of ground support equipment for the Titan ballistic missile.

Camp Fire Girls Vespers Slated

SARA CARR, noted Columbus artist, puts the final touches on her wedding present for her daughter, Cherie, who was married Mar. 16. The large painting took more than three weeks to complete.

PORTRAIT 'GIFT OF LOVE'

Mother Gives Daughter-Bride Most Unusual Wedding Gift

By JOHN AUBLE, JR. and BETTY DAFT

The usual wedding gifts from a parent to a bride, like a television set or a washing machine, just wouldn't do for Sara Carr, who operates the Sara Carr Art Studio, 209 S. High-st.

It had to be something more than that, Mrs. Carr stated. Something very personal, a gift of love, that no one else could give.

With this thought in mind, Mrs. Carr decided it should be a portrait. A logical assumption, actually, since this South Side woman has been painting for more years than her recent daughter-bride is in age.

The bride is Sara (Cherie) Margaret Carr, a 1961 graduate of South High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Carr, 612 S. 18th-st.

On Mar 16 she exchanged wedding vows in the Broad Street Methodist Church with Harry Thomas, Jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas, Sr., 3305 Towers Court N.

The portrait of Cherie is the most ambitions (Mrs. Carr says) of all of the pictures she's painted of her daughter. In size, it's 28 by 36 inches and took over three weeks to complete.

Hardest part, perhaps, was finding time when Cherie could pose for the painting. patient about it," Sara said "She was very sweet and smiling, "especially when you consider all the things she had on her mind with an approaching wedding."

Mrs. Carr gave the same type of wedding gift to her older daughter, Elaine, some five years ago.

"This painting of Cherie was, perhaps, the most difficult thing I've ever undertaken. I just couldn't feel satified about it. In fact," she related, "one day I came down to the studio and scrubbed the whole thing off and started over again."

This is unusual, too, when you realize that Mrs. Carr has done hundreds of portraits, and is considered among the more talented female artists in the greater Columbus area.

Even the actual wedding ceremony was a bit unusual. It was performed by two ministers. Rev. Richard Yeagley (Cherie's brother-in-law) and the Broad Street Methodist minister, Rev. David Skeen, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride chose a taffeta gown fashioned along princess lines with a scoop neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The front panel was delicately appliqued with silk thread and pearls, and the full-pleated back skirt continued from a bow into a chapel train.

Miss Judith Mosley served as maid-of-honor. She and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Ann Schmidt, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Susan Ellen Thomas, wore indentical misty green taffeta gowns, styled with scoop necklines, brief sleeves and dome - shaped street-length skirts. The floor length overskirts were designed with asymetrical drapes caught to side bows.

Mr. Dean S. Brown served as best man, and guests were seated by Mr. Al G. Jackson, Mr. N. Douglas Pritt, Mr. Paul E. Neal and Mr. John N. Lattimer. Ernie Patrick Yeagley served as ring bearer.

The new Mrs. Thomas attended Ohio State University after graduation from South, and is now employed with State Auto Insurance Co.

Mr. Thomas was graduted from South High School and attends Ohio State University Twi-Light School. He is associated with the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Following a week-long trip through the south, the couple will be at home at 773 Seibert-st after Mar. 23.

Local Schools In Ohio Music Meet

Warren A. Wesler, local chairman of the Central Ohio Band and Chorus and instrumental music director at Whitehall High, reported a record number of turnouts for competition Mar. 16.

Wesler said that 2,550 students participated in the 28 events at Whitehall in the Ohio Music Education Association Band and Chorus competitions for District 13.

The various choruses and bands competed in classifications according to the size of their high school enrollment.

Competition was held with the approval of the Ohio State North Central committee.

Schools participating from the Hartley Newspapers areas, with rating in parentheses, included:

BAND — Whitehall (2), Grove City (3), Eastmoor (1), Hamilton Township (2), Teays Valley (1), Pickerington (3), Gahanna (2), Hilliard (1), West Jefferson (3), East (2) and West (3).

MIXED CHORUS — Gahanna (3), West (2), Eastmoor (2), Hilliard (3) and Bexley (2).

GIRLS' CHORUS — Eastmoor (2) and Hilliard (2).

Ratings are based on (1) outstanding performance, (2) an unusual performance in many respects, but not worthy of the highest rating due to minor defects in performance and (3) an acceptable performance, but not outstanding.

No schools received four or five classification ratings.

Judges of band competition included Robert B. Cole (Akron), Leonard Machles (New London), George Schumacher (Xenia) and Jack Steirwalt (Fremont).

The choruses were judged by Thelbert R. Evans (Lakewood), Rexford Keller (Delaware) and Calvin Rogers (Ashland).

No-Tillage Corn Growing Successful, But Costly

The system of planting and harvesting a corn crop with no tillage of any kind is still in the experimental stage at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, but it does seem promising. To date, test crops have yielded as well as corn planted normally.

In three years of testing, yields up to 132 bushels per acre have been recorded. New herbicides and a sod planter have made the system a feasible practice.

The idea is relatively simple. Before planting, weeds are killed with herbicides. Then the seed is planted in killed sod or following another crop. Researchers have shown good crops in alfalfa and clover sod and following corn crops.

Planting has been done with a grassland drill opener. This is a hollow chisel with openings for seed and fertilizer. The opener was equipped with a coulter which permitted planting with plant residues on the soil surface. Any corn planter which would place seed at a proper depth and cover them should work.

Researchers G. B. Triplett, Jr., and D. M. Van Doren, Jr., both of the department of agronomy, used a high planting rate to get a good stand. They planted at depths of one or two inches. Starter fertilizer at rates of 100 to 125 pounds per acre was used and placed in the row an inch or two below the seed. Additional fertilizer was applied either before or after planting, with all types being broadcast on the soil surface.

Soils in all sections of Ohio, ranging from Northwestern Ohio at Castalia to Carpenter in Southeastern Ohio and including a range from silt loams to clays were used.

A combination of herbicides controlled both broadleaf weeds and grasses. Researchers say that weed killers used must kill all vegetation and have a residual effect to prevent regrowth until corn matures.

Most broadleaf weeds were killed by a pre-emergence spray of 2,4-D at rates of one to two pounds of active ingredient per acre. Perennial milkweed, however, was not controlled by 2,4-D.

Atrazine was generally used for controlling grassy weeds, and applied at two to four pounds following clean tilled crops and four to six pounds on sod.

However, atrazine may damage the following crop unless it is corn. Other sprays which are not as likely to damage following crops include Dalapon at rates of four to six pounds per acre applied three to four weeks ahead of planting, and linuron applied at planting time at a two-pound per acre rate.

The no-tillage method has both plus and minus factors. On the plus side, total farm power needed to plant and harvest a crop is less.

No plowing or seedbed preparation is needed and residue buildup prevents erosion. But minus factors include cost.

To date, the cost of herbicides and extra seed to get a stand range from $9 to $16 per acre or more.

Also, disease may become a problem if litter is left on the surface, especially in case of stalk rot.

Then there is a question as to whether herbicide residues will injure following crops.

Still, resistant hybrids and herbicides under development may solve most of these problems. At any rate, the no-tillage corn idea has been proved to be feasible. The agronomists frankly state that this system of planting corn is experimental. They also believe that as techniques are developed it will have future possibilities.

Bexley High School LION'S ROAR

By BETSY BRUST

Latin Club member Sherry Chrisite, Carla Coffman and John Grossman won second place in the state-wide contest of the Junior Classical League. Their entry was a musical based on the life of Virgil, entitled "The Sounds of Virgil." It includes songs to the tunes of "The Sound of Music," "Do, Re, Mi," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "America the Beautiful."

Fifty-six Latin students will perform the numbers tomorrow at Mershon Auditorium at the Junior Classical League Convention. Junior David Schaffter is running for the vice-presidency of the organization. Plans have been under the direction of Latin teacher Miss Opal Wylie.

HONOR SOCIETY

Seventeen seniors and 11 juniors were inducted into the Bexley Chapter of the National Honor Society, the highest honor that Bexley High School can bestow upon a student. Seniors inducted were Steve Ault, Jeff Fischer, Gail Gertner, Irv Godofsky, Jane Gumble, Steve Haas, Missy Heffernan, Sally Heinke and Vicki Howe.

Barbara Kaplan, Barbara Kerr, Marilyn Kurtz, Debby Main, Mark Paine, David Shultz, Joel Slaven and Ann Zimpfer.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Nominees for 1963-'64 Student Council officers are president, Dan Levoff and Marc Lackritz; vice-president, Caroline Smith and Mike Myers; and secretary-treasurer, Kalitsa Tsitouris and Joanne Coopersmith.

SPORTS CAPTAINS

The captains for next year's winter sports were named at the Annual Winter Sports Banquet. They are swimming, Bob Berlis and Bob Roselle; basketball, Jeff Schmidt; and wrestling, Bill Reed and Gregg Robins. Jim Hoyer received the basketball award for the most valuable player, and Rick Harbold for the most improved player.

Junior Cheri Papier placed first in the Junior Miss Division and Women's Novice Division of the Dayton Open Table Tennis Tournament. She and Mrs. Ann Evans of Columbus were also runners-up in the Women's Doubles at the Mar. 9 tournament held at Dayton Fairmont High School.

CHOIR

The Bexley High School Choir will present "Say It With Music" as its annual spring concert Mar. 29. Tickets can be obtained from any choir member and at the door that evening.

TO ERECT BUILDING

George E. Zanes and Robert G. Zanes, 3423 Seabrook-av, have received a building permit to erect a one-story masonry building at 3420 Bexvie-rd. Valuation is $38,000.

15 Qualify For Patrol's Rifle Team

Twenty-six cadets of Whitehall's Civil Air Squadron took part in preliminary eliminations at the firing range at Lockbourne AFB last Sunday.

Under the supervision of Technical Sergeant Julius Jurek, the cadets fired competition .22 caliber rifles on the standard 1,000 inch range. The cadets that qualified for the team include:

Coaches for the team will be senior members Sharon Corbett and Nancy Isner. In the weeks to come these top shooters will take part in weekly practice at the Base range and will very shortly enter into competition with other amateur rifle teams in the area.

Jewish Center Official Earns Doctor Degree

Samuel Stellman, assistant executive director of the Jewish Center, was granted the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Education from Ohio State University at the OSU commencement exercises last Friday, Mar. 15.

Dr. Stellman also holds a bachelor's degree in health and physical education from the University of Toronto, and a master's degree in social work from Ohio State University.

He is, at present, president of the Adult Education Council of Greater Columbus, and national chairman of the Voluntary and Youth-Serving Section of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

On Drill Team

Airman First Class George O. Black is serving as a member of the official base drill team at the Charleston (S.C.) AFB Military Air Transport Service installation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Black of 1950 Greenway North and a former student at East High.

TO BUILD HOME

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodworth, 70 S. Remington-rd, have been issued a building permit to construct a two-story brick home and garage at 2327 Boston-av. Value of construction set at $42,000. J. W. Builders, Inc., contractor.

GETS BUILDING PERMIT

Kuhn Cited By Goodwill

Following nearly a quarter of a century of service to Goodwill Industries as a member of the board of directors, R. G. Kuhn, 2889 Hampshire-rd, was honored with a "Lifetime Membership Certificate" at Goodwill's annual banquet Thursday, Mar. 14.

Kuhn accepted the honor from retiring President Morris D. Garek during ceremonies at the annual meeting in the Goodwill headquarters, 1331 Edgehill-rd.

Kuhn, who is a charter member of the local organization, stepped down from the post he has held for 24 years after a rules change set the term of members of the board at not more than two years.

During the same meeting 20-year-old Sherrie Tope, 1350 Elmore-av, was named "Goodwill Worker of the Year" after she had overcome numerous handicaps, including rheumatic fever and rheumatoid arthritis, to become a successful stenographer and switchboard operator.

She received the Good Willie statuette, symbolic of the award, only nine months after coming to Goodwill Industries for counseling and placement.

ADULT HOMEMAKER CLASSES SLATED

There's Always An Easier Way To Tackle An Old Job

By Jane Robinson

No one expects a young woman to jump into an automobile and take off without having received some instruction on how to drive.

But thousands of wives are put in the driver's seat of their homes without even rudimentary training.

Believing that it takes more than a magic wand to help today's wife meet multiple roles thrust at her, three state and city boards have invited local women to an open house Friday, Mar. 22, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

The sponsoring organizations have set up a homemaking exhibit in the family living center of Lincoln Park Homes, 1700 S. Twentieth-st. The Home and Family Living Program, in which free classes will begin next Monday and Tuesday, will be introduced.

The Columbus Board of Education has employd Mrs. Lois Olive Sigler to coordinate the program, and the Columbus Metropolitan Housing authorities have equipped the former nursery building to the needs of the project.

The Vocational Home Economics department of the Ohio State Board of Education is financing the instruction program.

Two classes are being introduced to initiate the pilot program. A series of 25 sessions will be held twice weekly through June.

Mrs. Sigler and Mrs. Lavon McCullough, both of whom hold master's degrees, will conduct the class entitled "Stretching the Dollar."

"Our instruction will be flexible," the coordinator stressed.

She mentioned that personal tastes; family income and size of the family unit must be considered rather than hidebound rules that might be wonderful for the Joneses but impractical for their neighbors.

Mrs. Alice P. Johnson, former clothing teacher at Ohio State, will hold the sewing classes, which will show how not only to make and remake clothing, but will explain its care.

Fabric values will be discussed and other skills, such as slip covering and drapery making, will be included.

Earl Ross, management assistant at the Metropolitan Housing Board, emphasized that it is the job of the organizations to create interest in this program that is being pioneered in Ohio.

"A similar plan has proved enormously successful in Dallas, Tex.," he mentioned.

Though the administrators expect to draw enrollment from Lincoln Park, they pointed out that it is open to anyone who wishes to take advantage of it.

Suggestion sheets have been circulated asking homemakers to indicate the problems of the home with which they need help.

A few to catch the eye are as follows:

Making our money last through the month.

Getting my housework done without being worn out.

Getting my children to eat foods good for them.

Getting my family to help with the home chores.

Making friends with neighbors.

If the answers to these and other facets of homemaking are found, certainly the homes of Columbus will become better homes with fewer mothers exhausted by their battle to function as family bookkeeper, cleaning woman, laundress, chief cook and bottle washer, nurse, kindergarten teacher, civic leader, purchasing agent, interior decorator, gardener, chauffeur and amateur psychologist.

IMAGINATION, NOT COSTLINESS is the guide to these homemade toys made by members of the sophomore Home Economics class at Canal Winchester High School, which will be exhibited at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center open house this Friday. Shown on the left is Agnes Bigerton with Lani Day. The girls worked under the direction of Miss Rita Higgins, student teacher.

UNUSUAL STORAGE IDEAS are shown by Mrs. Lois Olive Sigler to Earl Ross at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center. Mrs. Sigler will coordinate the Adult Education program being pioneered Monday. Ross represents the Columbus Metropolitan Housing board, which has equipped the former nursery building.

EIGHT TO 10 women of Lincoln Park homes have worked with Mrs. Evelyn Gill, above, to make the draperies for the windows of the newly decorated Family Living Center on S. Twentieth-st. Mrs. Gill is president of Lincoln Park Community Council as well as of the PTA.

WOSU To Air School Problem

Minds and money — plenty of the first and not nearly enough of the latter — are the problems scheduled for discussion on Suburban Viewpoint Thursday, Mar. 21, at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 34, WOSU-TV.

Students and the facilities needed for their education in Groveport and Canal Winchester will be studied by James Brandau, Canal Winchester superintendent of schools, and Paul Williams, executive head of the Madison Local School District, with Winston W. Hill, producer-host of the program.

Facts Available On Air Reserve

Information on Naval Air Reserve participation is available to interested ex-servicemen with Group 9 ratings and 17-year-old high school students in their junior or senior year.

For details contact Chief Paul Sherman, ADRC, or David Webb, ADR 1, at Port Columbus, 653 N. Hamilton-rd, BE. 7-6218.

Easter Seals will be mailed on Mar. 6. Watch for your seals in the mailbox. Then use them.

IN STEP FOR MARCH

THESE TWO Whitehall High students lead the parade of pupils for March. They were chosen as that school's best of the month. The young lady is Donna Finley, 18, 3986 Virginia-el, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jamiel. The boy is Ken Cox, 17, 411 Beaver-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cox.

TB Society Lists Test Results

Seventeen positive reactors were found through free TB tests given in Bexley and Whitehall schools during November, the Tuberculosis Society reported today. Two positive reactors were also found through the tests in Eastside Columbus public schools during the month of February.

A total of 2,270 first, seventh and 11th graders in Eastside suburban and Columbus public schools received the free tests.

C. Edward Harrison, Society director of case-detection, explained that a positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active, contagious tuberculosis. It does mean he has been in close contact with someone who has active TB.

Suburban schools and the number of reactors given follow-up X-rays are East Broad Street, 1; Etna Road, 0; Beechwood, 1; East Main Street, 0; Yearling High School, 3; Rosemore Junior High, 5; Montrose, 2; Cassingham, 1; Maryland, 0; Bexley Junior High, 1; Bexley High School, 4.

Columbus public schools and the number of reactors checked are Woodcrest, 0; Willis Park, 0; Shady Lane, 0; Leawood, 0; Pinecrest, 0; Courtright, 0; Scottwood, 2; Berwick, 0; James Road, 0; Fairmoor, 0; Broadleigh, 0; East Columbus, 0.

Child Welfare Board Appeals For Homes

A new appeal for foster homes for children under the care of the Franklin County Child Welfare Board has been issued by Charles L. Caton, executive secretary of the board.

"There is a critical need for 100 foster homes for children under agency care," Caton said.

The past year has seen a steadily increasing need for homes to care for children of all ages, Caton reported. Since Jan. 1, children have been referred to the Child Welfare Board at the rate of three a day.

Agency officials report that lack of available foster home resources has resulted in a backlog of youngsters awaiting placement.

"Once again," Caton said, "the Child Welfare Board is making an appeal to the Franklin County community for assistance in locating persons interested in giving a child a home. Previous appeals have shown that many people desire to have children to board if given a clear picture of what boarding entails and the tremendous need for such a service."

Caton explained that any couple between the ages of 26 and 50, in good health and having living space for an extra person or persons, and of average financial stability, is eligible to become foster parents.

Interested persons may secure further information by phoning BR. 6-3541, Ext. 256 or 295, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

"Families so affected have scattered into nearly every geographical section of Columbus and it is the belief of the sponsors of the registration campaign that many of these people have not notified the County Board of Elections of their change of address, therefore will not be eligible to vote again until they have been properly registered.

"While this special registration campaign is being directed specifically at Negro citizens, both organizations support the belief that it is the responsibility of all to be registered to vote."

call the whole thing quits, this dark station wagon pulls around the drive toward the mail box. Now I can't see no lettering (because it's pretty dark), but I figure this has got to be my mailman making the pick-up.

So I start to walk toward the wagon. But the guy who's driving it doesn't get out; he doesn't even drop in a letter. As soon as he sees me, he takes off like a scairt bird.

Well, sir! I don't want no more of that suspicious person jazz with the Whitehall system of instant police. So I take off in the opposite direction for home, warmth and safety from people who think I'm suspicious.

Sincerely,
Louie

thing out from under an elephant?"

The answer is: "Wait for the elephant to go away."

Today every American finds himself being "sit" upon by an elephant — our huge federal, state and local tax extortion.

Right now a lot of foolish people are being encouraged by the New Frontiersman that the elephant can be moved—that a tax cut can be brought into being.

Let's not forget what the elephant really is. He can't move until he gets smaller and he just won't get smaller so long as we feed him more while he sits on us.

GIRL SCOUTS LEARN TURKISH CUSTOMS

THESE MEMBERS of East Columbus Girl Scout Troop 792 were informed of Girl Scouting customs in Turkey last week by Mrs. Ayla Drummond (center) of 1666 Newfield-rd, a native of Istanbul. She spent three years as a Girl Scout in Turkey and told of the unique traditions in that country. Standing to the left are (from left) Leader Mrs. Kenneth Gibbs and Assistant Leader Mrs. Robert Ficks. To add to the international flavor, Mrs. Ficks reported she's from England.

READY TO WELCOME his guests, Col. Ridgely Ryan, deputy base commander at Lockbourne AFB, receives the applause of E. C. Hallbeck last Saturday night. Hallbeck, national chairman of the Government Employes Council called on members of the federation to work toward wages comparable with those paid by the industry.

Speaker Seeks Parity Between Governmental And Industrial Wages

Warning that no administration will give civil service employes anything except what they take "with muscles," E. C. Hallbeck spoke before almost 500 government employes last Saturday night.

Hallbeck, who is the national chairman of the Government Employes Council, was the principal speaker when members of the federation from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana gathered at Lockbourne AFB to celebrate the 80th anniversary of Civil Service with a buffet supper and dance.

He denounced the lack of parity between salaries of industry and those of government employes, pointing out that an average increase of $250 a month is needed to bring civil service pay scales up to that of private enterprise.

Noting the large number of women present, Halleck stated that congress has a great fear of organized women.

If a half million women would unite and tell Congress to jump, the speaker stated that the only question it would ask would be "How high?"

Also emphasizing the need for determination on the part of the federation, Mrs. Maggie Reimann, national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the United Federation of Postal Clerks, spoke.

To bring out her contention she read an amusing verse asking, "Where Has Your Get Up and Go Gone."

Donald Waites, secretary and treasurer of the local chapter of the postal clerks, served as master of ceremonies.

He introduced Capt. James Jordan, chaplain at the AFB, who gave the invocation.

Col. Ridgely Ryan, deputy commander of Lockbourne AFB, spoke briefly, welcoming his guests and explaining to them that living on the base were 20,000 persons, scattered over an area of 4,000 acres. Representing the Columbus Construction Supply Centers were Col. and Mrs. H. E. Jenks.

Local lodge presidents attending were Everett Shriver, Lockbourne AFGE 1435; Mrs. Frances T. Allen, DCSC RFGE 1148; Richard Mullens, United Federation Postal Clerks Local 232, and Williams Stansbury, local chairman of Government Employes Council Federation Postal Carriers local.

Mrs. Allen expressed the committee's appreciation of the floral decorations and corsages furnished by Sims Florists of Groveport. The theme was that of St. Patrick's Day.

Music for the dancing after the banquet was played by Johnny Rogers.

Whitehall In Need Of Dog Warden NOW

Stray and unlicensed dogs have been having field days in Whitehall during the winter months since the city abandoned the Dog Warden position.

This week, Mayor Walter B. Moling reports that the city is in "urgent need" of a new dog catcher and he is personally taking any and all applications.

"We're having trouble finding someone for the position," said the mayor. "Naturally, we'd prefer a Whitehall resident to handle the post, but this isn't necessary."

The mayor urges that interested parties refrain from phoning him about the job. Instead, he says, he will be glad to talk to applicants in person anytime during the day until 5 p.m.

There is no age limit in the ordinance which creates the dog warden's position, but the applicant must have a chaueffer's license.

TB Society Lists Test Results

Ten positive reactors were found through free TB tests given in Canal Winchester, Madison and Hamilton District schools, the Tuberculosis Society reported. Eight hundred forty-eight first, seventh and 11th graders recently received the free tests.

C. Edward Harrison, society director of case-detention, explained that a positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active, contagious tuberculosis. It does mean he has been in close contact with someone who has active TB.

Area schools and the number of reactors given follow-up X-rays are: Canal Winchester, 1; Groveport Elementary, 1; Brice, 0; Edwards, 0; Groveport High, 1; Hamilton South, 4; Hamilton Central, 0; Obetz, 0; and Hamilton High School, 3.

TB Society Lists Test Results

Thirteen positive reactors were found through free TB tests given in schools, the Tuberculosis Society reported today. A total of 1516 first graders recently received the free tests.

C. Edward Harrison, Society director of case-detection, explained that a positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active, contagious tuberculosis. It does mean he has been in close contact with someone who has active TB.

Area schools and the number of reactors given follow-up x-rays are Beck Street, 0; Mohawk, 0; Fulton Street, 1; Stockbridge, 1; Clarfield, 4; Helmandale, 0; Fornof, 0; Southwood, 0; Reeb, 1; Lincoln Park, 0; Deahler, 0; Heyl, 0; Siebert, 0; Fairwood, 0; Kent, 2; Ohio, 0; Main Street, 0; Livingston, 2; Alum Crest, 0; Smith Road, 0; Watkins, 0; Parsons, 2; Scioto Trail, 0; and Stewart, 0.

High School To Hold PTA Career Night

A "Career Night" will be held in the Reynoldsburg High School Monday, Mar. 25. It is sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association and the Guidance Office.

Mrs. Bruce Bigart, 7704 Broadwyn-dr, PTA president, announced that vocational opportunities that require less than four years of college training will be featured.

Mrs. Bigart said that one school or educational agency has been invited to represent each general vocational area. These areas are art, barbering, business, cosmetology, modeling, nursing and technological schools. Also, there will be an opportunity to investigate vocational training as offered by the armed services, unions, hospitals and the telephone companies.

The plans include a brief general meeting at 7:15 p.m., followed by three periods of about 35 minutes each to permit the students and their parents to talk with the representatives individually. A school room will be made available to each representative.

Mrs. Bigart said each representative has been asked to discuss such matters as the nature of the work for which their organizations train, costs and length of training, employment outlook, earnings, and working conditions. She pointed out that the emphasis will be on the work rather than selling a particular school.

A monument called "the Christ of the Andes" was erected on the border between Chile and Argentina in 1904. It has this inscription: "Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than the people of Argentina and Chile break the peace sworn at the feet of Christ the Redeemer." The sculptor, Mateo Alonzo, cast the statue from melted old bronze cannons. Out of war came a symbol of peace.

★ WILL FIRE 'EM UP AT DINNER ★

South 'Y' Membership Drive Begins Tonight

Any resemblance between tonight's (Thursday) launching pad dinner at the South Side YMCA and a high school pep rally will be more than coincidental.

It took work on the part of the South Side YMCA's membership campaign officials to make it that way—to plan it in such a way as to "fire up" the campaign workers.

Olbert

Tonight's dinner, beginning at 6:15 with a box lunch, will begin an 11-day drive for members and will serve to inspire solicitors, according to campaign chairman Kenneth Olbert.

All division leaders, captains and callers are urged to attend the dinner since it will be at this time when prospect cards will be distributed.

"Each campaigner will be given 10 prospect cards," Olbert explained, "in order to give them something to work on in face-to-face contact throughout the community."

Actually, the drive is already off to a fired-up start since Olbert reported that over $1500 has been received in cash and pledges from the callers themselves.

Included in that figure are gifts from organizations, some totaling as high as $600, according to advance visits committee chairman Jim Woodyard.

But, even this is a long way from the goal. Olbert says his committee must take in $13,000 before the venture can be labeled a success.

This means that some 1550 members must be signed up — a respectable number since the potential in the South Side is somewhere between 16,500 and 17,000 residents.

Membership rates are as follows:

Youth (under 18 years), $5; Adult (18 years and up), $10; Family, $20; Y-Park only (Family), $10; Y-Park only (Individual), $5, and Partner-In-Youth, $10 (and up).

The "Partner-in-Youth" category is specifically for persons or firms out of the immediate South Side area who would care to contribute money to help finance memberships for youths who cannot afford them.

The most encouraging note to the entire campaign, as Olbert sees it, is the response from the community to work on the project. Originally, 200 callers were sought. As of last Tuesday, 176 signers had signed up. This prompted Robert C. Cooper, secretary of the Columbus YMCA, to term the effort a "phenomenal showing of community spirit in action."

Roland Hepner, an active "Y" leader, is in charge of banquet arrangements. DS, Harry Shadler and Augie Graumlich are in charge of tonight's program.

Hepner also heads up the training session aspect of the drive and, with Olbert, gave instructions to the callers during group meetings both Monday and Tuesday evenings.

"We're ending the dinner early enough," Olbert concluded, "so as to enable any callers who so desire to make a few visits right after the program."

CLEO DUMAREE

School Man Dumaree In 'Y' Appeal

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Cleo L. Dumaree, now assistant superintendent for the Columbus City School System, has been an active leader in South Side YMCA activities. He has been a member of the Board of Management since 1948 and served as president of that group in 1951-'52 and '53. He's a former principal of Barrett and South High schools. His reasons for supporting the "Y's" membership campaign follow:)

At last we have a permanent home for the South Side Branch YMCA. For the past 45 years this Christian fellowship has done so much for so many people both physically as well as spiritually.

Now is an opportunity for all of us to support the "Y" program in its new headquarters by becoming a member.

The first annual membership drive is now underway to enlist the active support of its friends.

I know that all who believe in the work of the "Y" will join me in purchasing a membership in this greatest of all Christian organizations dedicated to working with and for youth.

Let us all join hands in support of the South Side "Y" membership drive and become a stockholder in youth.

The 1962 Christmas stamp was the first stamp to mark a holiday season in U.S.

DELBERT SWAIN

Swain Sees YMCA As 'Great Force'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by H. Delbert Swain, principal of South High School and unofficial "dean" of South Side School officials. In it, he gives his reasons for buying a membership in the current South Side Branch YMCA campaign. Swain is a member of the "Y" Community Program Council and works actively to promote Hi-Y and other related YMCA efforts. His testimonial follows:)

The Young Men's Christian Association has been and continues to be a great force for good throughout the world. Millions of young people have been influenced by dedicated YMCA personnel.

South Side youth through the years have been privileged to share in the program of this organization through the South Side Branch. The new building at Southwood and Sixth is now prepared to offer an expanded program to serve a greater number of young people.

If an increased number of young people are to receive these benefits, then parents, and citizens in general, must support the program by giving encouragement. Adults can become members, provide membership for their children or other young men and women in the community.

The present South Side Membership Campaign is important because its success will determine the nature and extent of the program as well as the number of young people who will have an opportunity to participate.

Every YMCA membership has the potential of returning many times its cost to the community.

If we are really serious about wanting to develop and maintain a good, strong reputable and influential community, we can take positive steps in that direction by actively supporting the membership campaign of the South Side Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

ENDS COURSE

MARINE PRIVATE David L. Beck, son of Richard E. Beck of 4508 St. Margaret-ln, completed four weeks of individual combat training Feb. 12, with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The training provides newly enlisted Marines with a background experience in the field under combat conditions. Live firing exercises are conducted, in addition to field trips and classroom lectures. Under carefully selected instructors, the young Marines learn to take their places in small fighting units, such as the four-man fire team and the 14-man squad.

Soldan On USS Forrestal Tour

John S. Soldan, Jr., aviation machinist's mate airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Soldan of 96 Beechtree-rd, is serving with Heavy Attack Squadron Five aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Forrestal, which returned Feb. 15 after seven months duty in the Mediterranean.

The squadron, home based at the Naval Air Station, Sanford, Fla., was assigned to the Forrestal for the seven months tour with the Sixth Fleet.

Sgt. Parks Ends Bomber Course

S/Sgt. David L. Parks is being reassigned to Schilling AFB, Kan., following his graduation from the United States Air Force course for bomb-navigation systems technicians here.

Sgt. Parks studied the operation and the scope of maintenance to be performed on B-47 bomb-navigational systems.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Parks of 1272 Brookcliff-av and a graduate of East High School. He entered the service in Jan., 1956. His wife is the former Rebecca J. Jones of 1399 Hawthorne-av.

Bill Senefeld Serves In Pacific

William J. Senefeld, Jr., shipfitter second class, USN, son of Mrs. Margie Noland of 465 N. James-rd, is serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Monticello, part of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, which celebrates its 21st anniversary this month.

The force, with units spread throughout the Pacific area, was established in 1942. It landed troops and equipment on islands throughout the Pacific theater in a revolutionary scale of amphibious assault.

Two of every 10 U.S. youths do not reach the senior year in high school and one other fails to graduate on becoming a senior.

St. Edward's Closes Season As Champions

The St. Edward's Saints completed their '62-'63 cage season last week on a highly successful note, closing out hardwood play with a perfect record which included the Intermediate title in the Southeast YMCA Athletic Church Council League and the ensuing tourney laurels.

The team, composed of boys 17 years old and younger, put the icing on the cake with a 65-38 victory over Eastview Methodist in the championship game of the league tournament.

THE SAINTS, coached by former Kenyon Intramural Athletic Director Ivan Rollit, used approximately nine of the basis play patterns employed by '62-'63 Big Ten co-champs Ohio State to keep them on their undefeated path.

St. Edwards Church, Whitehall, is currently sponsoring a wrestling team, which is also coached by Rollit.

Other teams which participated in the Intermediate League were Grace United, Hope Lutheran, Brookwood Presbyterian, Redeemer Lutheran, Eastview Methodist and Faith Lutheran.

TO BUILD ADDITION

William Pierson, 77 Santa Maria-ln, Whitehall, has received a construction permit to build an addition on his home. Construction is valued at $1000.

Juvenile Court Emphasis On Rehabilitation

(Third of a series by FRANK RYAN)

"This is a case of a boy who needed correcting some time ago," said Juvenile Court Judge Clayton W. Rose. He was talking about a 17-year-old admitted burglar.

The youth is in serious trouble. He had participated in two burglaries of a home with two companions. Articles taken were valued at more than $3,000.

The court must choose among several alternatives in attempting to balance the scales between protection of society and rehabilitation of the offender. He can be bound over to the Franklin County Grand Jury and treated as an adult. The court may also choose to treat him as a juvenile.

Judge Clayton Rose

As a juvenile offender, the teenager could be committed to the Boys Industrial School, referred to an agency such as the Juvenile Diagnostic Center or the Training Institute of Central Ohio, or he could be placed on probation.

Commitment would not be a new experience for the boy. He spent several months in a West Virginia training school as the result of a previous offense in that state. He responded well to training in woodwork and machine operation.

Review of a case history on the boy does not provide a clear-cut course of action. He is the product of a broken home; his parents were divorced when he was five years old, and he has moved back and forth between them.

His formal schooling ended after the eighth grade. While there appeared to be no friction between the boy and either of his parents, there was an equally disturbing element — parental indifference.

The boy shows no remorse for the crime he has committed. He told of a previous "experience" with the victim of the burglary. If the experience as he states it is true, it may constitute a mitigating circumstance — at least for the lack of remorse.

If the report on the boy ended here, the hope for rehabilitation would not appear bright. But the background is not complete at this point. In fact, it takes a more hopeful turn in one brief passage, that tells the youth is intelligent, communicative and capable of making friends.

What method should be applied — punishment, custodial care, or rehabilitation?

"The simplest thing for a judge to do," says Judge Rose, "is to pronounce commitment. Rehabilitation efforts are more difficult."

In general, Judge Rose favors employment of every reasonable means of effecting rehabilitation. Commitment to a state institution, Judge Rose feels, should be viewed as a means of training and rehabilitation, rather than punishment and exile from society.

What is the court's attitude concerning an apparent rise in public sentiment for more commitments and less probation? Judge Rose says:

"When I get to the point that I send a child to life because of pressure, or when a child is returned to the home time after time for the same reason, I am not being honest with myself.

"If we had better training facilities," Judge Rose continued, "we would, perhaps, take advantage of these facilities. We grant probation at times when, if we had proper training facilities, we would prefer training."

Providing of proper facilities and adequate staffs to assure a workable program of youth training and rehabilitation is a state responsibility, and "they are not providing adequate facilities," Judge Rose said. "It is the duty of the state to administer, and of the legislature to appropriate money," he asserted.

Judge Rose believes that a strong state program in the field of juvenile correction should include appointment of a director of juvenile correction who would have cabinet-level status, and who would be responsible directly to the governor.

While chiding the state for its shortcomings in the field of juvenile correction, Judge Rose did not absolve parents of the prime responsibility for prevention of juvenile delinquency.

"We are expected to step in and do the job that parents are supposed to do," he said. "Many of us, as parents, are giving too much time to civic responsibility and not enough to home."

The court is considering various methods of requiring family activity as a requirement of probation. A probation proviso might require a parent to enroll his son or daughter in a church or school-related activity. The parent would be responsible for transporting the child to and from the activity.

"It take a lot of patience to be a good parent," Judge Rose said, "and it takes a lot of patience to be a good judge."

At the beginning of the interview, Judge Rose cited a specific case with the words: "This is a case of a boy who needed correcting some time ago."

He might well have made the same comment in discussing almost any case that comes to his attention.

Make The Crown Of Immortal Life Your Goal

From babyhood to old age we are constantly confronted by goals.

These goals are varied—varied in the effort which is necessary to achieve them; varied in the length of time necessary to meet them.

Pastor O'Ffill

The child, after having achieved his goals of crawling, walking and talking, begins to look forward to going to school.

The young man or woman sets his or her goal on a high school diploma, then the prospects of college, of choosing a life's work, of marriage and of parenthood.

Then, through the years, there is the important goal of succeeding and prospering in business, fulfilling the injunction, "whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might" (Ecclesiastes 9:10), and the also very important goal of raising children to be good citizens and well prepared to take their places as tomorrow's leaders.

The Apostle Paul, as his life was drawing to a close, wrote, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith" (II Timothy (4:7).

His life had been filled with many hardships, beatings, stonings, imprisonment and rejection.

Yet Paul was able to write that he had finished his course. Why? Because the goal that was his all-consuming desire was to obtain a crown of righteousness which God the righteous Judge would give him.

This was the goal that was ever before him. And failures in other areas were unable to cloud that goal.

In I Corinthians 9:24 (last part) we are admonished, "So run that ye may obtain." The goal implied here to be obtained does not refer to any earthly prize, for we are realistically aware that many goals in this life are left unattained.

But set before each one is the goal of eternal life, purchased at Calvary by the Son of God that "whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

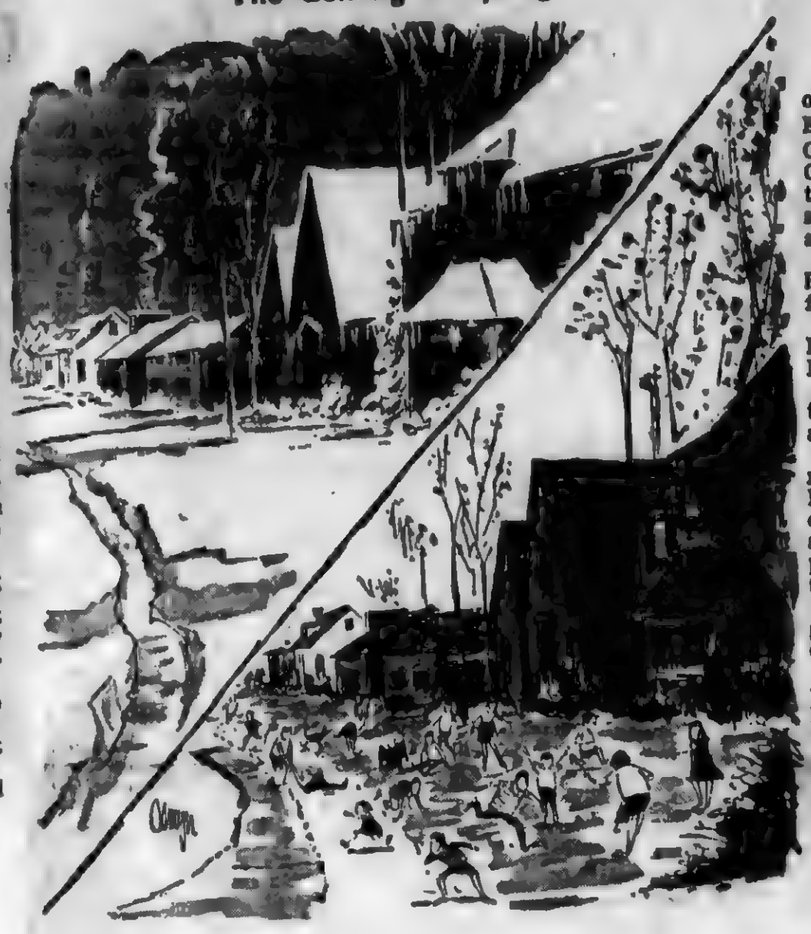
Yet this life is full of trials and hardships for "your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (II Peter 5:8).

Temptations surround us, allurements of the world beckon us. Yet we know that Christ, Who was victorious over the devil and Who now intercedes for us, is "able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

Paul compares the Christian race of faith to the ancient Roman games in which young men raced one another to win an olive-branch crown. The young Romans trained diligently.

They denied themselves luxuries that might make them lose fitness; they denied themselves pleasures.

While others were banqueting and enjoying frivolous times, they were practicing for the race which was coming — the goal was before them.



Jesus is coming soon to "reward every man according to his works" (Matthew 16:27). May God grant that our day by day, moment by moment goal will be Christ-likeness.

And then when He comes we shall receive not a crown of olive branches that withers away but the crown of immortal life to which the Apostle Paul looked forward.

The Coming of Spring

by I. F. Howell

Each spring over earth millions of Christians observe Lent and Easter. From the beginning, the Cross has been the symbol of Christianity. It is made and pictured in various forms. In addition, several other objects are used as symbols of Eastertide.

The bursting pomgranate: The Resurrection, the bursting forth from the Tomb.

The lily: Another symbol of the Resurrection because it blooms at Eastertide.

The phoenix: A legendary bird that is burned, then rises again always.

The butterfly: Its three stages represent the three stages in the life of a Christian; the larva, man's condition unredeemed; the chrysalis, man in the grave; and the pupa, bursting forth from its shell, the Resurrection again.

The Greek Cross with the monogram IC, the first and last letters of the name Jesus.

XC: the first and last letters of the Greek word for Christ.

NIKA: The Greek word for conquerer, Christ overcoming death.

The Cross in Glory: The rays represent the rising sun behind the Cross on Easter morning.

The quatrefoil: Its four leaves are symbolic of the Four Evangels.

It says here . . . . . Facts are for the mind. Symbols are for mind and spirit.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Beef, Pork Prices At Low Point For The Year

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas, pineapple.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cooking greens, green onions, celery.

Protein Foods — Beef "specials," pork roasts and chops, spareribs, frozen fish, fryers, cottage cheese.

When is the best time to buy meat for the home freezer or locker storage?

Now through mid-May, according to meat marketing specialists. They say prices on both beef and pork will be at their lowest level of the year during this period.

As part of this year's record production beef supplies are at a high level. Marketings of fed cattle during the March-May period are expected to show a six to eight per cent increase over last year. Also, the average market weights of the animals are running heavy.

Mrs. Franks

Live cattle prices are down. On choice steers prices have been dropping since early January and are now lower than anytime in several years. Wholesale prices on both hindquarters and forequarters have dropped five to six cents a pound since the first of the year, and are now three to four cents below a year ago.

Also in your favor now is the high quality of the beef. The finest cattle of the year are coming to market; it's grain fed. And, the lowering of beef prices has been mostly on the top grades, since the supply of cow beef and other lower grades of beef are not plentiful at this season.

You can also take advantage of the present seasonal low demand for steaks and rib roasts and store away extra packages of these cuts while prices are low and quality is high. Prices on all short-cooking cuts are sure to go higher when outdoor barbecuing starts.

As for pork, recent production has been about seven per cent above last year and will continue that way through early spring. The current wholesale market is below last year on all cuts. Pork loins are about three cents below early January and the lowest since last December.

So from now until early June is a good time to purchase a half or whole hog, if you have freezer space and can use that much within a period of six months or less. Or you may want to purchase whole loins and have them cut to suit your family's preferences.

At retail, expect good buys on loin roasts and chops, Boston butts, bacon and cured picnics. A few packages of spareribs purchased at 39 cents a pound will taste fine from the barbecue when prices go much higher next summer. Cured hams are in good supply but will receive less emphasis from now until Easter week when they will be featured at low prices.

Poultry And Eggs

Broiler supplies through late March and early April will be almost at the same level as a year ago. Current wholesale prices at 26½ to 29 cents per pound are two to three cents lower than a year ago. Lower prices and more frequent specialing can be expected as the supply increases.

Egg prices at both farm and wholesale levels have dropped four to five cents per dozen in the past three weeks. Some further decline is likely through spring as production increases. The current price spread between large and medium size eggs is very narrow — only two to three cents per dozen, making the large size the most economical on a weight basis.

Are You Really Doing A Dad's Duty?

Rather than to seek someone to blame for the juvenile problems of this community, why not look for a remedy — or starting place for curing it?

"Dad" might be just the person needed to help a troubled boy and keep him from going astray.

Churchill

Who else can so easily win the respect of a young boy and have such a great influence on that child's behavior?

But, maybe Dad is letting himself become too involved in less important matters, outside the family.

Maybe, because of that special club or that extra tough assignment at work Dad is "just too tired and too busy," and takes for granted one of his most important missions — being a father.

From experience, I know how pleasing it is to have a father share the joys of accomplishment and lend a hand with a project that may be a little too big.

Don't overlook this duty, Dad, and don't pass up the opportunity to experience some of the most heart-warming moments of your life.

Fatherless families have special problems that need to be solved. Some devoted individuals and groups such as the Big Brothers and Optimists are doing a great work for people in this situation.

Take that boy of yours out in the yard and play catch or shoot a few baskets with him. Take him along for an afternoon of golf, or fishing.

Teach him to be a sport. Give him moral support when he is glum, and share his joy when he's happy.

Encourage his desire to learn how to work; take him to church.

Be a "Dad"—you won't regret it — and your son may "do you proud" because of it.

To The Editor:

I wish to commend the businessmen who solicit new customers through ads in your fine paper, rather than harassing them by telephone.

I speak for the mothers whose pre-school children must nap in the early afternoon. Seldom does a day pass without a telephone solicitation during the nap period, waking the children and ruining any chance a tired mother might have of that rare luxury — an undisturbed hour of work or rest.

Never will I patronize businesses that solicit by telephone! I'd love to ask the name and phone number of the solicitor (plus maybe those of her employer!) and some time when they logically might be resting I'd return their calls.

Again, thanks to your advertisers who don't call me. They're the ones who'll get my business.

Miss Cannon Is Loud And Clear In 'How To Succeed'

Attention local offices of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith:

One of your alumnae is in Columbus.

She's Dyan Cannon and worked in your Phoenix, Ariz., office for six months. She's not, however, in Columbus to manipulate the stock quotation boards.

Instead, she's manipulating audiences at Veterans Memorial in the delightful "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," which opened there last week and will run until a Saturday matinee.

"This is the first time I've ever been in Columbus," she smiled, tugged at a long string of pearls around her neck and lit a cigarette (not necessarily in that order).

Actually, with the long list of shows (over 300 TV spots) packed into her mere 23 years, you'd think Miss Cannon would become rather blase about just another show like "How to Succeed."

"Oh, but this is not just another show," she said. "This is one of the best musical comedies in the country. No wonder I'm excited about it."

Damsel Dyan plays the female lead (Rosemary) in the refreshing show, opposite young up-and-comer Dick Kallman and Willard Waterman of Great Gildersleeve fame.

In an opening number, "Happy to Keep His Dinner Warm," Dyan shows her vocal chord prowess. It's easy to take.

The Late Great On TV Tuesday

"The Tall American—Gary Cooper" will be a tribute to the late movie giant, on Tuesday, Mar. 26, in an hour-long "Project 20" program on WLW-C, TV 4.

Cooper

He will be portrayed as representing "something peculiarly American" in the show which will draw upon many sources, including archive news film, home movies made available by Mrs. Cooper and footage from some of the late star's best-known motion pictures.

Perhaps Audrey Hepburn summed up "Coop" best when she said about him, "He's got such an American face—like a cowboy, or Abraham Lincoln."

ALL PRETTY girls use a telephone for a prop at one time or another, but few have put Alexander Graham's brainchild to better use than pixie-ish Dyan Cannon who has the female lead in "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying."

NOT EASY AT 9 A.M.

Jack Denton Tries Hard To Please

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

Smiling (outwardly), pleasant (abundantly) and funny (professionally), John William Deindorfer (that's German for Jack Denton) works hard at pleasing Columbus audiences (impressively).

That's no easy task when you consider that most of Denton's 9 to 10:25 a.m. audience tunes him in on WLW-C, TV-4's "Jack Denton Show," in the midst of clearing the breakfast dishes.

"Sure, it's hard to be funny — even pleasant — on some mornings at 9 a.m.," he said during a talk in the station's darkened Studio B on the Olentangy River-rd. "Sometimes, strangely enough, it's even harder to keep from being overly syrupy."

If nothing else, Denton tries hard to please. It got so bad at one point in his life that it took a psychiatrist to tell him that it's really not important that everybody likes him — advice he's taken wisely.

In his efforts to please Columbus audiences, the 38-year-old veteran showman changed his style. Constant viewers of the Denton show have probably noticed this: the emphasis on comedy has been de-emphasized with finess unattainable by Ohio State football opponents.

Anyone who's known Denton for any length of time—before he came to WLW-C on Oct. 23, 1961, can spot the change at first glance.

When Denton was on the road, seeking bookings coast-to-coast, he had hand-out sheets, as most performers do, which gave a brief summary of his talents. His slogan on this sheet sums up the change best — "The Scream of the Coop" it reads.

That was the old Denton. That was the Wow-Eee-Wow, knock 'em dead, stand-up comic in the best tradition of Milton Berle, for it was Uncle Milty that Denton aspired to —even going as far at age 16 as to steal material from the granddaddy of all joke stealers.

"I was a hero-worshipper then — still am, I suppose. Every performer starting out imitates to a certain degree. Milton Berle is the greatest comedian in the world in person and I wanted to be like him," Denton remembered.

The deep-toned entertainer got started in comedy in 1943 when he went on an amateur show using Berle's jokes. Milton was playing the same theater, caught Denton's act and, two years later, hired him as a writer.

The Denton web was beginning to weave itself.

It spun in and out of countless night club appearances, with Denton an accomplished drummer, too. It expanded to comedy writing for Red Skelton and "My Friend Irma" radio show and later to doing Paar Show appearances, "Naked city," and a Mort Sahl TV special, among others.

He's come a long way from Aurora (song cue) and working under agent's orders to audition for two-bit night clubs. Even those days, however, were fun days for Denton.

"I remember one time when our trio had something like 17 auditions in one week," he related. "We got to like going from club to club and one day, in our hotel room, a club owner called us on a job offer.

"'Can't make it,' the bass player told the caller. 'We've got four more auditions this week,' he said, and hung up."

Now it's Jack Denton today, Mar. 21, 1963 — a new Jack Denton, this time more sophisticated, quicker with the ad-lib and distilled with a pleasantness that would make a Sunday stroll through Franklin Park as unpleasant as an air raid attack, in comparison.

But, it's not a particularly satisfied Jack Denton. Oh, he's fond of Columbus, all right, and enjoys the freedom of his seven and one-half hours a week before the cameras. The lure of bigger things, as always, shines brightly, though.

He came closer than many people realize to being the Paar Show replacement when Jack took his first walk. "Maybe this is what I'm shooting for," he commented. "I do know that this is something that I'd really like to do."

There are those who feel he'd do well at it, too.

'FLYING TIGERS' TAKE AIRWAVES TO CANTON REGIONAL APPOINTMENT

EVERYTHING WAS strictly "up in the air" Saturday evening at the Fairgrounds Coliseum as East bought its ticket to the AA regionals at Canton with a hard-fought 54-52 victory over West's determined Cowboys. It was an evening when rebounding paid off in the double figures and East did some rebounding as these "Flying Tigers" might lead you to believe. At the left, Tiger cager Ken Fowlkes makes like a jet on a landing approach as he leaps higher than the rim to snare this East rebound. Teammate Mike Hammond (20) gets set to move out on an East fast break at the right. At center, Tiger Avery Godfrey (42) clears the area under the Cowboy nets after ending a West threat with this backboard grab. Fowlkes continues his approach at right while West's Ron McDaniel (23), Karl Smith (35), Jerry Carter (21) and Charlie Castle (5) congregate in the background. On the right, it's Bob Martin's turn to ring up a Tiger rebound as he ignores discouraging tactics by Cowboy cager Jerry Carter (21).

Tigers Nab AA District Crown, Play Portsmouth Friday

Waller, Hammond Pace Conquest Of West

There was something old and something new about East's 54-42 win over challenger West Saturday evening in the Central District AA tourney finals at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The "old" was something just about everybody had taken for granted at the tournament's outset — the Tigers' ninth ticket to a regional berth. The "new" was Coach Bob Hart's first trip to the regionals as head of the Tiger helm.

THERE WAS nothing new in the Tigers formula for winning basketball games Saturday night. The Tigers shot with accuracy when they needed it, controlled the backboards and simply wore down their opponents with a sizzling fast break.

The Cowboys "borrowed" East's cat-like quickness on the hardwood but their attempts were expensive in costly turnovers.

First quarter play was marked by tight defense as neither quintet was able to light up the scoreboard until Ed Waller dropped in a free throw midway through the opening stanza.

THE TIGERS never lost the lead although West did manage to tie the score twice shortly later. Waller's basket put the Tigers up, 8-6, and the Broncos never came closer than three points the rest of the evening.

But West was no easy plum to pluck off the tourney tree. The Cowboys were still in contention early in the final period, 36-33, but East's stamina outdistanced that of the Broncos and the Tigers went on their way to building up their final margin while West slowed, faltered and finally sputtered to a standstill.

Statistically, East outgunned West, 47 per cent to 28 per cent from the field. It was 42-36 East in the rebounding department. West committed two more errors than the Tigers but those turnovers, largely on steals by Bob Calloway and Mike Hammond, the Tiger guards, doomed the Bronco fast break, which was highly instrumental in gaining West its tourney advancement.

IF ANY further factor was needed to point up East's success, that factor would be defense. For most costly to the West cause was the tie-up job done on Steve Barnard and Charlie Castle, the Cowboy's "inside-outside" combo. Each managed only a single field goal during the 32 minutes of play.

Offensively, it was strictly Ed Waller in the scoring department as the Tiger center dropped in 22 points. Mike Hammond's 13 markers, mainly from the outside, kept the pressure off Waller.

Meanwhile, the road back to Columbus by way of Canton for the Tigers is filled with pitfalls as the East quintet seeks a repeat of its only other state cage championship (1951). It's Portsmouth tomorrow night on the Canton hardwood. After that — nobody knows. At this point, you play them one at a time.

WLW-C TV Follows Cincy NCAA Progress

WLW-C TV will continue its coverage of the Cincinnati Bearcats' progress in the NCAA tournament when the defending champions face Oregon State University Friday evening in the tourney semi-finals.

Channel Four will telecast the game which gets underway at 9:30 p.m.

Regardless of the outcome of the game, WLW-C will carry the NCAA finals the following evening at 9:30 p.m., preceded by a 9 p.m. preview by TV Four sportscaster Phil Samp.

Will Regress Spoil 'New' Cassius Clay?

When ballads and folk songs sing of that day,
They'll speak of the decline of a pretender called Clay.

It was billed to be violent and over in four,
Now Cassius is silent 'cause it lasted six more.

By the time the last catcall had been absorbed into the rafters of Madison Square Garden last week, a very disillusioned young pugilist named Cassius Marcellus Clay had discovered (apparently to no one's surprise but his own) that except for a handful of loyal supporters, he didn't have a friend in the world.

IT MUST HAVE come as a bitter blow to the 21-year-old showman who might have figured that his boosting poetic quips had endeared him to the sporting world.

But the ex-Olympic champ with the Roman handle and the Castro-style cockiness apparently had overlooked two prime elements.

One, American sports fans take to the underdog like mustard to the hot dog. Clay has done everything in his power to blur that kind of personal image.

SECONDLY, PEOPLE silently endure the mouthy bravados of the aspiring contender only as long as he can produce. Cassius didn't produce last week and he didn't have to go beyond the fourth round to be reminded of the fact.

Probably the soundest observation Clay ever uttered came in his bitter post-fight comment that "they came to see me whipped." That, young gladiator, they did. Even our boss, who isn't the blood-thirsty type, expressed his pre-fight desire to see Clay humbled.

THE CLAY PEDESTAL took a severe shaking in the Garden last week. The fight boys have even begun to write the result off as a modern requiem for a heavyweight contender.

Maybe the humble pie that was forced into the Clay cavity was a blessing in disguise. Cassius has sworn off the predictions and apparently is satisfied with re-opening the poetry field for Carl Sandberg.

Maybe we're wrong, but we think we'll be hearing more from a reformed Mr. Clay — and we don't mean on a boosting basis. Could be the whole bit is a clever psychological smoke screen.

If it isn't, at least Clay's "whooping mouth" disease seems to be communicable. Sonny Liston is talking about "manslaughter" charges in references to Cassius and guess who's making predictions now? Sonny says, "It's over and done. Clay in one."

SOUR GRAPES DEPT. — One of our most pro-Ohio State friends, still unable to swallow the Indiana loss after two and a half weeks, suggested the other day that the nation's sportswriters honor Hoosier fans with their third consecutive "sportsmanship trophy."

JET STREAMS — Just a reminder that the ninth annual Columbus Jet Book Ticket Drive is now in progress. Ticket chairman, Bob Grueser, has indicated the importance of the drive by pointing out that advance sales provide the local club with half of its pre-season income.

No increase in price, incidentally — still just $10 for 10 general admission tickets—a $2.50 savings. Book tickets may be purchased at the Jet Stadium Office on W. Mound-st from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. up until opening night (Apr. 18).

Remember — the annual Book Ticket Drive is the major medium through which individuals in the Central Ohio area can insure the continued success of their community-owned, non-profit Jets baseball club and Youth Foundation.

RUNWAY TEE OFF?—And you think you got problems? Consider one of the difficulties involved with the city's plan to add a second municipal golf course to the local landscape.

The city owns 135 acres of land under the approach to Port Columbus directly east of Hamilton-rd. The problem, in part, involves patronage. Will Pop tee off number six with flight 808 bearing down overhead? That's the $200,000 question.

If the other problem (possibility of federal government use of the land) is solved, this item is apparently the only stumbling block.

CITY RECREATION Director Nick Barack is hoping that the "public support" question can be answered by feeling out a number of local golfers and professional swingers.

"A lot of golfers demand complete silence," Barack said. "If this site isn't suitable, we'll have to start looking elsewhere. This would involve the purchase of additional land and that's an expensive item."

Barack knows of a similar situation where a city recreation department constructed a golf course in close proximity to an airport. "I plan to write them and find out what their experience has been," Barack said. "We've got to be sure before we go ahead. This has to be a self-sustaining operation."

Nick's right, of course, but his problem set us to thinking. After four years of dodging hooks and slices, we wonder who would be irritated more—the golfers or the approaching aircraft?

Seven Records Fall As Cards Win Meet

High school track fans around the area got a "sneak preview" of things to come this spring at the Greater Columbus Indoor Meet Saturday afternoon at OSU's French Field House.

Worthington's fleet-footed Cardinals topped the 26-team field with a total of 31 points, nailing down their second straight preview title.

SEVEN OLD MARKS were shattered during the course of the meet which saw approximately 350 schoolboy runners competing for honors.

Biggest news of the meet was the high jump mark set by 6-5, 190-pound Bill Newman of Hilliard. The Wildcat senior, who turned in his basketball togs for track shoes just one week before, sailed through space for six feet, six inches to eclipse the old record by three inches.

Most amazing factor in Newman's performance was the fact that he engaged in only one practice session before the meet and then bettered the state mark in the event by a split inch.

STANDARD BEARER Worthington was responsible for four of the other records as the Cardinals smashed the old mark in the distance medley event and sent three individuals through the ribbon in top times.

Gary Hazlett cracked the 440 record; Jeff Echert set the pace in the mile event and Russ Cellars outdistanced the field in the 880 event to complete the Worthington string.

South's Willie Thompson picked up the remaining two records, streaking to victory in both the low and high hurdles events.

ANOTHER FINE individual performance was turned in by East's Fred Lundy who piled up the most points at the meet by taking blue ribbon honors in both the broad jump and 60-yard dash before anchoring the Tiger's winning 880-yard relay quintet.

East and Whitehall provided Worthington with most of its competition as the two East Side schools deadlocked in the runnerup position with 23 points apiece.

Other team scores were:

Kennys, Ontario Fix Playoff Tilt For Center Title

Ontario cleared its last hurdle to tie Kenny's Loan for second round honors in the Adult Basketball League at the Jewish Center with a resounding 64-53 win over Raybo Vending last week.

Bob Grad led Ontario with 24 points. Jim Mackin followed Grad with 20 points. Mark Topolosky hit for 21 points for Raybo.

ONTARIO was never headed as it utilized its height advantage to build up a 27-18 half-time lead. The win gives Ontario a 4-1 record for the round, necessitating a playoff with Kenny's Loan.

In the event Ontario defeats Kenny's, a second game will be played for the league championship.

IN THE OTHER game of the evening, Bonnie Builders blasted Duratile, 87-74.

Preston Gurwin led Bonnie with 28 points as Irv Galan and Dick Eschelman hit for 20 and 18 respectively. Bill Mackin again led Duratile with 29 points.

Ontario: Bob Grad 11-2-24, Jim Mackin 7-6-20, Merv Metersky 0-0-0, Mike Stein 1-0-2, Vince Mercurio 4-1-9, Ron Erkis 2-4-8.

Raybo Vending: Mark Topolosky 10-1-21, Milt Lewin 0-1-1, Dick Neustadt 2-2-6, Gary Cheses 2-0-4, Irv Flox 4-2-10, Herb Urell 4-1-0.

Bonnie Builders: Preston Gurwin 11-6-28, Dick Eschelman 9-2-20, Bernie Schutzberg 2-1-5, Dale Raffeld 2-2-6, Irv Galan 5-8-18, Herb Grodner 4-0-8.

Duratile: Bill Mackin 11-7-29, Mike Honigberg 3-0-6, Zal Rosenfeld 5-0-10, Howard Banchefsky 2-1-5, Lenny Chetkin 6-13-25.

Rabbi Tells Group, 'Sons Need Fathers'

Charles F. Gatterdam, 1349 Byron, was installed as treasurer of the Big Brothers Association Thursday evening at the annual meeting and ladies' night dinner held at the Desert Inn. Frederic A. Kahn, 160 N. Stanwood, is one of the new board members. Luther F. Lalendorf is the new association president.

A plea to reinstate "absentee fathers" to give their sons a pattern to imitate in growing up was made by the speaker of the evening, Dr. Jerome D. Folkman, Rabbi of Temple Israel.

Sons need their fathers not only for companionship in recreation and to help them with their school work, but more importantly, to show them how to work for a living, continued Dr. Folkman.

It is good for a boy to have pride in Dad's achievements, to see him at his job, and to know there is nothing wrong in working for a dollar. Fatherless boys are fortunate in having Big Brothers to give them the same goals, said Rabbi Folkman.

FLIGHT . . . of Faith

The faith of a boy that a slender string shall hold high his kite — that when he extends a little more string his kite will go a little higher — shows that this flight is a flight of faith.

As the boy has faith in the string so must we have faith in our Lord, and the more faith we extend, the higher and more abundant our lives will be. It is written in Romans 1:17, "The just shall live by faith." Attend Church this Sunday and receive inspiration from those who share your faith, that you may, as the Apostle Paul said, "be comforted together by the mutual faith of you both."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

BUSINESS REVIEW

Relaxed Atmosphere, Soft Lights, Music Are Now Featured At New Lake View Inn

Completely remodeled, redecorated and newly furnished, the Lake View Inn, on S. High-st just south of Frank-rd, offers the finest in food and entertainment to its growing list of customers.

Opened Feb. 19, Lake View Inn is located near the center of a 10-acre tract of land covered with trees. A winding drive extends from S. High-st through the trees to the inn, located far enough from the street to give the customer the feeling that he is "getting away" from the hustle and bustle of city activity. Ample parking space is provided near the main building.

During the evening hours the soft organ music of Wally Frazee adds to the relaxed atmosphere of thick carpets and soft lights. At various times Frazee will play a soft, muted trumpet to his organ accompaniment.

Dining facilities will accommodate 130 patrons at the present time, and future plans call for the addition of a party room to take care of an additional 175 customers.

Other plans call for construction of a patio in the rear of the building for patrons who prefer to dine out-of-doors.

On Weekends Joe Weisberg and his group are the featured musical attraction, playing music in the Count Basie style. Dancing to the Weisberg music is a main attraction at the Lake View Inn on Saturday nights from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Food specialties include steaks, chops and sea food, with the house specialty, prime ribs, as the main feature. A special salad is served with all meals made from a private recipe. It is described as "a combination of fresh garden greens, tangy cheese and crisp croutons, tossed to perfection at your table with a special dressing."

The inn opens at 11 a.m. each weekday and closes at 2 a.m. the following morning. Saturday hours are from 11 a.m. until 1 a.m. Sunday, and closed the remainder of Sunday.

According to Lake View manager Ron Rodgers, the remodeling of the building cost nearly $100,000. The architect responsible for the new design was Glen Wisecarver of Columbus.

Owners of the new Inn include Bob Reed, Orville Conrad and C. V. Perry. Food is prepared and served under the supervision of Diversified Food Services, Inc., Dick Williams, president.

Manager Rodgers stated that many of his new customers were coming from sections of Columbus and central Ohio, other than the South Side, and added that with the convenience of the new freeways, Lake View Inn is not more than about 20 minutes driving time from any part of Columbus.

A WINDING DRIVE through stately trees leads to Lake View Inn on S. High-st, just south of Frank-rd, where fine food and entertainment are featured nightly. The newly remodeled building will soon feature a party room and outdoor patio. Present facilities can accommodate about 150 patrons. Lake View Inn has been open for about four weeks and has already been successful in drawing customers from all sections of Central Ohio, including the South Side of Columbus.

Power Co. Head Sees Good Year

"Prospects in 1963 are for continued progress in the company's growth and earnings," Harry M. Miller, president, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, told his shareholders in the annual report.

Miller also pointed out that "Good gains were experienced in both sales and revenues during 1962, but higher depreciation rates and increases in other costs of operations resulted in expenses which more than offset the revenue gains."

According to the report, residential sale of electricity was up 11.6 per cent, and sales to commercial and industrial customers increased 10.9 per cent over the previous year.

Net earnings for 1962 were equal to $3.54 per share on the 2,800,000 common shares outstanding.

TO ATTEND WORKSHOP

MRS. MARILYN Z. SPICER, 66 N. Waverly, is pictured with William S. Guthrie, president of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, discussing the forthcoming workshop on financial institutions at Ohio State University. Mrs. Spicer will attend the meeting under the sponsorship of Buckeye Federal, June 17 through 28. A Scholarship from Buckeye Federal will defray all expenses of the course. Mrs. Spicer teaches bookkeeping at Whitehall-Yearling High School, and will be one of 25 high school teachers from Ohio to attend the workshop.

WILL SPEAK AT MEETING

TELSTAR will be the main topic at the annual In-Service Education Workshop on the Ohio State University Campus Saturday, Mar. 30. Herbert Kierspel, 269 N. Chesterfield-rd, Bexley, engineer for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., will trace the development of space communications through project Echo and Satellite Telestar. He will discuss the scientific advances that made satellite communications possible and relate ways active satellites may be used in years ahead. The speaker was born and educated in Dusseldorf, Germany, where he received a degree in electrical engineering in 1948. In 1955 he joined the Columbus Ohio Bell staff as an engineer.

Combat Trained

MARINE Pvt. Daniel E. Doner, son of L. E. Doner, 90 N. Waverly-rd, recently completed four weeks of individual combat training with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The training provides newly enlisted marines with a background of experience in the field under combat conditions. Live-firing exercises are conducted, in addition to field trips and classroom lectures.

TRAINED

MARINE PRIVATE FIRST CLASS Patrick E. Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Ryan, Jr., of 2779 Powell-av, completed four weeks of individual combat training Feb. 11 with an infantry training regiment at Camp Lejeune, N.C. The training provides newly enlisted Marines with a background of experience in the field under combat conditions. Live-firing exercises are conducted, in addition to field trips and classroom lectures.

NAMED TO PANEL

John Edgerly of Big Bear Stores will be one of eight panelists at Ohio's fifth annual Agricultural Marketing Conference Thursday, Mar. 28, at Ohio State University. Representing the meat marketing industry, he will give his opinions on livestock marketing trends.

Spring Horse Show Coming Next Month

Seven years ago the Spring Horse Show, presented by the Ohio Spotted Horse Association, held its first meet on a high school football field. Reports state, "the show had few entries and probably fewer spectators."

This year the show will play four days, Thursday, Mar. 21, through Sunday, Mar. 24, at the Ohio Exposition Center. More than 2000 entries in 148 classes will show to an expected crowd of over 10,000 spectators.

The program is presented for the benefit of the Kidney Disease Foundation of Central Ohio. The foundation's members, along with those of the Ohio Spotted Horse Association, have volunteered both time and labor for the past several months in preparation for the event.

Feature attractions of this year's show include a pair of talented Border Collies, to perform tricks along with the horses, and a fast stepping exhibition of teamwork and skill by the Victor Comptometer Corporation Six-Pony Hitch, made-up of six matched Shetland ponies.

Tickets may be purchased at the gate on the days of the performance.

Name Police Who Qualify For Advance

Policemen who qualified for promotion through a Civil Service examination were certified to Safety Director Richard Moling by Joe Shannon, Civil Service chairman, Wednesday, Mar. 20.

Patrolmen in line for promotion to sergeant are Adrian J. Roberts and Ray Fenstermaker.

Candidates for lieutenant position created by council are Richard A. Wells, Glenn Clarke and Charles Fraley.

Positions for nine firemen are also open. Further notice will be released next week.

Area Cited For More Traffic Enforcement

Police officers in the East area of Columbus have been called upon to increase enforcement of traffic laws in two local sections.

Police Chief George Scholer, in a recently issued selective enforcement bulletin, called on officers to give special attention to the area from Main-st and 18th-st to Wilson-av, in connection with changing lanes unsafely and red light violations.

Officers were also cautioned to watch drivers who fail to yield when making a left turn and to motorists who fail to stop for a stop sign in the area of E. Broad-st and Taylor to Nelson-rd. Chief Scholer called for 34 per cent increased traffic law enforcement in this section of town.

Mayor's Council Examines State Legislation

Legislative activity of the 105th Ohio General Assembly will highlight the April meeting agenda of the Franklin County Mayors' Council. John Gotherman, Ohio Municipal League representative, will return for the April meeting to continue his presentation of Bills the OML considers of import to the mayors.

Gotherman batted 1000 in his opening presentation of league positions on some of the bills he covered. The mayors backed the OML position on the six occasions where a league preference was stated. Gotherman reviewed 20 bills.

The mayors opposed two bills reviewed by Gotherman, and upon which the OML has not as yet taken a stand. They were:

House Bill 234: A bill permitting local school districts to seek up to one per cent income tax levies for support of schools.

House Bill 440: To remove separate health districts in cities of less than 25,000 population, with duties absorbed by the county health department.

Mayors' Council support was added to the OML recommendations in support of three bills. The mayors' group opposed five pieces of legislation reviewed, three of which were also opposed by the league.

Legislation supported by both groups included:

House Bill 135: Legislation authorizing purchases by municipalites up to $1,800 without advertising for bids. Present limit is $1,000. This bill would also broaden emergency purchasing authority—authorized by local council action — to include all departments. At present only utility departments can exceed purchasing limitations upon passage of emergency council legislation by a two-thirds vote.

House Bill 296: Liquor permit transfer approval would require presentation of a certificate by the clerk of council attesting to meeting of local zoning regulations.

House Bill 97: Allow local mayor's court to handle cases of first offense for issuing checks with insufficient funds, if the amount is less than $100, by making the first offense a misdemeanor. (A similar bill covering first offense on carrying of concealed weapons was also endorsed.)

Bills opposed by both the OML and the Mayors' Council included:

Senate Bill 212: Calling for voiding of city's jurisdiction, in counties of five or more cities, over planning and development within a three-mile radius, as presently allowed, and place such power with county officials.

House Bill 128: Allows sliding scale for personal property tax on businesses from 70 to 50 per cent of value over a five year period. This would not apply to goods used in manufacturing processes, which are currently taxed at 50 per cent of value.

Senate Bill 130: Known as the "hot wires" bill, it would allow utilities to appeal city regulations to the Public Utilities Commission in "hardship" cases.

The talk by Gotherman was preceded by a short business meeting, during which John Price, Columbus auditor, was elected to a council trustee post to replace former city attorney Russell Leach.

Minstrel Memories In 11th Year

Mrs. J. Donald Herro, 6515 Malone-dr, displays one reason why you should put your best foot forward and make every effort to attend the 11th annual Reynoldsburg Minstrel Memories. This favorite local show, on a big production scale, is to be held in the junior high auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, Mar. 29; Saturday, Mar. 30; Thursday, Apr. 4; Friday, Apr. 5, and Saturday, Apr. 6. All proceeds will go to the local schools. To avoid the rush and the crowd, it is wise to order your tickets early by calling Mrs. Parkinson, UN. 6-6647, or Mrs. Fetterer, UN. 6-5871.

Only Jets Now At Lockbourne

The era of piston aviation at Lockbourne AFB ended Thursday, Mar. 14, when the last of Lockbourne AFB's propeller-driven KC-97 air refuelers was flown to Guam for new duty in the Pacific.

The last four-engine, gas-powered tanker, tail No. 609 of the 321st Air Refueling Squadron, was flown out by a Strategic Air Command crew from Guam to make way for arrival of the first sleek, faster, all-jet KC-135 Stratotanker due in next month. The KC-135 is the military version of the Boeing 707.

Hartley Newspapers To Make "Confederate" Cash Good As Gold With Weekly Awards

Many Local Merchants To Redeem Rebel Money Starting This Week

Shades of Jefferson Davis! Who said Confederate money isn't worth a "Continental"? That "Confederate" cash you can receive by carefully reading your Hartley Newspaper is as good as gold . . . It's like having a rich father-in-law.

Sound a Confederate war whoop and dust off the old gray and gold uniform that granddaddy wore, because starting this week you can earn many "Confederate" dollars by simply reading the ads in your Hartley Newspaper.

Beginning today some of the papers will contain ads with either of two insignia shown, always printed in a color other than black.

You can bet your brass buttons that if one of the insignia turns up in your paper it is worth "Confederate" cash to you.

Here's how it works:

Bring or mail entire newspaper, containing ad and insignia to the Hartley Newspaper Offide, 2465 W. Broad-st, anytime prior to noon, Monday following publication.

If you have the insignia containing a "one" it's worth one "Confederate" dollar.

If you have an insignia containing a "five" it is worth five "Confederate" dollars unless, and get this, you are a paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper. In that case you also get the "Jackpot". During the first week the jackpot is worth 25 "Confederate" dollars. If it's not claimed, it and all other "Confederate" money not claimed will be added together for the next week's "Jackpot".

There is a good possibility that the "Jackpot" could contain more "Confederate" bills than grandpa used to paper the house in the spring of '75, because each week the big money that isn't claimed will add to the following week's pot.

So you don't have a house to paper! In that case you can spend your "Confederate" cash at any business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper the week you want to spend it.

Any Hartley advertiser will be happy to take your "Confederate" money and in turn give you full value in merchandise or services.

Each Reader Should Watch For 'Confederate' Money Sign Weekly

So shine up your reading glasses and start checking your Hartley Newspaper this week. Nothing to buy, nothing to write, no contest to enter.

How can you lose? Beside the usual good buys you always find in the ads, you could also find some "Confederate" money insignia . . . and that's good cash, son . . . Hartley Newspaper "Confederate" cash, that is.

All Hartley Newspapers "Confederate" money turned in to merchants for redemption will be accepted by Hartley Newspapers for good old American cash. The money will be redeemed by Hartley Newspapers only if the merchant is an advertiser in one of the Hartley Newspapers the week in which he accepts "Confederate" money.

Important: Jackpot or $5.00 winner must bring his full newspaper into office with proper identification.

Sawdust Sandwiches

We have long contended that if Johnny didn't learn to read it was because we changed our teaching methods.

Now comes our good friend Jenkin Lloyd Jones with an article in the March 25 issue of U.S. News and World Report entitled "Time to Get New School-Books," in which he berates our modern schoolbooks in a way that is long overdue.

He contends that it is time to give our children something other than "sawdust sandwiches." Amen!

GIRL BITTEN; DOG SOUGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keifer, along with local health officials, are urgently searching for a 24-inch tall, long reddish tan coated mix-breed dog that bit the couple's daughter Saturday evening at 6:30.

Unless the dog is found by Friday (Mar. 29), Terri Lyn Keifer, two, 5300 Ivyhurst-dr, will have to undergo a series of rabies shots.

The dog has been seen in the Pinehills development on the East Side, along E. Livingston-av and E. Main-st. Persons with any information should contact the Keifers at 866-4891.

King Is 'Disappointed' With Whitehall Blue Law Attitude

Gene King, executive secretary of the Greater Columbus Sunday Association, said this week that the association has been "disappointed" in the attitude that the mayor of Whitehall has given the Sunday sales situation."

Hoping to beef up what was termed "lack of enforcement" of the blue laws in that suburb, King penned a letter to Mayor Walter B. Moling.

Copies were also sent to Council President Walter Siemer, Solicitor Paul Haytcher, Town and Country Business Association President J. Rogers Veing.

Great Eastern Business Association President Dane Emery, Whitehall Ministerial Association President Rev. Marcus Buehrer and Rev. Robert W. Harwick of Holy Spirit Church.

"Several weeks ago," the letter read, "we inquired of your office the present position of your administration relative to Sunday sales enforcement (that was Feb. 20).

"We had hoped that in absence of a negative reply, your public statement on this matter was still policy for your police department.

"However, as we noted in our letter of Feb. 20, not one affidavit had been filed since Dec. 2, 1962. We believe that these facts are not consistent with your public statement inasmuch as there are firms which continue to maintain a seven-day-a-week operation in your community in apparent violation of the law.

"May we again urge you to maintain enforcement of this law as you would enforce all laws of the state in accordance with your oath of office.

"Please be assured that this association stands ready to cooperate with your administration in any manner that you deem appropriate."

By means of comparison with Columbus, King pointed out Whitehall had filed eight affidavits as of Mar. 12 while (within the same period) Columbus had filed 106.

Columbus has obtained 33 convictions to Whitehall's four, has had four bond forfeitures to none in Whitehall, has dismissed nine to Whitehall's one and has 64 pending while Whitehall claims three.

As of Mar. 27, King said that this second letter was also unanswered. "We'll keep after them," he said Wednesday. "We plan to maintain our vigilance in this area as long as the need is there."

SPIRIT OF EASTER CAPTURED BY CAP CHOIR

THESE MEMBERS of the Capital University Chapel Choir will present three programs of Easter music. The group will sing Saturday, Mar. 30, at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Mar. 31, at 3 and 8 p.m. All offerings are in Mees Hall auditorium on Capital's E. Main-st campus. There is no admission charge. Tickets are available in room 105 of Bexley Hall (Chapel Choir Office).

UP TO 40 letters a day are written on that typewriter by Stelios Stelson, a 54-year-old Greek immigrant who works tirelessly for world peace. He's established three overseas projects to try to create mutual understanding and stronger ties between the United States and foreign countries.

NOW INCORPORATED

Local Man Waging One-Man Battle On Communism

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

For Stelios Stelson, a one-man war against Communism is as near as his borrowed typewriter.

The 54-year-old Greek immigrant single-handedly carries on three gigantic "good will" projects from 45 Franklin Park, West, Apt. 4, a neat but skimpy one-room flat.

He works full-time as a supply clerk at the Columbus General Depot and pursues his "extra-curricular" projects from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m.

In essence, Stelson's Communist fighters include (1) an art exchange, (2) a pen pal exchange and (3) a book exchange. This activity, Stelson says, has promoted good will (mainly for the United States) in 16 countries.

The highlight of Stelios' life came last week when he formed his International Friendship Foundation, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Incorporators were Dr. Thomas Ludlum, head of the department of speech, Capital University; George Brown, who operates a Columbus accounting firm; Bill

Bexley Pool Halt Hinted Tuesday

BUT, WILL IT ACTUALLY HAPPEN?

Opposition to the construction of a swimming pool on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds by the Bexley Civic Improvement Association (BCIA) reached the courts this week.

Attorney George Chamblin, representing six protesting Bexley residents, reported to that suburb's council Tuesday night that he had filed a declaratory judgment suit in Common Pleas Court against both the city and the BCIA.

This action in itself, however, in no way stops the progress of the pool plans—progress that was heightened Tuesday when council passed a resolution approving the pool.

In essence, the action warns the city and the BCIA to proceed with their pool plans, "at their own peril" since a forthcoming temporary restraining order to halt construction was hinted at.

Chamblin said that he "can't tell" when or even if such halting action would be taken, claiming that this was largely up to his clients and how far they wished to pursue the matter.

Council approved the resolution unanimously after President C. J. Kurtz, Jr., stated, "Let's give the judge something to get his teeth into."

Further urging came from Councilman J. Roth Crabbe, who has been working closely with BCIA in obtaining a pool, and from James E. Pohlman, attorney for the association. Pohlman added that without such a resolution, "the BCIA would suffer substantial damage."

Crabbe said he felt the city was obligated to approve the resolution.

Chamblin asked council not to approve the resolution because, as he said, "in view of the serious legal problem, I don't want to see a pool started that might be illegal."

The attorney for the opposition said that his suit maintained that a transfer of property in the park to the association was illegal in that it violated the deed restrictions by which the late Robert H. Jeffrey gave the land to the city.

It also maintained that the ordinance setting up a lease on the land for $1 a year was illegal because the city must "get adequate and reasonable" rental for the land.

The opposition stands firm on a charge that the ordinance passed by council in the matter was made under emergency provisions when it actually wasn't an emergency.

Chamblin reported that his clients had proposed an alternate plan for the pool that was rejected when both groups failed to come to an agreement. Chamblin added that he "wasn't sure" whether the alternative would still stand, in light of the recent legal action.

The compromise entailed the moving of the pool some 100 yards north to the creek, thereby incurring cost in neighborhood of $10,000 more. Chamblin pointed out that the BCIA wouldn't have to move the caretaker's cottage if they agreed on the new site—a project estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000.

According to Chamblin, this plan would:

Win A Free Ham!!

There's nothing better on the table than a fresh, juicy, mouth-watering ham during the Easter season. If the idea appeals to you, don't forget to fill in the coupons found in today's paper making you eligible to win such a ham . . . free.

Today a page of coupons is again printed in this newspaper. Just fill in your name, address and telephone number and clip them out for deposit in the appropriate merchant's store or place of business.

The number of coupons filled out and deposited gives you that many chances to win a beautiful Swift's Premium, fully cooked, ham.

Only one ham per family is permitted and you need not be present on the day of the drawing, Monday, Apr. 8, to win. Everyone over 16 is eligible to win.

Turn now to the full-page ad in this paper and start filling in your name on the coupons. Remember, every coupon deposited at the appropriate place of business is one more opportunity for you to win a free ham.

City Seeks Ft. Haves

City Council learned Monday night that Columbus Mayor W. Ralston Westlake has made a formal application in behalf of the city for the Ft. Hayes military reservation when it is abandoned by the U.S. Army.

The mayor said he requested the 70-acre tract be turned over to the city for public purposes. The Army expects to leave the 100-year-old military post by June, 1965.

'Suburbia' Will Come Next Week

Paying subscribers will receive the April issue of Suburbia Today with the Apr. 4 issue of the Eastern Review.

Gardening authority Sam Sinclair Baker sets the record straight as he tells how to use pesticides safely — and why you can't raise a garden without them.

Shepherd Mead, author of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," turns his attention to your income tax. He tells "How to Succeed on Your Income Tax (Without Really Trying)" and discusses, among other topics, capital gains for Indian wrestlers who invest in papaya juice.

In addition, there will be features on three projects for the family craftsman, an extraordinary bus that is a vacation-home, and a cartoon feature. See these and more in the April issue of Suburbia Today in next week's Review.

THIS SMALL mailbox marks the headquarters of the large International Friendship Foundation, Inc., at 45 Franklin Park West, Apt. 4. It's the one-room flat home of Stelios Stelson who's carrying on a campaign to serve his country as a private citizen.

Daily Beauty Care

Beauty needs organization, of the inner and outer self. This is not a job that can be tackled all at one time or a job that stays put once you've tackled it. Your beauty is like a plant that must be watched over tenderly and constantly so that it can go on flourishing.

Every day, without fail, you must take the time to give it some care. If you persist, your beauty habits will become a second self to you.

In addition to daily beauty care at home, you must seek professional assistance if you are to be at your best. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BE. 5-5474. Town and Country Shopping Center.

Council To Hear Folpe Speak

Mrs. Robert Cosgriff will evaluate the program. Mrs. Ronald Carmichael will speak on "Good Openings" during the education session.

Coffee will be served after the program. Women interested in attending may contact Mrs. Hartman, 2889 Bellwood.

Styles Seen At Penney's

Penney's is making fashion news this week showing Mary Quant fashions in all seven Columbus stores.

Miss Anita Paul, fashion advisor for women's sportswear in Penney's New York office, is visiting the stores this week and modeling a few outfits from the Mary Quant collection.

Mary Quant, one of England's newest popular designers, is noted for freshness of style and distinction of line. The look of this latest spring assortment was inspired by the Chelsea section of England, an area similar to Greenwich Village in New York.

The collection includes several jumpers and blouses, as well as skirts, slacks, Bermudas and a vest.

These Mary Quant fashions have been designed especially for Penney's and are priced to fit the modern gal's budget. They will be featured at all seven Columbus and Penney stores for the next two weeks.

Club Women MakeOutfits; Will Model

A luncheon followed by a style show of artistic creations made by the members will highlight the Apr. 4 meeting of the Columbus Woman's Club, Inc. Mrs. W. A. Huntsberry will be hostess at the 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the Defense Construction Supply Center.

Mrs. Thomas E. Crull is chairman of the style show. Models will be Mrs. Ronald R. Barr, Mrs. Richard Bonsecour, Mrs. Fred H. Carpenter, Mrs. Walter C. Crusoe, Jr., Mrs. James H. Ellis, Mrs. John Finsland, Mrs. Stanley Hohe, Mrs. A. E. Nave, Mrs. Edward C. Regan, Mrs. K. D. Remington and Mrs. Helen Shelton.

Mrs. Paul P. Dilley will give a narration on the costumes worn in different countries. Mrs. T. L. Chase is program chairman.

Club members may bring guests, but everyone must have a reservation.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Many Protein Foods Offered At Lower Cost

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cooking greens, celery, peppers.

Protein Foods — Beef "specials," pork loins, Boston butts, frozen fish fillets, large eggs, fryers, cottage cheese.

Shopping for the main dish should be easy this week with the abundance of beef, pork and fish offered at the lowest prices for a long time. In addition, poultry meats, eggs and cheese are in good supply.

Mrs. Franks

For best values in beef, check the food ads carefully for cost and grade for almost all medium and high value cuts may be found at bargain prices. All cuts of pork — chops, roasts, steaks, bacon, sausage and even spareribs — are being featured at one time or another. Supplies continue to be heavy and the low price on beef has not helped to move pork.

Fish and eggs are other fine protein choices, whether you're observing meatless meals or not. Supplies of frozen fish fillets and fish sticks stay heavy in spite of the heavy Lenten demand; the cost-per-serving is low. If you are hungry for fresh fish — meaning as they come from the water — you'll find a few around, but prices are not cheap. Fishermen are cutting through the ice to get a few perch and yellow pike from Lake Huron and some herring from Lake Superior.

Fresh vegetables from Florida have been increasing since mid-March. Here are some tips worth noting as you shop the produce counter this week. Cooking greens show fine quality; salad items such as tomatoes, green onions and radishes are more plentiful; cabbage, broccoli and green bean prices are a little lower. Green peppers are large and cost less than in weeks, carrots and old crop potatoes continue to be bargains. California asparagus is now at peak of production and lots of sweet corn from Florida will be coming soon.

On the other hand, fresh fruits might be called at the low point for the year, although there are plenty of good apples, bananas, winter pears and hothouse rhubarb. Strawberry shipments from Florida and California will be more plentiful by Apr. 1, if the weather is favorable.

IT MAY BE some consolation to know that the problem of shortages and high prices on citrus fruits is not ours alone. Other countries also have problems with weather. In Spain the 1962-'63 orange crop was cut in half by cold weather in December and again in February. In Italy the season's supply of oranges, already short because of frost damage in the winter of 1962-'63, was further reduced by an estimated 10 per cent as a result of the recent cold weather. Orange products for the 1962-'63 season is now estimated at 18.6 million boxes as compared to 28.2 million boxes last year.

Whitehall To Host Baptist Meet

More than 300 women will gather at Whitehall Baptist Church Wednesday and Thursday, Mar. 28 and 29, for a 75th anniversary celebration of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The celebration is the annual convention of the Ohio Woman's Missionary Union, and covers a four-state area including Ohio, western New York, western Pennsylvania and West Virgina.

Speakers for the occasion include Dr. Courts Redford, executive secretary, Southern Baptist Convention Home Mission Board; Mrs. R. L. Mathis, president, Woman's Missionary Union, Southern Baptist Convention; C. Hoge Hockensmith, pastor, Tri-Village Baptist Church and past president, State Convention of Baptists in Ohio, and Mrs. Donald Heiss, missionary to Japan.

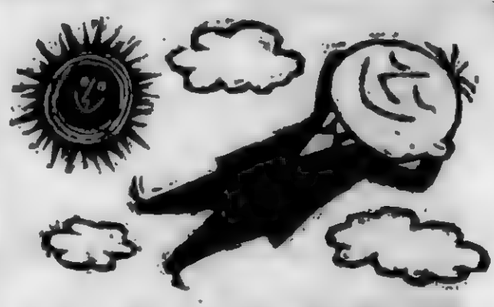
An anniversary banquet is scheduled the evening of Mar. 28 at Yearling High School. Those attending will wear costumes fashionable 75 years ago.

Another program highlight will be the coronation service Mar. 29, when recognition will be given to members of the Girls' Auxiliary who have attained the rank of queen, queen-with-a-scepter or queen-regent in their Forward Steps program.

Heart Council Board To Form Units

The Women's Board of the Franklin County Heart Council will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, Mar. 29, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Russell Alban, 2749 Elliott-av.

The 46-member board has as its major project the organization of neighborhood groups, known as Heart Beats, and serves as advisors to these groups in their efforts on behalf of the fight against heart disease. Seven Heart Beats have been formed to date.



Anyone interested in starting a Heart Beat may contact Mrs. Thomas E. Clark, 6165 McVey-blvd, Worthington.

OES HOSPITAL CIRCLE TO MEET

OES Hospital Circle, District 17, will meet Monday, April 1, at Dorst Hall, YMCA, 40 W. Long-st, for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon and 1:30 business meeting.

Martha Heckman, worthy matron of Evans Chapter, will serve as chaplain and Marilyn Rowley, worthy matron of Grove City Chapter, will be in charge of music.

Confederate Money Is Good Again!

Hartley Newspapers Confederate Money–That Is!

Here's How:

Yes, sir, Rebel currency is as good as any present day American money, that is if you are a reader of one of the Hartley Suburban Newspapers.

Each week one insignia like the number 5 at the right will be printed in one ad in some copy of one of the Hartley Newspapers. If your copy is the one, you merely bring or mail it to the office of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 West Broad St. not later than noon Monday following publication and you will be given a Hartley Newspaper $5 Confederate Bill.

But, if your are a paid in advance subscriber or regularly pay your newsboy, you will receive the Jackpot. During the first week of the contest the Jackpot will be worth $25. All unclaimed Confederate money offered each week will be added to the Jackpot the following week. This means that in all probability the jackpot will continue to grow each week until some lucky Hartley Newspaper subscriber cashes it in.

But Confederate money isn't worth anything you say. Not so with Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Money. Just take it to any store advertising in this 5 week's issue of a Hartley Newspaper and it can be spent just like any other currency. Hartley Newspapers in turn will redeem all such currency at full value when turned in by a Hartley Newspaper advertiser. Further details of the contest are explained on Page One of this week's Hartley Newspapers.

If you have been receiving a copy of any of the Hartley Newspapers each week from your carrier or by mail and have not paid your carrier or paid in advance for your mail subscription, you are not eligible to win the jackpot. So, call BR. 4-1155, ask for the Circulation Dept. and determine the status of your subscription right now.

★ KEPT BUSY WEDNESDAY WITH AREA MATTERS ★

City Planners To Study East Side Section

The Columbus Planning Commission was kept busy during regular session Wednesday morning with East Side matters, hold up again two long-standing items pending a staff study of the areas.

Mayor Ralston Westlake, chairman of the commission, revealed plans for a planning study of land generally east of Big Walnut Creek — a tract which contains two parcels where rezoning is desired.

They include three lots at the southeast corner of Zettler-rd and Bexvie-rd from surburban residential to commercial and various parcels and lots on the east side of McNaughten-rd north and south of Cherry Hill-dr from rural residential to restricted rural residential.

A commission spokesman said he expected reports of the study to come by the group's next regular meeting Apr. 24.

In other action:

• The commission denied a new petition request for rezoning of the Bertha H. Bates Livingston-av subdivision, except for a 75 by 200-foot parcel at the southeast corner located on the west side of Elaine-rd south of Livingston-av, from single family residential to apartment residential.

The commission decided that such rezoning would be "out of character" with the area.

• Approved rezoning of a 25 by 100-foot strip located at the northeast corner of Caldwell's Main-st addition on the east side of Elizabeth-av, south of the alley south of E. Main-st, from single family to private parking.

This is to provide parking for employes of Sports Car Forum, Inc., 3233 E. Main-st.

• Held up at the request of the petitioner, rezoning of a 90 by 100-foot parcel 150 feet north of the northwest corner of E. Livingston-av and Elizabeth-av. The original request was a switch from two-family residential to apartment-office.

• Approved rezoning of two Kensington Gardens addition lots located on both sides of Kellner-rd, adjacent and north of the first alley north of E. Main-st.

This is a switch from single family residential to two-family residential and provides for a duplex on each lot.

• Approved preliminary plat plans of Walnut Cliff subdivision, to be located west of Noe-Bixby-rd, between Broad and Main-sts.

• Approved a preliminary plat of a 25-acre tract for the Livingston Development Co. located south of Deshler-av, between Zettler and Courtright-rds.

DCT Class Members Tour Western Electric Plant

The Diversified Cooperative Training Class took a field trip to the Western Electric plant Thursday, Mar. 21.

Four WYHS Student Council members went to Ashland, Ky., to help reorganize the Ashland High School Student Council. They are Donna Finley, Mike Short, Roger Roberts, and Katie Trees. Mrs. Compton, dean of girls, will serve as consultant.

WYHS Student Council will sponsor a song fest featuring a well-known quartet of Roger Roberts, Gerry Ramsey, Mike Short, and Joe Hughes. This assembly will also include the induction of Tri-Hi-Y officers.

Donna Finley, Connie Walker, and Cheryl Welsch are WYHS representatives to the area council composed of representatives from student councils throughout Franklin County.

The area council will sponsor a Safety Week from Apr. 1-6. The main theme will be automobile safety.

Student Council reached its goal and collected over 500 dictionaries, Bibles, encyclopedias and other books to be sent to Mike Glatte, Whitehall grad in the Peace Corps in Ethiopia.

The Art Club is helping the band prepare for the Spring Concert and is planning a field trip to the Art Gallery.

All three language clubs are planning a language fair to be held late in the spring. The fair may include foreign dancing and singing.

WYHS Distributive Education Club members returned from the state convention with two out of 25 awards given the 73 participating schools.

Dick Schoaf and Dick Leffler both won third places. The WYHS group was the only school serving as hosts at the convention. The two-day gathering included election of state officers, five contests in areas of distributive education, and a dinner dance.

Take Luggage, Clothes From Car

The theft of nearly $900 in clothing and luggage from an automobile belonging to Paul Shaffer, 3309 Columbus-ct, was reported to city police Tuesday.

Shaffer told police that he and his wife were in the process of moving. The car was unlocked and unattended at the time of the robbery.

The investigation of the theft is being continued by city police.

David Folk

David Folk Receives Braille Wrist Watch

David Folk, 1011 Wagner-rd, was presented with a braille wrist watch donated by Ways and Means for the Blind, a nonprofit organization of Augusta, Ga. The presentation was made through the efforts of Stanley Doran, 619 W. Town-st, director of training at Pilot Dogs, Inc., 625 W. Town-st, Columbus.

But David's real hopes are that someday he will be able to put the watch on the shelf.

David, now 25 years old, was blinded nine months ago when cleaning water was accidentally splashed in his face. Because of the chemicals in the water, he lost his sight.

David, whose father died in 1955, lives with his mother on a small farm where they own about 40 head of sheep. Breeding and selling wool and lambs is their only income at present. David carries the water and does the heavy work around the farm, while his mother, acting as his eyes, leads him about.

David is presently living on the hope that a series of operations can restore his sight. David said that doctors have told him that it would take at least two operations, but his main concern is that he has no funds and has had no income since June.

He has applied to the Division of Service for the Blind, a program of the State Department of Public Welfare, for their rehabilitation schooling, which teaches trades for the blind to be self-supporting. However, he has not heard the results of a series of tests he has taken. David said that he has also applied for social security, but has heard nothing from that source either.

Mrs. Virginia Davis, Gahanna, a representative of the Division of Service for the Blind, said that David's physical examination had just been returned and that he would be receiving a doctor's appointment within a month.

She added that David's application for the rehabilitation program is dependent upon the outcome of his operations. David's tests had indicated he had an aptitude for both the mechanics and the farming instruction programs.

Mrs. Davis explained that applicants can learn to read braille and receive their aptitude instruction through a home teacher, a free service of the division. The mobile instructors go out into the home and teach the subjects that include personal and home adjustment instructions.

Stanley Doran explained that he had known David's mother for many years, that Mrs. Folk had called him regarding David. He directed her to the state services for the blind and had applied for the watch, which can add greatly to David's feeling of independence.

Doran explained that the wristwatch presented to David looks like a regular watch at first glance, but by pressing a catch on the side, the crystal springs open. A series of dots on the face indicate the location of the numbers so that by feeling one can determine the time of day.

Doran also said that the Ways and Means for the Blind organization make collections on a nationwide basis. Through their collections, they have grants for watches, braille writers, typewriters and radios.

They also provide a large tape library composed of tape-ed recording of reading from good books and even textbooks of specialized material for studying purposes. Any worthy applicant can use the services of this organization.

David said that although he can not read braille as yet, he has caught on rapidly in using the watch and "appreciates it very much."

Two Men Rob Motel

Two men, one wearing a woman's stocking for a mask, held up the Forty-Winks Motel Tuesday, Mar. 19, police reported. They escaped with less than $100.

John Green, Gahanna, the night clerk, reported the two men asked directions to the office after entering the cocktail lounge.

One man put on the mask and entered the office. The other remained outside while the masked bandit pointed a revolver at the clerk and demanded the cash.

Police later reported they had found one man's hat and some of the cash the robbers had dropped.

Apparent Low Bidder For Road Project

Apparent low bidder to improve a section of Courtright-rd, between Livingston and Deshler is Thompson-Conie Co., 1340 Windsor-av. The bid totaled $130,205, according to Columbus Service Director Ernest Stork.

The E. P. Cody Co., 960 Barnett-rd, is the apparent low bidder for a second project for the widening of Cleveland-av from Briarwood to Aberdeen-av. The project bid was for $25,582.

The General Agreement on Tariff and Trade Program (GATT) is an international agreement by which the countries adjust their tariff rates so as to end discrimination in trade between the participating countries.

Whitehall Civil Air Cadets Don Uniforms

LOOKS A BIT LIKE AIRFORCE GARB

Cadets of Whitehall's Civil Air Patrol Squadron this week donned their official uniforms for the first time.

With the exception of certain Civil Air Patrol insignia, the uniform is the same one which the U.S. Air Force wears.

This week the squadron also received results from national headquarters of recently taken tests. Those cadets taking and passing Introduction to Aerospace, the first of the Civil Air Patrol aerospace books, include the following:

Also taking and successfully completing the Phase I basic training were James Schafhausen, John Lewis, Judd Moore, George Hivick, John Schafhausen, Albert Gausepohl and Charles Moore.

In addition, John Rowley completed the more advanced training on aircraft in flight and Raymond Bull completed training on power for aircraft and problems of aerospace.

In the coming weeks the cadets who completed Phase I will begin studying introduction to aerospace and those who have already passed this course will be studying the principles of aircraft in flight.

This past Sunday, Whitehall First Lieutenant Harlan Horne, squadron commander, and Information Officer Alan Patterson went to Ohio Wesleyan University to attend the annual Ohio Wing Spring Conference.

At the conference, discussion and planning meetings were held on communications, operations, wing headquarters and summer encampment.

Of most interest to the personnel of the Whitehall Squadron was the summer encampment discussion, where it was announced that the summer encampment will be held at Wright-Patterson AFB Dayton, O., from Aug. 24 to Sept. 1.

Clothing requirements, training schedules and other problems of the cadets were of major importance and interest.

It was also announced that the annual Ohio Wing drill competition will be held on Apr. 6 at Don Scott Field near Columbus.

At the annual drill competition, all civil air patrol drill teams in Ohio will compete for wing honors. From there the winner will go to national competition at Denver, Colorado, where they will compete against the winners from the other 51 wings for national drilling honors.

Strange Purple Birds Bring Fame To Sam Glines, Conservationist

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Last summer, Sam Glines, 607 S. Fifth-st, made ornithological history when he discovered a nesting pair of purple gallinules at Baumgartner's Pond, a lake owned by the Southeast Conservation Club. While this finding did not push Cuba off the front pages, it was widely reported in the press and caused a minor sensation among bird watchers. Now it will be official world-wide, for The Auk, a technical periodical that keeps birders informed as to what birds are doing, has accepted an article coauthored by Glines.

"It is the most fantastic thing that has happened in the 40 years I've been studying Ohio birds," exclaimed Dr. Milton B. Trautman, curator of vertebrate collections, Ohio State Museum. Trautman helped identify the birds and nest and wrote the article with Glines. Eugene Knoder, of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, was the other official witness.

Now, why all the fuss? How could a couple of marsh-dwelling birds that look something like a coot that got mixed up in some Easter egg dye cause such excitement? The purple gallinule is a strikingly beautiful bird that is quite rare in Ohio. It is purple, and that alone is something. But its normal range is the Gulf states and the southern East Coast. On those occasions when one has been seen in Ohio, it was thought to be lost, perhaps windblown far out of its usual territory.

The two romantic and enterprising gallinules at Baumgartner's Pond sort of blasted the "lost" theory. This definitely was the first authenticated nesting record for the state, and is hundreds of miles farther north than any other record. But the odds that a male and female would get blown off course, or became lost in a storm, would end their journey at a tiny pothole lake, find each other, build a nest, lay seven eggs, and hatch out seven young, are just too great for the bird students to swallow.

Sam Glines' discovery enlarged the sporadic range of the purple gallinule by several states. Many ornithologists would work a lifetime for such modest fame. Who says there is no adventure or no frontiers in the outdoors of today?

If you could predict such happenings, you might expect such a discovery from Sam Glines. He is a sportsman and conservationist who finds his work and enjoyment at home rather than traveling great distances. Sam traps squirrels in the city and releases them on farms. He has conducted a rabbit trapping and tagging project for the Southeast Club for a number of years. Winter feeding stations are maintained at the clubground by Sam and others. He and Bob White, another active club member, have supervised the building and erecting of wood duck nesting boxes. Sam Glines has more outdoor adventure in Franklin County and adjacent areas than any other man I know.

Truly, the outdoors is at your doorstep. In your backyard are more miracles and mysteries than you can imagine. So it is not surprising when someone like Sam makes a discovery that shakes the ornithological world to the tips of its wings. He sees something new almost every day, which is a lot more than television watchers can claim. And who knows when he will see something new to everyone in the world?

The "big find" is not what calls Sam Glines outdoors, however. He began when he did not even know what a purple gallinule was. Sam goes out to band wood ducks and to see if any he banded last year have returned. He spends spare hours in the cattails watching bitterns and bullfrogs, redwings and rails. The gallinules came along as a bonus.

Exchange Club Sponsors Freedom Editorial Contest

High school students from the Metropolitan Columbus area, including public and parochial schools, are asked to participate in the second annual Freedom Shrine Editorial Contest, according to Mit R. White, president of the Exchange Club of Columbus, local sponsors of the contest.

Interested high school students are asked to contact their journalism teachers and the editor of their high school newspaper or high school bulletin for details and contest rules.

Editorials must be published in the high school paper and have a publication date between Feb. 1 and Apr. 10, to be eligible for the contest.

The main theme of the contest, as sponsored by the Exchange Club of Columbus will be "Our Duties and Freedom as Citizens" based on the Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence.

Winning students will receive a plaque, inscribed with their name, for display in their high school. They will also be eligible for the national competition. As local winners their editorial may be used on a Columbus television station.

To the high school a Freedom Shrine Award consists of a 50-star flag and 28 plaques. These plaques are authentic reproductions of our national heritage documents in their original form.

The Exchange Club, both nationally and locally, according to Joseph A. Favret, 5977 Endicott-rd, chairman of the committee and a national district governor for Exchange Clubs, is endeavoring to present graphically the positive answer to Communism and any other un-American idealogy that may threaten our free way of life.

Kiwanis Again Honored With Freedom Award

Kiwanis International received top recognition in the Americana, General, Division of the recent Freedoms Foundation Awards contest, local clubs have learned.

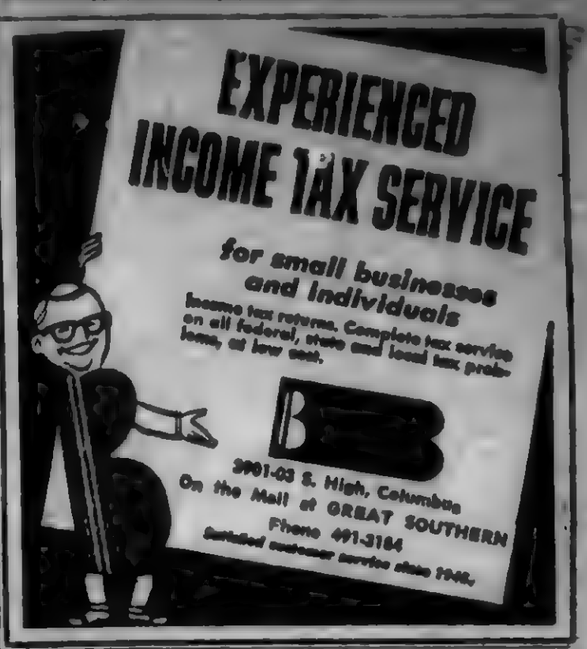
The award is the 13th that Kiwanis has received. It came for "Kiwanis' battery of programs conducted at grass roots level, promoting better understanding of, and participation in, the fundamental freedoms upon which our free constitutional government is based." Special note was made of Kiwanis' four-year-old Citizenship Quotient program, by means of which citizens are encouraged to rate themselves as citizens.

Red Cross Will Train Volunteer Motor Drivers

Red Cross needs volunteers to serve as motor service drivers. They will be trained to provide safe, efficient transportation for Red Cross and other community programs.

They serve principally in the blood program using chapter vehicles to deliver blood to hospitals in Franklin County and the other 22 counties served by the program.

Three shifts of drivers are needed for city runs Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. County runs are made Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with round trips averaging 140 to 220 miles. Qualifications are good health and a valid Ohio operator's license.



Anyone who can spare a few hours every week or two may call Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross at CL. 3-8511.

Pupils Finishing Science Report

The second phase of the Tuberculosis Society's TB-RD spring science report contest is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Mar. 30, at society headquarters when the high school participants will have a chance to "question the experts."

The following area high schools are already registered: Columbus School for Girls, Eastmoor High, Walnut Ridge, St. Mary's of the Springs Academy, St. Joseph Academy, Franklin Heights, Reynoldsburg, Bishop Ready and Bishop Hartley.

The TB Society will present token awards to individuals and certificates of merit to schools whose students place among the top 10 award winners.

ON THE EASEL in Mrs. Dennis Murray-Gawne's home are two of her paintings. The upper one shows a London lamplighter, painted from memories of her childhood in England. Below is an impressionistic work of the artist.

DON'T HIDE YOUR TALENT, IRENE!

By JANE ROBINSON

What is refreshing, packed with pep, British and begins with "T"?

You are wrong.

It is the big talent which Irene Murray-Gawne, English but certainly not all wool and a yard-wide import, brought with her.

The Clintonville artist has a backlog of more than 300 oils and watercolors waiting for critical acclaim.

Mrs. Murray-Gawne gives more excuses for not showing her work than Maria Callas does for canceling a performance.

She contends her technique isn't perfected, that she isn't feeling top-notch, that no agents are available in Columbus and that her trip to Europe this summer will inspire her further by its atmosphere.

That all may be quite true, but the fact remains that this gifted woman is so engrossed in creating beauty that the mundane task of selling it bores her.

Yet, almost "under wraps" she is hiding a talent that once exposed, will certainly cause more than a ripple in the art world.

The few who have had the opportunity to purchase her art, and critics who have judged her work are all inclined to believe a terrific splash will greet her first show.

Name a form of art, and it's right up Irene's street.

Before she left her native soil 10 years ago she was the creator of "In London With Irene" a glamour-girl type of comic strip appearing in English papers.

The fashion sketches she does with such ease have been compared to those of the most famous of the French magazine illustrators.

She is equally at home with oils and water colors, and her figure work and still life are as charming as her landscapes.

Admiting that portraits are a lucrative field, Mrs. Murray-Gawne feels that it is just "not her cup of tea."

"I must paint people as I see them and then they won't be happy," she claims.

The rankest amateur cannot fail to see the subtlety and harmony in her use of color. Though not afraid of vivid contrast, she blends as skillfully as Jack Frost in the autumn woods.

Her extreme versatility has kept her from settling on any one style, though her husband Dennis believes that she leans toward the impressionistic school.

Yet her realistic paintings are as pleasing to the eye jaundiced by surrealism, cubism and too many other modern art isms as cool water.

Other marks of her skill are her remarkable sense of composition and the speed with which she works.

"When I was at the Toronto School of Art I usually could finish several sketches in the time allowed for one," she recalled, adding that tedium usually is not part of a good painter's repertory.

Endowed with both an active imagination and an excellent memory, Irene is never without a subject to paint.

"The streets of London during my childhood, my husband's beautiful home on the Isle of Man, the little shops of Wales—I paint them all from memory," she said, but was soon back to her proposed European jaunt.

Though she looks first to taking her children Jean and Christopher to see their grandparents in the British Isles, Italy, France, and Spain are all on her agenda.

"And I simply must see China!" she enthused, finally ruefully admitting that something would have to give, since she only plans to be gone about six weeks

Before leaving she wants to resume the spring classes in landscape she held last year for amateur artists in the Columbus area who enjoying working with a "pro."

At least in that class, a few more persons will come to know her work, and who knows—one may finally persuade her to lay down her brush and palette long enough this fall to get ready for a show.

Boy Scout News

By CARL JAPIKSE

The White Oaks District held its second annual kite flying contest on Saturday afternoon at Lockbourne AFB.

A total of 399 boys from 16 different packs throughout the district participated in the event. These packs were 78, 103, 167, 124, 166, 195, 274, 279, 287, 288, 362, 367, 369, 373, 421 and 424.

The prize for the most original kite was won by Cub Scout Reese of Pack 107. His entry was called "The Chinaman" and was of Chinese design.

Winning the prize for the smallest kite that flew was Cub Scout Brown of Pack 195. His kite had a total perimeter of only three and one-half inches. Pack 195 also won the prize for the pack with the best participation as a unit.

The judges for the event were Mrs. Hell and Mrs. Fleck of the Woman's Reserve of the Boy Scouts of America, and Don Cook, activities chairman for the district. Pack 107 of Lockbourne was the host pack for the event.

Two troops in the White Oaks District recently toured the Morris Road Filtration Plant in connection with public health merit badges. Explorer Post 370, sponsored by St. Philip the Apostle, toured the plant on Friday, Mar. 8. On Monday, Mar. 11, Troop 166, sponsored by Bexley Methodist Church took the tour.

NEW FRIEND FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

A NEW PHYSICAL therapist recently joined the staff of the Treatment Center of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children. She is Mrs. Richard Hauenstein, 755 Steizer-rd. Mrs. Hauenstein was previously a physical therapist at Mt. Carmel Hospital and is a 1961 graduate of Ohio State University with a BS in physical therapy. Her home town is Orrville, and she joins the professional staff at the center in giving care and treatment to local crippled children. Julia Hurst, 1441 Manchester-av, is pictured with the new therapist.

Conference Set For Speech And Hearing Association

The Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Association will host the annual conference of the Ohio Speech and Hearing Association to be held this Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, at Nationwide Inn. Approximately 200 persons working in the area of speech and hearing and its allied professions are expected.

The section meetings are open to the public. Registrations for non-members will be $1. Friday meetings will cover current Ohio area research, adult aphasia, rehabilitation, parent programs and in-service training programs for teachers.

Guest speaker for the association's annual banquet for members Friday evening will be Crayton Walker, executive director of the American Hearing Society. A former resident of Bexley, Walker has been president of the American Hearing Society since 1955. He is chairman of the Commission on Speech and Hearing Problems of the International Society for the Rehabilitation of the Disabled, will speak on the group's international convention in Copenhagen in June, 1963.

There will also be a musical interlude at the banquet featuring selections by the Symphonic Choir of Pleasant View High School.

Two physicans will discuss the problems of the rehabilitation of persons with cleft palate and organic voice pathology.

There will also be a meeting on hearing, including a discussion of the latest research in binaural hearing plus a description of the Ohio Department of Health's Pediatric-Otological-Diagnostic clinics.

Members of the Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Association assisting with arrangements for the two-day event are George D. Davis, director of the Hearing and Speech Center, Columbus; Robert Stimpert, clinic supervisor of the Hearing and Speech Center; Dr. Harold Edmondson, associate professor of speech, Capital University; Mrs. Rohe F. Helm, speech therapist, Franklin County Society for Crippled Children, Inc.; Miss Gertrude Bernstein, hearing aid consultant, Ohio Dept. of Health; and Mrs. Walter Steur, speech therapist, South-Western City Schools.

Easter Show At Conservatory

Bright, many-colored Cinerarias will be in full bloom for Easter Show at the Franklin Park Conservatory. These hot-house plants were brought from the Canary Islands many years ago and were seen in profusion at the recent Flower and Garden Show.

The Easter Show will start on Palm Sunday, Apr. 7, and continue through Easter. The conservatory will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on weekends, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. through the week.

The "Cross of Lilies" will be in place for the opening on Palm Sunday. On Good Friday, the displays will be supplemented by flower arrangements provided by the Florists Guild.

For the Cross, some 400 lilies are being forced into multiple bloom. A new design will utilize other colorful plants to surround and emphasize the Cross.

Other flowers that will be in gay bloom for the exhibit will be amaryilis, azaleas, hydrangia, tulips, daffodils and hyacinths.

The Food for Peace Program is designed to help feed hungry people, promote economic development, encourage agricultural production, and supplement financial aid.

Folk Dancers Hold Course

The Columbus Folk Dancers will hold a ten-week intermediate course in folk dancing beginning next Tuesday, Apr. 2, at Whetstone Recreation Center. The course will feature dances from many lands and is open to anyone who has attended a beginning folk dance class or who has had some previous dancing experience. The sessions will begin at 8 p.m.

Cost is $3 per person. This is a fine opportunity to learn more about folk dancing or to brush up on styling or steps. It is not necessary to come as a couple.

For further information call Miss Margaret Schwab, 1505 Miller-av, HI. 3-1822.

Jewish Center LL Registration Set For Sunday

Registration for the Jewish Center's Junior Jet and Little League baseball program will be held Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Jewish Center members ages 8 and 9 entering the third and fourth grades are eligible for the Junior Jet program. Little League includes Jewish Center members ages 10, 11 and 12, entering the 5th, 6th and 7th grades. The registration fee is $5.00.

No phone registrations will be taken on Sunday. The boys' baseball chairman, Irv Barkan, urges early registration for those planning to play in the baseball program this summer.

Berwick Plaza Lanes Set To Open Sept. 1

General Manager Jim Alexander of the Berwick Plaza Lanes announced last week that the new lanes, now under construction, will be ready for bowling Sept. 1.

Berwick Plaza Lanes, located on College-av, three miles south of Livingston-av, will house 40 lanes, snack bar and restaurant, a billiard room and pro shop.

The league bowling set-up at Berwick Plaza will feature women's daytime leagues, women's handicap and scratch leagues, mixed, men's handicap and scratch leagues and a complete junior bowling program with instructions for the youngsters.

BIRTHDAYS, BIRTH, ADD UP TO BIG DAY . . .

If people really do have "red letter days," Thursday, Mar. 21, was the one for Ray and Dorothy Miller, 4242 Colby-av.

It was that day that they celebrated their 48th and 49th birthdays, and it was also that day that their daughter, Carol Gage (now in Lakewood, Calif.) presented them with their first grandchild—a 6-pound, 10-ounce girl.

The Millers are formerly of 1104 Whittier-st. Carol and husband, Paul, were both graduated from South High and later from Ohio State University.

City Offers Free Pickup For Clean-up

Columbus citizens will be permitted to dump trash free of charge at the city's Frank Road Landfill dump during the Clean-Up Week, Apr. 19 through 27, according to Arthur J. Bellar, superintendent of the Division of Sanitation.

The Frank-rd dump will be open for public use from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day of the week long campaign.

City trucks and crews will be available for hauling heavy or bulky items such as davenports, mattresses or bed springs all during the clean-up campaign. Pick up can be arranged by calling City Hall, CA. 1-2211, Ext. 328.

Bellar emphasized that all refuse to be picked up must be placed at regular curbside or alley pickup stations. He requested that small trash be placed in receptacles of 30 gallons which will be picked up and hauled away.

Astronaut Scott Carpenter says: "If your eyesight is good, if you can keep in condition and generally if you can stand the gaff, there's no reason why an astronaut wouldn't be able to fly at 50."

Being Held

Mrs. Delores Russell, 670 Sunbury-rd, was held this week in City Prison for investigation of contributing to the neglect of her three children who perished when fire swept their East Side home.

Jan. 5, 1952, the U.S. signed an agreement providing $5 million dollars for technical economic assistance to India.

Let's Open Our Eyes To Juvenile Delinquency

Last week in one of our papers we carried a story of nine Hilltop juveniles involved in delinquent behavior. Offenses ranged from drinking parties, petty thievery and auto theft to check forgery, larceny and illicit relations.

It was not the type of story we would choose to print if we thought we really had a choice.

Certainly we are not unaware of the heartbreak, remorse and shame that are integral parts of such a story.

Our purpose in using the story can probably best be illustrated by relating an experience of a little four-year-old girl of our acquaintance. We shall call her Peggy.

She proved rather unresponsive, one day, to several admonitions from her mother about hopping out of bed while she was supposed to be taking her nap. Finally Mom decided that the situation called for something more than mere verbal instructions.

As Mother advanced into the bedroom, little Peggy dived under the covers and informed: "I close my eyes, Mommy, so you can't see me."

This simple, childish act solved the problem for Peggy. Mother was too much amused to administer justice.

Unfortunately, too many adults seem willing to use the same childish approach to a real and serious problem; unrestrained, unguided and delinquent youth.

We do not propose to solve the problem simply by reporting incidents and spotlighting areas of juvenile misdeeds. We do believe, however, that control of the problem calls for utilization of many tools from many sources.

We have tried (too long, perhaps) the technique of closing our eyes. Let's resolve, instead, to open our eyes — and our minds — in a continuing quest for answers.

What has been our attitude as a society? Basically, it has been this: The law enforcement people are too hard; the juvenile courts, too soft; the professional social workers, "do-goodars;" the parents, picked on; the troublesome youths, misunderstood; and the situation, hopeless.

To the above list we might add a more legitimate complaint; the newspapers, too silent.

We have been silent in the name of charity, in the name of patience and in the name of hope.

Now we are going to operate on the theory that "It is better to light a candle than curse the darkness."

We do not propose to do a complete about-face. We do propose to chart and sail an intermediate course. We will report, in as much detail as is necessary, specific incidents of juvenile crime. We will pinpoint areas. We will exercise our right to use names of both adults and juveniles when we feel that the situation warrants such action.

It may be that people in the quiet, home-owner, residential sections will be shocked to learn that juvenile delinquency is not confined to the blighted areas, the slums and the so-called underprivileged.

It may be that parents will give more serious thought to their personal responsibilities when they can no longer hide behind the cloak of anonymity offered in the name of protection of their offspring.

Many will agree with our position; probably, just as many will not. We may never know which group is right.

We will light our candle — and we will hope.

Council Praised

(Copy of letter to Mrs. Golda Mae Edmonston, president of Columbus City Council).

This organization desires to commend you and the other members of City Council for your action several weeks ago in passing the ordinance requiring licensing of retailers selling goods produced or manufactured in Communist controlled countries.

We feel that this will be of material benefit to the local consumer in permitting him to identify such merchandise at the time of purchase and to make his choice according to his own conscience and beliefs.

The City of Columbus is indeed fortunate in having persons of your courage and ability serving and representing our people.

Farm Wife Writes

To The Editor:

(Copy of letter to Columnist John McPeek).

I am a farmer's wife who wishes to take issue with you on your Mar. 14 column about insecticides.

Since you stated that the articles you read disputing Miss Carson's book "Silent Spring" contained "no facts or contentions that merit serious attention" I am enclosing an article from a recent Ohio Farmer (Mar. 2, 1963), which I would like you to read. I think it is very sensible.

The author, Mr. Rings, is an etomologist, who I am sure has spent more than four and one-half years studying this problem as has Miss Carson. He should also be reasonably unbiased since he doesn't represent a chemical company, but a government agency devoted to finding out things to benefit all of us.

Of course, if Miss Carson is right, we had better hurriedly call back all of the Peace Corps members. They have been sent to places like India to teach the people new methods, and about insecticides to help them raise enough foods to feed their starving people.

Actually, I suppose there are cases where people might have been poisoned by insecticides, but how many children have died from an overdose of aspirin? And, yet, who would give up aspirin? Many people have died from "acute alcoholism" so why don't you try to prevent reckless, if not criminal use of alcohol? or tobacco? (Hopeless tasks?).

I never wrote a letter to the editor before in my life but I feel very strongly about this. I am not defending the reckless use of chemicals, but not to use them at all would be unreasonable.

Another Survey . . . Costing $35,000 . . . And For What?

Completion of the Sawvel water report is proof again that the "short-cut-home" theory usually makes for a longer and more costly trip.

The all-solving rate formula — the very heart and purpose of the report — has justly received a "no confidence" vote from the Development Committee for Greater Columbus.

The committee evaluation of the report said in part:

"Since actual "cost-of-service" figures were not provided by this study, it is not possible for the Development Committee to endorse the revised rates proposed by Mr. Sawvel."

In other words, the Development Committee would like to see a rate schedule based on proven needs.

We must know the specifics on what service costs, by area and by classification. This must be balanced against sources and amounts of revenue, and administrative expenditures. Only when we know the specifics in all areas of water needs can we devise an equitable rate formula.

When the Sawvel report was authorized by an ordinance passed by Columbus City Council on Oct. 2, 1961, there was a clear understanding of the basic problem; revenues accruing to the Water Division were not sufficient to meet the then-present and anticipated future water needs of the Greater Columbus area.

Now, more than 16 months later, the report is ready for action by Columbus officials. The conclusion of the report? Revenues accruing to the Water Division are not sufficient to meet present and anticipated future needs of the Greater Columbus area.

For this the City of Columbus paid $35,000!

True, the report proposes a plan to secure the necessary revenues, and a rather "simple" plan at that. You simply determine your money "wants," and then jack up the price for industrial users and those individual users who live outside the Columbus corporation limits.

We dare say that this same formula could have been prepared for the City of Columbus by any small group of resident homeowners who had no business or industrial interests. And at considerably less cost than $35,000.

It seems that Columbus officials have taken a leaf from the federal policy of "managed news" by presenting to the people a "managed" consultant's report.

City officials supplied "instructions" rather than information to the Sawvel firm. This was not a case of the city seeking a consultant to advise on a specific problem. It was, rather, a case of using an intermediary to carry to the public a report to substantiate a pre-conceived conclusion.

LOTSA TALK . . . NO ACTION

Consequently, we are handed a carefully planned election issue. The emphasis has been shifted (as apparently planned) from seeking a realistic solution, to the building of a "champion" for the "low income bracket."

Columbus cannot win as a community if such a shortsighted approach to a long-range problem is allowed to persist. Columbus still remains the best hope of surrounding communities for establishment of an integrated water system that will provide the best service at the fairest cost. But we must have the cooperation of all communities affected — and cooperation is a two-way street.

Faith Provides Power Non-Believers Lack

". . . without faith it is impossible to please God: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." Hebrews 11:6.

A man of faith is a victorious person. The soul does not know any defeats. The sainted S. A. Keene says, "The soul that is full of faith never becomes confounded by unconscious dependence upon apparent encouragement." Neither will discouragement dismay. Opposition, adversities, difficulties, do not enter into its calculation; it believes fully that all things are possible. The fact is that a soul full of faith cannot be discouraged, because it knows it shall not be disappointed. It shouts for what is to be done even when human appearance denotes that there is no hope of success.

Rev. Whipple

It says: "We are fully able to go up" even though the rabble of unbelief clamor. Faith has a sunlit pathway. You often hear people say, "I am in darkness, but I am walking by faith." True faith is not such, it is a cloudless way, a joyous way. The way that is cloudcast and doubt-strewn is the way of sight. The fulness of faith is a vision of the soul, where its eye sweeps the horizons of time and eternity."

Faith is an inward power by which we grasp an unseen possibility. It is the hand of the heart. It is the grasp of the soul upon a Divine person, upon truth that reaches out of darkness and in the unseen, and takes hold of things that do not yet appear.

Faith is also the power to see things. It is the eye of the heart. Faith has the power to discern things that unbelievers do not see. Faith sees through things. It sees through mountains and difficulties and discerns God, His Word, His promises, and eternal things that are out of sight. The man of faith has a magnifying glass in his soul and a telescope in his heart and sees farther and deeper down than any other man in the world.

Faith brings things to pass. It plans largely. It counts on a mighty God for great things. It laughs at impossibilities and cries "It shall be done." Real faith will do anything that is consistent with the will of God. It will detain an angel until he leaves a blessing. "All things," said Jesus, "are possible to him that believeth." What things? Finance, health, happiness, and everything that is needed for a well rounded Christian life.

Faith brings a sense of rest. A believing soul is a restful soul. Worry, fret, and doubt have no place in its life.

Lastly, if your faith is strong and sound, God will pull you through mountains of difficulties. Faith is like a cable. If you can stand the pull, God will bring you through the most trying situations of life.

At Last! A Plan To Abolish Pigeons

Until recently I was a neutral in the Great Pigeon Ruckus.

McPeek

Now I am anti-pigeon — almost violently so. But because of my chicken instincts, I cannot take an active combat role among the anti-pigeon forces.

However, I would like to offer a couple of suggestions that possibly could bring them a great coop d'tat and restore dignity to our statues.

Before doing so, perhaps I had best explain my sudden anti-bird partisanship. I was converted by a message from the sky, a fowl message that arrived in a most embarrassing manner — smack on my head at high noon on a downtown street.

Needless to say, anyone who has suffered such an indignity immediately regrets that Noah provided passage on his ark for such rude birds; and, if given the power, would order all of the vulgar creatures grounded for eternity.

As to my suggestions to rid the area of pigeons, the first plan, frankly calls for deceit. But, as in any war, deceit often is the greatest part of victory. And valor is for the birds, if you can win.

The core of the plan is imbedded in history. For centuries man (sporting variety) has used pigeons as racing birds. Even today pigeon racing is the national sport in Belgium, where it is said that the pigeon fanciers would choose their birds rather than their wives if the choice had to be made. (Come to think of it, that may not be as coo-coo as it first seems).

The first thing we must do is insult the city of Cincinnati. Inasmuch as most Cincinnatians are still smarting from former Governor DiSalle's tactless remarks two years ago when Ohio State played the University of Cincinnati for the NCAA basketball title, this shouldn't be difficult. By renewing some old snide aspersions against U. of C. athletic teams, supported with fresh insults against Ruth Lyons, (that should serve as a start), we should have them returning insults in jig time.

When the exchange reaches the proper degree of heat, we should then challenge them to a mass pigeon race. Because they also are plagued with a big problem, they undoubtedly will jump at the bait.

Then both cities must collect all of their pigeons. This we can easily do by setting giant traps baited with peanuts and popcorn on the statehouse lawn.

When the trapped pigeons have been transferred to starting points in the opposite cities, we then must hurriedly conceal all of Columbus' statues with surplus army camouflage materials. Naturally, when the birds come zooming home and are unable to recognize their old familiar vertical restrooms, they will become confused and probably sweep on until they hit Cleveland or Akron, where it is quite likely they would quit in disgust and take up new residence.

If by chance some of the birds should see through our ruse and straggle back, we could throw the second plan into operation.

It is possible we could even get federal aid on this plan because it involves urban renewal. Briefly, we should salvage all of the eaves from buildings demolished in urban renewal projects.

After these are collected we could select a site in a far corner of the county and erect them on discarded telephone poles. Because the eaves have for many years been home for the pigeons it is likely the birds, certainly most of the older ones, would follow. To add a homey touch we could erect a few cheap cement statues and install a battery of auto horns.

To make sure that the birds would stay there, we could advertise it nationwide as America's most exclusive bird sanctuary. This would attract bird-watchers and members of the Audubon Society from far and wide.

Knowing them, they eagerly would pay generous admission fees with which we could buy popcorn and peanuts to feed the birds, thus insuring that they would stay put.

(Upon rereading the foregoing, I am almost convinced that I have never been quite myself since suffering that pigeon-rendered blow on my head. I wonder — could I have grounds for a suit against the city?)

SOMETHING NEW

After more than six years at 280 E. Broad-st, (Old Memorial Hall), the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center moved the week of Mar. 11 to its new building at 275 McDowell-st. Mrs. James L. Fowler is its director and Merton Berrie its president.

The new center is modern in every respect. The largest room is a 500-seat auditorium with a stage and movable, comfortable chairs. A kitchen and adjoining dining room serve daily needs. Other rooms are for music, cards, offices, supplies, and classes in poetry, ceramics, painting, music, dancing, leathercraft, and woodcarving. Good books are welcome for the library.

The Seniors have had 14 annual hobby shows and several selling marts, some of the latter at the Art Gallery. These have attracted a wide interest from the public.

Ward H. Lee edits the monthly Senior Center News with schedules of classes and events. Walter Green, assisted by other members of the Columbus Writers' Club, edits the center's quarterly magazine "Eventide." He will head the center's dedication and open house program May 11.

The center has 1123 members. It is one of several under the Columbus Recreation Department. Still others are sponsored in various places by business, churches, and community organizations. There are at least 81 in Franklin County.

Ten volunteers act as hostesses, all members, serving the needs of visitors and other members.

The center is near a new apartment building for Seniors where 188 low-cost units will be ready for occupancy in May.

It says here . . . . . Calendars are for those under 60.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Every conceivable trick has been tried for many years by venal politicians of both major parties, and by radical labor racketeers and monopoly-minded big business to repeal the law of "supply and demand." They have succeeded to the point that many of our vitally important day-by-day needs are under complete management of labor or big business.

The one thing that really works for the greatest good of the largest number is a genuinely free market competition in these United States. Very little real competition is left except in the areas of small neighborhood stores dealing mostly in day-by-day commodities, such as food and clothing.

Socialism is pretending to serve the common man and create for him a "tailor made heaven" by managing every aspect of his life from the cradle to the grave. That is the biggest fake on earth and more and more people are getting wised up to what collectivism is really doing to them.

More and more taxes are extracted a thousand ways from long-suffering Joe Doakes and he continues to vote for pie in the sky and something for free. Men get elected to office by exploiting this bunk and then fail utterly to do anything but pass more laws that bind all the tighter the common masses of the people.

The once-legitimate labor movement has become a vicious and monopolistic dues-collecting racket and the time is about gone when free men can seek and find unregulated employment. This is a basic disease on our body-politic now and if it is played out to the bitter end by politicians who are solely interested in "getting elected" the time will come when the end result is "equalitarian destitution" as the late and great Grove Paterson named it.

One of the oldest and soundest laws of prime economics is the voluntary velocity of money by the individual who has judgment and good management. Millions are still doing that despite the growing army of public payroll subsisters. But, all of this present day management of everything by an army of theorists who never built or ran a successful business in their lives cuts the very heart out of the way of life that made this country great.

Home Show Will Feature Full-Size Patio and Pool

A special feature of the 1963 Home Show, opening Saturday (Mar. 30) in the Buckeye Building (Ohio State Fairgrounds), will be a huge garden patio and swimming pool area.

The full-size, 18x36-foot pool, will be surrounded by a lovely patio with flowers, shrubs and trees in full bloom. Style shows will be held in the patio each day.

Over 300 exhibit spaces will be filled with hundreds of new ideas for the home, offering Central Ohioans their only chance to compare styles, quality and price under one roof.

Show hours are Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 10 p.m., and Monday through Friday, 5 to 10 p.m. This is the 31st year of the Home Show's sponsorship by the Builders Exchange of Columbus.

Who Says 'Hot Rods' Are For Kids? Better Re-Check

It's a funny thing, but I'd be willing to bet a set of spinner hub caps that there are more people who cringe at the words "hot rod" than not.

All derogatory connotations, however, should be fairly well expelled in the upcoming Sixth Annual Custom Car Show slated for the Youth Center, Ohio State Fairgrounds, Mar. 29, 30 and 31.

If nothing else, local residents may learn that the term "hot rod," popularly used to denote today's teenagers' souped-up cars, is just not what it implies.

In fact, a so-called "hot rod"—correctly and technically—is any individually designed and built vehicle or one that has been revamped and entirely restyled.

It is the end product of a dedicated hobbiest.

Seldom seen on the streets, these automotive wonders sport such special features as jet engines, fur-lined interiors and exteriors, TV, running hot and cold water, the finest hand tailored leather upholstery and other unique details.

The big show is being sponsored by the Columbus Trotters Hot Rod Club and will run from 5 p.m. to midnight on Friday, 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

More than 100 vehicles from a 13-state area will compete for trophies and special awards in this National Hot Rod sanctioned event. A custom model car race will highlight Saturday's activities.

Continuous films of the world's greatest auto races (Daytona, Sebring, LeMans and NHRA National Drag Races) will be shown. Accommodations for those wishing to stay for the entire three days will be available in Youth Center dorms.

Many of the cars are valued as highly as $100,000. One to be sure and see is an auto with a collapsible center. Upon impact it compresses like an accordion and then re-adjusts to contour.

A portion of the show's proceeds (tickets available at the door) will be given to Boys' Clubs organizations.

Hartley Newspaper area residents participating in the event include:

Quickies . . .

The recent popularity of Key Clubs prompted WLW-C's Jack Denton to comment recently, "Why doesn't someone start a combination lock club?"

It's probably not news anymore that talented WBNS radio newsman Willis Teague broke into the Saturday Evening Post recently with his story on OSU swimming coach Mike Peppe.

What might be news is the fact that it's not stopping here. He reports that he's getting another one ready — this time on Jim Lorimer, local insurance executive and coach of the Ohio Girls' Track Club.

Rosa Knotts has connections.

As switchboard operator at busy WLW-C television, sometimes those connections can range from the embarrassing to the humorous — with every "Good afternoon, TV-4" phone answer an invitation to adventure.

Now and then Rosa gets a crank call, an employment application, a request to speak to Perry Como or a sudden life-and-death matter that quickly thrusts her into an exciting uniqueness.

For example:

• Rosa opened her switchboard one morning at 7:30 a.m. A man wanted to talk to the news department — he said he had an exclusive story. The news staff hadn't arrived yet ,so Rosa asked if she could help.

"I am in the process of committing suicide," the man said slowly. "I've taken 'pills' and I want your station to have the story."

"Just a moment," replied Rosa hastily, "there's a newsman coming in now." She switched the call to Jack Davis, announcer on duty, whom Rosa had forewarned.

Davis held the man on the phone while Rosa contacted a real TV-4 newsman, the police and the phone company. All arrived at the man's location in time to save his life.

• One time a cowboy was shot and killed on the old series "Twenty-Six Men." A teenage lad came in to apply for the job of replacing the gunfighter.

Rosa shrewdly gave him a job application form after the boy claimed he could ride, shoot and wrangle cattle. While he filled out the form, Rosa called his home and discovered he had been missing for several days, according to parents who came after him.

• Then there was the lady who called nearly every weekday to find out who the stars would be on "Here's Hollywood." Once Rosa asked her why the matter caused her so much interest.

"Well," she said, "I don't have a TV set and when someone is on I'd like to see, I take a bus downtown and watch the show in a department store window."

• Whenever the WLW-C gang gives out some "instructive" information, Rosa cringes a bit. She remembers recently when "Jamboree" star Clay Eager, then on "Farm Forecast," gave instructions for baking cookies.

He gave the wrong amount of baking soda and the calls started. One woman even threatened to make the cookies and make Clay eat them. "They looked terrible," she told Rosa. "They're all puffed up and everything."

Many more unexpected incidents have occurred. She remembers especially the 1959 flood when the police telephone lines were tied-up and the overflow calls were shuttled to TV-4 for Rosa to answer.

Her busiest times are created by such events as weather cancellation of a World Series baseball game, when a soap opera goes off the air or when popular Ruth Lyons comes to Columbus and people want tickets.

Born and raised in Fairfield County, Rosa became a telephone operator in Amanda when she was 16. Later, she transferred to Ohio Bell in Lancaster.

She's been with TV-4 since 1956 and, before that, was in the same position at University Hospital and the Tracy Welles Co.

Rosa likes her job. More important, her experiences make her a veteran at the board and an expert in handling the unexpected.

WLW-C SWITCHBOARD operator Rosa Knott rivals mountain climbers for adventures. She's shown here giving "Jamboree" star Clay Eager some incorrectly made cookies after Clay gave the wrong recipe over the air. She had numerous calls on this one.

"Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison," the "Monday Night at the Movies" feature presented February 18 by the Ohio State vs. Michigan State Basketball game, has been rescheduled for Saturday, May 11, at 9 p.m. on TV-4 as the fare for "Saturday Night At The Movies." The film stars Robert Mitchum and Deborah Kerr.

Spring Sports Slate Opens At Eastmoor

Baseball — happy to finish .500 in the City League. Track —depending heavily on boys moving up from reserves. Tennis — outlook very good.

That's the spring sports outlook at Eastmoor in a nutshell.

BASEBALL COACH Marsh Mobberly, with only four lettermen returning from his '62 squad, which finished 7-4 in loop competition (third place tie with North), isn't talking pennant this spring for his Warrior nine.

Only catcher Ron Golden, pitcher Jerry Myers, third sacker Frank Shannon and centerfielder Dean Ishida have returned to the Eastmoor diamond as the Warriors' veteran performers.

If the Warriors are to improve on or even match their 16-5 record of last spring, Mobberly will have to get good distance out of eight candidates he hopes will fill the vacancies left open on the Eastmoor diamond by graduation.

WITH ONLY Shannon returning to an infield position, Mobberly looks for Dana VanHorn, Jerry Groves, Ron Bollie and Vince VanHorn to tighten up Eastmoor's inside defenses. Another prospect, Steve Howell, could solve Mobberly's first base problem.

Mike Gornall might be the answer to Eastmoor's catching vacancy and Mobberly is hoping that Jerry Aggas and Doug Cromer can spell Myers with some top-notch mound performances.

The problem of who will fill the empty outfield spots on either side of letterman Ishida is still unsettled.

Checking around his club's City League opposition this spring, Mobberly lists Linden, North, South, Whetstone and Central as teams equally "tough" to beat.

HERE IS THE 1963 Eastmoor baseball schedule:

x—Apr. 2 — Whitehall
x—Apr. 4 — at Mifflin
x—Apr. 5 — at Grove City (4:30)
Apr. 8—at Franklin Heights (4:30)
Apr. 10 — Hartley
Apr. 11—at Whetstone (L)
Apr. 16 — East (L)
Apr. 18 — Brookhaven
Apr. 19 — at Aquinas (L)
Apr. 23 — St. Charles
Apr. 25 — at Watterson
Apr. 26 — Marion-Franklin (L)
Apr. 29 — Bexley
Apr. 30-May 2 — District Tournament
May 7 — at North (L)
May 10 — Linden (L)
May 14 — at Central (L)
May 17 — South (L)
May 21 — at West (L)
Mayo 24 — Walnut Ridge (L)

x—denotes practice game.
All games start at 4 p.m. unless otherwise indicated.

WARRIOR TRACK coach, V. Cahill, admits that he has a big job ahead of him this spring if Eastmoor's runners are to improve on their '62 mark of 6-4 in dual and triangular meets.

"We are counting on a lot of inexperienced boys to fill the shoes of those who have left. It's a big job but if all of them put forth a good effort, but I'm sure it can be done," said Cahill.

The shoes that his '63 prospects will have to fill are pretty big ones. Gone from Cahill's '62 team are distance men Bob Lewis and Joe Shover, sprinters Randy Sheets, Jack Connell, Bob Marburger, Ted Dickey and Glen Bolon, high jumper Jim Dorghty, broad jumper George Hendrecks and discus man Dean Lampros.

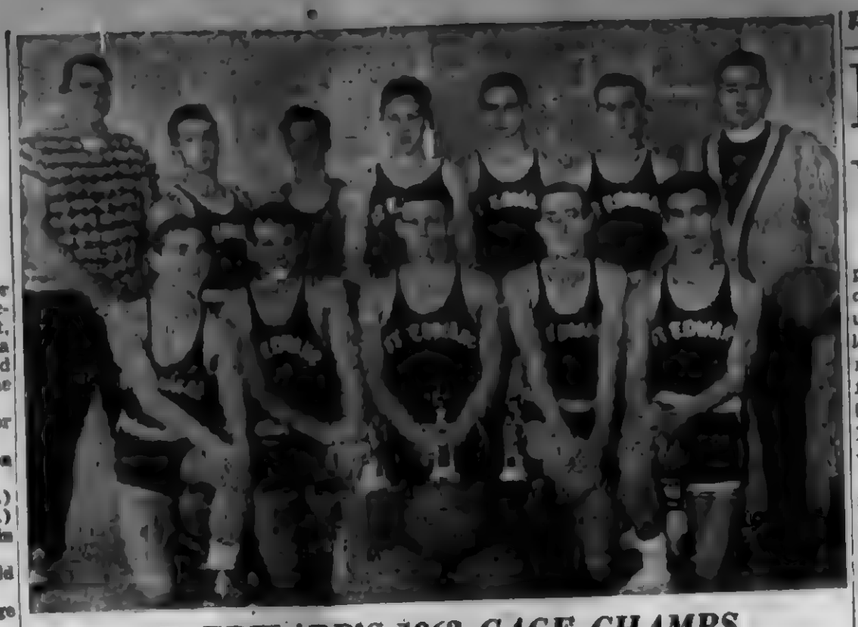
BUT CAHILL has a sprinkling of eight vets to balance his '63 youth movement. Six seniors comprise the bulk of the list with Jim Clark (pole vault, high jump), Paul Naumoff (400 sprint, high jump), Mike Andrew (shot put), Don Wray (mile, 880), John Rosemond (mile, 880, relay) and John Voneida (hurdles) back for a final try.

Two junior lettermen complete Cahill's veteran lineup. Marc Smith will be back for more broad jump and relay duty while Terry Marburger has returned for relay and 440 assignments.

THE UPCOMING reserves which Cahill hopes will take up the slack created by graduation are sprinters Gary Perkins, Gary Marburger and John Vincent. Cahill also looks for help from discus thrower Bob Schleppi and shot putter Bob Whiteman.

The Warrior club should be strengthened by the addition of Ron Eiland, who was City Junior High hurdles champ last year. Two other transfers who Cahill has been watching are Roc Snow, a distance man from Germany and hurdler Larry Dick, ex of Plymouth.

How quickly these prospects come along could have a major share in Eastmoor's track success this spring. In retrospect, the Warriors won the Gahanna Relays last year and finished second behind Central in the City League Meet.



HERE IS THE Warrior 1963 track schedule:

Apr. 2 — at Worthington (4 p.m.)
Apr. 4—at Central (4 p.m.)
Apr. 9—Whitehall (4 p.m.)
Apr. 11 — Marion-Franklin and West at West (4 p.m)
Apr. 12-13 — at Mansfield Relays
Apr. 16 — at Walnt Ridge (4 p.m.)
Apr. 18 — Central and Linden at Linden (4 p.m.)
Apr. 20 — at Gahanna Relays (morning)
Apr. 25-26 — Riverside Relays at Central (evening)
Apr. 30 — North (4 p.m.)
May 3 — at Marion Relays (2 p.m.)
May 7 — South and Whetstone (4 p.m.)
May 9 — at East (4 p.m.)
May 11 — Eastmoor Invitational (12 noon)
May 17-18 — District Relays
May 21 — City Prelims (varsity and reserves) (4:30 p.m.)—X
May 22—City Varsity finals (2:30 p.m.)—X
May 23 — City Reserve finals (4 p.m.)—X
May 24-25 — State Relays at OSU

X—at Central High School.

WARRIOR COACH W. Barr has an optimistic outlook for his '63 tennis squad. Eastmoor finshed with a 7-4 mark last spring and has four returning vets to improve on that record this season.

Back for another court session are Harvey Wasserman, Mike Mirvis, Stan Ross and Rick Podkin. Although there is no tennis league in the city, Eastmoor will open its '63 season Tuesday with Bexley. Other teams on the Warrior tennis slate this season are: Academy, St. Charles, Grandview, Newark, Arlington and Hamilton.

ST. EDWARD'S 1963 CAGE CHAMPS

Bryant-Butts Scandal— Grid's 'Blackest' Hour

The sporting world was forced to swallow something indigestable along with its usual breakfast diet of toast and coffee last week as that ugly sound of "fix" blasted out of the South like a triggered hydrogen bomb.

We thought we had heard the last of that kind of noise after the so-called pro-football scandal had been put to rest. But the Butts-Bryant-Dugout triangle has taken the respectability of the game out of the frying pan again and deposited it squarely in the flame this time.

IT ISN'T NECESSARY to go into details. Anyone who passes the "quiet hours" by losing himself in the sports pages knows the accusations, rebuttals and all the other sordid details involved in Butts' alleged "gift" of Georgia plays to Bryant.

What is necessary, perhaps, is an evaluation of the situation. How about the credibility of the Saturday Evening Post article, "The Story of a College Football Fix"?

Being familiar with what is involved in terms of libel, it's pretty safe to assume that the Post printed the article with more backstop material than Burnett's "hearsay." And to borrow from Mark Antony, (without the sarcasm) "The Post is an honorable slick."

HONORABLE OR NOT, you can bet that new set of golf clubs that no publication flirts with a line of law suits from here to Calcutta unless they've got a "sure thing" going for them.

The most stomach-turning aspect of the whole sickening debacle is that for the first time in our recollection, the scandal apparently cannot be foisted off on the evil greenback—the gambler's lure to prey on the weakness of the youthful athlete who, for one sad minute, might envision a rags-to-riches future by peddling his athletic prowess.

There are grown and mature men involved here. Men who knew better. Men, as the Post article puts it, "who are employed to educate and to guide young men."

THE FIX ITSELF was disastrous enough, but the real tragedy must be borne in the instruments — the principals of the pact. We can harbor no remorse in their behalf if they are guilty.

Most puzzling to us is the point of motivation. WHY? For Butts, who was "retired" after 20 years as field director at Georgia, the answer could be one of a trampled ego.

But for the life of us, we cannot understand how Bryant could have become involved in such a sorry situation. Here is a man who had made the ascent to the top of the collegiate coaching ranks. Perhaps, his weakness lay in his ambition to remain there.

THE POST EXPOSE (if unshaken) has ruined three reputations. Butts and Bryant are through in the realm of athletics. No one group is more unforgiving than a willingly trusting sports public when betrayed. Burnett, who had guts enough to pop the cap on a personal pressure cooker, has no more distinction than being the "informer" with the tainted private life open for the nation to see.

But right is still right and vice versa. The story had to be told. It's highly doubtful that the Butts-Bryant bomb has enough explosiveness to shake the foundations, but it's just more ammunition for the "de-emphasis detail."

Taking the mess out of its emotion-charged surroundings is difficult to do. But it is necessary to stave off the witch hunters who would like nothing better than to use the incident as a kick off for a blanket condemnation.

PEOPLE CAN fail but well-founded, solid institutions like collegiate football don't crumble under sporadic attack. For every Butts and Bryant, there are thousands of coaches whose integrity is and will remain beyond question.

Tragic indeed, however, is the fact that people everywhere will be affected by the scandal and some guy somewhere will start wondering out loud why State U. lost to Central Tech by 35 points next fall.

As far as we're concerned, this fix makes the "Black Sox" episode and the basketball botch look like penny-ante stuff. Maybe Georgia coach Johnny Griffith said it best when he remarked, "I never had a chance."

For the sake of every pint-sized shaver that ever picks up a football again, we hope to God that Griffith's quote can never be spoken in reference to college football again.

WHITEHALL 'LOADED'

Seven Vets Brighten Ram Diamond Hopes

With seven returning lettermen and a wealth of reserve talent battling for a varsity slot, Whitehall baseball coach, Ted Georgeff, might have good reason to look forward to the Rams' '63 Central Buckeye League pennant chase.

And since five of the returning vets were All-CBL selections last season as Whitehall drove to the district semi-finals, Georgeff shouldn't have too much difficulty in filling his diamond vacancies.

IN REVIEW, the Ram nine finished the season with a fine 20-4 record which included a district tourney victory over Grove City, 3-2, in 12 innings —a game which Georgeff tabs as "one of the finest high school baseball games played in years."

Checking out Whitehall's '63 roster, it's easy to see why Georgeff might look for a repeat performance this season from his Ram baseballers.

The Ram infield should be sound enough with four returnees back to cut off the "hot ones." Returning to the first base spot will be senior Dave Millington, who gained an All-League spot at his position last season and will serve as Whitehall captain this spring.

MILLINGTON HIT for a .250 average last season leading the Ram nine in RBI's. He figures to anchor the Whitehall infield defensively as Coach Georgeff describes him as "a tremendous glove man."

Hustling senior Howie Bailey returns to his second base spot. Bailey, who sticked a heady .383 last spring, was another All-CBL selection.

Shortstop should give GFeo Shortstop should give Georgeff no headaches with junior Jay Ketzmier figuring to team up with Bafley as the second half of Whitehall's double play combo. Ketzmier, who was honorable mention All-League last spring, hit at a .385 clip.

NO PROBLEMS are in sight in the catching department either with All-CBL backstop man Larry Tedder back for another try. Tedder, a senior who hung up the spikes last spring with a .317 BA, is listed by Georgeff as his "hardest worker."

Whitehall's only starter who will return to the outfield this season is senior Brent Seymour, who finished with a .200 average last year.

Key to the Rams' mound success again this season will be another All-CBL selection, senior Bill Dildine. The Whitehall hurler compiled a highly successful 12-1 won-loss mark last spring. Dildine's batting average was .239. Georgeff will also employ shortstop Ketzmier for pitching duties this spring.

DESPITE THE past performances of his All-League returnees, none will be able to rest on his laurels with junior reserve letterman Bob Sherman scrapping for a starting nod.

Sherman, listed as a utility man, is described by Georgeff as "a real hardnose who wants to play."

Georgeff has a wealth of reserves to fill in the starting lineup holes in his opening day nine. Key performers up from the reserves this spring are junior Bill Evans and sophomores Mark Blackstone, Dan Arnold, "Reb" Hiatt, Jim Hoffman, Dan Kaufman, Jim Rodenmayer, Steve Schafer and Gary Younkin.

THREE OTHER prospects who moved into the area during the past year are getting a good lookover by Georgeff. The three are senior Joe Colling and juniors Terry Kaldeman and Mike Armbruster.

Two other junior candidates complete Whitehall's prospect list — Jerry Ramsey and Ken Maxwell. Ramsey worked last spring and Maxwell was hampered last season with injuries.

Dec. 3, 1844, Congress rescinded the Gad Rule which forbade presentation of the abolitionist petitions.

EAST TECH FRIDAY

East 5 Chugs Within Two

Determined East, eager to put the clamps on its first cage title since 1951, battled upset-minded Canton McKinley through two overtime periods Saturday evening before gaining a semi-final berth in the state semi-finals Friday by merit of a 60-58 win over the Bulldogs.

Ed Waller's jumper in the final 12 seconds of play did it for the Tigers but not before the Canton quintet almost pulled the rug out from under East's state championship dreams.

Martin's free throw gained the tie after McKinley went up 50-49 but Coach of the Year Bob Hart and his Bengal five had to sweat through Canton's last ditch fleider that just missed ending the game in regulation time.

Waller, who scored all of East's overtime markers, paced the Tiger squad in scoring with 24 points (tying Canton's Dwayne Lipskins for high point honors) but a hatful of credit had to go to Martin who bounced off the bench to net 12 big points in a relief role.

THE McKINLEY squeaker had no resemblance to East's Friday night win over outclassed Portsmouth, 71-52.

The Tigers now are only two games shy of nabbing the state title. East, which ran its seasonal total of 23-1 by virtue of the Tigers' double win over the weekend, now returns to the confines of St. John's Arena for a semi-final encounter with unbeaten Cleveland East Tech (24-0) at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

If the Tigers are able to notch their 24th victory of the season, they will face the winner of the Urbana-Marion-Harding game (9:30 Friday) for the state title Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

East Tech, making its sixth trip to the state cage finals this season, has breezed through its seventh district and regional assignments with ease. The Cleveland quintet's closest brush with defeat came in a 61-60 mid-season win over Akron Central. The Tigers' win streak now stands at 15.

Ontario Downs Kenny 5, 73-65, Nabs Cage Title

Jim Mackin and Bob Grad led Ontario to a 73-65 victory over Kenny's Loan to win the 1963 Jewish Center Adult Basketball League championship last week.

Ontario, paced by Mackin's eight points, jumped into an early 23-12 first quarter lead. Both teams played even ball in the second quarter, with Ontario leading, 40-28, at halftime.

KENNY'S PUT on a full court press in the fourth quarter to steal the ball three times, but fell short by eight points.

The taller Ontario team was able to contain league high scorer Bill Mackin and control both boards. Stan Robins scored 23 points for Kenny's Loan.

The Ontario team is slated to travel to the Cleveland Jewish Center, as part of an adult activity weekend, Apr. 7.

	FG	F	TP
Ontario	27	19	73
Kenny's Loan	24	17	65

Ontario: Bob Grad 9-4-22, Mike Stein 2-0-4, Jim Mackin 9-7-25, Ron Erkis 1-4-6, Marv Metersky 1-0-2, Fred Davidorf 5-4-14.

Kenny's Loan: Sandy Solomon 5-3-13, Stan Robins 7-9-23, Jerry Silverman 0-0-0, Irv Rubin 2-1-3, Bill Mackin 5-3-13, Benji Zox 5-2-12.

SPRING IS HERE?

THAT'S WHAT the calendar said last week but here's one area golfer who's willing to argue the point. Could be that the past winter of every golfer's discontent is chattering to a close though. After three lusty swings, this early bird departed, promising he would return when he could shoot in the high 90's and we don't think he was referring to his golf score.

Ohio Track Club Nabs AAU Indoor Laurels

With 2500 partisan fans cheering them to victory in the final event, the Ohio Girls' Track Club streaked to the top of the field Saturday in the 1963 Pan American Trials and Women's AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships at the French Field House.

The local entry rewrote two of five new American indoor marks set during the course of their victory, edging runnerup Tennessee State, 26-23.

THE SUCCESS was especially sweet for the Capital City when the post-meet polling for feminine representatives to the Pan American Games found a 16-year-old East High Cheerleader, Estelle Baskerville, included on the US team.

Miss Baskerville gained the berth by merit of her second place finish in the high jump with a leap of five feet, four and one-half inches, only one inch less than champion Eleanor Montgomery's effort.

Victory didn't come easily for the Jim Lorimer-coached team. Not until the 880 relay team, composed of Sue and Saundra Knott, Rita Thompson, Laura Voss and Karen Davis set a new American record (1:50.6) in the final event of the day could the Ohio entry be assured of victory.

An indication of things to come was previewed by Sue Knott, however, when the OSU freshman snapped the tape in the 440-yard dash with a record-breaking time of 57 seconds. Miss Knott's win pulled the Ohio club into a three-way tie for second place, setting up its victorious finish in the 880 relay event.

Capital Breakfast Set For Saturday

Capital University's annual morning affair, the Alumni Varsity C breakfast, will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in the Troutman Hall dining room. Featured speaker will be WLW-C's Jimmy Crum.

Other speakers include Bill Bernlohr, Capital's athletic director; Gene Slaughter, football coach; Harold "Whitey" Regan, basketball coach, and Jack Landrum, track coach.

Honored guests will consist of Capital varsity team members and various Capital graduates now in the coaching field.

Channel 4 Carries State Tourney Finals

TV 4 will carry the Columbus East-Cleveland East Tech match at 7:30 p.m. Friday and the following Urbana-Marion-Harding tilt at 9:30. The finals the following evening will be telecast at 8 p.m. Jimmy Crum will provide the play-by-play account both nights.

Chapman, who studied recent developments in new drugs, received a certificate of completion for the course from Ohio State University.

Jack Brown On Anderson Staff

Ralph H. Anderson, president of the Anderson Concrete Corp., has announced the appointment of John K. (Jack) Brown to the sales department of his company, effective Monday, Apr. 1.

Brown is a graduate of Muskingum College and has been associated with the Columbia Cement Corp. Sales Division as a district and regional sales manager.

He was president of the Columbus Builders Exchange in 1962 and is affiliated with the Engineers Club, Columbus Chamber of Commerce, the Athletic Club and the Columbus Sales Executive Club.

Equipped To Handle Any Electrical Job, Eastmoor Electric Prepares For Spring

"We think every job we've done has been a good one and we're proud of all our work." That was the answer of W. D. (Darrell) Horne, manager of the Eastmoor Electric Co., 500 N. Stanwood, when he was asked to comment on any outstanding work done by his organization.

"I could tell you about Huber Ridge, where we did all the wiring in the new homes, or the countless industrial wiring jobs for the North American Aviation plant," he continued. "We are proud of these jobs.

"One of the largest single commercial jobs we've completed was for the newly constructed Baptist Temple, where we installed a sound system, special black lights, dimmer switches, air conditioning and special lighting effects along with the usual installation of wiring, receptacles and switches," Horne added.

Eastmoor Electric was founded in 1954 and four years ago according to Horne the company did only residential electrical work, but now takes care of an equal amount of residential, commercial and industrial wiring and electrical service.

Most of the company's work is done on a contract basis, and free estimates can be obtained by contacting the organization.

Specialties include rewiring and electrical repairs in older buildings as well as new structures. Fast service is available to customers through the use of radio-equipped service units that can be contacted and dispatched to any area of Central Ohio by the main office.

At present, equipment and plans are being prepared to take care of contracts already obtained for construction projects coming up in the spring when the weather improves.

Al Smith, in charge of residential wiring, has already prepared for the wiring of a great number of new homes in the Kar-Mel Village area. Engineer Tom Linder has completed blueprints for the electrical wiring of several new buildings being constructed at the Columbus Plant of North American Aviation.

"At present," manager Horne said, "we have a total of 45 full-time employes who are all members of the electricians union. Our company is a member of the Ohio Home Builders' Association and the National Electrical Contractors' Association."

Horne concluded by saying "We're equipped to handle any job that comes along and that includes everything from private homes to schools and churches to factories and industries."

PREPARING FOR SPRING construction, Eastmoor Electric Company manager W. D. (Darrell) Horne, center, goes over the plans for an industrial wiring job with two of his assistants. Although this particular job calls for installation of electrical facilities in a newly-constructed building, the organization also specializes in rewiring and electrical work in older structures and homes. Radio-equipped trucks are dispatched to customers throughout Central Ohio on short notice. Studying the plans with the manager are Tom Lindner, left, electrical engineer, and Al Smith, chief of residential electrical work.

THE EASTER BUNNY is on the way. In fact the schedule calls for the arrival of this friendly little animal, along with lots of candy and goodies for the younger set, at the Town and Country Miracle Mile Shopping Center, Saturday, Apr. 6. Youngsters will receive the free candy gifts from the date of arrival until Easter. The center will be appropriately decorated and will offer ample stocks and a well balanced selection to spring customers. The traditional Easter Egg Hunt is scheduled for Saturday, Apr. 13, near the center.

Town & Country Putting On Its Spring Finery For Easter Season

With spring in the air and Easter just around the corner, merchants in the Town and Country Miracle Mile Shopping Center are preparing merchandise and decorating their stores in preparation for the coming season.

The time to spruce up the house, enjoy the out-of-doors living, dress up the family and get the garden going is rapidly approaching. Town and Country stores are all set to take care of spring needs with ample stocks and well balanced selections.

The center will offer such one-stop shopping advantages as free parking, canopied sidewalks and soft background music, according to Roger Vien, a spokesman for Town and Country merchants.

Saturday, Apr. 13, will be a red-letter day at the shopping center with the traditional Easter Egg Hunt in the large field south of Broad-st on Robinwood-av.

This event is co-sponsored by Town and Country merchants and the Whitehall fire and police departments. The hunt for the eggs will get underway at 9:30 a.m.

More than 3000 candy-filled plastic Easter eggs will be carefully hidden in the field. The area will be divided into two separate sections for various age groups. An estimated 400 of the plastic eggs will contain cash prizes totaling more than $100.

Another big feature of the coming season will be the arrival of the Easter Bunny at Town and Country on Saturday, Apr. 6, to dispense candy to the children from then until Easter.

Another Anniversary For The Fayette Beauty Salon

Almost nine years ago this same newspaper told the story of Fayette Beauty Shop and plans for celebrating its third anniversary at 1328 S. Fourth-st. Years have passed and many new customers have joined the ranks of the already satisfied ladies who enjoy the facilities of a completely equipped beauty salon.

But the motto, as printed in the July, 1954, edition of this newspaper, has remained the same: "If your hair isn't becoming to you, you should be coming to us."

Owner and operator Mrs. Mildred Stewart has received many awards and citations for outstanding accomplishments with permanent waving and coiffure designing. She is a member of the Hair Fashion Guild of America and the Hairdressers Guild of Ohio.

She is also owner of the Fayette Cosmetics Co., which specializes in making a corrective line of cosmetics, sold exclusively in the Fayette Beauty Salon.

With a full staff of trained cosmetologists on hand to serve customers, Mrs. Stewart invites all interested women to stop in at her shop to inspect the facilities and discuss the latest hair styles and cosmetics. Beauty operators include Ernestine Yancy, seven years; Gertrude Smith, six years; and Geraldine Fisher, five years.

With many years of quality service behind them, Fayette Beauty Shop is looking forward to another anniversary, the 12th, in July and many more years of qualified work for satisfied customers.

U. S. Licenses Vaccine To Halt Measles

A shipment of more than 7,000 doses of a new vaccine, designed to eliminate measles as a disease affecting the nation's children has been delivered to Columbus and is now available to area physicians.

Merck, Sharp and Dohme, one of two drug firms licensed by the government to distribute the live-virus vaccine, received the shipment from their laboratory on Saturday.

Jack Price, spokesman for the drug firm, said the vaccine is being distributed to local doctors as fast as the orders come to his office and more can be obtained as the need arises. He added that the cost to patients will be set by each individual physician.

U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry, after announcing the release of the new measles preventative to the public, said he thought the disease could be eliminated within two years if the vaccine were were used effectively.

The vaccine distributed by Merck, Sharp and Dohme is made from a weakened form of wild measles and requires only one shot for lifetime protection. A second type is distributed by Charles Pfizer and

United Moving Promotes Brown

Dale A. Brown, 4637 Amesbury-rd, has been named sales manager of the Columbus division of the United Moving and Storage Co., 345 E. Fifth-av, according to an announcement by B. H. Moore, vice-president of the organization.

Brown has worked as a salesman with the moving company for the past three years. He is a member of the Masons, the Whitehall Evangelical United Brethren Church and is a major in the U.S. Air Force.

Royal Weave Features Carpets At Home Show

One of the features of the Royal Weave Carpet display at the 1963 Home Show at the Buckeye Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds, Saturday, Mar. 30, through Friday, Apr. 5, will be Royal Crown Broadloom 100 per cent nylon carpeting.

Royal Weave spokesman Al Cabal said this is one of the finest products ever offered by his firm. The display will be available throughout the week-long affair.

Temporary headquarters for the Foundation is Stelios' apartment.

The unique part of Stelios' enterprises is that he works without financial reward, writes some 40 letters a day all over the world and travels extensively throughout the city without an automobile.

His love for this type of international relations has kept him going exhaustively for some eight and one-half years. He packs a sandwich and a piece of fruit for lunch so that he can save his extra money for postage.

He probably knows more about postal regulations than Postmaster General Summerfield and the amount of money he spends on stamps runs close to $200 a year.

He contributes the largest amount of his salary to his cancer-stricken mother, Mrs. Irene Efthimioy, who resides in North Carolina.

Stelios never married. He claims he doesn't have time for that. He does nothing for entertainment or relaxation. "There's not enough time in a day now for me to do the kind of job I'd like to," he lamented.

In his book exchange project, the first in his three undertakings, Stelios collects books from various sources in this country (schools, individuals, etc.), packages them and sends them to other countries.

They, in return, send back volumes from their country — all books containing history and educational matter, nothing else.

The art exchange works in the same way. Mainly, he collects sketches from elementary and junior high students for shipment. The pen pal set-up is worked like a triangle with Stelios in the middle. He furnishes pen pals for people all over the world. They, however, don't correspond between themselves. They send their letters to Stelios, who acts as the pivot man and forwards them.

Stelios carries on this work under almost unbelievable adversities. He's been laughed at and criticized but he's learned to be what he terms "a good loser."

"It's a tough life," he said, reflecting over the years (many of them hungry and lean ones), "but I don't worry about adversities. If I ever give up this work they can bury me. I'm going to fight Communism as long as I can."

Just how does this work help battle Communism? Stelios explains it this way:

"Many of the problems we have in America can be traced to the fact that the peoples of the world don't really know much about us. They think of us as a bunch of gangsters," he said, and can justify this claim since he's traveled a good deal through many countries of the world.

"These projects — showing American art and telling the story of American history through text books— can do more for world peace than most people realize," he added.

True, the Stelios Stelson world is a strange one. It's a hard-working, little-rewarding existence that can only be done with a sincere and abundant sense of dedication.

There are those who feel he's on the right track toward world peace. At any rate, this little man's typewriter has probably made more noise than the guns of an infantry division.

Passover Institute Slated At Agudas Achim

Agudas Achim Congregation, 2767 E. Broad-st, will conduct a passover institute Thursday, Mar. 28, at 8:15 p.m., in the social hall of the synagogue.

Louis Ziskind, chairman of the cultural committee, has met with representatives of the congregation, the Brotherhood and the Sisterhood in planning the Pesach program. Rabbi Samuel W. Rubenstein will conduct the institute.

Study and discussion will be held on passover perparations, customs and ceremonials that precede the festival, the seder service, the hagaddah with emphasis on its philosophical and helachic implications, and songs.

TURKEY RUN

The troops in the Turkey Run Neighborhood held an International Open House, Saturday, Mar. 23, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Scottwood Community Church. This was in honor of all Girl Scout troops around the world.

Chairman of the event was Mrs. Milan Vukovich, Jr. More than 200 girls from 14 troops demonstrated dances and crafts from various countries. Included were:

Troop 78, German display; Troop 98, dolls in foreign costumes; Troop 114, Spanish display; Troop 185, Scandinavian costumes; Troop 900, Spanish exhibit; Troop 1098, Oriental paper folding; Troop 1192, Chinese exhibit.

Troop 1119, Hawaiian dance and exhibit; Troop 197, German exhibit; Troop 551, foreign flags and paper dolls; Troop 892, foreign cookies; Troop 1049, Japanese display; Troop 1103, Scandinavian designs in liquid embroidery.

The event was open to the public.

SHEPARD

Girl Scout Troop 522 of Shepard attended the Lazarus birthday party at Veterans Memorial.

The members were also guests at Shiloh Baptist Church on Girl Scout Sunday. The following girls took part in both events:

Rhonda Williams, Beverly Turner, Jeannine Mays, Beverly Paschal, Margaret Graetz, Valarie Van Cleaf, April Cliff, Mona Hicks, Roxyanne Cartier and Shirley Peyton.

Mrs. Lloyd Paschal assisted the troop at the party. Mrs. Juanita W. Cartier is the troop leader.

Stray Dogs Won't Be For Long

With the blessing of the state attorney general, the insistence of the county board of health and the cooperation of the Humane Society, loose dogs are being picked up in Franklin County—license or no.

The attorney general ruled last week that licensed dogs could be picked up during the quarantine period.

Thomas C. Justice, manager of the Humane Society, who had balked at picking up licensed animals before the ruling, is now working with fervor to enforce the quarantine.

Assistant Health Commissioner Howard Reynolds said the Board of Health wants the quarantine enforced in full and is taking steps to force the move.

The reason for the insistence, Reynolds said, is that there have been more rabies cases in Franklin County so far this year, than in any other county in the state.

Most of the rabies cases originated from skunks, a somewhat perennial occurrence.

Unlicensed dogs are being impounded by the society and owners of licensed dogs are being fined, if their animals are picked up, according to officials.

Easter Seal contributions are the main source of income at the Treatment Center of the Society, 555 S. Monroe-av, where an average case load of 80 handicapped children receive physical, occupational and speech therapy and preschool education. Many physically disabled persons also receive help through aids, appliances, braces and special prescriptions, as well as equipment loans of wheel chairs, walkers and crutches. The society says, "It takes hope and money to help crippled children. We have the hope and are looking to you for the money."

Fairmoor To Dedicate Addition

The congregation of Fairmoor United Presbyterian Church, 360 S. James-rd, will dedicate its new sanctuary, fellowship hall and classrooms Sunday, Mar. 31, 10:45 a.m.

An open house is planned from 3 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to go through the building at this time.

A covered dish dinner, followed by an informal program, will be held at 6 p.m.

The architectural firm of Seidel and Dunn developed the formal plans for the new addition. Peter Pixley was the builder.

William H. Marshall is chairman of the building committee, and Norman E. Stout is chairman of the board of trustees.

Rev. Donald R. Morris is the present pastor, and Rev. J. Russell Dugan is associate pastor.

Whitehall Baptist Revival Slated To Start April 1

Whitehall Baptist Church, 392 Maplewood-av, will join the Capital City Association of Baptists by participating in a Jubilee Revival Monday, Apr. 1, through Friday, Apr. 12.

Rev. Clay Frazier, pastor of First Baptist Church, Woodsfield, will be the evangelist, and Wallace Miller will direct the revival choir and congregational singing. Brother Miller is minister of music and education at Whitehall Baptist, and Rev. J. Willard Jarvis is pastor.

Revival services will begin each evening at 7:30, and the public is invited.

CHOOSING SIDES

"Choose you this day whom ye will serve: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." Joshua 24:15.

Children choose sides for a game; we choose someone to serve in this world. But rather than have it be a choosing by chance, ours shall be a definite, thought out, choice. We can choose God "this day" by attending Church on Sunday. As our Lord said in Matthew 4:10, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." Let us worship and serve Him through His appointed agency, the Church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Walnut Ridge World

By PATTY WHITE and TERRY WOODS

The seniors were measured for caps and gowns last week. They discussed commencement schedules at a class meeting on Mar. 25 and the following day they ordered announcements. Barbara Share and Douglas Beardslee were chosen as class speakers.

Patricia Bair has been awarded the Altrusa Award as the High School Girl of the Year.

Anita Zeno was chosen Senior High Citizen of the American Revolution. Nancy Beckett and Robert Wetzel received the Junior High Citizenship Sons of the American Revolution.

Awards were given to the above mentioned in an assembly.

Tom Coneybeer and Ron Dawson were chosen as representatives to Buckeye Boys' State with Jerry Mossing as alternate.

Sophomores will order class rings on Mar. 28.

March 39 will find the senior high baseball team in competition at Bexley.

The FTA Club will hold a bake sale Apr. 3 after school.

Central Ohio Beauties Can Register Now

William Ferguson, president of the Grove City Jaycees, has announced the selection of Kenneth L. Huffman, 734 Kenny-ln, as general chairman for the 1963 Miss Central Ohio Pageant, which is to be held May 10 at Veterans Memorial.

Huffman said applications are now being accepted for this, the third annual contest, which will introduce the Ohio Jaycee State Convention and will be preceded by a 60-unit parade through downtown Columbus.

The entries committee, under the direction of William Rosenbleeth, chairman, is asking that residents of Franklin, Fayette, Madison and Pickaway counties nominate their selections for Miss Central Ohio. Selections should be made on a card to the Miss Central Ohio entries committee, P.O. Box 85, Grove City, and should list the name, address and age of the candidate. An official entry blank and rules of the pageant will be sent by mail.

Miss Central Ohio will advance to the Miss Ohio Pageant where the winner, in addition to a $1,000 scholarship, will gain the right to represent the Buckeye State in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City Sept. 4 to 7.

Wins Trip With Essay

Mary Christine Lindenberg, 1620 Simpson-dr, a student at Walnut Ridge High, recently won a trip to Washington, D. C. by winning a district American Legion essay contest.

A junior, Miss Lindenberg is one of only 12 in the state to place this high.

Haskell E. Brands, 1498 Efner - dr, commander of Franklin Post No. 1, made the presentation to Miss Lindenberg.

Food-For-Peace is a program for sharing U.S. agricultural abundance with undernourished people and emerging nations, and for developing export markets for the farm commodities.

★ OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY ★

Tuesday Is Final Day In South Side 'Y' Members Drive

So you've been approached by a South Side YMCA campaign worker for a membership. And you buy one but you can't help wondering where your money will go?

Or you held off buying one because you just weren't sure what good it would do since you don't particularly care to lift weights on weekends.

Then you're the type of person that the South Side YMCA staff, at 190 Southwood-av, would like to shake hands with and answer a few questions for.

They're making it easy, too. An open house has been planned for this Sunday afternoon (Mar. 31) from 1 to 5 p.m., at which time the public is invited to take a stroll through the new, ultra-modern facility.

More important, it's a chance for competent "Y" personnel to answer any questions you may have about the "family-type" program carried on there or about how much your membership dollars will aid the "Y" in offering a program with impact for the South Side.

Besides this, the new facility is also open each weekday evening, starting Monday and running until Apr. 2, until 9 p.m. for those who care to visit.

If you like refreshments with your tour, however, you'll be better off coming on Sunday since Executive Secretary Jim Wagner promised that there'd be coffee offered to visitors.

But the "Y" staff emphasized that the new program is designed for the entire family, and Wagner urges residents to bring the whole group down for a look-see.

According to membership campaign chairman Ken Olbert, the drive is — to date — "doing fine," although no totals have been made as yet.

A report meeting was held Monday night and another is scheduled for this evening (Thursday) from 1 to 10 p.m., when workers are urged to turn in "progress reports" of work so far. Coffee and fellowship will be served, Olbert said.

"Tremendous support from residents is already evident from early results," said Olbert hopefully. "We're off to a really fine start." The 10-day drive ends officially at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, Apr. 2. The goal is $13,000.

Olbert urged campaign workers to follow through on calls and asked the community to keep in mind that Apr. 2 is the wind-up.

If any resident is missed by a campaign "salesman," they are asked to either call Olbert at Barrett Junior High or the "Y" office, HI. 4-2151.

Three Arrested In City, Bexley School Burglaries

Three men, now in custody of the Columbus Police, have been charged with the theft of thousands of dollars worth of quipment from schools in the city and in Bexley.

The total value of television set, radios, movie projectors, record players and typewriters stolen in recent months has been estimated at more than $11,000.

Equipment valued at about $4000 has been recovered by police.

Police reported the arrest of Stanford Crockett, 28, of 31 S. Monroe. He pleaded guilty to burglary in Municipal Court and was bound to the grand jury under $5000 bond.

Clarence Skurdy, 69, of 345 N. 20th-st, is charged by police with receiving and concealing stolen property. He pleaded innocent and his case was continued until Friday.

A third man, Ralph McGhee, 33, 31 S. Monroe-av, sought by police, surrendered at the detective bureau Tuesday morning.

Losses of Columbus Schools since the first of the year, as listed by F. T. Rudy, assistant superintendent, were, from Pilgram School, monitor radio; Milo, television set and AM-FM radio; Eleventh Avenue, television set, three radios and a record player.

Douglass, television and radio; George Beery, radio; Maryland Park, three television sets, two typewriters and a radio; Franklin Junior High, four television sets and a typewriter.

Sixth Avenue, typewriter; McGuffey, two television sets; Michigan, two television sets, movie projector and typewriter; Eastgate, five television sets; Dana-av, three record players.

Mohawk, two typewriters; Clearbrook, two television sets; Beatty Park, three television sets; and Fairwood, three television sets, a movie projector and a tape recorder.

In addition, burglars took equipment valued at $2818 from Bexley High the night of Mar. 7, according to Bexley police.

Bexley High School LION'S ROAR

By BETSY BRUST

Concert Readied Friday; Council Elections Slated

"Say It With Music!" is the theme of the 1963 Bexley High School Choir Concert.

Directed by C. Robert Myers, the Girls' Ensemble, Boys' Ensemble, Choir, Chorus, and Stephen Van Michael Trio will perform Friday night at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Admission is 50 cents.

Kit Butler, Roger Williamson, Sharon Taylor, Van Snyder, and Betty Jane Shaw will sing solos. Sandra DeLong and Norma Meizlish will each play piano solos. Pam Mulbarger will narrate "I Am an American" to the background of choir music to end the program on a patriotic note.

Popular tunes, folk songs, Negro spirituals, religious songs, hillbilly melodies, show tunes, and patriotic numbers make up the program. The Stephen Van Michael Trio, which will sing American folk music, is composed of Steve Parliser, Van Snyder and Mike Myers.

Senior Harriett Nalty was one of the three students in the county to receive the Daughters of the American Revolution Citizenship Award.

David Schaffter was elected third vice-president of the State Junior Classical League at its state convention last Friday. Voting was based on the candidate's extemporaneous speech. David defeated the candidate from Cincinnati's Seaton High School.

Gail Gertner, Barbara Smith, Marilyn Kurtz, Mary Jane Chittenden and Phil Magley have been nominated by the Senior Class as the outstanding school citizens.

Student Council elections for next year's officers will take place next Tuesday. Candidates' for president are Marc Lackritz and Dan Levoff; vice - president, Mike Myers and Caroline Smith; and secretary - treasurer Joanne Coopersmith and Kalitsa Tsitouris. Each candidate will speak before a school assembly next Monday.

This year's Student Council has recently purchased two tape recorders costing over $500 for the school. The group has earned this money from holding dances and managing concessions at football and basketball games. This year's president is Ed Pritchett.

Joel Poetker, Bexley social studies teacher and Political Science Club advisor, has been awarded a John Hay Fellowship to study American history and literature at Williams College this summer.

GROUND RULES

By Herman Johnson

Now is the time to get an early start on your lawn before mowing season starts again. In just a few hours on a mild day you can do a lot to improve and keep it looking beautiful all summer.

If your lawn is evenly covered with desirable turf, fertilize now. Grass roots are growing long before the leaf blades show. For best results use a mixture of long-lasting fertilizer containing urea form nitrogen. This kind of nitrogen becomes available to the plants slowly throughout the summer. This keeps an even stand of turf. For best results use a mechanical spreader as it will give an even feeding and seeding.

If you have not protected your lawn from crabgrass seeds and grubs you can do that now, too. The earlier the better for this job as the spring showers will carry the chemicals deep enough into the soil for a proper kill.

There are approximately as many "don'ts" as "do's" when it comes to having a nice lawn. Don't roll your lawn when it is wet. Only in heavy soil where the winter's frost has heaved the grass roots out of the ground does rolling pay. When soil is damp, the roller packs it hard and air cannot reach grass roots.

Seed bare spots in lawn now. Grass seeds are tough. Frost will not hurt them. Loosen soil with a spade, cutting in both directions, similar to cutting fudge, then sow seeds in loose soil and rake lightly.

Use Kentucky or Merion blue grass for sunny areas. Use Chewing fescue or other fescue varieties for shady areas, or a mixture containing these.

Scouts Appoint Gallaher Greenhills Camp Director

John Gallaher, Capital District Scout executive, Central Ohio Council, has been selected as camp director for the "pioneer year" at Greenhills Scout Reservation.

Greenhills Scout Reservation is the Central Ohio Council's new 1,200-acre camp near Logan. The reservation will be operated on a troop camping basis. Programs will include swimming, hiking, archery, rifle, camping and pioneering, canoeing, boating, scout skills, nature and burro packing.

Greenhills Reservation will open June 23 and close July 20. Reservations are now being accepted.

Gallaher is a graduate of Marshall University and the 1959 National Training School for professional scouters and the National Camping School. He started his professional career in Charleston, W. Va., where he directed the Charleston area camp for two years. Gallaher came to Columbus in 1958 to serve the new Capital (downtown Columbus) District.

During the past five years the Capital District has grown from 850 scouts to 1,465 in December of 1962 and from 48 to 72 units. Gallaher resides at 2523 Atwood Terrace, is married and has four children.

The opening of the first section, Camp B at Greenhills Scout Reservation, is the result of the nine-county Camp Capital Development Campaign conducted last year.

Already 20 units with over 300 boys have registered for the first season.

Kletzly Elected By Notre Dame Alumni Group

Ernest Kletzly, 1116 Kenilworth-rd, was elected secretary of the University of Notre Dame Alumni Association of Columbus at the organization's meeting at the Columbus Athletic Club last Tuesday.

Kletzly, a 1957 graduate of the University of Notre Dame, has been active on various committees of the alumni group.

Kletzly and other officers of the association will be installed on Universal Notre Dame night, Apr. 20, at Presutti's Villa, 1692 W. Fifth-av.

Walnut Ridge High

by KEN MICK and BILL GEE

Joy Crook and Diane Tamanini were chosen to be the 1963 Buckeye Girls' State representatives from Walnut Ridge. Chris Lindenberg, and Dorothy Woods are the alternates to the June affair.

Tom Coneybeer, and Ron Dawson, will represent WR at the Boys' State. Jerry Mossing and Mike Hick[illegible] their back-ups. All eight of the candidates are honor students.

Patty Bair, Tom Coneybeer, Suzanne Fisher and Bob Wetzel, were the Walnut Ridge Teachers' choices for Citizen of the Month during March.

Patty, senior class secretary, scholastically ranks number one in the senior class. Tom, a junior, is a winner of this year's American Legion Essay Contest. Tom has been on the four-point honor roll all year.

Suzanne Fisher, an eighth grader, sings in the Junior High Choir, and maintains an honor roll average. Bob Wetzel, freshman, participates in athletics in addition to maintaining a "B" average.

Jim Schirtzinger, senior at WR, won two $25 U.S. Savings Bonds for his poster during Brotherhood Week.

the clothes out into the yard makes the legs firm and shapely.

"So throw out the washer and dryer, girls, and take to the washboard if you want. I'll stay plump with flabby arms, thick waistline and non-shapely legs. How about you?"

The Gay Philosopher says: The guy who follows a crowd is the one who will never be followed by the crowd.

Pool—

lem, since the pool would be 300 feet from Clifton-av.

- Reduce traffic conditions on Clifton by encouraging pedestrians to use the Parkview entrance.
- Shift a "considerable" amount of auto traffic to Parkview-av.
- Avoid problems "normally incident to a pool on a thoroughfare" such as "throwing beer cans from cars into the pool area, waving, etc."
- Provide a better opportunity for landscaping and beautifying the pool area.
- Help keep out non-members and strangers . . . "trouble makers who'll try to muscle in."
- Reduce the need for special policing.

Pohlman concluded by telling council that his association had a bid of $100,800 on the pool and accessory buildings from Midwestern Pool Co. of Dayton.

The Ghost With The Red Band Is Lurking

Pilot Dogs, Inc., 625 W. Town-st, a non-profit, nonsectarian foundation, announced that one of the most persistent ghosts in the history of work for the blind wears a red band around its middle—one of the red strips from cigarette packages.

For almost a life-time now this ghost has been spooking around the country, making life miserable for the many agencies working with and for the blind. It has brought heartache to many well-meaning people — and disappointment to many blind folks.

All over the nation friendly Americans who want to do something for their blind friends collect the useless little red strips that go around cigarette packages, in the mistaken hope that if they collect enough they can trade them in for a guide dog for a blind friend.

The American Foundation for the Blind, which often acts as a clearing house for problems pertaining to blindness, has for two decades tried to convince people that there was no truth to this rumor.

Leading tobacco manufacturers all insist they never promised guide dogs to anyone.

Pilot Dog policy states "no blind person who is otherwise eligible, is ever denied a Pilot Dog for lack of funds." In reality the blind person, his family or friends are required to pay nothing. The trained dog, room and board, and all transportation is paid for by this non-profit organization.

Meanwhile, the ghost with red cellophane strips fluttering from its shrouds is still stalking the lanes of our nation.

Perhaps, with your help, this wasted effort can be stopped.

According to Pilot Dogs, Inc., there is a project through which organizations can help the blind own trained dogs. Vets dog food wrappers are redeemable, and by contributing these coupons to Pilot Dogs Foundation, funds can be raised to give guide dogs to the blind absolutely free.

The Foundation presents these Vets' coupons to the Perk Foods Company for redemption and is paid one dollar for every 100 coupons it has received from pet owners.

In addition to the guide dog, the blind person receives free transportation to and from the training center, and four weeks board and lodging while being trained to use the dog.

Further information can be gathered by contacting Pilot Dogs, Inc., 625 W. Town-st, CA. 1-6225.

One of the bonds was for winning at WR, and the other for winning in the area.

Doug Tracy, of Homeroom Balcony North, has won second place in the city-wide Safety Poster Contest. Doug is a member of the Junior High Safety Corps.

Tartan representatives are located in the snack bar during both lunch periods. They are collecting the balance due on the 1963 TARTAN.

A Good Report From Our Good Neighbor

We've just had a look at the current annual report of our good neighbor, Western Electric, and join the community in saying we are proud to have them with us.

Last year's Western Electric sales were up about 5.9 percent to reach a total of $2,762,000,000 and that's a lot of telephone equipment.

Earnings were up slightly to 4.9 per cent. This is a fine record and it is good to know we have firms in our community who are successful and can still make a profit. When they fail to do so we are all in danger.

What This City Needs Is . . .

Last week we editorialized on the fact that recommendations of a volunteer group of laymen with regard to the city water needs was ignored and the city will end up paying a lot of money for a worthless survey

Columbus is blessed with groups of men and women who are willing to work in a volunteer capacity to conduct drives, make surveys, etc. The city government has availed itself of the use of many such people in various boards such as the traffic commission, the recreation council, etc. We have the Development Committee for Greater Columbus which has turned in a stellar performance and likewise Citizens Research, Chamber of Commerce and the Metropolitan Committee all have their places and do a good job.

Now . . . how about a citizens group interested in seeing that more of these various recommendations get into the action stage? This would require that these same people take it on themselves to stand not only for a program but for candidates for office who will back up such programs.

There is a real opportunity for service here if the leadership for such a group can be forthcoming. Better qualified individuals will be willing to become candidates if they can have the feeling that they can have such backing.

It all comes down to one thing . . . we need business men and women and individuals with the fortitude to stand up and be counted and speak up in behalf of qualified men for our public offices.

Last Week For Entering Ham Contest

This is the last opportunity to enter the contest for the free Easter hams being given away by Hartley Newspapers and the merchants in your neighborhood. If you've already filled in your coupons and deposited them in the proper business places, then this is your last opportunity to complete the enclosed coupons and take advantage of as many chances as possible.

Next week's edition of this paper will contain the names of people in your area who have won a free Swift's Premium fully cooked ham.

There is nothing to buy to be eligible to enter the contest. Just fill in the coupons found on a full-page ad in this paper and deposit them in the place of business of the

Holiday Inn Eyes Whitehall Tract

Whitehall Council referred a $1.2 million motel-restaurant rezoning issue to the Planning and Zoning Commission during action in regular session Tuesday night.

A petition to rezone a 4.5-acre tract at E. Broad-st and Hamilton-rd, filed by Holiday Inn, Inc., received a mere passing glance by the solons.

In other action, council:

- Cleared up its position on the proposed $2.5 million, 210-unit apartment project planned on a 10-acre tract on Poth-rd at Yearling-rd.
- Swore in a new council clerk, and
- Heard Mayor Moling complain of "hearing bells."

HOLIDAY TIME

The project is to "wrap around" the Ohio National Bank's Broad-Hamilton office, property currently owned by Johnny Flesch, former operator of the Meadowbrook Inn, which was leased to the bank.

James L. Hutter, Jr., assistant vice-president for Holiday Inn's home offices in Memphis, Tenn., said in a letter to council that plans called for a 124-unit motel in three separate buildings, a restaurant, a 25x50-foot swimming pool and a parking area for 177 cars.

The area will first have to be rezoned from single family residential to a four-family classification and the Hamilton-rd frontage from commer-

Scheduling Seminar To Have A-Peel . . .

Austin A. Peel, principal of Whitehall High School, has been selected by the School Management Institute, Inc., to play a leading part in a seminar on scheduling high school programs which will be held Apr. 7 to 9 at the Fort Hayes Hotel, according to Lewis Harris, SMI president.

He will make a presentation on scheduling vocation programs, which will be considered with other topics such as team teaching, language laboratories, modular scheduling, five-period plan, educational television and scheduling schools within a school.

Income Tax Made Easy?

Who says income tax is difficult?

At any rate, the City of Whitehall is taking steps to make it easier on taxpayers, according to that suburb's Mayor Walter B. Moling.

Moling

"For the convenience of all taxpayers," Moling said Tuesday, "the Whitehall City Income Tax Office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until noon every Saturday during the month of April for filing city income tax returns.

Isn't that peachy-keen?

Oh, yes. Moling did add a final somber note:

"Deadline for payment of 1962 taxes is Apr. 30, 1963," he concluded.

Police Report: All Roses

One of the best shots of spring tonic so far has been the 1962 annual report by Chief George Scholer and the Columbus Police Department.

The 53-page manual lists such uplifting thoughts as, compared to 1953, the Columbus Police Department has:

- Investigated 10,018 more crimes.
- Made 44,713 more traffic arrests.
- Made 3,522 more criminal arrests.
- Investigated 2,999 more traffic accidents, and
- Arrested 1,572 more juveniles.

George Scholer

All this, Scholer says, with only 124 more police officers since 1953. The report also considers that the land area has gone up 123 per cent since 10 years ago.

City Winning Dirty Lit Battle

Columbus Safety Director Albert Giles reported that the city's vice-squad is doing an "excellent" job policing newsstands to guard against a market-glut of obscene literature experienced in other large cities in the country.

Albert Giles

"The vice squad continually checks the newsstands," Giles said. He added that Mayor Westlake had received letters from local ministers claiming that obscene literature was on local book racks.

"Of course," Giles added, "we don't have the needed manpower to read every book that's published. The major problem in terming a book obscene is that it's hard to get a conviction—especially after the courts held that such books as 'Lady Chatterly's Lover' were not obscene."

DREAMING OF BECOMING QUEEN OF THE MAY

A "MIRROR, mirror on the wall" won't help them, but these four young ladies are certainly curious as to which one of them will be selected May Queen at Capital University. They are, from left, Judith A. Helmstetter of Perrysburg, Marilyn Gaupp of Upper Arlington, LaDonna Schanke of Genoa and Karen E. Ring of Bethesda, Md. Elections will be held Wednesday, Apr. 3, and the queen will be announced Thursday night, Apr. 4.

Plans Maturing Gracefully For East Side Elderly Home

Russell Taylor is as proud as proverbial punch over a project proposed for the south, southeast side of Columbus.

Taylor, director of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, has been working since the first of the year with Franklin County Commissioners to develop new homes for the elderly.

His first big pat on the back came two weeks ago when the City Planning Commission approved the site for an additional senior citizen public housing project at Alum Creek-dr and Frebis-av—just east of the rundown Franklin County Home.

KNOW YOUR CITY

On Monday came the second pat — so resounding that it almost knocked Taylor over.

The Public Housing Administration awarded a loan of $6,343,098 to the local housing authority for construction of the Alum Creek-dr home for the elderly and another on the southeast corner of Summit-st and E. Second-av.

"I'm delighted," Taylor rejoiced when he heard of the federal grant. "You know and I know how great the need is for housing for the elderly," Taylor told a Hartley Newspapers newsman. The government obviously knows, too.

Actually, both projects will be joint-efforts between the county commissioners and the housing group. Both are showing a desire to give full cooperation to each other.

Of course, the federal bucks mark just another step toward realization of the plan. Final plans still have to be worked out with the county and, of course, the question of where to put the money and how much is not entirely settled.

Taylor pointed out that the City Housing Authority is not permitted to equip cafeterias and furnish staff for a project like this and that it would have to be done by the county.

Here's Warning For Motorists:

Whitehall Fire Inspection Chief James Soteriades issued a warning Wednesday to motorists to be "extra careful" when flipping cigarettes out the car window now that spring is here.

"People get careless as soon as the weather permits rolling the windows down," Soteriades said. "It's easy to throw a cigarette out and have it fly in the back window again."

Two fires were reported Tuesday due to this.

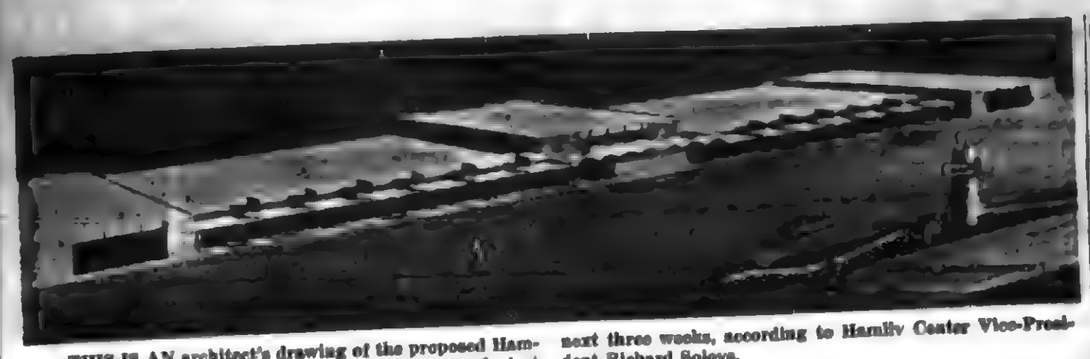
CHECK YOUR CAR?

STEVE BURMAN (foreground), president of the Franklin County Area Student Council and Bishop Hartley High student, checks tail lights for practice prior to the real thing Saturday, Apr. 6, when the council group stages its Road-E-O at the Ohio State Fairgrounds from 9 a.m. to noon. Standing is Jim Foley, and Mark Lang applies the brakes. The car check is just one feature of the Road-E-O composed by council members from University, Whitehall, Arlington, Columbus School for Girls, St. Charles, St. Mary of the Springs, Hamilton Township, Watterson, Westerville, Dublin, Bexley and Hartley.

I'LL TAKE THE MONEY is the impression little Jackie Sue Gliech, seven-month-old daughter of Mrs. Suzanne Gliech, gives to Hartley Newspaper representative, Bob Santo, as he hands Mrs. Gliech a "Confederate" dollar bill. Mrs. Gliech said she found the "I" insignia in her paper Friday morning while reading the advertisements, and was the first person to bring a winning ad to the Hartley Newspaper office. Mrs. Gliech, a new subscriber to the South Side Leader, says she likes the want ads and swap column especially well in her newspaper. The Gliechs reside at 1686 Linscomb-dr.

'Confederate' Money Jackpot Is Growing

A total of $46 in "Confederate" cash now awaits the lucky winner of the "Confederate" money jackpot at Hartley Newspapers this week. Each week the "pot" will continue to grow until someone, who is a paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper, gets the lucky "5" and claims the money . . . "Confederate" that is.



During the first week of the contest four lucky winners reduced the jackpot by four "Confederate" dollars. This means the remaining $21 has been added to the "pot" of $25 to make up the new total.

Somewhere in 21 different copies of Hartley Newspapers this week are hidden 20 insignia with the number "1", like the one shown in this column but in a color other than black, and one insignia containing the number "5."

By sending the entire page, including an ad with the insignia containing a "1," to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, a reader can win one "Confederate" dollar. An insignia containing the number "5" is worth five "Confederate" dollars to the reader. If the readers, with the "5"

THIS IS AN architect's drawing of the proposed Hamliv Shopping Center to be located on Hamilton-rd, just north of Livingston-av. Construction is to start within the next three weeks, according to Hamliv Center Vice-President Richard Solove.

Hamliv Shopping Center To Open East

Plans were announced Tuesday for the new Hamliv Shopping Center to be located on Hamilton-rd, just north of Livingston-av.

It is to consist of 14 storerooms and eight medical offices. Two large storerooms will be over 3500 square feet each, with the other 12 measuring 1300 square feet.

Construction will be of a new "flexible design" making it possible to make storerooms available in multiples of 1300 square feet, such as 2,600, 3900 square feet, and so on.

Richard Solove, vice-president of Hamliv Shopping Center, said that construction of the new, ultra-modern facility is to start within the next three weeks. Target date for completion is late September of this year.

The Hamliv Shopping facilities will handle parking for 104 cars and will consist of a variety of businesses.

Architects Titus and Prindle have faced the storerooms in an easterly direction on the 493-foot frontage by 200-foot deep lot.

The two lanes of Hamilton-rd are also scheduled to be expanded to a four-lane highway later this year to carry the heavy traffic now using the roadway, as well as carry the anticipated increases in traffic the Hamliv Shopping Center will attract.

Albert Beim, secretary-treasurer of Hamliv Shopping Center, noted that the theme of the center is "Keeping In Time With Columbus' Growth," and to symbolize that theme, there will be several large clocks or timepieces in the center. Beim also pointed out that regular shopping center hours will prevail once the center is open.

The Hamliv site was selected based on recent expansion of the southeast area.

It will serve such new areas as Thunderbird Acres, Pinehill, Pinecrest, Yorkshire, Leawood Gardens, Shady Lane, the new Brice-Livingston development, Reynoldsburg, Walnut Ridge and others now in process of development.

Central Ohio Beauties Can Register Now

William Ferguson, president of the Grove City Jaycees, has announced the selection of Kenneth L. Huffman, 734 Kenny-ln, as general chairman for the 1963 Miss Central Ohio Pageant, which is to be held May 10 at Veterans Memorial.

Huffman said applications are now being accepted for this, the third annual contest, which will introduce the Ohio Jaycee State Convention and will be preceded by a 60-unit parade through downtown Columbus.

The entries committee, under the direction of William Rosenbleeth, chairman, is asking that residents of Franklin, Fayette, Madison and Pickaway counties nominate their selections for Miss Central Ohio. Selections should be made on a card to the Miss Central Ohio entries committee, P.O. Box 85, Grove City, and should list the name, address and age of the candidate. An official entry blank and rules of the pageant will be sent by mail.

Miss Central Ohio will advance to the Miss Ohio Pageant where the winner, in addition to a $1,000 scholarship, will gain the right to represent the Buckeye State in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City Sept. 4 to 7.

WILL MAKE ADDITION

Everette Burt, 2924 E. Main-st, has received a building permit to construct an addition to a concrete block building at the same address. Construction is valued at $12,000. Contractor is Krupick Builders.

Bonney-Floyd Strike Ended

Employes of the Bonney-Floyd Co. 611 Marion-rd, voted to end the two-month-old strike against the company Monday night. An agreement subject to members' acceptance was reached at a Saturday meeting in Cincinnati between management and officials of Molder's Local 12.

A company representative stated Tuesday that more than 150 employes were back at work. Others would be called as soon as they could be fitted into the production schedule.

Glenn Moore, secretary of Bonney-Floyd, refused to make public the terms of the settlement at this time.

However, the federal mediator told the press that a six-cents-an-hour wage increase was granted as well as a three-cent premium for shift work. Fringe benefits were included, and the modified union shop altered to enforce non-members to pay the equivalent of union dues.

Recreation Center To Give Variety Show

This Thursday, Apr. 4, the East Columbus Recreation Center will have a "variety show" put on at 7:30 p.m. by the dance class participants.

According to their instructor, the whole show is based upon student ideas.

Some of the selections include "You Wonderful People," "Return to Paradise" and "Easter Parade."

Not only will the dancers be "tripping the light fantastic," but glamour from the graduating modeling class will receive diplomas. They are Sandra Harrison and Linda and Carol Ludwig.

NAA Team Seeks Cause Of Crash

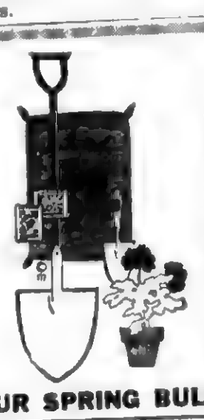
A team of North American Aviation investigators have begun reassembling the experimental YAT 28E turboprop fighter plane that crashed in Hocking County on Apr. 27. Chief test pilot, George W. Hoskins, '39, was killed in the crash.

Members of the accident board team located the remaining parts of the tail assembly Saturday about a mile and one-half from the crash scene. When reassembled, the craft will be studied in an effort to determine the cause of the crash.

The pilot is survived by his wife, Ruth Christine Thirlaway Hoskins; son, George; two daughters, Judith Ann and Barbara Sue, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hoskins, Danville, Ill.

Burial was to be in Arlington National Cemetery.

BUILDING PERMIT



Charles Worley, 117 N. 20th-st, has been issued a construction permit to build an addition to a concrete block building at 1019 E. Long-st. Construction is valued at $1,300. Contractor is Raymond Hill.

Tuberculosis Society Elects New Officers

John E. Nippert, 1615 Berkeley-rd, was re-elected president and four new members by the Board of Directors of the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County at its annual meeting Mar. 26.

New board members include Mrs. Ray H. Long, 1897 Elmwood-av; Mrs. George Kauffman, 393 Brookside-dr; Leonard Stern, 370 S. Roosevelt-av; and Hugh Bone, Jr., 2522 Brentwood-rd.

In other action, the board:

• Approved an annual budget of $204,000 to finance the Society's TB case-detection and prevention program.

• Provided for additional funds — over-and-above the budgeted amount — to support expansions of hospital admissions' x-ray programs.

• Appropriated funds to support special concentrated case-detection programs offering both free chest x-rays and tuberculin tests for residents in high-incidence areas.

• Voted to continue and expand county-wide school tuberculintesting, general public and industrial x-ray, and health information programs.

• Allocated $9125 for four Christmas Seal research grants to finance investigations into problems to tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Also re-elected as Tuberculosis Society officers Tuesday were H. F. Gross, 2893 Neil-av, first vice-president; Maurice Buckles, M.D., 336 S. Columbia, second vice-president; Mrs. Lovell Rohr, 3136 Race, secretary and representative director; and W. W. Wheaton, 1824 Berkshire-rd, treasurer. James H. Olsen, 2111 Tremont-rd, was elected assistant treasurer.

Re-elected to three-year terms as Board members were Mrs. J. S. Poorman, 2540 Maryland-av; H. M. Williams, 1825 Elmore; Dr. James R. Hull, 2531 Coventry-rd; and Rev. C. F. Jenkins, 189 N. Nelson-rd.

BEVERLY MILLER (back to camera) of West Jefferson, one of the three hostages of an armed gunman, is tearfully reunited with her sister-in-law, Nancy Miller, also of West Jefferson, following the robbery.

Lions Win Opener

Bexley's Lions opened their '63 track season successfully Monday, outpointing Brookhaven, 71-57. Top point-getter for the winners was Jay Maupin, who added up 11 and one-fourth markers by winning the 100, 220 and anchoring the Lion's winning 880 relay team.

TO ADD GARAGE

Don P. Cannon, Sr., 2875 Sherwood-rd, has been issued a building permit to construct a two car concrete block garage at his address. Construction is valued at $1500. Contractor is Henry Melragon.

Hostage Trio Numb With Fear In Ride

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

"Get going and keep going" was the order that launched a weaving, high-speed ride under gunpoint by a trio of shocked and numbed workers at Modern Finance Co., 2500 W. Broad-st, Monday.

Before the afternoon was over, another Hilltop family became involved in the incident, looked back on now by participants as "a bad dream."

Beverly

The ride followed a daring holdup attempt at 1 p.m. by a lone bandit who forced the finance company threesome into a repossessed automobile as hostages.

The gunman, being held at City Prison pending investigation of armed robbery and possible involvement in other loan company stickups in Columbus, was identified by police as Patrick Lee Appollonio, 20, of 757 Bryden-rd.

Sgt. Francis Smith, head of the robbery squad, said Appollonio admitted five recent holdups of loan companies, including:

Reliance Finance Co., 587 Wedgewood-dr, Mar. 11; Service Finance Co., 34 W. Gay-st, Mar. 25; Economy Loan Co., 83 S. High-st, Mar. 26; Guardian Loan Co., 2177 Livingston-av, Mar. 30, and Monday's attempted robbery. The spree totaled upwards of $1800.

Still outwardly shaken from the brief but dangerous journey which finally ended at Wilson-rd and W. Broad-st, the trio talked about their adventure. They identified themselves as:

Beverly Miller, 1659 Garden-rd; Larry H. Falin, 67 S. Ogden-av, and the firm's manager, John E. Hawkins, 1387 Fullen-rd. A second worker in the store at the time was Nancy Miller, 20, also of 1659 Garden-rd, and sister-in-law to the female hostage.

Hawkins

This is their story and how they lived it that sunshiny Apr. 1 afternoon:

The bandit entered the store and flashed a revolver. "This is a holdup," he said. "Give me all your money." He was dressed neatly in a gray gabardine suit and wore a handkerchief over his mouth, trying to disguise his voice.

Nancy was working in the back room while the other three were in the front. The gunman herded the trio to the back of the store and reached for the money drawer.

He stuffed a "couple of hundred" in bills into a bag. Just then, the telephone rang. The office workers stiffened. The bandit screamed at Falin to answer the phone. It was one of Modern's clients in Lockbourne, O.

"Talk loud so that I can hear you," the bandit said. Falin raised his voice and tried to chat calmly with the caller about his account. The bandit glanced away and Falin whispered. "We're being robbed . . . please call the police."

Several other times in the brief five or 10-minute period the phones rang. Each time Falin was ordered to answer them and each time he whispered his desperate message about the in-progress robbery.

After hanging up the third time, a Columbus police officer (who, according to Capt. Herm Beck of the detective squad, was heading downtown on W. Broad-st with another criminal) saw the action and ran to the doorway.

He knelt down quickly and fired a shot at the ceiling.

"Get out of here," the gunman shouted in a nervous, high-pitched voice. "Get out or I'll kill 'em." At that he spun around and said, "I want a girl to go with me." He looked at Nancy but grabbed Beverly by the arm. "C'mon," he said and headed for the back door, still holding the revolver but pulling the handkerchief from his face.

"I haven't got a car," Beverly pleaded, nearly frozen with fear.

"I've got one," Hawkins said quickly. "It's out back and ready to go."

"All right . . . all three of you come," the bandit said, handing the money bag to Falin and cramming the girl into the back seat of a 1959 Chevrolet.

He got in back with Beverly, ordered Falin in the front and told Hawkins to drive.

"Get going," the bandit said . . . nervous and shaky but this time he kept a lookout through the back window for policemen.

Hawkins tramped down on the accelerator.

The gunman ordered him north on N. Terrace-av and then west on Grace-st. "Keep going . . . keep going," the bandit said over and over. "I'm looking for an empty garage to dump this car."

The speedometer read 70 and then 75 and then 80 miles per hour. Grace deadends into Oral-av and there they headed south for W. Broad-st—ignoring stop signs up to this point but slowing down for a red light at Oral and W. Broad-st.

The gunman told Hawkins to drive through the service station there to avoid the light. Columbus police were approaching rapidly

At the underpass on W. Broad-st, the gunman tried to fire at the police. His gun was an old one . . . even rusty. It clicked twice but wouldn't fire.

The chase continued with the bandit hollering "faster . . . faster" all the way.

At Wilson-rd, Hawkins (with tires shot by police bullets) swerved to miss three pedestrians. He ended up in a

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Here's April Forecast For Food Shoppers

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Bananas, apples, canned peaches.

Vegetables — Carrots, new potatoes, salad greens, new cabbage, peppers.

Protein Foods — Beef and pork "specials," fryers, frozen fish, large eggs, cheese.

Food prices in April may push the over-all cost of living down a notch or so, some economists predict. They say the lower prices on meats and the declining prices on fresh vegetables will be largely responsible for the drop.

Mrs. Franks

As for meats and other main-dish proteins, food shoppers never had it so good — that is, not for many a moon. The whole family of pork cuts will be plentiful and prices well below last year, as unseasonally high slaughter rates for pork are expected in April and May. Beef also is expected to remain abundant. As much as 10 to 15 per cent more fed beef will be marketed in April, May and June of this year than during the same period in 1962, according to U.S.D.A. Marketing Service reports.

Other plentifuls for main dishes will be eggs, broiler-fryers and turkeys. Egg prices are expected to continue downward as hens increase their lay rate in the next few weeks. Increased supplies of fresh water fish, along with the good supply of frozen ones, offer fine menu changes. Milk production is on the up which means more cheese for cooking and for nibbling.

Fresh vegetables — partly responsible for the rising cost of food during the past winter — are on the increase and prices are beginning to drop. Florida growers say they're definitely back in business and will be sending us lots of pole beans, sweet corn, eggplant, squash and tomatoes. Our local greenhouse tomatoes will start this month — and, maybe, asparagus — if we have enough sunshine. Items to keep on your list are carrots, cabbage, potatoes and greens for both cooking or for salads.

As for fruits, that's another story. Fresh citrus will be about gone by the end of the month, although dealers say you can watch for better deals on grapefruit before the season ends. Banana imports will continue to be heavy, keeping them one of the best buys in fruits. There'll be enough good apples around to last throughout the month, but prices are firming up a bit.

Strawberries will be the brightest spot at fruit counters, if the weatherman behaves. Several southern states will be shipping berries and California will get into volume production.

In April, many folks begin to look for sassafras for a cup of "spring tonic." Sassafras bark has been around for weeks but have you noticed that it has gone convenient? Instead of the neat little bundles of bark, tied with cord string, you can now take your choice of instant or perculator grind — each packaged in a cello bag with the directions for making your cup of tea right on the label.

Under Your Hat

Have you bought that new Spring bonnet? If not, don't do it. That is until your coif has been arranged to go with the current hat fashions. This is most important.

Consider the value of a new permanent to keep it manageable and well - groomed. Don't overlook the value of hair coloring. More and more women are realizing just how effective it can be.

May we arrange that attractive new hairdo to put under your hat? It will be the "just right" complement for your new fashions. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus, BE. 8-5474. Town & Country Shopping Center.

Lorelei, that legendary lady who sent so many ancient mariners to the depths, simply sat on a rock, warbled a tune and combed her long, lovely hair! We do view that legend suspiciously. Lorelei (even as you and we) must have had a sweet time, trying to comb those wind-swept, sun-dried, salt-sprayed locks! But she had to sit on her rock and make the best of things. You don't! Lucky girl, you can come to our modern beauty salon for reconditioning.

THE MIRACLE-WORKERS

Oh, so many new professional treatments put snap, body and luster back into your damaged "do"! We have steam- and cream methods to pamper badly-split end break-off hair. There are simple quick-time professional liquids, to bathe back the elasticity that drooping hair needs most. And, strangely enough, there are new beauty salon bleach-and-color treatments that give needed body to some types of too-fine hair! We're just the "hair doctors" to show you which of these treatments will do the most for you.

STOP WISHIN'

. . . No use fretting or wishin' about your poor hair condition! It won't get well by itself, and you won't feel truly confident until your hair shines again. Make an appointment: put your head into our experienced hands. You'll be surprised at the difference one treatment can make! In no time, your convalescing hair is ready for its new super-conditioning permanent wave. Then there you are, looking vital again! With a new hairstyle that keeps its shape and glow.

FROM UNDER THE DRYER:

All the girls are talking about our jet-fast, no-care hair shapings. Have you had yours?

The Fabric Doctor

"How Did Oil Stains Get On My Dacron-Wool Dress?"

—Mrs. R. D. B.

Dear Mrs. R. D. B.:

You are right. You have not been near oil, nor has oil been spilled on your dress. Your dress has been heat-stained. Dacron reacts quickly to heat and if the garment has been hand-pressed or "touched up" with a hot iron, it could be damaged permanently. There is no way to restore the damaged areas.

Dacron-wool combinations (or rayon or cotton with Dacron) when exposed to heat may do one or two things. The Dacron, if white or light in color, will absorb darker colors from the fiber with which it is combined. The result appears to be a dye stain. Or, the Dacron will shrink from the heat of pressing and, as in your case, the wool yarns are exposed, giving the appearance of a dark "oil" stain. If the Dacron had been dark and the wool light, the damaged area would have appeared light in color.

Heat-staining of Dacron blends is an old story to drycleaners. They are on the look-out for it constantly. The greatest trouble now is with alteration shops, home-makers, or local tailors who alter or repair Dacron combinations and use a hot iron on them. But, Mrs. R. D. B., your dress was not oil stained.

KEY CLUBBERS GIVE FLAG TO SCHOOL

YMCA Membership Drive Is Extended

In response to a number of requests from campaign workers, the South Side YMCA Board of Management and division leaders report that the membership drive will be extended through Monday, Apr. 8.

The approximately 150 workers who did not have an opportunity to complete their calls are urged to take advantage of this additional time to complete the job and make a final report at the "Y" on Monday, Apr. 8, between 7 and 10 p.m.

The extension was reported by Ken Olbert, campaign chairman and principal of Barrett Junior High.

"This will absolutely be the last extension, however," Olbert stated. "I have to go back to work sometime."

On the evening of the original report night (last Monday), South Side YMCA membership workers had reported a total of $5020.

"Since only 15 per cent of the membership enrollment had reported through Monday evening, the total dollar amount representing memberships sold is indeed encouraging," Olbert added.

With a big report seen for last Tuesday's "dessert meeting," at 8:15 p.m., "Y" officials saw a giant step taken toward the goal of $13,000.

Each member was challenged to call on 10 qualified prospects, plus any additional prospects for the various kinds of "Y" memberships that the worker can identify through personal contacts.

The personal goal of each worker was set at $80 in total memberships at the outset of the campaign.

As of Monday, 10 workers had brought in over $100 each, Olbert leading the pack with $215. The top salesmen include:

Ray Ellis, salesman, $130; Fred Erfurt, grocer, $185; Richard Munsel, Roosevelt principal, $110; James Roy, Southwood principal, $110; Robert Madden, board of management member, $110.

Ed P. Becker, Ohio Inspection Bureau manager, $110; Louis Kempf, South High teacher, $110; Mrs. Margaret Steffens, housewife, $115; Carl Snedeker, South Side businessman, $190.

Again, Olbert emphasized that "we with special interest in the South Side are encouraged to take the first step in involving our families, as well as worthy indigent youth, in the "Y's" program.

"If we reach our goal of $13,000, there will be sufficient funds for the "Y's" professional staff to operate and expand its services to our community."

Campaign workers and all South Side citizens and businessmen were urged by Olbert to support this first-ever membership effort of the South Side YMCA, 190 Southwood-av.

JAMES WAGNER, executive secretary of the South Side Branch YMCA, really gets wrapped up in his membership drive work, as this photo testifies. Here Wagner continues to tabulate results in the campaign effort that has been extended another week.

THE PRICE FOR AIDING YOUTH

The following represent the prices of the various memberships available for the new South Side YMCA, 190 Southwood-av. They are being presented again since the drive has been extended one week:)

• Youth (under 18 years), $5; adult (18 years and up), $10; family, $20; Y-Park only (family), $10; Y-Park only (individual), $5; and Partner-In-Youth, $10 and up.

BOARDWORK, FLOOR PLAY AND DEFENSE – THREE KEYS TO A STATE CAGE TITLE

ANYONE WHO FOLLOWED East High School's progress from the Tiger's opening game to their state basketball championship victory last weekend would admit that the Bob Hart coached quintet's success channeled itself into doing well in all phases of the game. Three examples of the Tiger's proficiency in all departments on the hardwood are picture above during East's semi-final win over Cleveland East Tech Friday evening at St. Johns Arena. At the left, Tiger forward Avery Godfrey (42) discourages competition as he claims this rebound following an errant East Tech field goal attempt. Giving Godfrey his due are Tech's Chuck Parnell (22) and Fred Harris (40) and teammate Ken Fowlkes (right). In center photo, East's Bob Calloway (right, foreground) exemplifies the Tiger's persistent, scrappy floor game as he battles for possession with Tech players Jim Robertson (54) and Paul Daniels. East's Ed Waller (55), Godfrey (42) and Fowlkes (44) seem ready with assistance in the background. At right, Godfrey (left) and Fowlkes provide blanket coverage on Tech's Robertson (54) as the Cleveland cager gets field goal notions. East's stingy, fly paper defense told a good share of their semi-final and final success story. Of course, a 49 per cent shooting average didn't hurt the East cause any against the Cleveland quintet.

Buckeye Grid Five Battles Ex-Cage Stars Saturday In Ambuc Benefit Headliner

An All-Star basketball game, featuring play of past, present and future cage stars, will be held Saturday evening at the North High School gym.

The opening game at 7 p.m. will be a cage battle between two sixth-grade quintets representing the Whetstone Recreation Center. The second game (7:30 p.m.) will pit the Ambucs (American Business Club) against a team composed of teachers from West Jefferson High School.

THE FINALE at 8:15 sets the OSU varsity football team against a quintet composed of former Buckeye basketball stars. The Ohio State cagers' starting five will be Mel Nowell, Larry Siegfried, Joe Roberts, Bobby Knight and Richie Hoyt.

TV personalities Clay Eager and Clark Smith will take part in the Ambuc-Jeff teachers game. Eager will perform as a player-coach for the teachers' team while Smith will serve in the same capacity for the Ambuc five.

Tickets, which sell for one dollar for adults and 50 cents for children, may be purchased from the Ambucs, Whetstone Recreation Center children, the Gahanna Youth Group or at the door.

The three-game cage spectacular is being sponsored by the Ambucs in an effort to raise funds to help the handicapped-retarded children and those afflicted with cerebral palsy.

WBBA Allows Final Registration Tonight

Due to the large demand there will be a final registration period for boys interested in competing in the Whitehall Boys Baseball Association program this summer.

The last sign-up opportunity will be conducted tonight (Apr. 4) from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. The applicants should report to the City Municipal Building, lower level. Boys should enter from the left front entrance.

Bearcat Coaches Meet

The coaches of the Ohio Bearcat Football League will meet with members of the recently-formed Civitan Youth Fitness Associates Thursday, Apr. 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Chittenden Hotel on N. High-st.

Rams' Nine Nabs 4 Wins

Whitehall's ace righthander Bill Dildine picked up his second mound victory in less than a week Tuesday as he pitched the Rams to a 6-5 win over Eastmoor.

Dildine scattered six hits but Whitehall entered the final inning trailing the Warriors, 5-3. The Rams committed eight errors but made up for their leaky defense in the seventh when catcher Larry Tedder's triple and a squeeze bunt counted three runs for the winners.

DILDINE NOTCHED his earlier victory with a route-going three-hit win over Mifflin, 6-0. Biggest blow of the day came on Whitehall first baseman Dave Millington's long two-run circuit wallop.

Jay Ketzmier picked up the Rams' victory Friday—a 3-1 verdict over Groveport. Whitehall scored all three of its runs in the third inning when Cruiser hurlers walked three straight batsmen with the bases loaded.

THE RAMS' OTHER win came earlier this week as Terry Teddler limited Hartley to a single hit while recording an 8-0 win over the Hawks. Millington again provided Whitehall with its slugging impetus, stroking a grand-slam four-bagger in the second frame before adding this fifth RBI of the day with a double in the fourth.

Tedder fanned 12 Hawk batsmen while posting his first win of the season.

East 5 Downs Prexies For State Cage Title; Champs Feted Monday

The East High School basketball season officially ended shortly after 9 p.m. Saturday evening for one reason. The Tiger quintet simply had nowhere else to go. The Bob Hart-coached five had reached the top.

East's 41-32 victory over Marion Harding's Presidents had earned the Bengals the state AA basketball championship and returned the coveted state crown to the Capital City for the first time in 12 years.

PLANS ARE NOW being completed for a recognition banquet to honor the new state champs Monday at the Seneca Hotel. Banquet co-chairmen Harvey Alston and Paul Walker, East alumni of the '20s, have already made arrangements for the Tigers' '51 state champs to be on hand.

Walker expressed hopes that members of the 1924 East team, which was state cage runner-up, would also be in attendance. Tickets for the banquet, which begins at 6:30 p.m., are on sale now for $2.50 a plate.

Walker extended an invitation for women as well as men to attend the affair, adding the reminder that reservations would have to be made by Friday.

AS FAR AS the Tigers' final two steps to the title went last weekend, the only period of distress was experienced in the opening moments of Friday's semi-final clash with Cleveland East Tech (58-44).

The Scarabs shot off to an early 6-0 lead but East fought back and took the lead with 3:16 showing in the first frame on Avery Godfrey's goal. East never trailed again, leading all the way to the final buzzer Saturday evening, which tolled the state championship.

The Tigers' tenacious, fly-paper defense, oftentimes backseated this season in lieu of a potent, fast-break offense, had to be allotted its share of the final two victories.

EAST TECH, unbeaten until Friday evening, stayed within five points until the third period when East combined its fast-break attack with a tight defense to pull away.

Kenny Fowlkes and Godfrey hit on eight of nine field attempts in that period and combined with Ed Waller to rule the backboards, another East specialty. While the Tiger front line was busy lighting up the scoreboard, East guards Bob Calloway and Mike Hammond were forcing the Scrabs to fire hurried, outside shots.

The Tigers were never in serious trouble in Saturday's title game against Marion Harding after scooting off to a 9-0 lead. The Prexies moved within four at intermission but East had upped its Margin to 12 before another period could expire.

MARION CUT that bulge to eight late in the game but the Presidents could never solve the Tigers' shifting zone defense with any decided effect. East's height superiority paid off in the rebounding department as Marion could make only a token attempt at board authority.

The Tigers shot only at a 39.5 clip, as compared with a 49 per cent total Friday evening, but it was more than enough as Marion could assemble only a chilly 25 per cent of its shots — thanks largely to the East defense.

The East scoring was balanced as it was generally all season. Waller collected 14 points but Calloway and Godfrey were close behind with 10 and nine markers respectively.

A CROWD of nearly 2500 assembled at the State House Sunday afternoon to pay tribute to the state champs and coach Bob Hart, who couldn't ask for a better finish to his first tour of duty as head Tiger cage boss.

Governor Rhodes and Mayor Westlake expressed the gratification of a proud city and state to the newly-crowned champions but perhaps the best summation of the day came in the words of Tiger guard Mike Hammond who remarked, "We got the job done."

From Chillicothe (East's opener) all the way to Marion, the nods would have to be affirmative.

Wanted—Talent Scouts To Up Olympic Stock

If you were to stop the man on the street and ask him to name the most dominant necessity of the 1960's, he would more than likely say prestige.

If the man you had questioned happened to be Ohio Track Club president Jim Lorimer, you would have gotten a more categorical response — U.S. Olympic prestige.

"SPORTS HAVE BECOME an instrument of international prestige," said Lorimer last week in a speech to a gathering of five local Civitan Clubs. "The Russians are out to prove that their system will produce superior results whether in space or the sporting world."

Pravda has kept us well informed about the Soviet space accomplishments and a quick check of Olympic results since 1948 indicates that the USSR hasn't been much of a slouch in the athletic battlefield either.

In '48 the Soviets had no Olympic team but arrived at the games with a gigantic battery of coaches and cameramen. In '52 Russia had its first team—a small but well-scoring nucleus. Four years later the USSR fielded a complete team and swept to victory. The Red win was encored in '60, and from all indications Russia should nail down its third straight Olympic title in the track and field games of 1964.

LORIMER HAD the reason for the Russian success and consequent American defeat—girls.

The simple tragic fact of the matter is that our girls haven't been able to compete with the Russian girls. The male contingent of the U.S. team has constantly outscored its Soviet counterpart, despite the fact that Russian athletes are trained by the government while American sportsmen operate on a part-time amateur basis.

The wide-point spread separating the Red gals from the American squad has made the difference in team totals, and there's no reason to believe the situation will improve unless some positive action is taken.

"TOO LARGE a percentage of our high school competitive program is devoted to the boys," Lorimer said. "There are no opportunities for the girls. Too many potential Olympic prospects are left to die on the vine simply because of a lack of competitive programs.

"Our American boys are trained in athletics from grade school on up. A girl in Soviet Russia is trained on an equal basis with the boy. If we don't find some ways of getting our girls into necessary competition, we'll remain at our decided Olympic disadvantage."

There are two basic solutions that can rectify the present situation. One, we must find the girls who are qualified to compete on an Olympic basis, and two, we must sponsor their progress on a local level. Unlike the Russian setup, our government does not sponsor the development of local talent.

SOME EFFORTS have been initiated on a local basis. This May 3, for example, the Central Ohio Girls Championships will be held at Whetstone High School. Lorimer, who is also the secretary of the U.S. Olympic Committee for Women's Track and Field events, has sent out registration blanks to all schools and recreation centers.

"We'll probably attract about 500 girls of all age levels in this novice program," Lorimer said.

Another step in the right direction has been made with the establishment of a Girls' Track and Field Clinic by the department of Women's Physical Education at Ohio State University.

"Most necessary," Lorimer declared, "is the job of finding girls who have Olympic-level talents while they are young so we can bring them along. The tragedy is not finding the Estelle Baskervilles (East High high jumper who will represent the U.S. at the Pan American Games)."

THEN, OF COURSE, there's the problem of expenses. "The Ohio Track Club is not a profit-making organization," Lorimer continued. "Last year we went to New York three times by car. The parents had to foot the bill for travel and hotel expenses."

"We also had to get 14 of our girls to California. We must go where the competition is. In this case, we had to contact local service clubs, individuals and businesses to sponsor our trip. We can't go to the government."

It seems to us that Jim Lorimer and his Track Club shouldn't have this dilemma.

What is needed to make strides in the direction of Olympic success is an effort to find the best girl prospects from

Gahanna, St. Charles Nab Cinder Victories

Gahanna, Central and St. Charles recorded track victories Tuesday as the '63 cinder season progressed on four local lanes.

The Lion's John Mulconrey helped Gahanna to a 73-45 win over Whitehall, setting a new school record of :20.5 in the 180-yard low hurdles in the process. Ken Barth picked up 11 of the winners' points while Clark Fuller notched 13 markers for the losing Rams.

EAST'S FRED Lundy put on a one man show at Mansfield but couldn't prevent the host Tygers from scoring a 65-53 victory over the Tigers. Lundy won the 100, 220, broad jump and finished East's winning half-mile relay effort.

Eastmoor fell two points short of upsetting a talented Worthington team, 60-58 on the Cardinals track. Gary Perkins and Jim Clark set the pace for the Warriors — the former winning the 100 and 220 and aiding Eastmoor's victorious half-mile relay quartet, the latter going 13'4" to claim the pole vault event.

WILLIE THOMPSON'S double-win wasn't enough to stop Central as the Pirates recorded a 65-53 verdict over South. Thompson streaked to victory in both the high (16.0) and low (21.5) hurdles but the Reb runners' efforts were cancelled out by Central's Charlie Smith's 14-point output.

Bob Faller's 15-point performance provided the margin of victory for St. Charles as the Carolians outdistanced Rosary, 62.5-54.5 at Harley Field. Jim Groce was the Crusaders' most successful point-getter with 15 points.

Catholic Center Stages Karate, Judo Exhibition

An exhibition in judo, self-defense, and karate will be given at 8 p.m., Friday, Apr. 5, at the Catholic Center, 80 S. Sixth-st. The presentation will feature members of the Columbus Branch of the Korean Sports Judo Association.

The exhibition is open to all Catholic high school boys and men in the area.

INSTRUCTORS WILL be Doug Grant and Nick Liberty. Grant, a holder of the fourth-grade black belt, is the top ranking judo expert in the state. He is also the highest rate KSJA member in the United States.

Liberty, who has been participating in the sport for eight years, holds the first-degree black belt.

Center Has Jet Badges

The Jewish Center, 1125 S. College-av, is an authorized distributor for Jet Badges. The badges sell for 50 cents each and allow a boy or girl to attend over 50 Columbus Jet baseball games when accompanied by an adult.

Badges are on sale at the Center front desk. Groups desiring badges should call Howard Banchefsky at BE. 1-2731.

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

BY ANNE MALAY

The theme for this year's PTA Talent Show presented Mar. 29 was "Spring Showtime." The acts included singing, dancing, pantomime, ensemble and dance band entertainment.

All students appearing in the show were from local elementary, junior high and senior high schools. Master of ceremonies was Marvin Levine.

Mrs. James Cole was the general chairman and Mrs. R. G. Ulosser the talent show chairman. The WYHS PTA sponsored this annual affair to carry on their work at the High school and to raise money needed for scholarships.

The WYHS GAA has been sponsoring girls' swimming on Thursday nights at the Jewish Center.

Three WYHS students who qualified for the Regional Science Fair held at Otterbein University Mar. 22-23 are John Scott, second prize; Garry Stein, honorable mention; and Arnold Shaheen who received a certificate of participation. John also received a handbook of chemistry and physics.

Saturday, Apr. 6 is the date for the District Science Fair at OSU. Whitehall science students who qualified for the event include Robin Chestnut, Jackie Hanf, Randy Srba, Greg West, Carolyn Fuqua, Kendall Lewis, Judy Wilmouth, Patty Matchett, Arnold Shaheen, Garry Stein, Alan Winner, John Scott, Alain Bell, John Andrews, Willa Hsueh, Margaret Ivens, John Mercer, Dave Rohr, Kathleen Short, Susan Swonger, Ed Williams, Carol Williams and Paul Morganski.

Mrs. Laymon, fifth grade teacher at Etna-rd, spoke to FTA members at their meeting Mar. 28.

The WYHS play cast has rehearsed every night after school from Mar. 25-29. The cast includes Vicki Shipman, Mark Clark, Gary Willis, Kathy Hannah, Bill Young, Sandy Cunningham, Phil Schultz, Sylvia Orr, Linda Mason, Lynn Srba, Jan Manzello, Linda Yayne, Bob Kuhn, Bob Ray, Dan McCarty and Kim Heffelfinger.

This group will present "Mumbo-Jumbo," a modern comedy Friday and Saturday nights, Apr. 26 and 27.

Commission Seeks 100 Firefighters

The Whitehall Civil Service Commission announced that it was going to make an all-out effort to get a minimum of 100 applicants to take the upcoming examination for firefighter.

Joe Shannon, the commission chairman, said, "This is a lifetime career with a healthy retirement program and excellent working conditions and we intend to obtain the best men available for these positions. There are 10 vacancies.

"Firefighters start at $375 per month with step increases to $450 for satisfactory service. Residency in Whitehall is not required to take the examination, but is is necessary to become a resident after employment."

For further information, see the legal notice appearing in today's newspaper.

Two Veteran Officers Retire

Two veteran career engineer officers retired from military service on Friday, Mar. 29.

Colonel Earle B. Butler, Commander of the U. S. Army Mobility Support Center, and Major Donald A. Taylor, of the Planning Office, Defense Construction Supply Center, were honored by a retirement parade and reception held at the Defense Center's Officers' Mess.

Brigadier General Hallett D. Edson, Deputy Commanding General of the U. S. Army Mobility Command, Center Line, Mich., presented Col. Butler with the Second Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army's Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service during his command of the local center.

Col. and Mrs. Butler will leave their home at 2541 Schaaf-dr following his retirement, so he may report in Cleveland Apr. 1 as the Cleveland harbors commissioner.

Col. Gomer A. Sweeten, 3293 Rosswell, assumed command of the U. S. Army Mobility Support Center at 52 Starling-st.

EXTEND CIVITAN GREETING

Tuesday night the rezoning ordinance was tabled indefinitely when it came up for consideration on third reading.

But, after a recess and a quick meeting with City Solicitor Paul Haytcher, council reconsidered the action and voted the ordinance down five to one.

NEW CLERK

One of the prettiest items to hit Whitehall since its new council building became a permanent fixture in that suburb's administration Tuesday.

Mrs. Gloria Conn, Yearling Circle Apts., was sworn in as new clerk of council.

The oath was administered to the attractive secretary by Mayor Moling. She replaces Mrs. James Maxwell, Jr., who resigned late last year.

BELLS ARE RINGING

Council heard a brief plea by Mayor Moling about a soon - to - be - introduced ordinance creating the position of a new Municipal Building clerk. The salary is being set at "not less than $240 a month nor more than $275."

The mayor insists that the position is a necessity since his present secretary spends most of her time answering phones, which, according to Moling, are averaging between 110 and 125 calls a day.

HERE AND THERE

• A public hearing scheduled for Tuesday by P&W Realty on land located on the west side of Hamilton-rd was postponed.

Atty. William P. Lewis urged the postponement on the issue to rezone the land from general commercial to industrial for a new and used car lot.

• Heard Safety Director Robert Mickey promise that garbage pick-up within the city would be improved. "It hasn't been good," Mickey said.

"It surely hasn't," added Councilman Kenneth McIntosh. "Especially when they pick it up at 1 a.m."

Winners of "Confederate" Cash from Hartley Newspapers will find the old currency has become as good as gold if taken to an advertiser in a Hartley paper during the week the money is spent.

Hartley Newspapers guarantee the advertiser will receive the full amount of Hartley "Confederate" Money redeemed in his place of business.

Mrs. Suzanne Giech, a South Side Leader subscriber, 1686 Linscomb-dr, was the first to discover a lucky "1" insignia in her paper and bring it to the newspaper office.

Others have won "Confederate" cash and so can you. No contest to enter, nothing to buy, nothing to write. Just watch this and future papers for the winning insignia, always in a color other than black, printed in one of the advertisements. It could be worth $46 this week, for a "5" and maybe more next week.

The White Oaks District is planning their spring camporee for May 3, 4 and 5. The camporee is to take place at the W. Bale farm on Athica-rd near Hoover Dam.

The theme for the camporee is "Ropes and Spars and Conservation." The main activities during the camporee will be centered around pioneering skills such as bridge building. Relay races with rope work, lashings and knots will be the main competition.

The conservation part of the camporee will actually be held before the camporee. On Apr. 13 those troops attending the camporee will assemble at the farm to plant trees as a conservation project.

This project is in conjunction with the Ohio State Department of Natural Resources, and the main purpose is to prevent soil erosion in the Hoover Dam area and to provide a suitable wildlife reserve.

Three thousand White Pine, Yellow Pine, and Locust trees will be planted by the Scouts. All Scouts attending are expected to bring a shovel to help in the planting.

At the campfire, which will be held at the camporee, a tapout ceremony for the Order of the Arrow will be conducted. The Order is special Scouting brotherhood for experienced campers.

A 24th anniversary dinner was held Mar. 23 by Troop 78 of the Mohawk District, sponsored by the South Side YMCA. Guests of honor Mrs. Grace Stewart, Mrs. Wimbly and Mrs. Bechum were presented plaques for service by Mr. Wagner of the YMCA. Speakers were Mr. Gil Bolin and Mr. Herman Schumn of the Mohawk District.

Troop 369, sponsored by Reformation Lutheran Church, recently held a Court of Honor recognizing boys who have made advancements.

Inducted as tenderfeet were James Wilson, Steven Crawford, Don Sancho, Pat Smutz and David Caner. Receiving Second Class awards were Craig Garrelts, Greg Chalfant, Art Zook, Lon Sancho, Richard Caner and David Sturtz.

Two Scouts were awarded with the star Badge, the highest rank honored. John Andrews and Kenny Andrews were the recipients.

Twelve Merit Badges were awarded to seven different Scouts. They were Kenny Andrews, Fishing, Citizenship in the Home, Indian lore, home repairs and public speaking; John Andrews, public speaking; Steven Hines, stamp collecting; Larry Insco, first aid; Gary Spang, first aid; Rolan Dillion, first aid; and Mike Niebler, mechanical drawing and home repairs.

Snodgrass Keeps Franklin U. Post

George A. Snodgrass has been re-elected chairman of the Franklin University Board of Governors. He is public relations director for the Columbus division of North American Aviation, Inc.

Renamed as vice-president was Dr. B. D. Thomas, president of Battelle Memorial Institute. Others re-elected to the board include:

Herbert E. Evans, president of Peoples' Broadcasting Corp.; Ronald A. Sedgwick, Columbus Councilman; Irwin G. Stirgwolt, accountant, and Earl M. Tilton, president of Columbus Forge and Iron Co.

TO BUILD GARAGE

L. R. Ramsey, 1836 Marecord, has been issued a building permit to construct a two-car, frame garage at 4039 E. Broad-st. Construction is valued at $1,000.

Landmark Soon To Go

The Hamilton Township Police Department, which was activated in December, may soon have a new building.

Chief Frank Bonner stated last week that the trustees are contemplating replacing the old township voting house at the corner of Rt. 665 and Lockbourne-rd with a new two-story structure on the same site.

The chief also announced the resignation of police officer Fred Frank.

"I have a man from Reeves Station I'd like to replace him," Bonner said, adding that the final decision is up to the township trustees.

Robber Escapes With Market Cash

Columbus police are investigating the report of a Saturday morning robbery at the Royal Blue Market, 1187 Oak-st, where an undetermined amount of cash was lost to a thief who grabbed a money bag and fled on foot.

Produce Manager Peter J. Miller, 146 Erie-st, told police that he was returning from a bank, and was about to enter the market when the robber struck.

Eastmoor High School's Warriors' Spear-It

By DIANA DAVIS

"George Washington Slept Here," a rollicking comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kauffman will be presented by the dramatics department, Friday and Saturday nights Apr. 5 and 6, at 8:15 in the Eastmoor auditorium.

Tickets can be purchased for $1 from any member of the dramatics department or at the door.

"Teacher Career Month" began Apr. 1 with the Future Teachers of America honoring the educators for the day.

An informal reception for the teachers was held in the school library after school, concluding the day's activities.

An Eastmoor "Crest" will be a new school symbol in the future. On Apr. 2 the student body and teachers voted for their choice from the four best designs submitted. The results will be announced soon.

SERGEANT PROMOTED

Raymond L. Heck, whose sister, Francis Gastil, resides at 712 Weyant-av, has been selected for promotion to chief master sergeant in the Air Force.

The sergeant is an aircraft maintenance superintendent at Reese AFB, Tex.

American Colonial troops scored a victory in the battle of Princeton Jan. 3, 1777.

Area High Schoolers In TB Effort

Several East Side area high school science students represented their alma maters in the TB Society's science report contest at a research tour of Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital Mar. 23 or at a "Question the Experts" session Mar. 30.

Those participating from the Eastern Review area included:

Sharon Williams, 545 S. Everett-av, Eastmoor; Linda Russ, 610 S. Ashburton-rd, Eastmoor; Jean Bonner, 765 Heyl-av, Bishop Hartley; Evelyn Parsons, 681 S. Ohio-av, Bishop Hartley.

Peter Butterfield, 1184 Gertrude-dr, Walnut Ridge; Jean Fechheimer, 114 S. Broadleigh-rd, Columbus School for Girls, and Anne Werum, 2130 E. Broad-st, Columbus School for Girls.

The students were chosen by their schools to participate in the educational project, open to the two top science students from each high school in Columbus and Franklin County.

Among research projects demonstrated and explained at the tour by doctors Roy L. Donnerberg, Philip C. Pratt, J. F. Tomashefski and Robert J. Atwell, all of Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital staff, was the operation of a respirometer. Students watched closely as researchers tested the breathing capacity of many of the students present.

Theme of the educational project is "TB-RD — the Old and the New in Medical Science." The tour was designed to provide the students with first-hand information on the problems of diagnosing and treating tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Students were shown how blood samples can aid diagnosis of histoplasmosis, a fungus disease of the lungs, which often resembles tuberculosis on X-rays and in symptoms. They saw normal lungs and compared them with lungs infected with various types of emphysema.

Dr. Roy L. Donnerberg summarized the various projects as a climax to the tour.

The "Question the Experts" session featured a movie entitled "Research Doctor," filmed at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital and a lively question and answer period conducted by Dr. Roy L. Donnerberg.

Students write 1,000-word reports, present them orally before their school science and health classes or a school assembly and submit reports to the Tuberculosis Society for county-wide judging. Deadline for entries is Apr. 24.

The society will present token awards to the top 10 individual winners and certificates of honor to schools whose representatives are among the winners.

Howell Heads Boosters Now

John Howell, 519 S. Weyant-av, has been named new president of the Eastmoor High School Boosters Association, a group official announced this week.

Other officers include:

Vice-president, Chuck Armstrong, 549 Napoleon; secretary, Robert Whiteman, 1333 S. Weyant-av; and treasurer, Don Bollie, 1521 Argus-rd.

The new officers reported that the next major project is to set up a dressing room and equipment room near the football field which is located a quarter of a mile from the school.

OU Students On Dean's List

Local students who have achieved scholastic recognition on the Dean's List of Ohio University for the first semester of 1962-63 include: Steven Levy, 2792 Columbus-av, Bexley; Margaret Boesel, 748 S. Roosevelt-av; Karen Groves, 966 Kenwick; Helayne Margulis, 2719 Berwick-blvd; and Pam A. Matchett, 4502 Broadhurst-dr.

Stylists claim the average woman doesn't go by the latest fashions. Spell it "buy," and she's wrong.

Left Bank Influence Hits Capital's Campus, Mon Ami

Things should be as French as French Fries Apr. 17-20 on the Capital University campus.

The reason, mon ami, for the transition from the dignified "University on Main Street" concept to the left bank influence is the big 1963 Creative Arts Festival.

Actually, "The Left Bank of Paris" is the theme for this year's festival and, according to talented publicity director Woody Books, over 150 entries have already reported in for such categories as:

Drama, fine arts, interpretive dance, literary arts, music and speech.

The whole French wingding will be climaxed with a Beaux Arts Ball open to all participants from 8 p.m. to midnight on the final day.

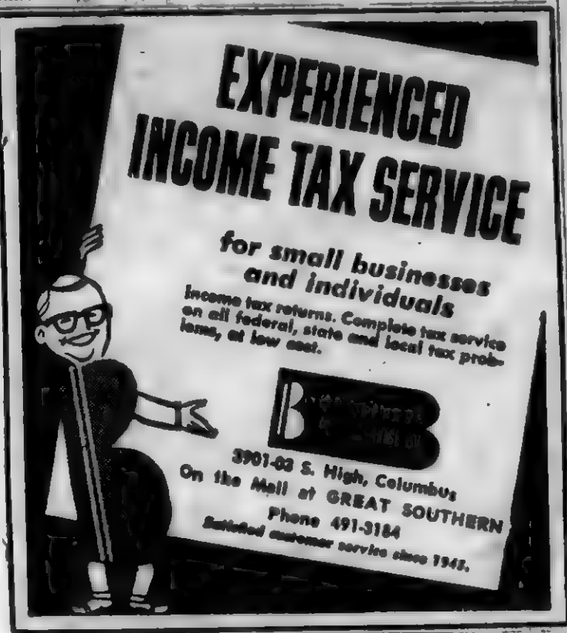
The Festival is open to all students, faculty and personnel at Cap, but the public, of course, is welcome to see the exhibitors.

Original one-act plays; informative, entertaining or stimulating speeches and musical compositions will highlight the four-day event, although original dance entries have been growing.

The schedule includes:

APR. 16 — A program relative to the Creative Arts will be presented in Convocation.

APR. 17 — An Art open house will be held in Schumacher Gallery from 7 until 10 p.m. Open to the public.



APR. 18 — Speeches to be presented and judged from 8 until 10 p.m. in the Toledo Room, in Bexley Hall. Music will be presented but not judged at this time. Open to the public.

APR. 19 — Music finalists and interpretive dance finalists will present program for judging from 8 until 8:45 p.m. in the Toledo Room, in Bexley Hall. Open to the public.

CALLED 'BEST EVER'

Trotters Did It Up Big In Custom Show

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

After leaving the annual Rod and Custom Show last weeekend at the Fairgrounds, you can't help but feel a bit guilty easing into your auto that still looks like it did when it left the Detroit assembly line.

You pull away from the Youth Center and glance at your hood. "Same old paint job from the factory," you think. You run your hand over the "stock" seat covers and wish it were angora, like some of the other cars at the show.

Even the motor sounds a little sicker, and you start to wonder about phrases such as "headers," "air blowers" and "twin chrome pipes" and how much these items would do for your oil burner.

It was that kind of a show.

The rod and custom spectacle, seen by observers as the best ever, was the sixth annual offering sanctioned by the Trotters' Hot Rod Club of Columbus.

And show it was. The Trotters left out little in crowd pleasing, what with a bevy of colored lights sparkling on the metallic paint jobs and the fluffy mesh to create a cloud effect around the cars.

Show Chairman Frank Clark, 1701 Marina-dr, probably still in high school, seems to typify the type of boys and well-adjusted adult men who participate in the activity of "hot rodding" — no longer a term to be frowned on.

It's easy to back up this last statement by merely witnessing the time, money and work put into the some 100 cars on display.

For instance, Mike Keefe, 628 S. Everett, along with neighbor, Ron Adams, 579 S. Everett, went to work on a late-model Chevrolet and, before they had finished, the car now sports a closed-circuit TV set-up and record player, among other things.

Another auto, a Corvette, took one and one-half years of work by Skip Krecsmar of Country Club-rd and Sharon Jahn of Reynoldsburg. They installed a brand new interior of a blend of wool and angora.

One of the most unique items to hit a hot rod show ever was offered by the "Barkers" Hot Rod Club of Grove City — a division of Teens Unlimited.

They came home with the club display trophy with their satirical look at custom car styling.

"We were formed too late to make a real custom," said Paul Goebbel, one of the club's members. "So, we hit on this idea instead."

They took a 1949 Buick, merely "stuck on" custom items like triple exhaust pipes coming from the motor, splashed it up with paint — over the mud, rust and everything—and threw an auction-type collection of articles in the interior and trunk.

If nothing else, the Barker effort demonstrated the fact that it's not so easy to design and construct a custom car and pointed out the various areas of the car body used as targets for customizing.

Other show highlights included:

- "The Flirtation," owned by Dave Classon with interior work by Lenny Gray. It's a 1957 Ford that features a purple and white metallic flake finish, swivel seats and a bar in its interior.
- "The Thing," by Paul Johnson of Elyria. It's a 1932 Ford with a completely chromed undercarriage and was named 1962 National Roadster.
- "Miss Midget," a Buckeye Quarter Midget stock-modified racer driven by Corky Tulton, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tulton, 280 Dennis-ln, Grove City.

No Place For High School Drop Outs

The consequences of high school drop outs are much more serious today than in the past. Why? Because today's drop outs are virtually unemployable.

This was one of the prime messages carried to a capacity audience during a workshop meeting sponsored by the Columbus Urban League Guild. More than 200 persons attended the Mar. 27 meeting at the Southern Hotel.

Speaker for the program was Shelton B. Granger, director, Youth Development Unit, Children's Bureau, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Granger reported on programs being developed by the federal government to assist states in dealing with the high rate of drop outs.

A problem area that is now diminishing, he said, is the past willingness of educators to assume total blame for drop outs, and of the public to subscribe to this mistaken belief.

Granger pointed to a united front by educators, parents and many other agencies as the best means of stemming the flow of potential drop outs.

"She really dishes it out that way!"

Although he called for a distinction between drop outs and juvenile delinquents, he said that much common ground is shared by the drop out, the delinquent and the unemployed youth.

The program was moderated by Dr. Harold H. Elbling, superintendent of Columbus Public Schools. Dr. Elbling told the gathering that a number of programs aimed at the drop out problem are being carried out in the public school system. He cited a reduction over the past year from 35 to 32 per cent in the number of ninth grade pupils who will fail to graduate because of dropping out.

The Urban League Guild will sponsor two follow-up study group meetings, according to Mrs. Albert Schwartz, staff consultant.

New Political Step?

TV Debate May Mean Twist Still In Style

M. D. Portman, Democrat candidate for Columbus City Council, may have hit upon a new technique for political campaign debate.

He has issued a challenge for a television debate, but not to one of his opponents for a seat on council. Instead, Portman has selected C. Wayne Freeman, his successor as Columbus finance director.

The debate challenge was issued as the result of a statement by Freeman at the Monday council session concerning a report filed by Portman when he was Columbus finance director.

The Freeman-Portman controversy hinges on the relationship between performance budgeting and cost-of-service studies.

Said Freeman: "One can only conclude that my predecessor was not aware of the distinction between performance budgeting and cost-of-service for rate making purposes, or chose to confuse the public by deliberately equating one with the other."

Portman's reply by letter: "In order for the public to determine the validity of the statements made by me, I suggest a public debate on the purposes of performance budgeting as it relates to determining rates (water and sewer) as well as the need for the department of finance in the city charter. If you so desire, we can include other aspects of municipal administration in our discussion."

Offer Instruction For People Who Aid Handicapped

Courage Incorporated is sponsoring a demonstration of handling techniques and equipment for people who are caring for the physically handicapped.

The first demonstration will be held Saturday, Apr. 27, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Ohio Rehabilitation Center, 472 W. Eighth-av. The program includes lifting and handling techniques, a demonstration of equipment and aids, a tour of a room planned for a wheelchair occupant and a question and answer period for specific problems.

Because of limited space reservations must be made on or before Apr. 20. For reservations or information contact Mrs. C. L. Baughman, 1410 N. Hague-av, BR. 9-8024.

There is no charge for the demonstration.

Church News Deadline Set

All ministers are invited to send news of Good Friday services for publication in next week's issue.

Church news and pictures must be received at Hartley Newspapers office, 2465 W. Broad-st, by Saturday noon, Apr. 6.

The only things we really keep are those we give away.

Youth Offenses To Be Discussed

The alarming incidence of juvenile delinquency in Columbus and its outlying areas will be discussed Thursday, Apr. 4, at 7:30 p.m. on "Suburban Viewpoint" over WOSU-TV, Channel 34.

Mrs. Eleanor Boardman, editor of the Upper Arlington News and the Tri-Village News, will report on her research in recent weeks into youthful offenders in her community. A representative of the Upper Arlington Police Department and an Ohio State University sociologist will also participate.

The upswing of rabies, prevention and treatment will be discussed by members of the OSU College of Veterinary Medicine.

Soap Box Derby Interest Is High

There is every indication that the 1963 Columbus Soap Box Derby will be the biggest ever, according to Derby Director Tom Hawk, who added that already more than 250 boys from throughout Central Ohio have shown an interest in the coming race.

Hawk estimated that possibly 125 of these youngsters would compete in the Derby on race day, July 13. The winner will represent the Columbus area at the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Aug. 3.

The third advance clinic for boys with previous racing experience will be held at the Sunshine Recreation Center, 667 Sullivant-av, Saturday, Apr. 6. The first clinic for boys entering their first Derby will be held Saturday, Apr. 13, at Hugh White Chevrolet.

Child Welfare Board Appeals For Homes

A new appeal for foster homes for children under the care of the Franklin County Child Welfare Board has been issued by Charles L. Caton, executive secretary of the board.

"There is a critical need for 100 foster homes for children under agency care," Caton said.

The past year has seen a steadily increasing need for homes to care for children of all ages, Caton reported. Since Jan. 1, children have been referred to the Child Welfare Board at the rate of three a day.

Agency officials report that lack of available foster home resources has resulted in a backlog of youngsters awaiting placement.

"Once again," Caton said, "the Child Welfare Board is making an appeal to the Franklin County community for assistance in locating persons interested in giving a child a home. Previous appeals have shown that many people desire to have children to board if given a clear picture of what boarding entails and the tremendous need for such a service."

Caton explained that any couple between the ages of 26 and 50, in good health and having living space for an extra person or persons, and of average financial stability, is eligible to become foster parents.

Interested persons may secure further information by phoning BR. 6-3541, Ext. 256 or 295, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A Word Of Advice On Quitting School

If drop outs in the Columbus Public High Schools continue at the current rate, 32 percent of today's ninth grade pupils will not graduate.

Local school officials are working diligently to develop a program to better meet this problem. As an intermediate step, we present the following points for consideration by potential drop outs and their parents:

To the would-be drop out:

At first freedom will be fun, but you will pay a heavy future price. Even if you have a job, your chances of advancement will be nil. If should you become unemployed (and this is almost certain to happen sooner or later) you will find that there is no place for you in industry. Many employers are demanding a high school diploma for such jobs as porters and common laborers.

In short, by avoiding the admittedly tough couple of years required to finish high school, you will almost certainly suffer a lifetime of misery, poverty and remorse. You will probably not be able to support yourself, much less a wife and family. You will deny yourself the right to participate as a worthwhile member of your community, and you will be a self-made second class citizen.

To the parents:

The foregoing tells you where your child is headed if he quits school. Statistics say that many of you have traveled the same road. Do you really want the same for your offspring?

Let your child quit and he will think you are "swell guys." But you will be blamed and condemned when the trouble begins.

It is much harder to be more firm and unyielding than you have ever been before; to do everything humanly possible, in cooperation with school officials, to keep your child in school. But this course of action will surely gain you the love and respect of your child for all of his adult life.

You will have the satisfaction of knowing that, when the blue chips were down, you met your burdensome duty as parents.

High School Dropout

Spring Is To Enjoy

Beautiful spring is here at last,
More welcome this year than ever before—
A time for letting the fresh air in
And "shoein' " the children out the door.

It's a sad reflection to think that the innocence of this springtime story can — in a few unsuspecting moments — result in tragedy. How many times this summer will our story continue like this?:

A ball is thrown or batted out,
A child chases it to the street
A screech of brakes — long moment —
Maybe he stopped in time, and maybe not

If it happens, we can't rewrite all the wonderful moments lost of the joy of spring. Perhaps we should — before the playing season begins — conduct "spring training" to condition our children and ourselves for the even more dangerous months ahead.

Let us invest a few minutes to tell our children about the dangers of competing with traffic or take time to transport them to a safe play area. It may well protect us from the hours of agony and self-recrimination spent in a hospital emergency room.

Buy Easter Seals

A message coming across our desk from the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children reminds us that giving, through Easter Seal contributions, is really a means of receiving. "Instant contentment," the society says, is the commodity received.

How great the reward for those who watch crippled children — some of them tiny tots — laugh at their accomplishments as they drop their crutches and haltingly walk three or four steps into the arms of a physical therapist.

Those of us who support the Easter Seal drive can rephrase the old slogan to "give until it doesn't hurt," i.e. until it (crippling disease) doesn't hurt the children.

Guest Pulpit . . .

Know The Things That Make For Peace

"Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."
Luke 19:42

It was the evening of Jesus' last visit to Jerusalem before His crucifixion—Jerusalem, the "holy city" in whose streets, synagogues, temple, He had preached and taught the gospel of the kingdom, had healed the sick, had worked many miracles to the glory of God. Here, as everywhere else He had gone, a worthy compendium of His ministry was that "He went about doing good."

Rev. Tuttle

What a metamorphosis! That morning, heralded by a motley throng, He had entered the gates of the city, with the loud plaudits of the self-seekers, the curious, and even many who did not know who He was, all rallying to the chance of being recognized by the object of popular acclaim.

There were a few who knew Him, including children, whose praise was genuine, and acknowledged by their Master.

But the crowd disassembled and the shouting faded away when it became apparent that Jesus was not riding into Jerusalem to claim the political throne. The multitude had frantically assumed that this was the time and the place, and the person who would fulfill the long-hoped-for deliverance from Roman rule and usher in a reign of peace and freedom from oppression.

And now it is evening, and He who a few hours before was borne along in a jubilant processional, with "Blessed is He who comes in the Name of the Lord," is away from the crowd, on Mount Olivet, overlooking the city, weeping.

Who is He that weeps? The central figure of the Bible, the Founder of the Church, Friend of the Sinner, the Hope of the Resurrection, our Advocate, the Bright and Morning Star, King of Kings, Lord of Lords, The Way, The Truth, The Life, The Good Shepherd, the Son of God, Savior of the World, The Prince of Peace! Yet He weeps.

Why? Not for Himself. This had been settled. Nor as a defeated conqueror. He wept, as He saw again in those streets, those who so needed the peace He had come to bring. He saw through their false ambitions and selfish motives, their crass unconcern, the emptiness of their pursuits. And He cried out, "Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."

Now, 2,000 years later, do we know the things that make for peace? We have tried everything, and still are bored. Peace is not to be bought at the prescription counter or the liquor store, nor is it to be found in the possession of things or gadgets, nor yet in the mad attempt at satisfying our sensual appetites, nor in the busyness of our affairs, nor in the attainment of unworthy goals.

Peace must begin in the heart of man. The peace of forgiven sins, "which passeth understanding" has no substitute. The love for God, giving Him first place in our lives, worshiping and serving Him, loving our fellowmen, even our enemies, forgiving others as God forgives us, growing in our faith through daily devotions and prayer habits,—these are some of the things that "make for our peace."

And as St. Paul urges, "Let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts . . . and be ye thankful."

"An House of Prayer for All People." That is the inscription over the doorway of one church in Columbus. It is typical of many places of worship in this great and good land.

In using the word "church," perhaps not too accurately, we mean any house of worship. Most are Christian, Protestant or Roman Catholic. There are many synagogues, perhaps even a few Buddhist temples and mosques of Islam.

This is not a sermon. It is a layman's effort to express his views and thoughts about the value and necessity of worship without either denial or affirmation of any creed.

All worshipers believe in a Supreme Power, a Creator of all things, whether they call Him God, Jehovah, Allah, or whatever. All have a concept of His omnipotence, justice and mercy.

Some non-believers and agnostics say they would join no church because they are all full of sinners. Of course they are. Redemption is religion's business. That's why repentant sinners seek it in a church.

We believe few or none, not even the worst criminals, would want to live in a land without churches. The meaning of freedom to worship may be hard to define, because it is so big. But wherever it is, we all are beneficiaries.

It says here . . .
Religion on earth is on-the-job training for Heaven.

For Whom The Fight Bell Tolls

(A Play in One Act)

Scene: Office of St. Bernadine just inside the Pearly Gates.

Cast: St. Bernadine and Teddy Jones, a new arrival from earth.

McPeek

SAINT B.: Hello, my son. May I help you?

TEDDY: I was sent here from the Gate for instructions. I just arrived.

ST. B.: Hmmm, that's odd. I usually don't handle general indoctrination cases. May I ask who you are?

TEDDY: My name is Teddy Jones. I'm a boxer . . . or rather I was until last night. I was killed in a match.

ST. B.: Oh, that explains why they sent you to me. I'm considered the patron saint of boxers. When I was on earth, a priest of Siena more than 700 years ago, I fostered the sport of boxing. It was much more moral than dueling with daggers, as was the custom then, and certainly vastly more healthful.

TEDDY: So that's how it started.

ST. B.: But, my son, you say you were killed in a boxing match. How could that happen? In my day, boxing was a fistic sport to determine the skill of the opponents. It was supervised and was never permitted to get out of hand, so to speak.

TEDDY: Well, boxing still is a sport among amateurs. But I was a professional boxer who fought for money. Professional boxing is run by gangsters and thugs, for the most part, and they don't want any real supervision cribbing their fun. They want the fights to be bloody. It pleases the fans who pay to see the fights and bet large sums on the outcome. So we professionals just wear light gloves and mix it up as much as possible. When you slug away all the time you don't have much chance to exhibit boxing skills. About nine of us are killed each year.

SAINT B.: My goodness! Why is this mayhem permitted?

TEDDY: Because a lot of people like it. They come for miles to see the professionals fight. It's probably a lot like when Nero used to throw Christians to the lions. You've heard how the crowds went for that "sport."

ST. B.: Alas, it's true. Many people responded to such base instincts in Nero's time, and also in my time of the dagger duelists — but up here we had hoped that such habits had been overcome on earth by now. Surely not all of the people encourage professional boxing. Why is it permitted?

TEDDY: Well, most states at one time or another did outlaw professional fighting. But there are an awful lot of people who love to see someone else's brains bashed out, and the gangsters who have lots of money and power use it to influence the lawmakers.

SAINT B.: Even if this is so, why do the boxers permit the gangsters to control them? Why do they fight?

TEDDY: Again it's because of money. Take me, for instance, I'm a Negro, as are most professional fighters today. We box because it is one of the few ways we can get money to enjoy a better life. Besides, we're used to fighting. We have to fight most of our lives. Many white people hate us and it is very difficult to get a good job, or even a suitable education in many places that would qualify a Negro for a good job if it was offered to him.

SAINT B.: What a deplorable situation. We must pray for the sake of those poor boxers and Negroes.

TEDDY: No disrespect intended, Saint Bernadine, but I would suggest that we pray for those poor bloodthirsty slobs who pay money to see two "civilized" men climb into a ring with the intent to murder each other. If we cure the fans then we need not worry about boxers. It might not hurt to pray for the bigots, too.

Frosting On The Cake
By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

We are dealing with so many amazing paradoxes in this country today that it is almost impossible for rational people to decide which way is up. Confusion is the order of the day.

On the happy side, I have never known a time in my public and professional career of 45 years, when so many fine and decent people are seeking modern scientific enlightenment.

Night schools are jammed with hungry-minded individuals, teenagers and adults. Libraries report a great demand for books that deal with self-improvement.

On the negative side, I have never known a time when there were so many confused and fear-bedeviled people as this generation. We read every day of almost incomprehensible behavior. Crime is now a disease in our entire social order, and experts are at loggerheads to find one right answer.

Those who know clearly today where they are going and what they wish to accomplish in this life, are constantly held up to ridicule and even slanderous comment. Work is a dirty word and old fashioned honesty is a mark of "not being quite bright."

Good manners and self-imposed consideration for the feelings of all others is so rare that anytime, anywhere we see a gracious and thoughtful individual it is almost a shock. Automobile drivers who don't even know the meaning of the word manners are more and more numerous, and if the decent and attentive driver even attempts to reason politely with such goons he lays himself open to mayhem or worse.

Police take constant abuse from ruffians just because they are trying to do their job. The only time a cop has a friend is when some ox gets gored by another oaf who then hollers bloody murder for "the law." Teachers finally blow their tops and whale the devilment out of some spoiled brat and the "dear darling's" mama or stupid dad have the teacher arrested on an assault and battery charge.

Judges are waking up at last to the fact that no "slap on the wrist" is going to cure this disease. Calling punks juveniles up to age 18 is social suicide. A full grown bully at 18 who won't behave himself is an adult physically and should be handled that way.

Unless we get this country back to God and back to work, it matters not one iota what the Communists do henceforth. May Almighty God speed the day!

Start Your Spring Fishing Slow 'n Easy

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

By the time you read this I fully expect to have received reports of some good fishing in this area. After the warm spell, largemouth bass should be showing up from farm ponds. And the word will be out any day now that walleyes are hitting at Hoover Dam.

Not more than two or three weeks ago when a lot of waters were still icebound, I heard anglers predicting a late spring. "No fishing until after the middle of April," was the general opinion. I had to agree.

But not even the weathermen could know about the warm rains and days of sunshine — those welcomed balmy breezes. As it turned out, the fishing season will begin about as usual.

The timeless roll of the seasons moves on with the regularity of waves beating on the shore, and nature has a way of catching up if she gets behind momentarily. A flood is a catastrophy for human beings, but you must admit it's a pretty good way of getting rid of a lot of ice.

I can predict fishing reports with more accuracy than the weather. The first bass will be taken from farm ponds or the shallow bays of larger lakes. Here, the water warms quickly, and the bass move in to bask in the sun and to shake the winter chill from their bones.

The first stringers will be taken on baits fished slowly. A medium-sized spinner with a white pork strip added is deadly at this season. It should be snaked across the mud bottom in slow jerks. Either live, or artificial nightcrawlers will also do the job.

Walleyes are where you find them. These are school fish and are highly mobile. They may be in deep water one week, and in the bay the next. At Hoover, however, the action generally starts in the upper end. The spawning urge will be upon them, and you may find walleyes congregated at the mouths of inlet streams.

Preferred baits are nightcrawlers and minnows. Some anglers use a spinner and nightcrawler. Spinners worked properly will also take them. Fishing is usually done near bottom early in the season.

The important thing right now is the slow and easy approach. Bass, especially, are in a slow motion mood, and the slashing strikes and spectacular leaps you see pictured in outdoor magazines come later. The knack of catching bass from cool water is to know when you have a strike. It is not uncommon for a bass to pick up a lure without the angler even knowing it. In these cases, hooking the fish is accidental. But it's a pleasant surprise to all at once have a fish on the end of your line.

The great onrush of spring has started. You might as well be a part of it and get in on the early fishing. It's been a long winter!

Dear friends,

Two little girls stopped at the curb. They looked both ways before crossing the street. We just witnessed this occurrence, and it shows that these little girls have been coached by someone, probably parents and teachers, to be careful about traffic.

Now if we can impress drivers to be more careful, our safety problems would be largely solved.

Respectfully,

Arthur B Leach

I need the Answers to some SERIOUS QUESTIONS

Why am I here? What shall I do with my life? Where am I going? This young man is at the threshold of his adult life and needs the answer to some serious questions. Perhaps you find yourself pausing to take stock of your life and groping for direction.

The Church of the Living God tells the truth about man's life, death, and destiny. The truths learned there will set you free to live a more abundant, meaningful, and creative life. "And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." John 8:32.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Tuesday Night TV? Depends On How You Look At It . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

So I was watching TV with my wife, Hazel Eyes, last Tuesday night, and I noticed she was making fewer trips to the refrigerator.

"Not feeling well?" I asked sympathetically.

As usual, when she's engrossed in watching television, she replied with her regular (and barely audible) "Huh?"

"I mean, you've hardly left your seat all evening," I continued. "Not hungry?"

'Can't you see Im busy," she replied, still glued to the tube with a reverence likened to a youngster pasting Mikey Mantle clippings into a scrapbook.

It's getting to be a regular Tuesday night ritual with Hazel Eyes. She sits with TV Guide in one hand and a sweaty palm in the other ready to reach for the dial selector.

So I wondered if Tuesday was something special. It does certainly seem to be packed with evening viewing entertainment but, after checking with the experts, I find that Hazel Eyes is all wet.

According to national Neilson surveys and local television station officials. Sunday is the night to watch television.

I offer this to Hazel Eyes, hoping to break the spell. "You're wasting your time," I say. "Only two of the shows in the top 10 are on Tuesday. Why not turn it off and play euchre?"

It didn't work. Evidently Hazel Eyes isn't much impressed with rating systems so I call some friends "Wait'll this program's over," they say. "I'll call you back."

There was little else to do but check Tuesday's lineup. Red Skelton, Jack Benny and Garry Moore — there's a Big Three if I ever saw one, to say nothing of the "Untouchables" and "Dick Powell Theater" lest we forget "Empire."

The statistics tell a different story.

Some fast men with an adding machine have come up with the fact that 19,457,000 people in this country watch television on Sunday night. In comparison, 18,115,000 view on Tuesdays. See?

Benny and Skelton are the only shows in the top 10 on Tuesdays with top-ranked "Beverly Hillbillies" on Wednesdays and three of the top 10 on Sundays: "Candid Camera," "Lassie" and "Bonanza."

So what's with the Tuesday night business?

Officials at WLW-C television explain that "everybody's trying to knock everybody else out of the Tuesday night slot." Why? Who knows? At any rate, the big guns are certainly loaded for that evening, it seems.

Sunday night, the same officials say, is the best night for quality and variety. This doesn't impress Hazel Eyes much either. "There are eight different varieties of programming on prime time Sunday," they add, and Hazel Eyes shrugs her shoulders.

Of course she isn't paying the bills for programming, and the people who do watch those ratings closer than a chicken hawk watches chickens.

Of course, the rating companies are under fire by Senate subcommittees for certain inequalities in their judgments, but their effectiveness is still felt in the TV market.

A look, by local television personnel, at the industry on a day to day basis reveals:

MONDAY — Weakest night for total viewers. TUESDAY —Five different varieties of programs with NBC drama and new commentary, CBS adventure, comedy and variety and ABC adventure.

WEDNESDAY—Five kinds of variety. THURSDAY — Four different varieties. FRIDAY — Six. SATURDAY — Seven, and SUNDAY — Eight.

The biggest video fight seems to be for Monday night viewership. CBS is bombing the other networks with the Lucille Ball Show, Andy Griffith and Danny Thomas. NBC is making a valiant fight with "Monday Night at the Movies" feeling it's doing a better job than "Saints and Sinners" formerly in that time slot.

Me? I'll stick to Hazel Eyes' rating system. Simply stated, this means, "When she don't answer, then watch."

TOP TEN ON TV

The following regular viewing shows were listed as the top ten as of Feb. 24 as printed in "Variety" and compiled by the national Nielson survey:

1. "Beverly Hillbillies" (CBS) Wednesdays.
2. "Red Skelton Show" (CBS) Tuesdays.
3. "Candid Camera" (CBS) Sundays.
4. "Dick Van Dyke" (CBS) Wednesdays.
5. "Andy Griffith" (CBS) Mondays.
6. "Ben Casey" (ABC) Mondays.
7. "Dr. Kildare" (NBC) Thursdays.
8. "Lassie" (CBS) Sundays.
9. "Jack Benny Show" (CBS) Tuesdays.
10. "Bonanza" (NBC) Sundays.

The "Carol Burnett Special" and "A Look at Monaco" were also included but were omitted here since they are not regular series shows.

disease.

Here are his suggestions:

DO obey the county-wide quarantine on dogs. Keep the family pet at home or on a leash at all times. Have dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies, since they are the most likely means to spread rabies to humans.

DO destroy any skunks and other suspicious wildlife found in rural areas. Call the police and health officials in town; they will handle the matter.

DO report all dog bite cases to the police and health officials. Try to indentify the dog and take it to a veterinarian to be examined.

DON'T handle or pet stray dogs. Parents should warn their children to avoid contact with any strange dogs while going to and from school.

DON'T handle any wildlife that acts friendly; this sort of behavior change in a wild animal can indicate the presence of rabies.

At the present time, Franklin County has the second highest number of rabies cases reported in the state, with six skunks and two cattle reported as confirmed cases since Jan. 1.

Ohio is second only to Texas in rabies incidence among those states reporting, according to Dr. Jack Russell, veterinarian with the Division of Communicable Diseases, Ohio Department of Health.

Dr. Robert Adams of the Columbus Health Department stated that there have been no cases of human rabies in Columbus since 1937. He pointed out that a great part of this decline has been due to the increased awareness of the problem, and the growing number of vaccinated pets.

Dogs, particularly, since they are usually the animals with closest contact with humans, can provide the link between rabies in wildlife and humans. The best way to break this chain reaction is to have the family pet vaccinated annually against rabies.

According to Dr. Adams, 21,000 dogs were given rabies vaccinations in the city of Columbus in 1961. There have been 38,318 dog licenses issued in Franklin County for 1963, estimated to cover about half the county dog population.

The City Health Department, which handles dog bite cases, had 2590 dog bites reported during 1962. This is a seasonal problem, with the highest number of bites usually occurring during April and May, when children and dogs are spending more time outdoors.

The number of dog bites reported this year have been as follow: January, 105; February, 126; March, 200.

In these cases, it is up to the family physician to decide whether the long and painful, and potentially dangerous, series of Pasteur shots must be given to the person bitten as a preventive measure. The only sure way to avoid this is to determine whether the animal responsible for the bite is immune to rabies.

Veterinarians throughout the county are prepared at all times to give rabies vaccinations to dogs and cats. There are two types of vaccine available; one with a one-year effectiveness, the other type effective for three years.

Both are acceptable with the city, county and state health officials. The law requires that all dogs over the age of three months must be vaccinated annually against rabies.

Complete compliance with this law will be a big step toward elimination of the health threat of rabies.

As plans stand now, the new building would be constructed on a 4.7-acre tract. It would be a five or six-story structure with facilities for 350 persons.

The housing will be designed and built specifically to fill the needs of elderly tenants. Taylor said construction on both projects should begin in one year.

The loan will be repaid from the sale of 40-year bonds to private investors. The loan is for site acquisition and improvements, plans and designs and actual construction.

The housing director pointed out that such a facility was needed due to the "dilapidated condition" of the current County Home. He said he "wasn't sure" whether or not they'd consider completely tearing down the old structure.

Airman Honored

Airman 3.C. Rodney B. Hedges, son of Earl B. Hedges of 146 Ross-rd, Whitehall, has been named honor graduate of the United States Air Force course for radar operators at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Airman Hedges was trained to operate manual ground radar equipment used for aircraft control and warning purposes.

NARCE To Meet

Columbus Chapter 235, National Association of Retired Civil Employees, will meet Saturday, Apr. 6, at 2 p.m. in Old Federal Building, Third and State-sts.

Prof. George Jenny, OSU, will talk on Ohio history and show slides.

The oldest surviving document in book form is a book of folded pages, a Buddhist work, dated 949 A.D.

Well Landscaped Grounds Will Greatly Enhance A Home's Beauty, Charm, Value

Modern home improvement should start with one's land, says the American Association of Nurserymen. The costliest mansion surrounded by bare and eroded soil is a depressing sight. By comparison, a four-room house on a beautifully landscaped plot can provide a lovely setting for more beautiful and gracious living.

Natural beauty on the land has no limitations of wealth! Anyone can achieve it. The principal requirement is an appreciation of the land on which the family lives and what it can do for those who treat it kindly by planting and maintaining it.

Success in landscaping the property requires, as in everything else, a sound approach.

1. Sit down and figure out what you wish to achieve — outdoor living, armfuls of flowers, tree-ripened fruits, cool shade, play areas. It may be a combination of all.

2. Start with a plan to achieve what you wish. Where you want your fruits and berries; where the ideal spot is for outdoor living (you may also wish to screen it with shrubs or trees from the neighborhood generally). Shade should be where you most desire it. The foliage of the tree when mature should be between the place where you want shade and the sun. A professional plan by a landscape nurseryman often is advisable.

3. Plant according to the plan. At the same time, after each plant is placed in the ground, stand off and observe whether you are planting it in exactly the right place. If not, shift it a little until it is most pleasing to the eye.

4. Maintain your plants once they are in the ground. A good soaking with water only when the soil becomes dry is a general rule. Fertilizing and mulching may be needed. Get advice from neighbors, nurserymen, state university extension services. Many pamphlets are available. Read the garden stories in your local newspaper for ideas.

Property improvement by landscaping and gardening can be a very rewarding experience.

Landscaping can also be a sound investment, the trees and shrubs growing in value from year to year, increasing the value of the property up to 25 per cent or more.

BEAUTIFUL APPROACH to this home is created by carefully proportioned grouping of colorful rhodendron and other shrubbery.

Many Easy Ways To Finance Projects

If you are like most families planning a major remodeling or modernization project, you most likely will find it necessary to borrow some or most of the money to pay for it. In today's money market, home improvement financing is one of the most common types of lending transactions. In fact, home improvements can be financed through a greater variety of techniques than almost any other kind of purchase.

Choose Your Plan

To choose the one method of financing that is best suited to your particular situation is a basic step in making sure that your remodeling or modernization project will meet all the requirements of a sound investment.

To aid you in making this selection, here is a quick wrapup of methods of home improvement currently available.

FHA Title 1 Short-Term Loan: You can borrow up to $3,500 with five years to repay under this loan, which is insured by the Federal Housing Administration. It is confined to improvements considered "essential" to the home, such as modernizing kitchens, bathrooms, finishing off extra rooms, etc. Interest usually runs five per cent discount on the first $2500 of the loan, drops to four per cent on the balance of the loan. "Discount" interest means that the full interest charges are deducted from the amount of the loan at the outset.

FHA Long-Term Loan (Section 203K): You can borrow up to $10,000 for as long as 20 years. The loan (also insured by the Federal Housing Administration) must be used to make major structural changes in your home, such as adding a new wing. Your dwelling must be at least 10 years old. Simple interest runs around six per cent.

Bank Home Improvement Loan: Like a Title 1 Loan, you can borrow up to $3,500 and take five years to repay. The interest varies from five per cent to seven per cent discount. While costing slightly more than Title 1 loans, bank loans are more flexible. You can use the money for many improvements which are considered "non-essential," and, thus, not eligible for a Title 1 loan.

Open End Mortgage Loan: If the mortgage on your home contains an "open end" provision, you may be able to borrow on it for home improvements, an amount equal to that which you have already paid off. To handle the added debt, (1) your monthly payment may be increased, or (2) the time of repayment may be increased slightly.

New Mortgages

Refinancing Present Mortgage: If your mortgage does not include an "open end" clause, look into the possibility of retiring your present mortgage, by getting a new one large enough to pay off the old loan and also cover the additional cost of your home improvement project.

Personal Bank Loan: If your home improvement project is relatively minor, such as installing storm doors or windows, repainting or the like, you might consider this type of financing.

Backyard Gamesmanship

To help you plan your backyard playground, here are the areas recommended for popular pastimes:

Archery: 25' for "plinking"; regulation course: 100' with 10' baseline.

Badminton: Doubles court 20'x44'; singles 17' x 44'.

Croquet: 30' x60'.

Deck Tennis: 18'x44' (doubles); 12'x44' (singles).

Handball: 20' x 34' (smaller if necessary).

Horseshoes: 10' x 50'; pitcher's box 6' square.

Paddle Tennis: 25 x 44' (doubles); 17' x 44' singles.

Quoits: 2 circles. 3' diameter, 54' apart.

Volley Ball: 30' x 60' (regulation); 25' x 40' (children).

Home Owners Start Clean-Up, Check-Up, Fix-Up Operations

As spring approaches, the home-owner's thoughts turn traditionally to cleaning-up and sprucing-up his property, both inside and outside.

In addition to the "spring cleaning" phase of the operation (usually Mrs. Home-Owner's department) there are matters of minor or major repairs, redecorating, replacement of outworn or outmoded equipment, even remodeling (the better to meet changing family needs) that are likely to get top priority at this time of year.

Certainly this is a good time to make a systematic check-up of the whole house, assessing the damage that the ravages of winter weather may have caused, and locating potential trouble spots that can result in more serious breakdowns later on.

A good place to start is outdoors. Check the ground around the home's foundation where washouts may have left holes. Further rainfall will fill these holes with water, which can leak through any cracks in the masonry. Such holes should be filled with sand or gravel and topped with soil at grade level.

Next take a close look at the foundation. Cracks should be repaired with a pitch base waterproofing cement that can be applied with a pointing tool, putty knife or trowel.

Inspect Siding

Siding should be closely inspected for cracks and splits or decay, and the decayed or rotten boards replaced, where practical. The homeowner al. so might consider re-siding with asbestos cement siding shingles that are virtually maintenance-free.

Roofing should be checked for loose or curled shingles, and these should be renailed in place. Nailheads should be covered with roofing cement. Badly damaged shingles should be replaced. Condition of chimney morter should be checked, and also the flashing, for holes, cracks or corrosion.

Take a look at gutters and downspouts, which may have become loose or damaged during the winter. Tighten up hangers, refastening them where necessary.

Check door frames and windows for deteriorating caulking, and replace it where necessary.

Outside paint should be checked for signs of peeling or flaking. Bare spots should be scraped clean, then touched up promptly to keep moisture from entering the wood. If the condition is widespread, a complete paint job is probably needed as soon as possible.

A close check should be made for possible signs of termite entry. Wooden members that are in contact with the ground should be treated with a penetrating type wood preservative.

Heating System

If heating system is more than 20 years old, consider possible modernization. Certainly the furnace and heating plant should be inspected, adjusted and lubricated at least once a year by a competent service man.

Inside the house, look for wall cracks and bulges and sagging ceilings. Check for needed paint work. In dry-wall construction, drive any protruding nails below the surface and fill hole before starting to paint.

Check flooring for needed repairs or replacement of boards or tiles. Consider refloring one or more rooms with some of the new, attractive and highly durable materials, such as vinyl tiles.

Room Additions Can Often Solve Space Problems

Americans spent nearly $1 billion dollars last year adding space to their homes — proving that a new room is sometimes a better solution than a new house.

A survey of these families indicates that most of them had outgrown their present homes. However, they liked their present neighbors and neighborhood, had children in nearby schools, were located near their place of employment, had a mortgage with a favorable interest rate, and did not want to pay the real estate and moving costs involved in buying a new house. Many families also reported that they had not been able to get their price when they tried to sell their house, so they decided to "stay put" and add a room for greater convenience.

Most families add a 12x16 foot or 16x20 foot family room or parents' bedroom, depending upon their most urgent needs. New bedrooms usually include a half-bath. Family rooms are the most popular additions, because they provide leisure and entertainment space that is lacking in most three-bedroom homes today. Costs range from $14 to $18 per square foot, depending upon the amount of plumbing and wiring needed.

Ideas for those who are thinking of expanding their homes are offered by the Douglas Fir Plywood Association in "Add-a-Room-Manual." It shows how to add a bedroom or family room to the side or rear of a one-story or split-level house. There are also helpful tips on financing, decoration and choosing a contractor. For a copy of the Manual, send 15c to the above association at 1119 "A" Street, Tacoma 2, Wash.

What Paint To Use Where

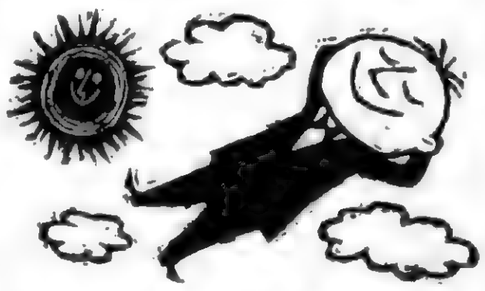
Here's a quick run-down on the proper paint to use for any interior surface you may be beautifying:

Plaster walls and ceilings—any high quality interior flat paint, oil, alkyd or latex paint. For bathrooms and kitchens, use semi-gloss or gloss enamel paint for greater washability.

Wallboard — seal with primer sealer and then follow with any high quality wall paint.

Hardboard — seal with latex paint, primer sealers, shellac or enamel undercoat. Use any desired topcoat.

Plywood—for an opaque top coat, seal with penetrating resin sealer, flat oil or alkyd paint or enamel undercoat. When dry, apply a second coat. For a natural finish which shows the grain, use a clear penetrating resin sealer, followed by varnish.



Woodwork — semi-gloss enamel in same color as walls. Full gloss is often used in kitchens and bathrooms.

OUTSIDE — POST and YARD LIGHTS

"Children are what parents mold them; small wonder that parents scold them."

Fly A Kite— But Be Careful

Spring breezes are blowing again and the bright, cloud-studded skies are dotted with gaily-painted harbingers of the season—kites.

A kite, bobbing merrily on the end of a string, makes a happy and fun-filled toy. It's good for countless hours of enjoyment for youngsters and oldsters alike. But the dangers surrounding the launching of a kite into the air should not be forgotten.

There are some good rules to keep in mind to minimize the dangers connected with this sport.

- First select an open area, well away from traffic, people, electric lines, buildings, trees and other kite flyers.
- When running with the kite check the terrain first. This could prevent a twisted ankle or broken leg. Be sure the path is clear of auto traffic or a person you might run into.
- Use a good quality cotton string or line. NEVER USE WIRE.
- If your kite does become entangled in electric lines, call the electric company immediately. If not removed, the paper and string could collect enough moisture to short out the current in the wires. Never attempt to remove the kite yourself. Let the electric man do it the safe and proper way.

Colorful posters, along with Yogi Bear comic books, have been distributed to fourth, fifth and sixth grade students in public and parochial schools by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company. These tell the illustrated story of safety precautions to be observed by anyone preparing to fly a kite.

Parents are urged to remind the youngsters of the dangers of kite flying and see to it they have a safe kite to fly and a safe area in which to fly it.

Catholic Book Is Distributed

To give Catholics a better idea of the kinds of work their priests do, and of the need for more priests, an illustrated booklet titled "only 55,581 priests to serve 181,000,000 souls in the United States" is being distributed this week in the Catholic churches of the area.

This is the seventh in a series of informative booklets which comprise the adult education program for vocations, sponsored by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann, Columbus, and directed by Msgr. Paul J. O'Dea, director of vocations for the diocese.

FLY KITES RIGHT

FLY KITES SAFELY

1. KEEP KITES AWAY FROM ELECTRIC WIRES and TV Antennas
2. USE DRY COTTON STRING not Metal
3. NEVER USE METAL ON KITES or Kite Tails
4. NEVER CLIMB POLES

PARENTS: Please bring this message to your children's attention. To make kite flying more fun . . . and to make it safe . . . keep away from electric wires and TV antennas. Metal on kites or a tinsel string can conduct electricity so never use them . . . and never climb poles! If you follow Reddy's rules when flying kites you'll be safer . . . and you'll have more fun too.

University Lodge To Meet Apr. 9

University Lodge, No. 631, F and AM, 1276 N. High-st, will have its annual Past Masters' Night Tuesday, Apr. 9, 6:15 p.m. The program for the evening will be conducted by Ernest G. Moore, Jr., who was master of the lodge last year.

A lady immediately got a seat on the bus when she said: "I wish that goodlooking man would give me his seat." Seven men stood up.

HELLO, WORLD - I THINK

I'M GOING TO MAKE IT!

When we first met Tommy he had lost all hope. He wouldn't even speak to us—let alone try to walk.

But hope is our business. So we coaxed and needled and loved him until he crawled out of his shell and stood up. Now he is walking, and talking, and full of hope.

Hope raises up crippled children. So does money. We've got hope. But we're looking to you for the money. Not a lot—just enough to put one kid one day closer to walking.

The Easter Seals you use enable the Easter Seal Society, at more than a thousand clinics and centers, to help people fight against these crippling disorders—crippling accidents, poliomyelitis, cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, arthritis, birth deformities, speech defects and many others.

"Fight with them—against crippling"

BUSINESS REVIEW

Two Whitehall Discount Centers Under Construction For Columbus

Construction was started early this week for a 90,000 square foot Whitehall Discount Center in the 4200 block of W. Broad-st, near Lincoln Village. Another similar center is also being constructed on Hudson-av, near the intersection of 17th-av.

Both stores, to be known as Whitehall Discount Centers, should be ready for opening by the middle of the summer, according to a company spokesman.

Both of the new stores will contain facilities and goods similar to those already being featured in the Whitehall Discount Center on E. Main-st.

RELOCATES

DR. WILLARD FINE, podiatrist, downtown office at 83 S. High-st, has announced the relocation of his suburban office from 4201 E. Livingston-av to the Ohio Federal Savings and Loan Building at 7110 E. Main-st, Reynoldsburg Shopping Center. Dr. Fine's office will be maintained for the practice of podiatry, treating ailments of the feet, and will be open for day and evening appointments.

Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the Constitution Jan. 2, 1788.

EASTER FLOWERS FOR OPEN HOUSE

REALISTIC ART AT MEALTIME

ENCOURAGING LOCAL ART, Nick Malagreca, owner and manager of Cardo's Pizza, 3734 Town and Country-rd, is willing to display any paintings or works of art by artists in the Columbus area. Malagreca (left) and Paul Lane, 1529 Walsh-av, are seen enjoying the realistic paintings of Mary Bingman now displayed in the dining area of the pizza house. Malagreca stated all of the paintings were for sale and had received quite a bit of favorable comment from his customers. The artist, according to the restaurant owner, likes to paint as she sees things and strives for realism in her work. The paintings will remain on display at Cardo's for the next two months. Browsers are welcome, according to Malagreca.

Watch Out For Furnace 'Inspectors'

Beware of furnace repair gyp artists. High pressure operators are costing American homeowners hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in exorbitant, unnecessary furnace repair and installation, according to Daniel Severt, president of Suburban Heating Co., Inc.

Severt pointed out that many such artists pick up their activities at the end of the heating season. In most cases a man introducing himself as a furnace inspector will call on the homeowner and ask to check the furnace.

In every case, Severt said, the "inspector" will find something wrong with the furnace and want to dismantle the heating plant in your home. "Of course," he added, "the salesman will want a down payment before making repairs he has recommended." In most cases, according to Severt, the furnace actually needed little repairing, if any.

Severt recommended that anyone identifying himself as an inspector should be required to produce proper credentials to substantiate his claim.

He added, "Don't let anyone dismantle your furnace and don't sign a contract or make a down payment for repairs before checking on the company doing the work. If it is a legitimate firm, it will welcome inquiries," he said.

"A phone call to the Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce or utility companies might very well save money and headaches," he concluded.

Robert Markwood

Local DeMolay Seats Officers

Robert Markwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Markwood, 710 Napoleon-av, was installed as master councilor of Whitehall Chapter, Order of DeMolay Mar. 30 at South Gate Temple.

Bret Barber was installing officer.

Other new officers include: William Moerch, senior councilor; Theodore Hopkins, junior councilor; Gary Cooper, senior deacon; Alan Cooper, junior deacon; Robert Moling, senior steward; Michael Kuhn, junior Steward.

Robert Kuhn, orator; Robert Keller, chaplain; David Gradwohl, marshal.

Kenneth Moore, sentinel; William Bailey, standard bearer; Daniel Latshaw, almoner; Paul Smith, treasurer; Joseph Mercurio, scribe.

Ralph Rife, first preceptor; Stan Stobel, second; Richard Booth, third; Samuel Cooper, fourth; Lawrence Stone, sixth and Walter Robinson, seventh.

STOCKROOM ADDITION

Haas Furniture Co., 4094 E. Main-st, Whitehall, has been issued a building permit to construct a concrete block, stockroom addition at the same address. Construction is valued at $4,000.

The U. S. takes its regular census every 10 years, in years which end with a zero.

Cantwell Elected To Alumni Post

Patrick Cantwell, 3191 Vanderberg-av, was elected to serve on the board of directors of the University of Notre Dame Alumni Association of Columbus at the organization's meeting at the Columbus Athletic Club recently.

Cantwell, a 1952 graduate of the University, and now vice-president of Cantwell Machinery Company, had previously served the alumni group in a number of executive offices.

Bexley High School LION'S ROAR

By BETSY BRUST

Bexley junior Caroline Smith has been named a semi-finalist in the American Field Service Americans Abroad program.

If Caroline is chosen a finalist, she will spend six weeks this summer as an exchange student with a family in some foreign country.

To qualify to send exchange students abroad next year, Bexley now has two in its student body—Anette Plahte of Norway and Susan Freedman of the Union of South Africa.

Buckeye Girls' State representatives will be Lynda Medors and Carla Coffman. Alternates are Barbara Klages and Connie McCleary. Buckeye Girls State will be held in June of this year on the Capital University campus.

The Bexley High School Band last Sunday presented a concert of program and background music before a banquet of the Cured Cancer Association. The event took place in the Ohio Union at Ohio State University.

Twenty-six Bexley girls were recognized at a tea held at the YWCA last Sunday for their participation in Links, a city-wide community service project of Y-Teens. They include:

Laurie Alexander, Charlotte Buckner, Lynn Burget, Joanne Cooperamith, Tammy Crow, Kay Ingalls, Jan Judson, Barbara Klages, Penny Main, Marcia May, Connie McCleary, Janet McCleary, Jinny McCoy, Mary Jane Morris, Pam Mulbarger, Jane Nettles, Roxanne Robbins, Betty Jane Shaw, Sandy Shumaker, Arlea Shultz, Caroline Smith, Kathy Smith, Pam Smith, Susan Thomas, Connie Turner and Marie Woodruff.

Caroline Smith, a junior, took part in the program as one of the city-wide co-chairmen. Senior Carol Wagstaff was recognized as the only Y-Teen in Columbus to have completed four years of Links participation.

Bexley students voted in Student Council elections held last Tuesday. Easter vacation begins tomorrow at the close of school. It will last one week. Sessions reopen again Monday, Apr. 15.

IT'S A SUNMOBILE

PREVIEWS OF PROGRESS visits Bishop Hartley High School and the Sunmobile does its stuff. Students Dan Anverse and Mike Whalen watch as General Motors lecturer, Rick Olsove, explains how the little car converts light energy into electric power by means of the photo-electric cells in its roof. The fascinating car was one of many sequences presented Thursday morning, Mar. 28, to Bishop Hartley students by the G.M. sponsored show.

EASTER MONEY

IT COULD BE your $50 bill, says Mary Darling, owner and manager of Darling's Flower and Gift Shop in the Town and Country Shopping Center. By clipping the coupon found in the Darling's ad in today's paper and depositing it in the big Easter egg in front of the store you become eligible to win the cash prize. Coupons are also available at the store and extra coupons are given with the purchase of "specials" listed in today's paper or by ordering your Easter flowers prior to closing time Thursday, Apr. 11. Drawing for the cash prize and the second prize, a miniature waterfall, will be held Friday, Apr. 12, at 8 p.m.

Jet Book Available

The 1963 Columbus Jet Sketch Book is now available to the public.

The 40-page booklet, which includes a complete alphabetized listing of every player who has appeared with a Columbus baseball club since 1932 (with batting or pitching records), may be obtained, free of charge, at any of the 22 offices of the Ohio National Bank.

WANNA' BUY A JET BADGE?

THAT'S THE question these two young gentlemen would like to know. The Jets 1963 International League home opener, Apr. 18, can't come soon enough for Brian Wainer (right), 14, of 309 Napoleon-av, shown here giving a short course in fielding to "rookie" player, John Derrer, 13, of 1105 S. Kellner-rd. Both boys are currently selling the familiar Jet Badges, Brian through Troop 195 of the Boy Scouts and John as a member of the Catholic Youth Organization.

Hey Kids—Jet Badges On Sale Till May 1

Youthful baseball fans this year will again see their favorite Columbus Jets Baseball Club for as little as a penny per game, when they buy a Junior Jet Badge.

For the ninth continuous season the ever-popular badges will go on sale today and continue for a month, ending May 1. The price per badge is 50 cents. Badge holders will be entitled to attend most of the Jets' home games when accompanied by an adult.

BADGES WILL be honored Monday through Saturday, except on opening day, holidays and other special occasions. Badges will not be honored on Sundays.

The following youth groups will distribute and sell the badges: Boy Scouts, The Boys' Club, Catholic Youth Organization, The Jewish Center, members of the Boys' YMCA and the Girl Scouts.

Money made from the sale of badges goes to these youth organizations to support activities within their groups.

IN THE EIGHT years since Junior Jet Badge sales began, almost 250,000 boys and girls living in Columbus and the Franklin County area have bought badges.

Dick Hahn is again chairman of the Badge Sale Committee.

ditch. The right front door—on Falin's side—was jammed against the sod. The gunman grabbed the pretty, blue-eyed blond office worker and leaped out of the Chevrolet.

Police officers — including sheriff's deputies and the Ohio State Patrol — were swarming on the scene. Police officials had ordered a 1959 Ford, owned by Alea Marcum, 582 Dyer-ln, over to the side. The gunman spotted the car and ran to it, dragging Beverly.

He pulled Marcum from the front seat who was with his 30-year-old wife, Laurabell, and their seven-month-old daughter, Melinda Kay. Alea fell to the street.

The bandit pushed his female hostage into the back seat with himself while Mrs. Marcum fell to the floor over the top of her baby.

Bullets started to fly.

Police first shot out Marcum's car tires, thinking that the bandit might try a getaway. They then fired at the windshield. They hit the bandit in the arm.

Mrs. Marcum was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital for a right leg laceration from shattered glass and released. The baby and Beverly were unhurt.

Police apprehended the gunman and rushed him to Mt. Carmel for treatment and then on to city prison.

Back at the loan office, Beverly was tearfully reunited with her grief-stricken sister-in-law. Nancy is pregnant and, because of her shocked condition, was taken to a doctor for observation.

'63 Fish-For-Fun Opens Monday At Delaware Site

Ohio's Fish-For-Fun program is scheduled to open Monday at the Delaware Wildlife Area, according to Ray Riethmiller, District five fish management supervisor for the Division of Wildlife.

This popular angling program will be conducted in the same three one-acre ponds which were used last year, and the same regulations will be in force. Only the muskie pond, Number 15, located near the area office building, will be open on the April 8 target date, and this is subject to the weather.

"IF TEMPERATURE and rainfall permit the necessary work to be done before this date, fishing will begin as planned," Riethmiller said.

Interested anglers may apply at the Delaware Wildlife Area headquarters on County Road 220 or the Columbus office, 1500 Dublin Road, to secure the required free permits. These will be available week days, except Saturday, at the Columbus office, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the Delaware office between 8 and 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 and 1 p.m. Anglers wishing to fish on weekends or holidays must get properly dated permits ahead of time.

The largemouth bass ponds, Numbers 14 and 16b, will not be opened until sometime late in May, Riethmiller announced.

ANGLERS FISHING in these ponds must release all fish hooked. In this manner a single fish can provide recreation to many fishermen. No live bait is permitted and lures may contain one single or treble barbless hook, or from which the barbs have been filed or crushed with pliers. It is unlawful to have live bait or fish in possession while fishing at a Fish-For-Fun pond.

Participants are required to supply information on the permit cards which will help the fish technicians evaluate this popular program. This includes the time fished, number of strikes and number of hooked fish lost, kind of fish and length, type lure, ease with which it was removed, condition of the fish when liberated and the number of other fishermen at the pond.

All participating in this program are urged to cooperate fully to increase the value of the program to Ohio sportsmen. Riethmiller emphasized that the Fish-For-Fun regulations will be strictly enforced throughout the program.

Olympic Stock—

each school, get them oriented sports-wise and have them compete on a regular basis.

THE OHIO TRACK Club's victory in the recent Pan American Trials here represented a major achievement for Lorimer's dream of closing the Olympic gap. With the assistance of OSU track coach Larry Snyder, the Junior Olympics here attracted 2000 youngsters last summer, half of them girls. The labors of three and one-half years of hard work paid off big at the trials. So, you see, it can be done.

"The victory proved what can be done in a short period of time with a novice group of youngsters who are trying to improve the image of youth," Lorimer said.

Another point Lorimer brought up was that of facilities. "In Russia, all the athletic facilities are open to the public in keeping with the Soviet plan to make everyone Olympic-minded." Unfortunately, the same is not true in this country.

WHAT CAN BE done here? The Columbus West Civitan Club helped to get the ball rolling by sponsoring the 220-yard dash at the trials. This involved about $100 for trophies and expenses.

The sponsorship of regional level meets, which would attract prospective Olympic talent, is another possible means of improving the situation. The grass roots exploration and discovery of these youngsters should be a challenge for every citizen.

"We don't wish to pattern our American girl athlete after her Russian competitor. Our only desire is to find the talent and give the girls the opportunity to develop into potential Olympic champions," Lorimer said. "We cannot afford less than the best of this country's athletes.

"I JUST CAN'T overestimate the importance of this campaign. After the last Olympics, other countries wanted to know why we let the Russians beat us again."

The most encouraging aspect of Lorimer's plan is that everyone can participate. Everyone can be an "Olympic talent scout." The challenge is obvious enough—the need for a number of people working together to negate another false premise of the Soviets.

We can't think of a better way to take an individual part in stealing the thunder from that steady stream of the Russian line. If you're one of those people like Jim Lorimer, who is a little tired of hearing that boast, "The Soviets have won again," here's your chance to do something about it.

WILL BUILD HOME

Lilly M. Lechler, 4026 S. High-st, has received a construction permit to build a two-story frame home at 1417 Severn-rd. Construction is valued at $25,000.

TO BUILD GARAGE

Walter Lane, 4095 Powell-av, Whitehall, has been issued a building permit to construct a frame room addition and garage at that address. Construction is valued at $1,200.

GAHANNA PTA TRADING POST

IT'S WHERE THE NEAT MEET to beat the cost of living, and there's always a cordial greeting for the customer, such as Mrs. L. R. Landis, 233 Oakland Park-av, is receiving from attendants Mrs. R. C. Micacchion, 2450 Steiner-rd, and Mrs. Jack Mangels, 1975 Havens-rd, two Gahanna women who keep the Jefferson School District Parent-Teachers Association Trading Post, 78 Johnston-rd, open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. There's a Kimball player piano, love seat, stove, hobby horse and baby car bed, as well as patterns, formals and National Geographics. All are urged to visit the sweater bar or replace those outgrown sport coats, shoes or boots. All profits go toward college scholarships and local welfare work and those who patronize them find good buys in barely used materials. The building is donated by Charles Priest, Gahanna Auto Sales.

Bexley DeMolay Installation Set

David D. Last, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Last, 802 Montrose-av, will be installed as master councilor of Bexley Chapter, Order of DeMolay. The 29th public installation of officers will be at the Bexley Masonic Temple, 2521 E. Main-st, on Saturday, Apr. 6, at 8 p.m.

Other officers to be installed as councilors are G. David Rose, Sr., and Ned Redick, Jr.

Dout Pritt, past master councilor of the Bexley Chapter, will be the installing officer.

NEW HOME PERMIT

Carl F. Younkin, 2632 Burnaby-dr, has been issued a construction permit to build a one-story, frame home at 2785 Schaaf-dr. Construction is valued at $30,000.

FOUR FROM AREA GET HARVARD AID

Four Eastern Review area students are among Ohioans who are receiving scholarships for the current academic year at Harvard College.

Richard S. Coffman, 2345 Brentwood-rd, a St. Charles graduate, will receive scholarship aid. Three others from the area will receive honorary scholarships. They include: Barry Hilton, 1593 Shady Lane (Eastmoor); Edward S. LaMonte, 215 S. Kellner-rd (Academy) and Jerry E. Mechling, 143 S. Stanwood-rd (Bexley).

Rhodes Appoints Two East Siders

Governor James A. Rhodes has nominated Jacob A. Meckstroth of 639 Glenmont-av, and Ivan Gilbert, M.D., 2824 Elm-av, Bexley, to state posts pending approval by the Ohio Senate.

Meckstroth has been named a trustee of the Ohio Archeological and Historical Society and Dr. Gilbert to the Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission, a foundation securing bank loans for college students' expenses.

McCormick Head Of Army Group

Paul McCormick, vice-president of North American Aviation, Inc., has been elected president of the Central Ohio Chapter of the Association of the United States Army.

The election results were announced Mar. 28 during Officers' Open Mess at Ft. Hayes.

Chip Co. Plans Move Next Fall

The Seyfert Potato Chip Co. will move into a new plant in Whitehall in early fall. The new 60,000 square foot plant is to be built on N. Hamilton-rd between the PRR tracks and the Ebco Electric Co. at a cost of $500,000.

The shift, according to Richard Sabatino, vice-president, is prompted by a lack of land at their present W. Rich-st location. The plant will have the latest equipment for potato chip manufacturing.

Author To Speak

Bexley Public Library will hold its last Coffee Hour of the spring series on Apr. 11 at 2411 E. Main-st.

Speaking at 10:15 a.m. will be Paul Murray Kendall, author of "Richard the Third" and "Warwick the King Maker." Cooperating will be the Bexley Women's Club.

The program is free and open to the public.

TO BUILD ADDITION

Protect-All Inc., 1931 Livingston-av, has received a building permit to build an addition to a concrete block building. Construction valued at $500.

Two headaches may result after a body meets a body going through the rye.

Flood Control Agents Carry Identification

Appraisers who started to work Monday to evaluate 14,000 properties in the Scioto Conservancy District all carry credentials, Richard E. Midden, secretary, announced.

They are employes of the J. M. Cleminshaw Co. of Cleveland and will also have a letter signed by Midden. Any owner who is not satisfied may further verify the identity of the appraiser by contacting either the district office or the Cleminshaw office at 198 S. High-st.

Columbus City Council authorized a contract Monday with the district allowing a $900,000 loan for a detailed engineering study of two of the 11 proposed flood control dams, Alum Creek and Mill Creek.

The loan will be retired when the district sells the bonds for the flood control program.

The survey will begin in Circleville and will progress north to Columbus through five counties. They are Scioto, Pike, Ross, Pickaway and Franklin.

Information compiled by the appraisers will be given to the county engineers to be used as a basis for setting up assessments against the land in question. The levy will be scheduled according to benefits to be received through the conservation program.

If the courts decide that benefits from the program will exceed the $79.6 million costs, taxes will be levied over a 30-year period and construction bonds sold.

Though law permits the appraiser access to the properties, the district hopes to obtain the cooperation of land owners without due process.

Delay Eastmoor Opening Till Fall

The opening of Eastmoor Junior High School, 3450 Medway-av, has been postponed another five months until Sept. 1. Originally, the school was to have opened on that date in 1962, but schedule difficulties postponed the opening until Apr. 1, and now to September.

STARTS THIS WEEK . . . . . A NEW COLUMN BY JENKIN LLOYD JONES

SYMBOLICALLY LOOKING at the State Capitol Building where Ohio Legislatures meeting in General Assembly may hold the answer to the future of nursing in this state are, from left, Ohio State Nurses Association Director Dorothy Cornealius and Capital University student nurses Aloise Bobb (of Gahanna) and [illegible] Shertridge (of Perrysburg, O.) The some 11,000 OSNA members are voicing strong opposition to Substitute Senate Bill 66 which would shift liability from the hospital itself to the individual nurses.

Nurses Take Licks At S.B. 66

Who's Responsible: Hospital Board Or On-Duty Nurse?

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Seldom since Florence Nightingale — or Clara Barton, ever — have nurses put up a greater fight than they're doing right now in Ohio during the current General Assembly session.

Target for the attack by the girls in white is Substitute Senate Bill 66 which, according to Dorothy A. Cornelius, R.N., executive director of the Ohio State Nursing Association, is being viewed with dismay by nearly 11,000 nurses in this state.

More than that, allied professional groups, such as the Ohio Academy of Trial Lawyers, Ohio Physical Therapists Association, Licensed Practical Nurses Association of Ohio and Medical Technologists Association, are voicing strong protests.

In essence, the bill (up three times before with negative results) would withdraw liability from hospitals, leaving the registered nurse answerable directly to the patient for her acts or omissions, which in many cases are performed by her solely as the agent of the hospital institution and not in an independent professional capacity.

In other words, if, for instance, a patient would trip over a light cord, the hospital would no longer be responsible under this substitute Senate bill.

Naturally, the patient would seek damages and the most logical one to sue would be the nurse on duty as the bill clearly removes the hospital and its administration from any responsibility or "gross negligence."

The bill has been brought into this session by Senators Joseph W. Bartunek (D) of Cleveland and Charles W. Whalen, Jr., (R) from Dayton.

Both Bartunek and Whalen serve on hospital boards in their individual cities.

The bill was recommended for passage by a 4-2 vote of the Judiciary Committee on Mar. 19 with Senators Kenneth Berry (R) from Coshocton and Charles H. Jones (R) from Hamilton opposing.

It was in the Rules Committee this week. While resting here, nurses and nurse officials have been flooding the legislature with objections. Letters were to be sent out this week to most of the lawmakers and to Governor Rhodes.

The governor, when contacted Friday about the issue, said he "had not had a chance to take a look" at the bill and reserved comment until he had a chance to do so.

The bill was previously vetoed by former Governor DiSalle.

"Senate Bill 66 would free Ohio hospitals from liability for negligent acts committed by their employes," the nurses director said. "It would place the whole legal burden on nurses, whose income has risen far less than most hospital costs.

"As professional people, nurses accept responsibility for their conduct and acts. But the public won't be protected if they alone can be sued."

From a nurses' director standpoint, biggest drawback to the bill would be its deterent abilities for girls

Return To Incentive Idea Long Overdue

One of the vice presidents of General Electric Co., speaking in Chicago last week urged all Americans to "take a stand for incentive" as being the best plan to get our economy moving.

He pointed out that it is time to rebuild the value of rewarding success instead of penalizing it.

Any man who does a good job should be rewarded. It is not enough to live in a system that brings the same pay to the man who does a far less productive job.

Maplewood Road Is Undergoing, Hamilton Road Slated For, Repair

Maplewood-rd in Whitehall rumbles heavily with construction equipment from the face-lifting project begun Mar. 25. Hamilton-rd is not far behind, with a major repair scheduled, with the construction contract to be given in July. Both thoroughfares are definitely in need of the improvement.

The 1.3-mile length of Maplewood-rd (between E. Broad and E. Main) has been torturing automobile suspensions for some time, and Robert W. Mickey, Whitehall service director, states that Maplewood should be completed sometime in July, perhaps ahead of schedule.

Hamilton-rd south of E. Broad-st is in equally poor condition. It will be resurfaced and widened to four lanes. The money for the work, 95 per cent state funds, will be available in July. The entire 2.52-mile project will cost approximately $2.01 million. The consulting engineers for the project are from the firm of Evans, Mechwart, Hambleton and Tilton of Gahanna, O.

Although the reconstruction of Maplewood has been on the books for some time, the Mar. 25 starting date was later than originally planned due to the lack of capital on hand. Whitehall Mayor Walter B. Moling stated that a sanitary sewer project had to be paid for first.

The entire Maplewood project will cost approximately $340,000. This includes the removal of what was left of the old pavement, widening the road bed, installing new drainage pipes, setting up new telephone lines and a host of other things connected with the community improvement project.

When the construction is complete, there will be little resemblance between the old and the new Maplewood-rd. The new width will be 32 feet, enough to accommodate two wide lanes that change to three narrow lanes at intersections to allow left turns without obstructing the traffic flow. The road will have integrated curbs — rather than the total lack of them as before.

Beside the obvious advantage of a more comfortable ride, the new thoroughfare will have a number of extras. One will be the ability of Maplewood-rd to handle increased traffic loads at all hours. The smooth concrete surface will permit faster traffic speed without the worry of

Bellwood Lot Zones Prove To Be Confusing

The Bellwood addition in northeast Bexley proved to be a roadblock in Bexley City Council Tuesday night. A petition to erect a series of two-family dwellings in that area met with the fact that present zoning ordinances require that the lots in question must have an area of at least 6,000 square feet. The Bellwood lots reach only to 4,800 square feet.

The result is not as cut and dried as it sounds, for the construction firm in question had been previously advised by the zoning committee that the Bellwood lots were suitable for the two-family dwellings.

The zoning committee suggested that lot purchases be in groups of three and that for each three-lot section purchased, two dwellings be erected. The three lots would have a total area of 14,400 square feet, allowing 7,200 square feet for each unit.

The objection by constructors to this plan was the expense of lot purchase. There were numerous council proposals to clarify the situation.

Bexley Mayor W. A. Schneider proposed that the zoning ordinance be changed to allow for the two-family dwellings to be constructed on 4,800 square foot lots. Objection to this proposal was raised by Council Chairman Charles J. Kurtz, Jr., on the grounds that such an ordinance change would be taking unfair advantage of those who had already paid for the larger lots in order to construct double-occupancy homes. The proposed new ordinance would, added Kurtz, create a future problem in regards to subdivision of already existing lots.

Kurtz suggested instead that a varience ruling be issued to four to six individual lot owners permitting them to build on the 4,800 square foot lots. This would avoid the blanket ruling that he felt would eventually prove troublesome.

City Solicitor Howard C. Park had a third proposal combining the strong points of the two previous recommendations. He suggested that a new zoning ordinance be passed which would allow building of two-family homes on all presently approved and regularly-plotted lots. This would eliminate any future problems concerning variations in zoning laws. It would also pre-

Read 'An Editor's Outlook' --On The Editorial Page

It's on the Editorial Page this week!

Jenkins Lloyd Jones, provocative, and sometimes crusading editor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune, this week starts his stimulating new column, "An Editor's Outlook," which will run every week in the Hartley Newspapers.

JONES

The dynamic editor, who promises that his column will be "politically impartial and nonpartisan," will "cover all phases of human experience" as he sees it. His brilliant editorials have been likened to those of the late William Allen White, who, as editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, received high acclaim earlier in the century for his journalistic achievements and became a legend in the newspaper world.

Jones just may follow in his footsteps. His speech, entitled "America's Moral Crisis," delivered before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, received widespread praise.

It was reprinted in Hartley Newspapers under the title "Who Is Tampering With the Soul Of America?" and requests for 500 copies of the speech came in. A reprint in Reader's Digest drew more requests for copies than any article the magazine has published in years!

In 1958, Jones won the William Allen White Citation for Journalistic Merit, which is considered one of the highest honors in the field of journalism.

"Jones and Typewriter" have been an unbeatable combination for years. When he isn't tied to his news desk in Tulsa, he's off to far places shooting back his columns to the U.S.A.

Jones resides in Tulsa with his wife, the former Juanita Carlson (daughter of a former governor of Colorado), and their two sons and daughter.

The publishers of Hartley Newspapers think readers will like the straight-thinking views of this hard-fisted editor as he shares "An Editor's Outlook," starting today on the Editorial Page.

Bexleyites Run For OSU Alumni Posts

Two well-known Bexley residents are candidates for offices in the annual election of the Ohio State Alumni Association starting Apr. 15.

Mrs. Hugh E. Nesbitt, 312 N. Parkview-av, has been nominated for second vice-president, while John M. Vorys, 460 S. Drexel-av, has been nominated for member of the board of directors of the alumni organization.

Mrs. Nesbitt, member of the Childhood League and patron of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra as well as of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, has been interested in university activities since her undergraduate days. Her late husband was chairman of the Ohio State University Development Fund's board of directors and a long-time member of the athletic board at the university.

MRS. NESBITT

Former Congressman Vorys was captain of the football team while he attended East High School, later served as assistant line coach for Dr. J. W. Wilce at Ohio State while he was enrolled in the College of Law. He was first elected to Congress in 1939, served continuously until he voluntarily retired in 1959. The last 12 years of his tenure were spent as Republican floor leader on foreign affairs legislation.

MR. VORYS

Both Mrs. Nesbitt and Vorys are running on the main track slate, pledged to support the alumni association, second largest in the nation.

GROUND RULES

By Herman Johnsen

In previous columns we have given you suggestions on a complete lawn program, your pruning and your spraying. Now it is time to prepare your garden program. The "wait-until-spring" type gardener often has a poor selection of seeds and an unorganized garden program.

In setting up good home vegetable gardens it is wise to plan now what and where you will plant.

When space is limited, plan to raise vegetables that will make the greatest production from a small area. Vegetables such as melons and cucumbers will require more space than snapbeans, carrots, onions, radishes, and lettuce. Tomatoes, if they are staked or are of the climbing variety, will require a small amount of space and you will be richly rewarded.

When planning your garden program, it is wise to consider the likes and dislikes of the family. This is a good time and place to get the family acquainted with the fact that there are many common garden vegetables such as spinach, turnips, parsnips, egg plant and cauliflower which are not televised.

It is very important in your garden program that you have some idea of the soil structure as most of your root crops will grow best in a deep soil with good structure. If the soil seems too caly-ey, your radishes, beets and carrots will be mis-shaped.

Now that we have your garden planned, there are several ways to improve the soil such as organic matter, peat moss, compost, saw dust and many other dead plant materials. They help hold moisture in sandy and gravel filled soil. They will lighten heavy clay to improve air penetration. Plant roots must breathe as well as absorb water and plant foods.

Bristle Takes Top Area Navy Honor

There is a very proud family living at 723 Robinwood-av. It is the family of Chief Machinist's Mate Evan D. Bristle, who has been named the Armed Forces Man of the Year for the Columbus area naval personnel.

Chief Bristle

Bristle was given the honor, not only for his 20-plus years of service in the United States Navy, but also because of his participation and leadership in his community. In both branches of his life he has excelled, despite the fact that he has logged innumerable sea hours.

Before he came to Columbus in May, 1950, Bristle served on personnel ships, cruisers and destroyers. He has sailed entirely around the world and has put in at more ports than most people have visited cities. Among the more interesting and exotic ports are Casablanca, Algiers, Rome, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo, Shanghai and Bombay. His mileage (nautical, of course) log numbers in seven figures.

Even more amazing is his participation in family and community affairs in Whitehall. He is president of the East Main Street Elementary School PTA, chairman of the Budget and Finance Committee of the Whitehall PTA, member of Post 8794 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and membership chairman of Buckeye Branch 199 of the Fleet Reserve Association — among others.

Bristle's involvement with the Navy and in Whitehall affairs is extensive. His wife, Gladys, and three sons, Edward (14), Michael (11) and Patrick (8) are immensely proud of him.

Bristle, awarded 12 medals and ribbons for his superior service in the Navy, plans to retire next January after 21 years of service. He will then devote his time to his family and his community.

He said that he was "very honored and flattered," but doesn't feel he "won." "It is a wonderful thrill and a tremendous way to end up my Navy career," added Bristle.

Columbus area Army, Air Force and Marine personnel received similar awards. Marine Gunnery Sergeant Robert W. Ebert, 30, of 169 Highfield, took his branch's top honor. He has been decorated 15 times.

Air Force Senior Master Sergeant King W. Frazier, 41 Rosslyn-av, was voted the area's top AF man.

The leading Army man in the area is Sgt. Alan Whitcomb, who is stationed at and lives on the grounds of Ft. Hayes.

Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 33, National Association of Postal Supervisors, will hold a potluck luncheon Wednesday, Apr. 17, 11:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Alvin Pfeiffer, 200 Heil-av, Gahanna.

Assisting will be, Mrs. Don Hines, Mrs. Roy Salzgaber, Mrs. Louis McDaniel, Mrs. Joseph Fenner and Mrs. T. B. Kime.

CANCER CRUSADERS NEEDED NOW

The best laid plans of any campaign leaders are dependent upon workers for their successful completion, as is the April Cancer Crusade.

In recognition of their important role in the combination plan of education and fund-raising, 1963 has been designated as "the Year of the Volunteer."

Volunteers in the campaign to combat the disease that has touched the lives of so many have something vitally important to offer at each home they visit.

Carefully prepared educational pamphlets, with sound medical advice that may save countless lives, will be supplied to each volunteer in the crusade.

Thousands of women have already pledged their time in the effort, and many more are needed.

Anyone wishing to volunteer for the crusade may call the American Cancer Society's Franklin County headquarters, 2300 W. Mound-st, BR. 6-5134.

PILOT CLUB TO MEET

It's Good They Got Together

Fifty years ago your gas company had relatively few customers. Local gas production could meet their demands. Now, nearly everyone in your town uses gas. It heats most homes.

Over the years the tremendous growth in demand for natural gas caused a number of smaller companies to join together for economy and efficiency in operations. Gradually, they faced the problems of supplying gas service not to just hundreds of consumers — but to hundreds of thousands.

Today, your gas company is part of the Columbia Gas System. That's one big reason you can enjoy the best possible natural gas service and the wonderful advantages of natural gas at reasonable rates.

Bluebirds, Campfire Girls Display Wares

The Bluebirds and Camp Fire Girls of the Southeast District are preparing for their first annual Arts and Crafts Festival to be held at Shady Lane Elementary School, 1488 Shady-ln, on Apr. 20.

The Camp Fire Girls is an organization which parallels the Girl Scouts, and the Bluebirds are the junior set of the former.

Among those displaying their projects at the Festival will be Debbie Sechel, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Sechel, Jr., 1444 Kenwick, with a wall decoration made of hardboard and crushed glass; Cheryl Jones, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Jones, 2913 Scottwood-rd with a recipe book; and Nancy Bommer, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bommer of 1422 Zettler-rd, with a crucifix of matches (preburnt).

The Arts and Crafts Festival will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Apr. 20.

Eastmoor High School's Warriors' Spear-It

By ANDREA HELMAN

Dave Praver, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Praver, 285 S. Harding, and Ron Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hodge, 823 Barnett-rd, have been selected as principal delegates to Boys' State. Alternates are Ken Bachmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bachmann, 305 S. Virginia Lee, and John Ranft, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ranft of 1950 Cottingham-ct, E.

Boys' State, sponsored by the American Legion, convenes annually during the summer for a nine-day period on the campus of Ohio University in Athens. Speakers and practical experience in the functions of the American Government are featured.

Eastmoor's annual Easter assembly was held today, Thursday, Apr. 11. Sponsored by the Hi-Y, the program consisted of vocal selections by the Senior Choir, Boys' and Girls' Glee, an Easter story by Miss Louise Lincoln, and a scripture and prayer reading by Mary Beth Morris and Dave Henderson.

Lynn Balthaser and Karl Mills attended the Mar. 18 meeting of the Downtown Kiwanis Club as guests of John Campbell of North American Aviation, Inc. They represented Eastmoor in a group of outstanding seniors of the area.

Neighborhood Seminars on School Programs and Finance will be held at Eastmoor the first three Wednesdays of May. These seminars are to be held in every city school. Dr. William Engelman is the seminar chairman for Eastmoor.

L. W. Huber, director of secondary education for the Columbus Public Schools, was guest speaker Monday at the PTA meeting. Huber selected "Writing Words" as his topic.

Y-Teens are in the process of electing new officers. After the election a Lazarus model will speak on "Good Grooming."

Elections for 1963-'64 FTA officers are now in progress and will be announced in the future. A $100 scholarship will be awarded to an Eastmoor senior by the FTA. Plans are now being made for an Apr. 19 doughnut sale.

New members for Masquers club will be chosen soon. A total of 100 points must be accumulated to be a member of this drama group.

Mike Bullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bullen, 4579 Dundee-av, was recently elected mayor for the annual Hi-Y City Day. High school students throughout the Columbus area assumed various city offices.

School will not be in session Friday, Apr. 12, and Monday, Apr. 15 because of the Easter holiday.

TO MAKE ADDITION

William R. Simms, Jr., 491 Westphal-av, Whitehall, has received a building permit to construct a frame room addition and garage at that address. Construction is valued at $1000.

TB Tests Reveal Positive Reactors

Ten positive reactions were found through free TB tests given in East Side parochial schools, the Tuberculosis Society reported. A total of 795 first, seventh and 11th graders took the scratch test during March.

C. Edward Harrison, society director of case-detection, explained that a positive reaction to the test does not mean the student necessarily has active, contagious TB. It does mean, however, that the person has been in close contact with a person who has active TB.

"All positive reactors and their relatives are routinely X-rayed to locate contagious tuberculosis," Harrison said.

East Side Tots Hunt For Eggs

The East Columbus Recreation Center and the East Columbus Lions Club are joining forces for the annual Easter Egg Hunt to be held at Krumm Park, Alten and Ninth-ay, Saturday at 9 a.m.

The hunt is for pre-school children up through grade six. Twenty Easter baskets will be prizes in the three age groups represented: pre-school, grades 1-3 and grades 4-6.

In Training

Paul E. Lorms, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Lorms of 1687 Pewfield-rd, graduated Mar. 29 from basic recruit training at the Naval Training Base, San Diego, Calif.

The nine-week course consisted of physical fitness drills, military drills, seamanship, basic military law, customs and etiquette of the naval service, swimming and survival and first aid.

The "Out of the Past" column in the Apr. 3 issue of the Chillicothe Gazette carried a reminder of the 1913 flood as follows:

Mayor James A. Cahill read a telegram to the flood committee just received from Lazarus, the clothier in Columbus, offering 500 pairs of hip boots if needed here, and the mayor was instructed to reply that the boots would be very acceptable if they were donated for use here.

per, you can also claim the growing jackpot of 71 "Confederate" bills.

Besides the lucky "5" readers will also find insignia containing the number "1" hidden in 20 different newspapers. These insignia are worth one "Confederate" dollar which may be claimed by simply mailing the page containing the insignia to Hartley Newspapers or by bringing the page into the office.

All insignia are printed in a color other than black and are like the two insignia printed in this article. All insignia are hidden in the advertisements of the Hartley Newspapers this week.

Those fortunate enough to be the possessors of Hartley "Confederate" cash will find their lucky money is as good as money in the bank when spent with an advertiser in a Hartley Newspaper during the week the winner wishes to spend his "Confederate" money. Hartley Newspapers guarantees all advertisers that "Confederate" money accepted from winners will be redeemed for U. S. currency in present use.

Employes or carriers of Hartley Newspapers or their families are not eligible to claim "Confederate" money.

So now is the time to polish up the reading glasses and begin to search through this newspaper for one of the lucky insignia. You could make as much as 76 "Confederate" dollars for the few minutes you spend searching. That's the jackpot total plus the five "Confederate" dollars, the "5" insignia wins whether you are a subscriber or not.

And don't forget, you always win when you read the ads in your Hartley Newspaper.

BEXLEY'S BY-WORD FOR BEAUTY

PAUL BE. 1-6828

We agree with the melody: "Thank Heaven for little girls!" But we'll bet you didn't write it, Mama — you with hair brush in one hand, creases between the brows, and wailing daughter firmly held by the other fist. Little girls, lovely though they are, seldom have hair that goes where you'd wish, or stays afterward! Now, we're not suggesting that you make weekly beauty salon appointments for your junior-edition. But there are strong points in favor of an occasional salon visit. — points that point to easier care for you.

SERVICE SAVES THE NERVOUS

You know that your professional cut-and-shaping means carefree combing ahead. Well, that's just as true for your daughter! We have tricks that put behavior into cowlicks, smooth away the angry "wisps" that seem to pop up everywhere, and actually put "line" into fine young baby-type hair. We seldom recommend anthing fancy, for Nancy or Sue. Little faces don't need that kind of fluff. We're experts in the simple, no-fuss cut that keeps both you and the youngster happy thereafter.

NO FOOLIN'!

Herein a few facts that may have had you guessing: It's true what they say about "alopecia", that angry word that means an opportunity for baldness. If you constantly keep a tight rein on the little girl's hair (via hairband or tightback pony tail) you may regret it before you're a grandma! . . . Permanents do no permanent damage to the young: the hair grows, is cut and replaced. But you and she may save agony by insisting on a salon wave. (Our staff and our formulas are both so gentle!) . . . She'll get the same "lift" from her salon trip that you do. Bring her in and see.

FROM UNDER THE DRYER:

No, you mustn't attempt to lighten a little girl's darkening hair! But why not see how beautifully we can lighten your own?

Are You Interested In Youth? WHY NOT TEACH?

By JANE ROBINSON

"Rich man, poor man beggarman, thief; doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief."

Generations of children have superstitiously counted off their buttons to learn what the future promises them.

It's good clean fun, but not the best way to decide upon a career.

This spring nearly 5,000 students in Franklin County will do the "hesitation march" to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

And as they flip the tassle on their mortarboards, they will face the most important decision of their lives.

What now, youth?

More than 50 per cent of these students will not have completed their education; they will enter college with the intention of better preparing themselves for life.

Only about 40 per cent of these will actually graduate.

At Ohio State University better than 20 per cent of the students have chosen teaching as their career.

What is a teacher?

A prophet, a pioneer, a reformer, a builder and an interpreter of life these are a few of the ways that Joy Elmer Morgan, founder of the Future Teachers of America once described the roles of a teacher.

With the growing need for teachers, (about 250 are needed in the nine county districts and the City of Columbus alone) the competently trained teacher need never worry about unemployment.

The "baby boom" started in 1940 and is creating jobs between 150,000 and 175,000 newly qualified teachers each year through 1965, with even greater numbers predicted in the seventies.

Furthermore, the National Defense Education of 1958 has provided a federal loan of $1,000 a year for students who are potential teachers and who need aid.

The loan has approved particularly attractive, as the government cancels 10 per cent of the face and interest of the note each year the graduate is employed in the teaching profession. However, credit earned in this manner may not exceed half of the loan.

Traditionally underpaid, teachers are now finding that salaries are increasing at a rate of about $200 a year. Today the average teacher in Ohio receives, in line with national average, over $5,000 a year. The national Education Association hopes soon to realize a minimum salary scale of $6,000 for a professional teacher, with annual raises large enough to double salaries after 10 years of experience.

Attractive as the teaching profession has become, one considering entering the profession must, according to the national commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, take a very close look at himself.

Above average intelligence is essential as well as a thirst for knowledge and willingness to spend at least four years in college.

A sense of humor is demanded, and personal integrity and a pleasing personality are "musts."

A teacher must be able to accept criticism as well as responsibility, and obtain pleasure from a job well done.

Last of all, the commission believes that pride in the profession is important.

In few other fields are the words of Charles Newton Baker so true — "The man who graduates today and stops learning tomorrow is uneducated the day after."

HAS HAD 124 TRANSFUSIONS

Boyhood Cuts, Bruises Are Serious Hazards To This Plucky 10-Year-Old

Timothy W. Smith, 10, of 900 W. Rich-st, is like any other young schoolboy—except that any bruise or cut might prove fatal to him.

Timmy is a hemophiliac, a "bleeder," for his blood does not contain the coagulant—or clotting agent—fibrin. While a cut normally stops bleeding in a matter of a minute or so, such a cut sustained by Timmy might take several hours—and a large quantity of blood. Timmy has received 124 transfusions from Children's Hospital since his condition was discovered when he was nine months old.

Timmy's situation is not simply being careful of what he does to avoid injury. At any moment his joints may hemorrhage spontaneously with no warning or apparent reason. A bruise, of course, has the same result—internal bleeding far greater than the injury warrants. Timmy has received 51 pints of fresh-frozen plasma, which incurs clotting faster than whole blood, and 22 pints of whole blood. This totals approximately nine gallons of blood products to keep him alive. And the blood bank does not come by blood easily.

Timmy's life has been seriously threatened twice—once when he fell on a bottle (he was not cut, however,) and induced a massive hemorrhage, and last summer when eye surgery was necessitated due to a blow received from a hard rubber ball. To avoid such incidents as much as possible, Timmy's situation demands special care. This attention he receives at the Neil Avenue School, 2571 Neil-av, a special city-operated school for the handicapped. Not that he is handicapped, but he does need special attention and supervision.

Timmy's mother, Mrs. Clarence B. Smith, said she is not aware of any prior hemophilia in her family This hereditary disease is passed from grandfather to grandson with the mother as a carrier, but may lie dormant as true hemophilia for two or three hundred years. A brother, Clarence Jr., 15, and two sisters, Brenda 19, and Tina Marie 2, show no symptons of hemophilia.

The critical factor in Timmy's existence, is, of course, the supply of O-positive blood. Fortunately, O-positive is the most common blood type, and Timmy has never come to the hospital to find a shortage of his type. But this is no guarantee that such a situation will not occur, for the Columbus Blood Bank has had difficulty in replenishing all types of blood during the past year. The center makes no charge for the blood.

Mrs. Smith tries, of course, to replenish the blood which is administered to Timmy by asking friends, neighbors and relatives to donate blood of any type in his name. But this is not enough. He has used far more than has been put back. Mr. Smith, a truck driver hauling new automobiles from Detroit to the Columbus area, does not have the time to solicit donations. Mrs. Smith said, "I know Timmy's life depends on it, but I can't do anything more about it."

Individuals or organizations wishing to donate on Timmy's behalf may call the Red 812 E. Broad-st, at 253-5541, Cross Regional Blood Center, or University Hospital.

MOTHER HELPS with the buttons while Timmy Smith gets ready to meet his taxi for school. Timmy, a hemophiliac (bleeder), attends Neil Avenue School, a special school where he is less likely to be injured during play.

Feed Grain Measuring Deadline Set

Franklin County producers who wish pre-measurements of fields in connection with the 1963 Feed Grain Program should make their request at the Franklin ASCS County Office not later than Friday, Apr. 19, according to Carl W. Schacht, chairman.

Schacht listed the advantages for participants in the feed grain program who obtain a pre-measurement:

1. The producer can be certain when planting his crop he will not have excess acreage and will have his maximum permitted acreage planted, if he chooses to do so.

2. He will have the required acreage diverted, if he follows the pre-measurment instructions.

3. He will be saved the cost of adjusting his acreage, loss of seed, fertilizer and possible non-compliance with the program.

Eagles Auxiliary Plan Card Party

All members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the South Side Eagle Aerie 2244 and their guests are invited to attend the monthly euchre party tonight, Apr. 11, at the club.

Mrs. Dorothy Salyers, publicity chairman, said that door prizes will be given as well as those for high scores. Admission is 75 cents.

Dec. 19, 1903, the famed Williamsburg bridge, linking Brooklyn and Manhattan, was opened in New York. Costing more than $24 million, it was the first important suspension bridge employing steel instead of masonry towers.

Gary Clarke had never ridden horseback when he joined the cast of "The Virginian."

Wyatt..Oops, Hugh O'Brian Climbing Down Off Horse

When Hugh O'Brian was in Columbus last summer in Kenley Player's production of "Destry Rides Again," he mentioned to me how careful he had to be to keep from assuming a Wyatt Earp identity.

He didn't want people to see him on the street and whisper, "There's Wyatt Earp," just as they probably say "there's Palladin" when they see Richard Boone.

And, for the most part, he's been successful.

Hughie

Any last shreds of his Wyatt Earp days (six years, in fact) should be completely snipped off when fans — Western or otherwise — see him in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's romantic comedy "Come Fly With Me."

Under a "year for five years" contract with MGM, handsome Hugh is certainly going to be "kissing" more than horses—quite a likeable task when that "more" represents comely Dolores Hart in this upcoming movie.

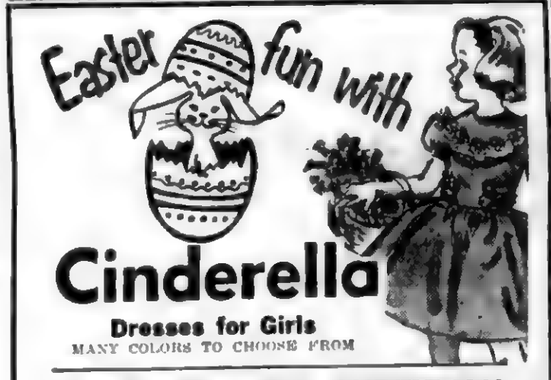
Enchanting Dolores plays the airline hostess Donna, whose ambitions are packed "in mink." One of the screen's most popular stars, her recent credits include "Where The Boys Are," "Sail a Crooked Ship," "Francis of Assisi" and "Lisa."

"It's a relief to be playing opposite a beautiful girl rather than a horse," O'Brian said with a smile. "I was beginning to think I was doomed to do all my emoting astride a stallion."

Hughie was quick to add: "Not that I have anything against horses, you understand. Let's face it, it's more fun kissing girls."

Besides Earp, Hugh had his share of adventures on horseback in such outdoor epics as "The Lawless Breed," "Man From the Alamo," "Sasketchewan," "White Feather" and "Broken Lance," to name a few.

There may be some musicals in O'Brian's future, since he is an accomplished singer, as he proved in Columbus on the Vets Memorial stage.



Hugh said he didn't have anything against horses, but you can't help but notice that he lists his favorite sports as tennis, golf, badminton and wrestling. No mention at all of horseback riding.

For those who aren't particularly concerned about watch-winding, Deirdre is a blue-eyed brunette who hails from London, England.

Pianist Claudette Sorel To Perform At OSU

In her first recital in Columbus since her appointment to the University School of Music faculty, concert pianist Claudette Sorel will appear in concert at Mershon Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Thursday evening, Apr. 18.

Paris-born of French-Hungarian parentage and U.S. trained under such famous masters as Olga Samaroff Stokowski, Rudolf Serkin, and Mieczyslaw Horszowski, Miss Sorel has chosen this date to premiere a composition written especially for her by Paul Creston.

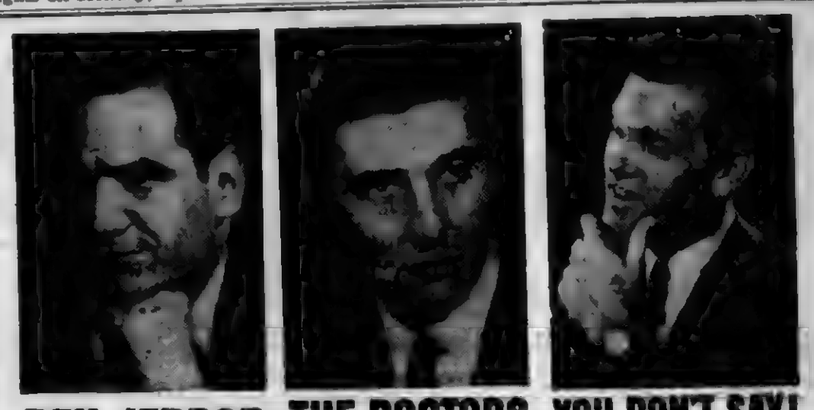
Possessing an extensive repertoire of the most difficult pieces in piano literature, Miss Sorel has occupied a prominent place in the spotlight of great artists since the age of eleven.

Miss Sorel joined the faculty in the fall of 1962 and has attracted an increasing number of piano students who wish to work with one of the country's busiest concert performers and artists-in-residence.

This concert will be presented free of charge as a part of the regular Faculty Recital Series of the OSU School of Music.

Incidently, a well-worn pair of black leather gloves will be donned by Claudette backstage shortly before the start of her concert.

She'll leave them on until just before the start of the program as she has done for good luck ever since making her concert debut as a child of eleven on a cold winter afternoon in New York in 1943.



Four Freshmen Due At Mershon

The "Four Freshmen," popular vocal group of college concert and recording fame, will appear in a one-night stand at Mershon Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Friday, May 3.

John Simpson (Who?) To Play Archie In New TV Venture

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

There was a supposedly true story circulating about a European gentleman who took off for a mountain retreat with the intention of invention heavy on his fast, but somewhat feeble, mind.

He came back to his village some 30 years later with a crude looking instrument resembling a typewriter — only to find that in his absence the typewriter was already invented five years previous.

Although not boasting a mountain retreat (not even as much as a pup tent) I have long nurtured the idea that I would make my first million in Hollywood with a somewhat ingenious idea of my own.

I, however, figured to have the jump on our European friend since my invention was already formulated in my fast, but somewhat feeble, mind.

The idea seemed like a natural, what with the almost instant success of comic strip turned TV-characters as witness Dennis the Menace, Dick Tracy, Blondie and a few others.

The one that Hollywood had forgot about, however, was a comic character named Archie which, heretofore, had been confined to the multi-colored pages of comic book newsprint.

Sound good? An entire TV series based on Archie and his adventures along with his pals Reggie, Betty and Veronica — to say nothing about nearly-a-legend Jughead.

What a market for high-schoolers who are mainly responsible for the fantastic sale of Archie comic books.

So I'm still milling this idea over in mind — even going so far as deciding what Hollywood personalities could fit the parts — when last Thursday night the wife, Hazel Eyes, looks up from her latest copy of "Archie's Joke Book" (June, 1963) and shouts:

"Say, hey! Did you read this? They're making a television series out of Archie."

The disappointment was likened to a fellow driving an Edsel with a Nixon-Lodge sticker on the bumper, as you can well imagine.

It's true. Archie Comic Publications, Inc., have announced plans to put Archie and his friends and family on television in the next few months.

It turns out that an "Archie Pilot Film" is now being made in Hollywood. All that's really needed now is a sponsor.

Investigating further, the pilot is being filmed at Columbia Studios (Screen Gems) with a young fellow named John Simpson playing the Archie lead.

Wayne Adams has been picked for Reggie, Cheryl Holdridge for Betty, Miki Jamison for Veronica and Jerry Brite for Jughead.

The pilot shot is being directed by talented Gene Nelson and casting has been done by Columbia's Phil Rogers and Mildride Gusse.

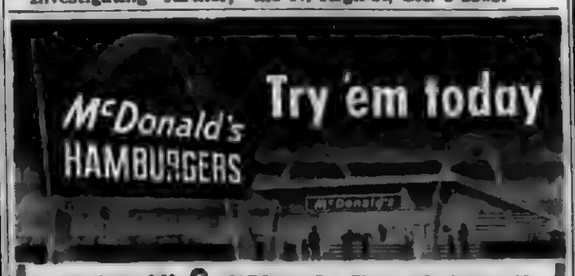
Oh, well. I'll just keep repeating the adage about the best laid plans of mice and men. Anyway, it could've been worse. Do you have any idea what they're getting in rent for a mountain retreat these days?

Folk Dance Memberships Available

Memberships in the intermediate folk dance class, sponsored by Columbus Folk Dancers and the Columbus Recreation Department, are still available.

The class meets each Tuesday at 8 p.m. for eight weeks. Anyone who has attended a beginning class or has previous dancing experience is eligible. The cost is $3, and it is not necessary to come as a couple.

For further information call Margaret Schwab, 1505 Miller-av, HI. 3-1822.



Comic Opera Comes To Cap

Smetana's opera "The Bartered Bride" will unfold on Capital University's Mees Hall stage on May 17 and 18. The musical offering is sponsored by Phi Mu Sinfonia and Phi Beta fraternities. Professor Wilbur E. Crist is music director.

The complicated plot involves a pair of "star-cross'd lovers" whose marriage is arranged by a marriage broker. But complications set in rapidly and profusely, and it is not until the third act that the confusion is finally untangled.

The Jorg Fasting Ballet will be featured in the choreography. Patricia Gaines of the Gaines Drama School is stage director. Fred Probst is chorus master.

Tickets may be obtained from Capital University, Bexley Hall, Room 107. The phone number is BE. 5-8611, Extension 31. Also handling tickets will be the Central Ticket Office, Richman's, 37 N. High-st, CA. 8-1305.

AREA ACTION HEAVY

Rams, Hawks, Cards Notch Diamond Wins

All but two of eight area nines had recorded at least one win after the diamond dust had settled following a week of baseball activity. The area won-lost mark was 9-5.

Whitehall, Hartley and St. ... tories in the won column but Charles each put two vic... only the Carolians got away without defeat.

THE RAMS RAN their seasonal record to 6-1 during the course of the week, downing Arlington, 4-3, and Mifflin, 3-1, after stumbling in their CBL opener at Delaware, 9-6.

Whitehall rallied in the final frame for its Tuesday win over Arlington. Winning pitcher Bill Dildine knotted the count at three-all with a homer. Dave Millington walked and Larry Tedder singled, setting the stage for Jay Ketzmier's winning RBI single.

TERRY TEDDER'S sparking four-hitter paced the Rams to their win over Mifflin. The Delaware game was quite a different story altogether, however, as the Pacers bunched five hits, two walks and two Ram bobbles into a big seven-run payoff second inning, which resulted in Whitehall's first setback of the season.

Hartley upped its W-L mark to 4-1 with a tight 7-6 verdict over DeSales. The Hawks were sailing along on a 7-2 lead as the Stallions came to bat in the last of the seventh.

The Hawks scored all their runs in two big innings (seven in the sixth) to down Walnut Ridge, 10-4, earlier in the week. The Scotties held a 2-0 lead until Hartley erupted in the sixth.

Hartley's lone loss of the week came on a 5-3 setback at the hands of South, which got a four-hit performance from pitcher Bob White.

ST. CHARLES took its two wins in a double-loss victory over Westerville. The Carolians, who pounded out 23 hits in the twin bill, won by scores of 7-4 and 9-2.

Doug Cromer, Jerry Aggas and Jerry Myers split the mound duties as Eastmoor slugged Franklin Heights, 5-2, in a game shortened by darkness.

Sherm Lundy, Jim Brown and Sam Beets each pounded out two hits to back up East's stingy pitching in the Tigers' 5-1 win over Brookhaven.

BEXLEY TOPPLED Mt. Vernon, 3-2, in its CBL opener before dropping a 10-4 verdict to unbeaten Linden-McKinley Tuesday afternoon.

Lion hurler Joel Brandt fanned 11 and allowed only four hits in the Mt. Vernon win. Wally Wallace knocked in the winning run in the last frame, plating Mark Lackritz, who had led off the inning with a double.

ELSEWHERE around the area, Academy could muster only three hits off Reynoldsburg hurler John Seevers as the Vikings opened their County League season with a 6-1 loss to the Raiders.

A full slate of diamond activity is scheduled for this afternoon. In the City circuit, Aquinas is at East, Marion-Franklin is at Walnut Ridge and Whetstone entertains Eastmoor.

In Central Buckeye play Arlington is at Whitehall while Bexley is scheduled at Hartley in a non-league twinbill.

Stag Dinner To Kick Off Center Softball

The 1963 A.K. Slo-Pitch Softball season will officially kick off Thursday, Apr. 25, at 8:15 p.m. in the Jewish Center gym with a stag dinner.

This traditional affair precedes the first practice game of the season.

A.K. CO-CHAIRMEN Herschel Hausman and Marty Gold, look for a great year as many new "old" men have already registered.

The stag will feature a "full course" meal prepared by master chef Meyer Kravitz and his committee. A speaker for the evening will be announced at a later date.

Jewish Center A.K. Softball is a program for men, 30 years of age or over. Games are played on Thursday evenings under the lights. The pitching is underhand slow pitch utilizing a 14" softball.

The practice game schedule is set for May 2 and May 9. Official league play starts on May 16. Jewish Center men interested in playing ball this summer should contact Howard Banchefsky, at BE. 1-2731.

WHITEHALL LETTERMEN LINEUP

WHITEHALL BASEBALL Coach Ted Georgeff (front, center) will be relying on the bats of these five Ram veterans this spring as Whitehall shoots for the Central Buckeye League pennant. The Ram returnees are, left to right, kneeling, senior catcher Larry Tedder, Georgeff and senior first baseman Dave Millington. Standing are, junior pitcher-shortstop Jay Ketzmier, senior outfielder Brent Seymour and senior pitcher Bill Dildine.

Calling All Fishermen— 'Big Ones' Hitting Again

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Well, the fishing reports came in as we predicted last week. Phil McGinnis, 640 S. 18th.-st, started things off in a big way. He caught an eight pound, one ounce largemouth bass at Hocking Lake. Using his special homemade lure, he took the lunker on his first cast. The fish was 22 inches in length and had a girth of 18½ inches.

Muskellunge are hitting at Hoover Reservoir. Carl Schott, at Paul's Marine, reported that Charles Mangus, 1887 Roberts-rd, caught a six pounder while fishing for bass. The muskie was 27¾ inches in length. Another one was weighed in, but Schott missed the angler's name.

SMALL BASS are being caught at Hoover, up to a pound and a half, but nothing much to brag about yet. They are being taken on Shysters, ABUS and plugs. Incidentally, the muskellunge are being caught by the bass fishermen. Crappies have also started to hit minnows.

Best fishing waters at Hoover are in the upper end. It is shallow there, and the water warms faster.

"Bud" Geibe, 2673 Johnstown-rd, has reported two stringers of smallish bass from Buckeye Lake. He fished two days, and his score was five and four. "I used spinners and a Johnson silver minnow," said Geibe. "The bass weren't large, but at least it was a start for the season."

Actually Geibe started the season in Florida, over a month ago. His best bass went over nine pounds, and he had another almost nine pounds.

THE ONLY THING not typical of this beginning is the appearance of muskies on this list—they are newcomers to this section of the state. Due to a stocking program carried out by the Ohio Division of Wildlife, this fighting trophy fish is available to anglers here. Muskies have been stocked in a number of lakes, but Hoover is the closest. Several area anglers go to Rocky Fork for muskellunge, and have been successful in taking them.

A Hoover muskie received statewide recognition recently, when the fish was given an honorable mention rating by the Huskie Muskie Club. The fish was caught by Dick H. Lewis, of Marysville, and weighed 17 pounds. It was 41 inches in length.

The Huskie Muskie Club was started by the Division of Wildlife to honor fishermen taking large muskellunge, to promote muskie fishing in Ohio, and to evaluate the stocking program.

TO QUALIFY in the regular listing, a muskie must be at least 40 inches long and weigh 20 pounds or more. Honorable mention is given to every muskie 30 or more inches in length. For more information write: Huskie Muskie Club, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12.

This is a happy day! When you can report that good fishing has started, it makes the winter seem not so bad. Who would have thought a month ago, that the fishing season would be off and running the first week of April? I haven't heard of anyone complaining.

Game Hearing Here April 16

County fish and game hearings have been scheduled for April in all six Wildlife Districts. Sportsmen and farmers have been urged by Hayden W. Olds, Divison of Wildlife, to attend.

The recommendations from each county are taken to a central hearing in each of the six Wildlife Districts. From these a suggested set of regulations is compiled for presentation at the state hearing in Columbus, June 27.

THE WILDLIFE Council considers the recommendations before it sets fish and game regulations immediately after the one-day hearing.

The County hearings have been scheduled for Franklin County on Tuesday, Apr. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Columbus Youth Center on the State Fairgrounds and for Pickaway County on Thursday, Apr. 18 at Circleville.

Bexley, Eastmoor East Thins Score Area Track Victories

Bexley, Eastmoor and East gained most of the attention on area cinders during the week with victories.

The Lions, sparked by Rick Harbold, gained a pair of track wins—a 79-39 verdict over Grandview and a 62-56 squeaker over Delaware.

EASTMOOR STREAKED to victory in the final mile relay Tuesday to record a tight 58-52 decision over archrival Whitehall. East completed the victorious trio by notching a pair of triangular meet.

Bexley's win over Delaware —the Lions' third straight this spring—wasn't assured until the final mile relay event even though Harbold piled up 16¼ points with firsts in the pole vault, high jump and 220 plus joining the winning half-mile relay team.

Jim Clark's record-breaking pole vault win of 13 feet was the highlight of the Warriors' victory over the Rams. Clark Fuller helped keep Whitehall in the meet until the final event by collecting 16 points with wins in the 220, 440 and high hurdles.

EAST'S TIGERS slipped past Whitehall, 55-54, in a triangular affair, thanks largely to Fred Lundy's big 16¼ points. South placed third with 39.

The Bengals upped their '63 mark to 2-1 Tuesday with a win over Marion-Franklin and Aquinas. East totaled 97½ points as compared with M-F's 43½ and the Terriers' 10.

WALLY WALKER paced Hartley to a triangular meet victory in the Hawk's opener against Ready and Aquinas. Walker won both the 100 and 220 events plus anchoring Hartley's winning 880-relay team.

Hartley's 65 points easily outdistanced Ready with 44 and Aquinas with 39.

In other meet results, Central bypassed Eastmoor, 76-42, West topped Whetstone and Walnut Ridge, 66 4/5-54 1/5-27 and Teays Valley outran Groveport and St. Charles.

WEEKEND ACTIVITY includes two of the area's top relay events—the Mansfield Relays and the Gahanna Relays—both set for Saturday. Eastmoor is the Gahanna event's defending champ and one of 14 schools which will compete in the event.

Prelims are set for 2 p.m. with the four-mile relay beginning at 3 p.m. with field events to follow. Evening session opens with the shuttle hurdle finals at 7:30 p.m.

There's plenty of lane action set for this afternoon also. Eastmoor joins Marion-Franklin at West, East travels to Worthington, while North and Gahanna assemble at Walnut Ridge.

Early week action next week finds Eastmoor at Walnut Ridge Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Yanks '63 Series Foe Giants, Reds Or LA?

Someone once described spring as a season for showers, vegetational growth and pennant race mystics. More exactly, April is the month when every male who's ever tossed a baseball lists September's final standings.

With sportswriters, as well as oddsmakers, picking the major league winners isn't just a game, it's a serious business. It becomes even more serious in the fall when some reader mails in your pre-season picks pointing out that both of your pennant winners finished in the second division.

THE NEW YORK Yankees (who?) will play either the San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers or Cincinnati Redlegs in the 1963 World Series. So far, we believe we're safe.

Quite a few Bomber fans have been concerned with the departure of Bill Skowron. "And how about Mickey Mantle's knee? Can Stan Williams duplicate his '62 W-L mark with the Yankees?" they ask, wringing their hands.

The rest of the AL should have so many problems. If Williams only pitches batting practice (unlikely). Mantle only plays half of the schedule (more unlikely) and Skowron's replacement, Joe Pepitone, only bats .187 (most unlikely), the Yanks still have more than enough to nail down their fourth straight flag.

DETROIT, WITH a healthy Al Kaline and a Frank Lary "comeback," figures to lead the American League "also-runs." Baltimore, always tough on paper, looks like a good bet for third with the addition of Al Smith and Louie Aparicio.

We like Cleveland in the number four slot. The Indians have unquestionably improved their offensive stock this time around and if Davillilo and Martinez can show well all season, the Tribe could finish higher. But there are still too many question marks on the pitching staff.

THE NATIONAL League race should be the best of the century if early indications are worth anything. We'll stick with the defending champ, San Francisco—strictly on the basis of two pitching question marks at Cincinnati and Los Angeles.

It's highly possible that guys like Billy Pierce and Billy O'Dell will never win 35 games between them ever again, but there's still Sanford and Marichal, and oh—that offense!

THEY THE Dodgers on for size in the runnerup spot. Skowron adds real punch to the LA lineup and the Dodger "kiddie korps" of Davis, Wills, Howard, etc., are another step closer to full major league maturity.

The LA puzzler is Sandy Koufax. If Sandy's back to par in '63, LA might take it all.

Bob Purkey tells the whole story at Cincinnati (third place). If the Redlegs' leading moundsman (23-5) doesn't shake his spring arm malady, Cincy won't have the impetus to make it to the top.

CINCINNATI HAS depth in the hurling department with front liners like Jay, Maloney and O'Toole but without Purkey? ? ? Offensively, the Reds have sufficient guns to match the Giants and Dodgers.

Pittsburgh took a big gulp with its winter shakeup but the gamble might get the Pirates back into the pennant race and should at least tab them a "dark horse candidate."

WITH FINGERS crossed, here's the complete rundown:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
1—New York Yankees
2—Detroit Tigers
3—Baltimore Orioles
4—Cleveland Indians
5—Minnesota Twins
6—Los Angeles Angels
7—Boston Red Sox
8—Kansas City Athletics
9—Chicago White Sox
10—Washington Senators

NATIONAL LEAGUE
1—San Francisco Giants
2—Los Angeles Dodgers
3—Cincinnati Redlegs
4—Pittsburgh Pirates
5—St. Louis Cardinals
6—Milwaukee Braves
7—Philadelphia Phillies
8—Chicago Cubs
9—Houston Colt 45's
10—New York Mets (sorry Casey)

Ok—you can smirk now. But no fair belly laughing until September.

Whitehall Team, Top Golfing Results

Whitehall was the only area winner as the High Golf League opened its '63 card Saturday on the Stoney Creek links.

The Ram slammers edged Eastmoor, 8½ to 7½, in the day's top team match. Whitehall accumulated the lowest team score (356) and Ram Bob Schmitz took medalist honors with a 42-38—80.

Watterson shut out St. Charles, 16-0, and the Bexley-Westerville match was postponed to complete area play. Next set is slated for Monday at Indian Run.

JUNIORS WILL COMPETE

Aqua Ski Club Gets OWSA Nod For Annual State Tourney Here

With climbing temperatures and sunny skies evident once more, the Columbus Aqua Ski Club is making preparations for its ninth season of competition.

There is an added tone of excitement this spring as the 82-family membership makes plans to host the Ohio Water Ski Association's state championships at their tournament site on the Scioto River, July 19-21.

FOR THE first time in its history the American Water Ski Association sanctioned tourney will include competition in the Junior Boys and Girls Division (12 and under) this summer.

The local club, which carries on a year-round social program as well as skiing and safety instructions, has high hopes of making a good performance in the tournament in the junior division as well as the senior category.

Last summer at the state tournament in Piqua, O., three members of the Columbus Club entered the charmed Century Club with ski jumps of over 100 fet. The trio — Sonny Willilams, Harold Taylor and Dan Poelman — will try to better their marks this time around.

THE CENTURY Club membership is quite an honor when you consider that it includes only 116 members in its fold which cover the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Of the Columbus club's total membership, approximately 30 percent are tournament skiers, 25 percent show skiers and the remaining 45 percent listed as novice and "fun" skiers.

The Ohio Water Ski Association selected the Columbus site this year due to the well-operated Buckeye Open Tournament conducted here last summer as well as in 1960 and 1961. The last state tournament here occured in 1959.

THE OHIO ASSOCIATION has expanded from its original 11-club organization to 20 clubs in the past three years. Sonny Williams, a 16-year ski veteran, will be the '63 tournament chairman.

Club officials welcome everyone to attend their tournament free of charge this July on the Scioto River, eight miles north of downtown Columbus on Route 33, just north of Hayden Run Bridge.

The Columbus club's ski jump, which is 14 ft. wide by 24 ft. long, surpasses all American Ski specifications. It welded steel frame, decked with hardwood and sided fully with marine plywood, is bouyed with 14 55-gallon drums.

THE JUMP'S surface is covered with Carnauba wax and a small two-cycle gasoline motor pumps a continuous flow of water over the surface.

The 315-yard salalom course is a permanent installation which is raised and lowered from the east bank. Plastic bleach bottles are used for practice and the course is left in the water on Saturdays and Sundays as a public service for weekend fun skiers.

Traditional Egg Hunt Set For Whitehall This Saturday

Three thousand plastic, candy-filled eggs will be the prizes offered to the younger set as the traditional Whitehall Easter Egg Hunt gets underway promptly at 9:30 a.m., Saturday morning, Apr. 13.

Co-sponsored by the merchants of the Town and Country Shopping Center and the Whitehall Fire and Police Departments, the event will take place in the field souh of E. Broad-st on Robinwood-av.

Besides the candy - filled eggs, 400 of the plastic eggs will contain cash ranging from a $5 bill down to pennies. A total of $100 will be hidden in the eggs scattered about the big field.

As a special feature this year the field will be divided into two age groups to give the smaller youngsters the same chance as the older children.

A large crowd is expected by the sponsors of the annual event and the public is invited to attend and take part in the activities. Camera fans are also invited to bring their equipment and photograph the fun.

Parents Told Not To Give Live Animals

The Columbus Humane Society again urges parents to purchase toy animals, not live ones, for their children's Easter gifts.

Many tiny animals, such as chicks, ducklings, or bunnies, have died because children forget they cannot be played with as puppies and kittens. The bones of little animals are fragile and will break easily; a gentle squeeze, a light blow or a fall will break legs, wings and ribs.

Special temperature, care and feeding are required of them, or they will die. The Humane Society suggests parents fill Easter baskets with colored eggs, candy and stuffed toy animals.

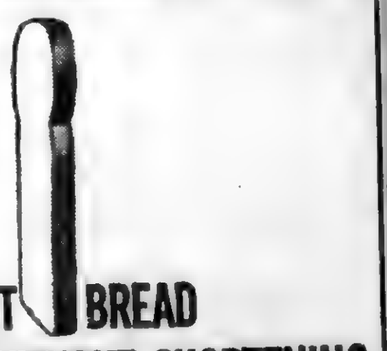
War Veterans Hold Meeting

The Franklin County War Veterans Republican Club will meet Apr. 9 at 8 p.m. in the new Veterans Memorial Building.

A film will be shown, and lunch and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

To Hold Judging

The Department of Ohio Veterans of Foreign Wars will conduct their annual Community Service Recordbook judging on Saturday, Apr. 13, at 9:30 a.m. at the Nell House, parlor No. 5.



State judges will consist of Don E. Weaver, Miss Florence Worrell and M. E. Sensenbrenner. The state program is under the direction of Otis R. Lowe, 2381 Westmoor-dr.

Monumental Policyholders Told To Pay

Monumental Life Insurance Co. policyholders have been advised that premiums must be paid when due, despite the continuance of a strike by some company agents.

In commenting on the strike, Frederick L. Wehr, president of Monumental, said:

"For policyholders to retain their insurance in full benefit and to assure themselves that claims will be paid, they are required to either mail or bring their premiums to one of the company's district offices."

Wehr's statement was made in answer to material distributed by some of the striking agents. Part of the material cited by Wehr was an unsigned letter to "Monumental Policyholders," from "Your Striking Monumental Agent."

The letter said in part:

"We urge you NOT to pay your premiums while the strike is on. The company has NOT said it would lapse any insurance for non-payment. Other insurance companies did not lapse insurance for non-payment during a strike." (Last sentence underscored.)

The letter urged policyholders to turn away any agent calling for premiums, and requested that picket lines not be crossed "in person or by mail."

Wehr described the strikers as "members of a union whose leaders approved the contract which these particular men have not accepted."

"Unless premiums are paid by our policyholders in keeping with the terms of our policies," Wehr said, "the benefits called for under the policies must cease."

Camellias Bloom At Conservatory

The camellia is in bloom at the Franklin Park Conservatory. A sister shrub of the tea plant, it is a native of Asia.

The name camellia honors a Jesuit priest, Georg Camelli, who was responsible for the introduction of this plant to the West about 1700. In a favorable outdoor location, camellias have been known to reach a height of 40 feet.

Final Plea Given For Easter Seals

The amount of contributions received during the first three and a half weeks of the Easter campaign now totals $60,206. This sum represents 75 per cent of the amount received in the 1962 campaign. This figure includes money collected during the Easter Seal parade, Mar. 31 and mail contributions.

Co-chairmen Fred Taylor and Doug McDonald are urging that persons missed during the Mar. 31 door-to-door appeal, mail in their contributions to: Crippled Children, Box No 2118, Columbus 16, O.

Dec. 17, 1945, Buffalo and upstate New York were buried by a 50-inch snowfall at the end of a four-day blizzard.

PRELUDE OF LIFE

Earth children kneeling, sorrowing
Before a Cross black-shrouded,
Symbol of despair
Until the third day.
For a brief interim
Faith and universe
And hope anesthetized.
Men of earth not knowing
Of Heaven's Grand Design.

For nearly 2,000 years Christians have met on the last Friday in Lent in commemoration of the Crucifixion. It is the prelude of Easter, the joyous day of Resurrection when death is vanquished with the assurance of life everlasting.

In His own earthly lifetime, many had accepted Jesus of Nazareth as the Christ, the long prophesied Messiah, king of heaven and earth. It was beyond their imagining that He could be put to the most cruel and degrading of deaths by any earthly authority. Yet it had happened. And to the faithful it must have seemed the end of all hope.

They could not foresee the glory and the power yet to appear. The Cross had indeed become the symbol of despair, unexplained to those not knowing of Heaven's Grand Design.

Now, for three hours, we shroud the Cross with black crepe, symbol of death, and kneel before it in sorrowful self-discipline. Yet we know what the first Christians did not know —that on the third day, grief will yield suddenly to joy and assurance bounded only by our capacity to believe.

It says here . . .

True religion is the victory of faith over doubt.

At Eastertime . .

What is Easter? It is truth, love, joy, hope, promise and beauty.

Easter is proof that the God of justice is, first, a loving God. It is the joy of Resurrection, the hope of salvation and the promise of eternal life.

Easter is an invitation to the individual to join in Nature's rebirth; to grow; to know the spiritual life that overcomes all the sorrows and heartaches of man.

Easter is a beautiful message and a beautiful time of the year.

Guest Pulpit . . .

He Said: 'Because I Live, Ye Shall Live Also'

There once was a man born of a peasant family who grew up in an obscure village and lived a relatively quiet life for 30 years. During these years there burned within Him a deep desire to be "about His Father's business."

Rev. Brown

And so, with no college credentials He set out to proclaim His convictions to His fellow man. According to all historical accounts He was a righteous man. Although confronted with all the sins of man He remained victorious over these temptations. However, early in His ministry His friends turned against Him and criticism was so high that He was sentenced to death. Only a handful of His friends witnessed His execution and mourned the loss of this great man. He had stirred them with the fire of His enthusiasm. He had preached His convictions and His followers were willing to do anything for Him.

Why did He have to die? What could He possibly have done wrong? Who would take His place? Who could deliver the love of God the way He had? And then they remembered His words: "If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him; but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you. Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more; but ye see me: because I live, ye shall live also." John 14:15-19. What kind of a comforter could possibly take the place of Jesus Christ?

In sorrow they recalled the comforters of a righteous man named Job who suffered great loss and pain. His comforters were of very little comfort to him. As though he were a dead man, they went through the prescribed seven days of mourning for him. Even in their great wisdom they were unable to offer any solution to his problem. If this was comfort, as far as the disciples were concerned there was no comfort to be found for them in all the earth.

In spite of a compelling urge to go back to their old ways of life, they stayed together for three days trying to formulate some plans. Early in the afternoon of the third day following His death, they were confronted by the angelic form of their leader. By some miraculous manner He stayed with them awhile and bolstered their faith. The followers were later blessed with His divine power and began performing great things in His memory, but they never met the comforter—or did they?

Job's problem and the Apostles' problems are translated over and over in our present times. Needless wars and desires have plagued mankind for years and no matter how righteous we may be, we are not immune to suffering at the hands of evil.

It would be foolish for us to try to prophesy what the future holds for although the problems will remain the same, the instruments of destruction will develop with civilization. The inevitable comforters will not always have the same beliefs as Job's friends but as long as they refer to suffering in terms of worldly experience their words "will be as sounding brass." We may be forced to cry out, like the disciples, "What next?" According to the Book of Revelations, eventually Christ is next. That same Jesus who, faced with all the temptations of man, emerged victorious.

Symbolically, the Book of Job is a panoramic view of the birth, development, discipline, and reward of a spirit. Are we not all Jobs? Are we not all spirits? Is not this life on earth as flesh a short disciplinary action to make us more appreciative of a hereafter? Do we not search sometimes aimlessly for comfort?

Those who finally find real comfort span the chasm safely back to the dimension from which they as spirits came, now educated in the divine power of the Creator. There, meeting the Comforter "face-to-face," the words of Christ ring triumphantly in our ears. ". . . because I live, ye shall live also."

Rev. Fred V. Brown, pastor
Wagner Memorial E.U.B. Church
1015 Oakwood-av.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Human Dynamo Suffers Power Failure

The "new me," that's who I've got to find.

Everyone else seems to be finding his "new me," so why should I be having such trouble? As a sometime book reviewer, I have had many of the how-to-find-your-new-self books placed at my disposal. But either I've been getting the wrong books or I've been failing to get the messages correctly.

Needless to say, this has greatly fueled the milquetoast tumor within my quivering frame. Each day I find it more difficult to meet the level glances of passers-by on the street. Even my son's cat (a totally shiftless beast that does little more than eat, sleep and foal litters) can now stare me down.

McPeek

For a brief while, I thought I had found the "new me." It came after I read the recently published "Seven Days to New Power and Happiness." (In a concession to cowardly instincts, I've altered the title somewhat to prevent the author from seeking me out to punch my old nose.)

After re-reading three times the chapter that tells how to bolster your self-confidence, I eagerly set out to put this new information into practice. I swaggered into the kitchen where my soulmate was preparing dinner. Masterfully brushing her aside, I took a few sniffs over the range.

"Macaroni and cheese!" I snarled. "Good grief, that's the third casserole you've made in three days. Don't you know how to make an occasional man's meal? What's wrong with steak, or a roast?"

For a moment the scene was frozen as my stunned mate studied my confidently arrogant face.

"You sick?" she asked gently after about 30 loud ticks of the wall clock.

"No," I replied, taken aback by her sudden show of concern.

"Then get that asthmatic beak of yours out of my kitchen," she exploded, "before I show you how to garnish a spouse with bruises!"

Trembling, I dashed into the living room and sought refuge behind the sofa where I set up a loud hissing. After a few minutes, she came into the room and shooed the dozing cat out the door.

Taking some consolation in my sneakery, I slunk upstairs and slammed "Seven Days to New etc." into the corner, then re-read a magazine review of the movie, "Divorce, Italian Style."

After a few days of mental convalescence, I retrieved "Seven Days . . ." and read the chapter on "How to Bring Out Your Hidden Power."

Well, why not, I decided. But this time I would wisely forego any kitchen experiments. I waited until going to work the next day.

Striding briskly into the newsroom, I flipped my hat atop the coat rack, spun my chair, catching it neatly on the third twirl, and commanded: "Boy, get me coffee . . . black, and make it quick!"

"Simmer down, Cletus," he chuckled. "I've got to clip the one-star and it'll be at least a half-hour before I can make a coffee run."

Smart aleck copy boys! No wonder the world's going to pot, I said to myself. Oh well, why waste newly found hidden power on a punk kid. Save it for the news editor, where it will count.

About three hours later I got my chance. (No use being foolish; no one speaks to the news editor until after mid-morning.)

"If you don't mind a constructive suggestion," said I in a firm tone, "I think that front page wing makeup we used yesterday fell apart when we threw in those two-column pictures."

He gazed at me blandly for a brief second or two, waggled his head sadly and turned to his desk.

"Don't you agree?" I insisted.

He pivoted about, zeroed a 100-watt stare between my eyes, and said:

"Whadda you want . . . my job? You wantta get ahead? Is your talent being wasted?" Then muttering something about "d--n office climbers," he turned his back to me.

For the next few weeks, I consoled myself with thoughts of my next vacation.

So who needs confidence, power, mental energy, etc? Phooey!

Togetherness? Yes!

Maybe it's "spring fever," or maybe we're dreaming out loud, but we can't help dwelling on those oft-heard phrases "wouldn't it be nice," and "maybe, someday."

Here are our thoughts on these phrases.

Wouldn't it be nice if there were a clear understanding that Columbus and Franklin County are each a part of the other? Maybe, someday, this fact will be generally accepted.

Wouldn't it be nice if ALL communities within the county—cities, townships and villages—realized that, combined, they CONSTITUTE Franklin County; that certain major functions can BEST be handled ONLY through a UNITED, cooperative effort? Maybe, someday, a representative group of citizens will carry this message to their friends and neighbors at the "grass roots" levels.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could apply this thinking to such areas as water, sewer, zoning and other problems that recognize NO intra-county territorial boundary lines? Maybe, someday, we will.

Wouldn't it be nice? It certainly would! And there is no better time for that "someday" than RIGHT NOW.

Honesty Still Best Policy

Local striking members of the Insurance Workers' International Union have chosen an ill-conceived and potentially harmful method of enlisting the aid of local policyholders.

In an unsigned letter to policyholders, the striking agents have urged that premiums not be paid during the course of the strike. The closest thing to a guarantee of protection they offer the policyholder is a statement that "other insurance companies did not lapse insurance for non-payment during a strike."

As a matter of fact, the company has the right, by law, to lapse any policy that is not kept in force under the terms of the policy. Under Ohio law, the use of agents by insurance companies is only a convenience to the policyholders. Should the agent fail to collect, or should the policyholder refuse to make a payment to an agent, this does not relieve the policyholder of the obligation to meet payment terms of the policy.

We feel that any insurance agent worthy of his job should be aware of these facts.

This particular incident is the more serious, we feel, because the striking agents chose to remind the policyholders in their letter that: "We have dedicated our lives to bring FINANCIAL SECURITY and FREEDOM from WORRY to you and your family."

The ethics of these striking agents is certainly open to question when—through ignorance or intent—they place in jeopardy the very purpose they claim as their life's dedication.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Now, What About The Poor Majority?

The U.S. Supreme Court now has under advisement another school prayer case, and if it hasn't learned anything since its decision on the New York regents prayer last fall it is likely to come up with another dizzy ruling.

Jones

The new suit came out of Baltimore where a mother who is an avowed atheist sued the Baltimore school board because a passage from the Old Testament and the Lord's Prayer were part of the daily opening exercises at her son's school.

When she complained in the lower court the school board promptly offered to let her son be excused from hearing the offensive words. But now the mother claims that this sets her son apart and subjects him to ridicule and abuse. She has demanded that no Bible readings or prayers be made in the hearing of any Maryland child while in public school.

Now someday the majority are going to be tired of being pushed around by the minority. Because we have moved into an era where the minority is demanding satisfaction for itself even where it interferes with the satisfaction of the majority. This can get absurd.

The overwhelming majority of Marylanders are not atheists and they think it is a good idea if their children listen to a few preachments. The communists think so, too. They smother Russian and Chinese children with preachments, most of them from their pickled god, Lenin. So do the Koran, the Zend Avesta and the sacred books of Buddha — all filled with good advice to youth. But all but a handful of Americans subscribe to religious bodies that venerate the Old Testament.

Yet the angry lady in Baltimore holds that even though it is okay with the majority of Marylanders that her son duck out when the Bible is opened, his "rights" are being outraged. They will only be satisfied if all Marylanders agree to conform to her taboos. Otherwise, Maryland shall be damned as "intolerant."

Is it possible for the minority to be intolerant, too?

Both houses of the U.S. Congress open with prayer. Isn't this an affront to atheist citizens? Let us fire the chaplains.

On most of the coins and bills we carry there is the legend, "In God We Trust." Aren't we being cruel to sincere atheists in forcing them to purchase their groceries with this pious money ?

The school assembly salutes the flag. The students stand with their hands over their hearts intoning the words— this nation under god . . ." Surely the cops should be called and the principal arrested.

School lunches offer meat. Meat is an abomination to vegetarians. Shall we, therefore, feed our children pea soup and yogurt?

Last December, three public schools in Sharon, Mass., removed all Christmas trees and Christmas decorations from their classrooms on the theory that they were an affront to Jewish students. Bye-bye Santa Claus because Saint Nicholas was a Christian saint. However, the Russians have shown us how we can still get our presents. We welcome Grandfather Frost. Merry Present-Giving Day!

And bye-bye to all the school Easter Bunnies. Easter is a Christian festival in which the resurrection of living things from the death of winter is symbolized by observance of the story of Christ's resurrection, which you may or may not believe. This has got to go. But on the other hand, the millinery business, the garment industry and the candy makers need something like Easter. So let's train our children to look forward to New-Hat-New-Dress-Chocolate-Egg Day.

We've got to clean up Thanksgiving, too. These silhouettes of obviously Protestant Pilgrim fathers that we have the kindergarten kids cutting out, are an insult to all other sects and religions. And the whole business is a slam at our atheists. For Thanksgiving means giving thanks to God. What shall be substitute? The United Nations?

American Negroes have property battled for the right to live where they choose and go to school where they live. In some places the reluctant majority have had to be spanked pretty hard and the battle isn't over. But New Jersey hasn't had to be spanked. These rights have long been guaranteed there.

Yet, at the urging of the NAACP, Negroes are boycotting a school in northern New Jersey because 90 per cent of the students are colored. Why? Because white families exercised what Negroes have been demanding, namely the right to move where they pleased. And they moved out of the neighborhood. So the Negroes are demanding that white children be driven back into that school.

It is one thing to insist that the majority accord a minority that which the majority enjoys. This is justice. But it is another thing to chase the majority around the block with a stick, demanding that it behave in a way decreed by the minority.

We're getting close to that point. The tragedy is that a growing public consciousness of minority rights is likely to be soured by the arrogance of some minority leaders. This could set us back—way back.

The majority will stand just so much kicking.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROBB — U.S.A.

Thousands of marriages are destroyed every year in family situations, not because the battling parties aren't decent people, but because their "personality quotient" is so deficient.

Many students of social and personality problems are coming to realize that fundamentally there is no insoluble problem involved. It used to be that sadism had only one category of identification—that was deliberate and violent physical abuse of other humans or domestic animals in deranged "fits of temper."

Now we know that much so-called sadism is wholly verbal and that it hurts much worse than actual physical violence, not inflicted to the point of fatality. The tragedy is that all such behavior injures two people. The hapless victim many times can do nothing except keep still about it, given that such an individual has enough adulthood to "consider the source."

If this unhealthy habit of always "going into orbit" on the slightest excuse, or no real excuse, continues, then it becomes more and more dangerous to the perpetrator because he can become neurotic or even psychotic to the point of paranoic deadly behavior.

Many a grass widow is "out to pasture" because she never learned how to take the vinegar out of her voice. Many a no-good oaf is shucked off by a high grade and civilized woman because he had "no raising and a foul mouth."

County Court Upholds Sunday Sales Law

The Franklin County Common Pleas Court has upheld the Ohio Sunday closing laws as constitutional in a case involving Lorena Jean Bush, 2035 Winslow-dr.

The woman was charged with operating a cash register at a supermarket at 2167 Livingston-av, Sunday.

Common Pleas Judge Joseph J. Herter ruled her work had violated the Sunday sales law and rejected an appeal that the law was unconstitutional.

CUSTOMERS ENTERING Eastern TV in the Town and Country Shopping Center discover a complete line of television sets, tape recorders and record players on display on the show floor. A complete repair service is also available either by bringing the item to the shop or by calling for a service truck.

Eastern TV Features A Complete Line Of Merchandise and Repair Services

"I guess I enjoy repairing TV sets and radios more than any other part of the business," commented Ernie Bowshier, owner and operator of Eastern TV, Town and Country Shopping Center, as he discussed the various aspects of his organization.

"We have even added a short wave radio to our service truck and have just purchased another truck for our repair business," he added as he discussed the area covered by the trucks. Phillips said the trucks go anywhere on the East Side from Nelson-rd to Reynoldsburg, including Bexley, Whitehall, Gahanna and east.

"We like to specialize in service and take pride in our reasonable prices," he said and added "our prices are as low as anywhere in the East End. Many of our shop jobs run less than $10."

Bowshier started his television service in his home under the name of Shady Lane TV and later moved to his present location in the Town and Country Shopping Center across from the entrance to the General Depot. It was during the move two and a half years ago the company name was changed to Eastern TV.

The store features television sets and repairs, air conditioners, tape recorders, stereo sets, record players, records and supplies. A complete line of new equipment manufactured by Emerson, Admiral and Westinghouse are on display on the show floor. "Any equipment sold by Eastern TV can also be serviced at the usual reasonable prices," according to Bowshier.

Store hours are from noon to 9 p.m. daily and on Saturdays.

Announce New Allstate Office

A complete line of insurance, including protection for automobiles, homes, boats, accident and health and life insurance, is being offered by the newly established office of the Allstate Insurance Co. in the Sears, Roebuck Store at 3872 E. Broad-st.

The new office, located in the Town and Country Shopping Center, will be manned by agents, Bob Puseciker and Art Hull. Besides offering the complete Allstate insurance line, both men will be available to service present policies for any necessary changes or for receiving premium payments.

The office will maintain regular Sears Store hours, which are 12 noon to 9 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays.

IT RIDES ON AIR

A GROUND EFFECT machine that rides on a cushion of air is explained by "Previews of Progress" lecturer Rick Olshove to Whitehall High School students, Larry Shanks, left, and Judy Shamhart. This strange model craft moves on air a few inches above the ground or water. This was one of the exciting sequences seen by Whitehall High students Friday, Apr. 5, during the program sponsored by The General Motors Corp.

Hoover Dam Setting For Sunrise Rite

Easter sunrise service will be held at Hoover Reservoir for the eighth consecutive year.

Sponsored by Central College Presbyterian Church, attendance other years has been estimated at more than 3,000.

An 18-foot-high wooden cross has already been erected on top of the east tower of the dam. Illuminated at night, the cross can be seen from Sunbury-rd and from the parking areas near the dam.

The service will begin with the actual rising of the sun at 5:56 a.m. and will be conducted this year from the top of the west tower. A public address system will make it possible to hear from cars in the lower parking lot on the west side, as well as from the surrounding area which forms a natural ampitheater.

Entrance should be made from Sunbury-rd. If the parking lots on the east side are used it will be necessary to walk across to the west side of the dam.

Highway patrolmen and county sheriffs will be on hand to keep traffic moving smoothly. Boy Scouts and Explorers will also help direct people to best locations.

The welcome on behalf of the City of Columbus will be by Mayor Westlake. The Easter message, "The Beginning of the End," will be given by Rev. Richard D. Ellsworth of the Central College United Presbyterian Church.

Music will consist of a boys' quartet composed of Dave Cameron, Joe Goldsmith, Rick Odgers and Bill Batey singing "He Arose." Mrs. Donald O'Brien will play the portable organ.

Student Gets Study Grant

DeHayes

Daniel W. DeHayes, Jr., 21, of 2886 Castlewood-rd, has been awarded a three-year graduate fellowship in business logistics.

The grant is provided by Ohio State University under the National Defense Act and will provide for a full time course of study leading to the Ph.D. degree.

DeHayes is a senior at Ohio State, where he is a cadet colonel in the Army ROTC and is regimental commander of the Pershing Rifles for Ohio, West Virginia and eastern Kentucky.

He attended Eastmoor High School.

Pine Hills Baptist Church Looks To Construction of Sanctuary

Members of the Pine Hills Church and their pastor, Rev. George W. Meyers, face Easter services with an extra reason for joy in their hearts.

Within three weeks construction of the first of three units of their new church will begin. At the present, the congregation, which was formed in 1961, is meeting in the Woodcrest Elementary School.

The first step in their building plans includes a small sanctuary with a short educational wing, each of which will seat 160 persons.

Next year a second story addition to the wing is foreseen with a 400 capacity auditorium visualized in the future.

The interiors are planned with oaken laminated arches and red brick exteriors.

The site chosen is on almost two acres at the corner of Longhurst-dr and Livingston-av.

The church members expect their new chapel to be completed by mid-summer.

Services this Easter will be held as usual at the school and 11 persons will be accepted for baptism. Sunday School is at 9:30 a.m. and worship at 10:30 and 7 p.m.

Pine Hills is associated with the Ohio Association of Regular Baptist Churches and the General Association of Regular Baptist Churches.

Bexley Methodist To Show Holy Land Scenes Sunday

Scenes of the Holy Land sites will be shown Easter Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Bexley Methodist Church by Rev. Samuel J. Williams, 2465 E. Broad-st, who led a pilgrim party to Jerusalem last summer.

He will also show pictures he took behind the Iron Curtain in East Berlin. Rev. Williams has spent a total of more than two years in the Near East, visiting that area five times.

Featured on the program will be a color slide lecture on the world-wide ministry of the short-wave radio station, HCJB, at Quito, Ecuador.

John V. Gosney of Miami, who recently visited Ecuador, will tell how this missionary station reaches 110 countries around the world. Rev. Williams will present a 15-minute broadcast by tape recording over HCJB Apr. 29, 9:30 p.m. EST, recounting experiences in the Holy Land and in East Berlin.

The station is heard in Columbus on frequencies of 11.9 and 9.7 megacycles.

Passover Services Slated

Rabbi Nathan Zelizer will conduct Sabbath services at Temple Tifereth Israel, Friday, Apr. 12, 8 p.m.

Saturday morning service will begin at 9:15. Rabbi "Can These Dry Bones Live?" Services Sunday evening will begin at 7.

Passover services will conclude Tuesday morning, Apr. 16, 9:15, when Rabbi Zelizer's sermon will be "Song of Sadness."

Police Inspector Harvey Alston To Be Feted For Police Career

Harvey Alston

Police Inspector Harvey Alston, recently retired, will be honored at a testimonial dinner on Apr. 17 at the Southern Hotel. The banquet will mark Alston's 25-plus years of exceptional service to the City of Columbus.

He is known particularly for his work with juveniles and is considered a national authority on juvenile behavior.

Harvey Alston was born in Graham, N.C., in 1906 and came to Columbus in the year of the great flood, 1913. He attended elementary school and then went to East High School.

At East he was a member of the basketball team. After graduation he sold insurance until the depression caught up with him in 1931. He worked at a variety of jobs until, in 1933, he took a federal post as caretaker of the National Guard Armory. He joined the Columbus Police Department in 1937 and married his wife, Fannie, in 1944.

Alston, who is 57, lives at 1893 Greenway S.

He rapidly rose from a patrolman on a beat, eventually to reach the top position of Inspector of Police. It is believed that he is the first Negro ever to obtain the position of inspector on a metropolitan police force.

When Alston was a patrolman, the juvenile division, called the Friendly Service Bureau, had a staff of two. In 1941, seven patrolmen were added and the name changed by Mayor — now Governor — Rhodes to Juvenile Bureau. Alston was assigned to the bureau as a lieutenant in 1949 and took command in 1950. When he left, the bureau had a staff of 23 as well as national recognition. Columbus Chief of Police George W. Scholer calls Alston "a capable and dedicated police official who was ever mindful of the rights of all persons."

Alston was asked by President Truman to serve on the White House Conference of Youth, and in 1952, he assisted in the investigation of juvenile delinquency by the Kefauver Committee.

It is worthy of note that while the nation suffered a 28 per cent increase in juvenile delinquency after the war, Columbus held the line at only a 12 per cent increase, largely attributed to the work of Harvey Alston.

He has been active in the National Guard Reservists, in which he served for 17 years, retiring with the rank of captain. He has also worked with the Boy Scouts.

In 1955, Alston was voted the "Outstanding Elk," and in 1962 he was given highest honors — that of Past Grand Exalted Ruler for meritorious service. He is a member of the Columbus Area Council on Alcoholism and a member of the advisory board of Windsor Terrace Recreation Center.

In 1960 Alston received the Sertoma Award, a high honor for "service to mankind." In 1955 he was selected by the Chicago Defender as one of the country's 10 outstanding men.

He does not plan to be inactive now that he has officially retired. He will continue his work in civil affairs and will be running for city councilman in the next election.

Dear friends,

We have been asked about our one-cost system.

It simply means that the selection of the casket, at whatever price, includes all the essential services connected with the funeral - care of the deceased, use of the funeral home, direction of the funeral, provision of cars, and many other facilities and services.

You are welcome to call at any time to discuss these matters.

Respectfully,

Arthur B Leach

Walnut Ridge World

By PATTY WHITE and TERRY WOODS

The past weekend was a busy one for many W.R. students. State music contests were held and the senior girls' ensemble received superior rating. The boys' ensemble received an excellent rating.

The District Science Fair was held Saturday at French Field House at Ohio State. Kathy Vian, John Guzzino, and Tom Wessel received superior ratings and will participate in the State Science Fair at Central State College in Wilberforce, O., on Apr. 26.

W.R. was the scene of a triangular track meet for the Scotties, Roosevelt, and Starling on Apr. 9.

Two Easter assemblies, sponsored by the Senior Y-Teens and Hi-Y, were to be presented to the students today. The Senior Ensemble sang for both. Today also, the Scotties were to play baseball at Eastmoor and the Scots played Marion-Franklin at home.

GAA volleyball will begin next week.

A trophy was received by Doug Tracy for second place in the city-wide safety poster contest.

There will be no school Good Friday or Easter Monday.

East Side Accidents On Rise

Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer has reported that the accident enforcement ratio on the East Side has been sub-par during the second half of March. The crucial areas are James-rd from Main-st to Broad-st and Main-st from 18th to Wilson.

The most dangerous violations are drunken driving, excessive speed and failure to observe stop signs. A failure to allow a safe following distance resulted in the death of a passenger at Fifth-av and Nelson-rd on Mar. 30. This was Columbus' 17th traffic death of 1963.

Scholer stated that the Bexley-Whitehall area requires from 15 to 30 per cent greater traffic surveillance and enforcement to reduce the number of accidents.

New Whitehall School Zone?

The State Board of Education is presently deliberating the possible transfer of a 50.77-acre tract of land from the Jefferson School District to Whitehall.

At the present time there is a certain amount of confusion due to the fact that this parcel of land has already been annexed to the City of Whitehall, although the education of its younger inhabitants lies in the hands of Jefferson.

E. E. Holt, Ohio superintendent of schools, recommended the educational transfer.

Station Manager Resigns Post

William Callinan, 1074 Grandon-av, who has managed Union Station since Nov. 1, 1947, resigned Saturday, the depot company announced. Callinan had been a railroad employe for 29 years.

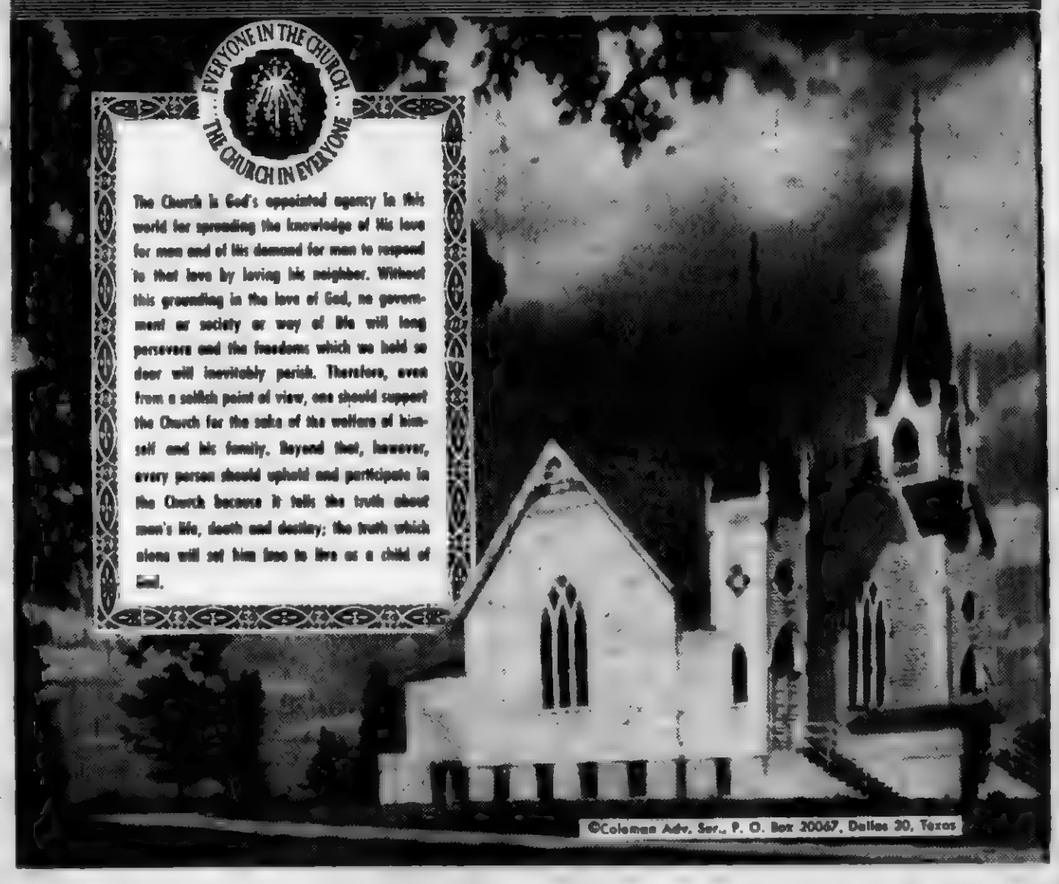
He will be replaced by Harney K. McDonald, 201 W. Henderson-rd.

Musical To Come To Cap

Selections from the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma," will be sung by the Capital University Women's Chorus for its home concert on Sunday, Apr. 21, at 8 p.m. in Mees Hall auditorium.

Rather than presenting "Oklahoma" in regular concert form, the chorus, with help from the Men's Glee Club, will portray characters from the musical and stage the production with appropriate scenery and costumes. Several dance scenes will be featured.

Soloists for "Oklahoma" will be freshmen, William Brinkley, Cheryl Ebert, Canton, and Darlene Barr, Columbus; sophomores, Joan Klopfer, Columbus, and David Augenstein, and junior, George Schram.



Under the direction of Professor Richard Johnston, the Women's Chorus will sing sacred selections preceding the musical numbers.

Observing Easter

"Jesus said, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." John 11:25.

Easter, the day on which we celebrate the resurrection of our Lord, should find us worshiping Him in His Church. He is alive! His presence fills the sanctuary! All things are made new. It is the time of beginning again. Attend church and join your neighbors in singing praises to God for His Glory and Power and Love; and some of this Resurrection Joy and Power will come to you.

Paneling Can Define Room's Activity Areas

Solid lumber paneling is not only distinctive in and of itself, but it can also create distinctions between activity areas within a room.

The lines of demarcation which can be achieved with wall paneling may be either visual or physical.

To visually separate different activity areas, certain walls or sections of walls may be paneled while the remaining wall space is left unpaneled. In this way a specific area of the room becomes the focal point.

Fireplace Wall

An example of this sort of visual delineation would be the treatment of a fireplace wall on which the mantel itself is kept simple. The center of interest is created through the effective contrast between the brick or stone of the fireplace and the vertical rise of the paneling.

Similarly, an unusual collection of paintings or other wall hangings could be displayed to advantage against a wall paneled with solid lumber — such as clear, vertical grain Larch from the Western Pine region.

To emphasize a study corner in a larger room — a family or living room, for instance — that corner might be paneled in knotty Ponderosa Pine and bookcases built-in, thereby creating a comfortable room within a room. In like manner, a difficult alcove might be transformed into a distinctive and distinct dining area simply by installing handsomely patterned paneling on its three walls.

It is also possible to differentiate between activity areas in a room where all the walls are paneled by using a different installation design or pattern on the featured wall.

Thus, in a room where vertical paneling has been used throughout, the fireplace wall might be done in horizontal or even diagonal paneling. In using the same wood species, but varying the installation, the differentiation can be achieved without disrupting the integrity of the decor.

Room Dividers

The alternative to visual demarkation is physical separation via paneled screens and room dividers. These devices are more definitive than is the paneled feature wall, but as they are usually neither solid nor built to ceiling height, they divide space but do not enclose it.

For instance, many of today's homes are not designed with entrance foyers, nor are the living rooms such that they will stand being chopped off with a solid wall to create an entrance hall. However, an effective entrance can be achieved with a divider built of solid lumber.

Such a divider might be a simple screen of vertical White Fir 1x2's, or something of a lattice-work nature. Or it might be a series of shelves at random intervals which could accommodate plants or a collection of glassware and china.

Another area in which the solid lumber screen can produce effective results is in the case of the non-existent dining room. Rather than simply establish one end of the living room as a dining area, it is possible to construct a handsome and not-too-space-consuming divider which would serve, on both sides, as a backdrop for furniture. This sort of divider is most effective if it is solid perhaps two-thirds of the way up and open from there to the ceiling.

Open-work screens can also be used to span the wide opening between two definite rooms where the opening is an alternate entrance that is not used, but shouldn't be sealed off with a solid door.

Enjoy More Peace And Quiet In Your Home

One of the reasons for the mass exodus from the city to suburbia is to get away from the bang, clatter and roar of the big metropolises.

But the new suburban resident has found that the country can be noisy too and he has to take steps to insure peace and quiet.

In the country, dogs bark, trains whistle, traffic still roars and swishes, appliances whirl, horns blow and the kids still make a rumpus when playing in the street or when confined to home by inclement weather.

How can the suburban dweller protect himself against the annoying suburban noises that he was not conscious of in the city. Here are a few suggestions:

Hedges, bushes, trees and fences can deflect a lot of traffic noise if you live near a busy street or highway.

Weather-stripping — felt strips and caulking can control sound as well as temperature.

Door Closers

Mechanical door-closers solve the problem of slamming doors.

Shaving a bit of wood off a door may stop annoying squeaks.

Lubricating hinges has the same effect.

Put casters under chairs to cut down on scraping noises. Glass casters instead of rubber or cloth-backed metal, however, defeat your purpose.

A felt or rubber pad under an appliance may absorb more than 25 per cent of the noise. Keep pads under carpets, too.

Heavy drapes will absorb a lot of noise and keep it from spreading.

Quiet rooms such as bedrooms or reading rooms should be as far as possible from noisy rooms such as the kitchen or rumpus room.

You may become accustomed to a leaking faucet, but it may be annoying to others. Put in a new washer when necessary.

The suburban dweller also has found that new homes, while they are clean and beautiful inside, have a maximum of hard surfaces that act as sounding boards which reflect and amplify noise.

One of the most important noise reduction steps is to add absorptive material. The best method is to put acoustical tiles on ceilings, especially in the family room, living room, kitchen, den and playroom.

If the homeowner belongs to the new breed or do-it-yourselfers, he finds it's an easy job to install these tiles. All he needs are a few instructions which come with the materials. If he's that rare "unhandyman" he gets an accoustical contractor to do the job.

Amazing Difference

Amazing is the word for the difference between a sound conditioned room and an old fashioned one with hard surfaces from which noise bounces back and forth like a tennis ball.

Acoustical treatment is a comparative newcomer in the field of home repair, although it is included in the plans of many new homes.

Sound conditioning for many years has been a "must" in commercial buildings, auditoriums, broadcasting stations and other public and quasi-public structures.

Originally most acoustical tiles were white or off-white, but as they moved into the home, a wide variety of patterns and colors and color combinations were developed.

Some tiles resemble veined marble, others have appearance of vari-colored stone, still others are scultpured or embossed. Some are so cunningly designed they seem to change patterns with change in lights.

An acoustical ceiling can effect a marked, even quite striking change in a room's appearance, especially when care is taken to choose one or more of the distinctive surface designs that will complement the motif or color scheme.

Maintenance of acoustical ceiling tiles is an easy matter. They can be washed, dusted or painted, though in painting care should be taken not to clog the perforations that absorb most of the unwanted sound in a room.

Acoustical tiles are especially handy if the ceiling is in poor condition but does not need replacing. The tiles can be placed on the old ceiling with a special type of adhesive.

Decorative Lighting Effects Can Prove Highly Functional

Not all fixture lighting is intended specifically to provide illumination for clear, quick, comfortable seeing. Some lighting is used primarily to create an emotionally satisfying environment, according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

Decorative, or non-task lighting can also be highly functional. Used correctly, it helps repair the two most common mistakes in home lighting: glaring concentrations of light surrounded by drabness or extreme, flat, even lighting.

Avoid High Contrast

Undesirable high contrast —or difference in brightness —is often created, for example, by using portable lamps without general light from ceiling or wall fixtures. The picture is one of pools of light surrounded by extensive unlighted areas. This type of harsh lighting is hard on the eyes and contributes to discomfort and irritability.

Contrasts are normally reduced by lighting a vertical surface, such as a wall or drapery, in the normal field of vision. Such lighting adds to the over-all illumination of a room and softens the lighting. Lighting experts employ hanging or surface-mounted fixtures, valances, cornices, wall brackets, coves, soffits or custom architectural lighting for this purpose.

This type of lighting also accentuates the color and texture of wall or window treatments and contributes to the over-all interior design.

Just as undesirable in the home is flat, even lighting. It does not jangle the nerves like sharp concentrations of light but it produces boredom and monotony.

ORIENTAL flavor of the dining area is enhanced by a colorful cluster of porcelain lighting pendants, in white with multi-colored bands. By Moe Light.

This is best offset with pinpoints of light in key areas and on decorative accents to stimulate interest, excitement and alertness.

Highlifghting of art objects such as paintings, murals, sculptures or planters can be done with recessed or surface-mounted directional lights or hanging fixtures. Many have focusing mechanisms for precise light control.

Similar techniques can be used to add emotional impact and visual excitement over a coffee or end table or a room divider, creating the theatrical effect of spotlighting key areas.

Good fixture lighting does more than deliver the right light for seeing it. It combines general illumination with sparkling highlights that add variation and interest and keeps the senses alive.

Fencing Provides Privacy Outdoors

For privacy and a sense of shelter, outdoor living space should be enclosed. Containment may be accomplished by a fence, a series of panels or a trellis.

These screens provide decorative protection—area delineation, privacy from passers by and sun or shade, when or where you want it.

When it comes to functionalism that's handsome too, fences and fence panels must certainly be given top priority in yard development.

Used alone or in conjunction with activity areas, fences can provide as little or as much protection and privacy as desired in a variety of attractive designs.

The more solid and taller the fence, the more privacy and protection achieved. Degree depends on purpose — whether the fence is to keep children in the yard or stray dogs out, to delineate between children's play area and yard proper, to create a barbecue patio or to screen utility areas from general view.

Fence design is limited only by the imagination.

SCREEN PATIO for privacy and individuality. Fence can be perfect foil for planting beds. Western red cedar is used here.

Choices include basket-weave, herringbone, lattice work, wood "bricks," parquets, alternating panels back and front, and vertical louvers.

BUILT-IN BABY SITTER fence encloses children's play-yard, protecting them from neighborhood hazards. Vertical, solid board design in red cedar provides no footholds. When youngsters are grown, area can be turned into a walled terrace for adults.

Whitehall Possibly To Collect Own Garbage

Whitehall may soon take on the job of collecting its own refuse. The possible takeover from Northway Haulage Co. was the result of an investigation urged by Darrell Todd, council finance chairman.

Northway has been chastised by city officials for a variety of things, one being the collection of refuse at 1 a.m.

Todd stated that three trucks and nine men would be necessary if Whitehall were to take the matter into its own hands. Councilman Ray Shipley stated that the service committee was extremel interested. "We have the worst garbage and refuse pickup in the county," he said.

The pickup of refuse by the city itself would cost more, but, according to Shipley, the net result would be worth the expenditure.

Councilmen are interested in knowing whether residents would prefer rubbish pickup at the rear of the house rather than by the curb, as it is now. Shipley remarked, "That curbside trash has got to go. It's not only ugly to look at, but blows all over the neighborhood on windy days."

All Invited To Hear 'Resurrection' Cantata

"Resurrection," Dashler's cantata, will be sung by the adult choir of the Grace United Church of Christ, 1226 Shady Lane-rd, Friday evening opening the weekend celebration.

An Easter egg hunt for all children of the area will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The Easter Sunday services will commence with an outdoor sunrise service at 6:30 a.m., with regular worship at 9 and 10:30. Sunday School will also meet at 9 a.m.

Holy communion will be offered at both worship services.

Rev. Marcus S. Buehrer has chosen "New Life Given" for his Easter topic. Herbert Anthony will be the soloist with the adult choir at the morning services.

Mickey points out Maplewood construction area as Mayor Moling looks on.

waiting for someone to make a left turn.

The road may bring in a new bus line, thereby giving a great convenience to the residents of Maplewood and nearby streets. There is no question that the repaving would be a time-saving boon to Fire Department emergency squads.

Despite the higher-speed characteristics of the new road, Mayor Moling anticipates no traffic problem of speed limit violators.

Maplewood-rd is not the only road in Whitehall that is slated for improvement or total rebuilding. The two streets immediately east of Maplewood, Collingwood-rd and Robinwood-rd, are also on the docket. "We set things up as we get the money," explained Mayor Moling.

The cost of rebuilding a street is high, whether the street be a large artery or a small alley. Neither the City of Whitehall nor the residents of that street can be expected to cough up the entire amount. Whitehall agrees to pay at least half of the cost, according to service director Mickey, and the residents will pay the other half, as long as there is no assessment more than $15 per frontage foot. The city agrees to pay any difference. This way the residents of one road are not hit for more money than the residents of another street.

The reconstruction of Maplewood-rd and Hamilton-rd will be major improvements to the City of Whitehall, as well as giving greatly increased convenience to the involved residents.

thinking of entering the profession — a profession which, in Ohio, is reportedly in need of 100 per cent more ladies of mercy.

"Low hospital salary levels (supposedly at an average of $295 per month) have made it very difficult to attract the right numbers of qualified young women into nursing. If we remove hospital responsibility, the present nursing shortage will get even worse," Miss Cornelius theorized.

"The burden of carrying liability insurance would be shifted significantly from the hospital administration to the individual employe, professional and non-professional alike," she added.

The current rate of hospital liability insurance has been estimated at 10 cents a bed per day. If individual nurses were forced to purchase the insurance (by law or by their own desire for protection) the rate would be an extra burden with current salaries.

In 1956, the Supreme Court ruled that hospitals should be held responsible. Since then greater safety measures than ever before have been introduced and observed by administrations.

"In view of some deplorable conditions presently existing in many hospitals in our state, we view as untimely the attempt by hospitals to limit their liability for negligence in caring for and treating a patient in the hospital," Miss Cornelius concluded.

vent further subdivision.

This proposal appeared to have the endorsement of the council members present, but not enough were present to permit any action to be taken.

The Bexley pool project was, as usual, another source of discussion. With construction underway, many feel that all kinks have been removed. However, the objection raised by George H. Chamblin, attorney, by request of a signed petition of over 200 Bexley residents still remains unsettled. Chamblin, who is acting under orders from the petitioners, wishes to take the case into court and have the project declared illegal.

As yet Chamblin has filed no injunction order. He states that the decision is "entirely up to the plaintiffs."

It was pointed out that no action would be likely to take place before the pool construction was complete, and that if the project was found to be extra-legal, it is doubtful that any jurisdiction would result. Park stated that it would be quite difficult to fill in a pool which had just been constructed at such a great expense.

Councilwoman Ruth Mann had an unsubstantiated feeling that perhaps the project was not getting its full value per dollar. She suggested that perhaps tennis courts or other recreational facilities could be constructed at the same time as the pool. There was no decision reached on this matter.

Other issues brought before the council were the possible dangers of insecticide "fog" machines, a series of sidewalks possibly to be built or not built in Bexley, and a traffic light possibility at the intersection of Clifton and Parkview.

The possibility of toxic danger of the "fog" machines was determined by the council members to be non-existent. Mayor Schneider, speaking in reference to a test of the "fog" insecticide on bees, said, "It kinda pepped 'em up." The sidewalk and traffic light suggestions were referred to the safety committee for further investigation.

Zone Change Hearings Set

Columbus City Council's zoning committee has set public hearing dates for three requests for zoning classification changes.

Hearings will be conducted on Apr. 29 on requests to:

Rezone two lots of the Kensington Gardens Addition from residential to a designation for duplex dwellings on each lot. The lots are on Kellner-rd, north of the first alley north of Main-st.

Rezone from residential to employe parking, Lot No. 72 of Caldwell's Main Street Addition. The lot extends from the southwest corner of Elizabeth-av to the first alley south of E. Main-st.

A May 6 hearing will be held on a request to rezone the west side of Elaine-rd for 529 feet, south of Livingston-av, from residential to apartment residential.

In other action council approved legislation authorizing $9,379 for award of a contract to replace concrete curb and gutter in Livingston-av.

Whitehall-Yearling Students Take High Awards At Area Science Fair

Recent competition in the District Science Fair held at French Field House on the Ohio State campus netted Whitehall - Yearling High School students 10 "superior" projects. That identification mark is the highest which can be given. Whitehall-Yearling Principal Austin Peel stated that such a large number of superior projects from one school is outstanding.

The district, according to Peel, covered "six to eight" counties, including Jacksons Franklin, Licking, Delaware and Knox counties.

Eight of the 10 projects will be represented at the State Science Fair to be held at Central State College, Wilberforce, on Apr. 23. Two projects which will not make the trip are those of two junior high students who, because of their pre-senior high standing, are ineligible.

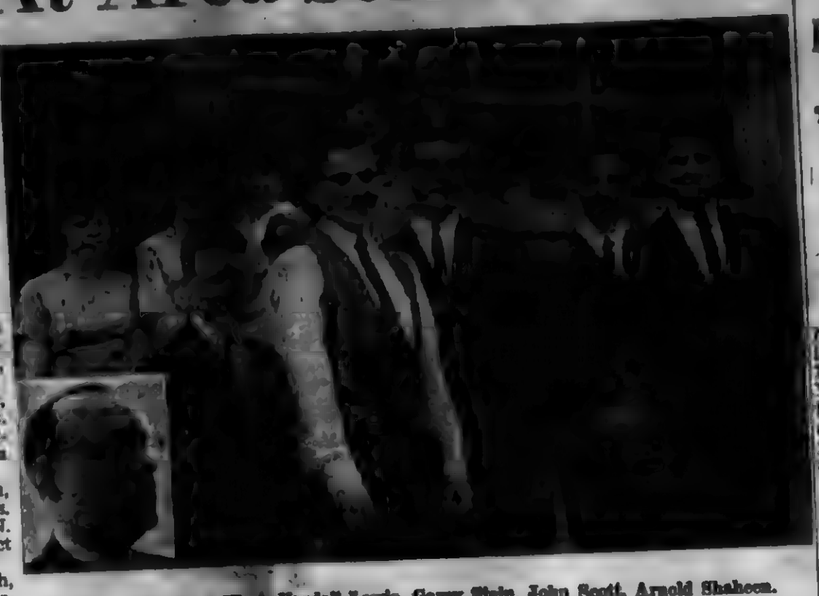
The students receiving superior commendations include:

Greg West, seventh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl West of 725 Erickson, for his project on hydraulics.

Kendall Lewis, ninth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Lewis of 418 S. Yearling-rd, for his display concerning astronomical telescopes.

Garry Stein, 11th, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stein of 4399 Kimler-dr, displaying a project on the theory of indicators.

John Scott, 10th, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Scott of 761 Ross-rd, who showed an exhibit on the nature and structure of fuel cells.



Arnold Shaheen, 10th, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Shaheen of 236 Collingwood-rd, for his display on petroleum.

Patty Matchett, 11th, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matchett, 4502 Broadhurst-dr, who displayed a project on synthetic plastics.

Susan Swonger, ninth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Swonger of 218 N. Hamilton-rd, whose project concerned crystals.

Jaycees Elect Don Hummer

Donald L. Hummer, 1541 Golding-Dr, Reynoldsburg, has been elected the 1963-64 state vice-president for district 9 of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce.

After taking office June 1, Hummer will coordinate Jaycee activities on a sate level throughout several central Ohio counties. District 9 consists of 13 local Jaycee organizations, which include: Columbus, Grove City, Eastern Columbus, Hilliard, London, Marysville, North Columbus, Plain City, Prairie Lincoln, Reynoldsburg, Tri-Village, Westerville and Worthington.

Hummer has been an active Jaycee for four years.

WhitehallTax Delinquents Nabbed,Fined

Whitehall police have arrested six residents for not paying the Whitehall city income tax. The six persons, employes at the Columbus Defense Depot, were under the impression that a job held on federal land exempted them from the city tax.

City Solicitor Paul Haytcher said, however, that this idea is false. Whitehall Tax Commissioner Irvin Beck said, "Using the federal land for an excuse not to pay their taxes . . . won't work." Beck also stated that the depot's provost marshal has been aiding in the arrests of the tax delinquents.

The six, taken off their jobs Tuesday, were tried, found guilty, and fined $50 plus costs. The fines were suspended on payment of the back taxes.

"They paid about $350," said Beck. "They could have saved themselves a lot of trouble if they had paid in the first place."

About 40 additional warrants for the delinquent taxpayers are ready to be served, added Beck, "most of them at the depot."

Thieves Indicted In $2800 Bexley Robbery Spree

The county grand jury has returned indictments against two alleged burglars who pilfered about $2,800 worth of office equipment from Bexley High School on Mar. 8.

The two men, Stanford Crockett, 28, and Ralph McGhee, 33, both of 31 S. Monroe-av, were indicted on a total of 14 counts each covering robberies in Columbus schools as well as Bexley. Their total take was above $5,000.

Bexley School Superintendent E. D. Jarvis listed the stolen merchandise as four electric typewriters, one dictating machine, a heat-operated copying device, a calculator and a radio. The dictating machine and the copier have been recovered. According to Jarvis, "the other equipment has probably been sold by now and we'll never hear of it again."

One of the typewriters was on loan for IBM. It was a demonstrator which the high school was contemplating purchasing. "At least that was covered," said Jarvis.

Bexley Legion Post Plans Spaghetti Meal

The Bexley Post of the American Legion, Livingston-av at Zettler-rd, has announced a spaghetti dinner will be held at the post's club rooms Sunday, Apr. 21, from 3 to 6 p.m. The public is invited to attend. All the spaghetti you can eat is priced at $1.25 for adults and 65 cents for children.

Local Doctors Instrumental In OSU Medical Donation

Three East Side men were instrumental in the presentation of an $18,522.71 check to the OSU College of Medicine from the American Medical Association Education and Research Foundation.

Dr. Robert M. Inglis, 148 Stanberry, 10th district counselor for the Ohio State Medical Association, presented the check to Dr. Richard L. Meiling, 91 N. Columbia-av, Dean of the College of Medicine at Ohio State.

Also present at the recent council meeting of the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and Franklin County was its president, Dr. Thomas R. Curran, 2444 Brookwood-av.

The sizeable check is only a small portion of the record $1.46 million contributed to the AMAERF for 88 medical schools by physicans and their families.

Collingwood Project Hits A Roadblock

The proposed rebuilding project for Collingwood-rd has taken a sudden nosedive, according to Robert W. Mickey, Whitehall service director.

The project of rebuilding Maplewood-rd is costing Whitehall about $200,000 of the $340,000 total; this left but $75,000 for the Collingwood-rd project. Collingwood is slightly longer than Maplewood.

The city, under state law, is allowed to have bonded indebtedness of 1½ per cent of its assessed property value, or about $750,000. Mickey stated that the city should be able to relieve some of its debts this year and finance the reconstruction job.

William J. Trayte Named To County Commission Post

Public relations man William J. Trayte, 58, of 2842 Sherwood-rd, was named by county commissioners to the county commission clerk spot.

The appointment, which was made Thursday, does not carry a specific starting date for Trayte, although it is hoped he would be able to begin Apr. 23.

Trayte is presently the public relations director for the shopping centers of the Don M. Casto Co. He has also worked as deputy director in the Office of Price Stabilization, where he was in charge of the Columbus and Southern Ohio areas. Prior to this, Trayte was photo department chief at the Columbus Dispatch and manager of the Bachrach, Inc., Columbus portrait studio.

He is a member of Humboldt Lodge 476, Scottish Rite, Aladin Temple Shrine, Bexley Methodist Church, Columbus Athletic Club and the Young Businessmen's Club of Columbus.

A unanimous vote in Whitehall City Council last night has slapped a heavy restriction on the sale of "communist manufactured or processed goods" in Whitehall.

The restriction is in the form of a license carrying a $100 fee, along with conspicuously placed notices and tags. The "communist manufactured or processed goods" designation refers not only to goods made or processed in the Soviet Union, but also to goods from any communist bloc country or satellite such as Red China, Albania, Cuba, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania.

City Solicitor Paul Haytcher has advised the council by way of a six-page document that such a ruling is unconstitutional. Haytcher's document cites sections of the United States Constitution and various court rulings as evidence. His chief criticism of the ordinance is that no government has the right to levy taxes or fees beyond what is necessary for the execution of inspection laws.

Futhermore, according to Haytcher, all duties levied on this "inspection" must be reverted to the federal government. Council made no statement where the money from the licenses would go.

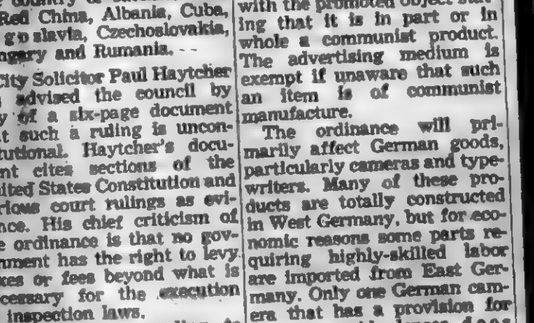
The ordinance, No. 34-63, introduced into the session and recommended for adoption by Paul Shipley, met with a burst of applause at the 7-0 decision.

Restrictions Severe

The restrictions and liabilities placed upon merchants of these goods are designed to ultimately remove from the counter in the City of Whitehall all communist made or partly-made goods, according to Councilman Kenneth E. McIntosh.

Upon effectation of this ordinance, "the earliest period allowed by law," the $100 license fee must be paid and the license to sell the communist goods be displayed prominently.

There is a further requirement that a sign with letters no less than five inches high be conspicuously shown stating that the merchant's stock contains the communist products. Either that or the individual articles must bear tags stating that fact "in easily discernable letters."



And that's not all. Advertising is hobbled as well. In any advertising medium, a notice must be placed in conjunction with the promoted object stating that it is in part or in whole a communist product. The advertising medium is exempt if unaware that such an item is of communist manufacture.

The ordinance will primarily affect German goods, particularly cameras and typewriters. Many of these products are totally constructed in West Germany, but for economic reasons some parts requiring highly-skilled labor are imported from East Germany. Only one German camera that has a provision for interchangeable lenses does not have an East German lens as standard equipment or as a desirable option. A number of Japanese products also contain some parts manufactured in Communist China.

No one is exempted from this ruling unless he violates it unknowingly. This would include a councilman who was attempting to sell a used Japanese tape recorder which contained cable housing made in Red China.

Councilman McIntosh, in stating the desire to remove the communist products from Whitehall, admitted that the ruling would violate the principle of free trade and the subsequent infringement upon free enterprise. When asked what he thought the court ruling would be if Whitehall was taken to task, he replied, "I

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN

The President Shot at th . Theatre Last Evening.

SECRETARY SEWARD

DAGGERED IN HIS BED.

By BOB PERKOWSKI

You had better be prepared for interest rather than money if you come across an Apr. 15, 1865, issue of the New York Herald with the above headlines. Even if it looks like a genuine copy of the 98-year-old newspaper, it probably isn't.

Some years ago museums spent a great deal of time, money and man-hours digging up old newspapers relating Lincoln's death. Outside of looking in people's old trunks tucked in attic corners, the searchers found few of the genuine articles.

But people still come up with what they think are actual accounts of Lincoln's death, as did William H. Hoelcher, 603 S. Westgate-av, who has a paper passed down through the family.

Originally owned by Hoelcher's grandfather, William Hackett, the paper appears to be real.

Inside, however, one finds why the newspaper was not published in 1865. A full one and one-half pages are devoted to personal endorsements of medicine-wagon wares, and across the top of each is written: "Use Kitchel's Spavin Cure Now (1890) And Forever Hereafter."

Another paper, owned by Park Roush, 108 N. Burgess, looks even more authentic. The paper was originally owned by Noah Lehman, a Civil War veteran who died about 35 years ago. The paper had been preserved with other mementos.

A check with Conrad Weitzel, reference librarian for the Ohio State Museum, proved it to be a reprint. The most obvious difference from the original was that the price of Roush's copy was 10 cents. Even the more obvious reprint mentioned above correctly stated the price at four cents per copy. Also, several typographical errors were obvious in the headlines.

So what can you do with a reprint? Many things, according to Gilbert Dodds, researcher for the Franklin County Historical Society. If you're interested in seeing how accurate it is, you can probably compare it to copies available in some museums. Or you could obtain a Library of Congress Periodical Division circular giving some of the differences between the original and reprints in its possession.

"They could be very entertaining," said Dodds. "Keep the newspaper and show it around. Someone might hear about it and like to see it."

Keeping the newspaper reprint as a memento was probably the reason the reprints were made. Most were used to advertise some product, and the newspaper kept as a memento would be a constant reminder of the medicine wagon wares.

There have been cases where a newspaper was reprinted accurately enough to fool even some of the experts, such as a newspaper dealing with George Washington's death. The firm that duplicated the 1799 paper was quite successful. When it was discovered they were fakes, nothing could be done because they never advertised them as originals.

But, even if you find an original, there's not much money involved. Its worth depends entirely on condition and demand. Then, too, museums are not interested in paying a great deal of money.

NO APRIL FOOLS

THESE TWO Whitehall students were smart enough to ward off April showers and, because of their efforts, were named "Students of the Month" there. They are Ingrid Paulson, 17, 4968 Vanderbilt and daughter of Mrs. Florence E. Paulson and Alan Rosenblum, 17, 3765 Doneywood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Rosenblum.

$91 Awaits Winner Of 'Confederate' Jackpot

A total of 91 "Confederate" dollars now awaits the winner of the lucky "jackpot" in the Hartley Newspapers contest currently running in this newspaper. This means 20 Hartley "Confederate" dollars have been added to last week's total to make up the new grand total.

Each week the "Confederate" cash not claimed in the previous week's contest is added to the lucky "jackpot." Each week 25 new "Confederate" dollars are made available to readers of Hartley Newspapers by means of insignia, similar to those in this column, printed in a color other than black, hidden in the advertisements inside your newspaper.

There are 20 insignia containing the number "1" and one insignia containing the number "5" hidden in 21 different newspapers each week. Any reader finding a "1" insignia may bring or mail the page containing the lucky number to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, and he will receive a "Confederate" bill. The holder of a "5" insignia will receive five Hartley "Confederate" dollars, but if that reader is a paid subscriber he will also receive the "jackpot," which is 91 "Confederate" dollars this week. To claim the five "Confederate" dollars or the jackpot the winner must bring the page, containing the insignia, into the office in person.

All Hartley "Confederate" cash can be spent, just like U.S. currency, for goods or services with any advertiser in a Hartley newspaper during the week the winner wishes to spend it. Advertisers are guaranteed the money will be

APR 1963

Advanced Placement To Begin This Fall At Whitehall-Yearling

Whitehall - Yearling High School Principal Austin Peel announced that an initial program of organized advanced placement courses will begin in September in that school. This was announced in a school board meeting held Apr. 3.

The advanced placement course series is taught under the watchful eye of the controlling body, the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) of Princeton, N.J. Of the 11 courses offered by the advanced placement program, English and mathematics will be taught at W-Y.

The purpose of the advanced placement is two-fold. First, it gives the talented student a challenge and a chance to show his true prowess in one or more fields. Second, it enables a college-bound senior to waive college freshman courses and receive advanced standing as well as decreasing adjustment problems in the newness of college surroundings.

Advanced placement courses are operated like college courses — the student is challenged in class and must make an effort on his own time (more than is necessary in normal curricula) to meet that challenge and solve whatever problem has been given him.

A student cannot merely ask to be put in an advanced placement course. The initiative has to be there, of course, but there are other factors involved. The student's work must be of consistently high caliber; the student must take special tests to measure both his aptitude and achievement in a particular field; the course instructor must approve the individual; and the parents of the person must also understand the rigors and difficulty involved.

Robert Crabbs, superintendent of Whitehall City Schools, stated that he thought this advanced placement series to be the only organized venture of its type in Central Ohio. He stated that other schools did have special high-achievement courses, but none were controlled partially or completely by an organization outside the individual department.

Advanced placement courses are more than a measure of the caliber of students in an area; they are also a yardstick for the capability of the instructors.

Other schools in other areas have tried to inaugurate an advanced placement with varying degrees of success. When the program fails, it is generally because of the parents of the students who did not make the honor courses. The attitude of these people was — and is — that no children were more capable than their own, and that if their child could not qualify, then no others had that right. Superintendent Crabbs anticipates no such roadblock in Whitehall.

At the heart of American idealism is the belief that

New Teaching Faces Coming To Whitehall

A series of personnel changes are being—or have been— made in the Whitehall school system.

Mrs. Irma Crossen, a seventh grade teacher at Rossmoor School, has asked for a leave of absence for the remainder of the 1962 school year and all of 1963. The leave has been granted due to a heart condition. Mrs. Crossen is being replaced by Mary Lou Bryant.

Robedt Biggs, and English teacher, is also leaving Whitehall-Yearling Principal Austyear. September will find Miss Janet Grundy in his place.

Also approved in the school board meeting last Wednesday was the request by Whitehall-Yearling Principal Austin Peel for 175 new metal lockers. The cost of the lockers, installed, is $2,160.

The city's summer recreation program was granted the use of the Beechwood School and Etna-rd School facilities from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. between June and August.

TRAINED

ARMY PVT. Lester A. Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Blackburn, 554 Pierce-av, recently completed eight weeks of advanced individual infantry training at Fort Gordon, Ga. Blackburn, 18, attended Whitehall-Yearling High School and entered the Army in Oct., 1962.

Choir To Be In W.Va.Centennial

The Capital University Chapel Choir has been chosen by Governor Rhodes to represent the State of Ohio at the West Virginia Centennial celebration Apr. 21 at Wheeling.

Choir director, Ellis E. Snyder, will carry letters of congratulations to West Virginia officials from both Governor Rhodes and Columbus Mayor W. Ralston Westlake.

"I am particularly proud that the Chapel Choir of Capital University will represent this state in the centennial celebration," Governor Rhodes' letter read.

CompletesCourse

T/Sgt. Harrison G. Bardsley, Jr., husband of the former Dorothy E. Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Meyers of 419 Robinwood-av, has graduated from the Military Air Transport Service Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Orlando AFB, Fla.

CAMPUS CHIEFS AT ST. MARY

STUDENT LEADERS FOR 1963-64 at the College of St. Mary of the Springs have been chosen in recent campus-wide elections. The officers are representative of student leadership in religious and administrative areas at the College. Pictured, from left, are Patricia Wootan, president-elect of the Confraternity of the Holy Rosary; Elaine McCullough, house president-elect; Karen Shutter, student governor-elect, and Miss Mary Ann Duffy, president-elect of the Association of Off-Campus Students. All four women are honor students at St. Mary and are active in class and co-curricular activities.

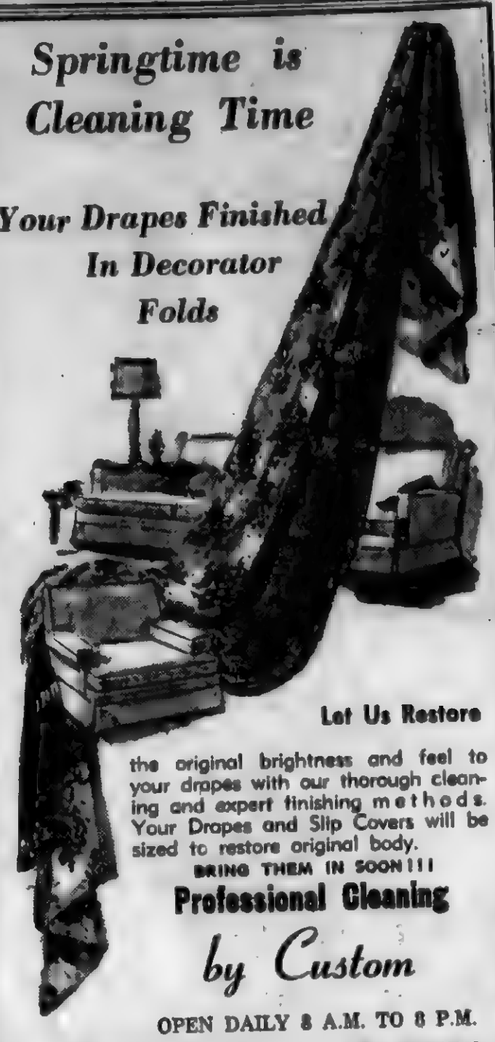
He had been admitted three weeks previously after suffering a heart attack. He will convalesce in his home for several weeks before returning to his duties.



Will Aid Police As Scuba Diver

Rich Gooden, 475 Eastmoor-blvd, was one of five young men sworn into a new organization known as the Underwater Recovery Squad by Columbus Safety Director Albert Giles, Monday. Police Doing A Good Job

Police districts 50 and 51 in the East End have been patroled well, according to Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer.

Areas of high accident rates are on E. Main-at from Kenwick to Weyant during the evening rush hour and on Livingston-av from College to James during the morning splurge.

The chief offenses have been failures to yield the right-of-way, excessive speed and turns without proper caution or signals.

"Accidents can be greatly reduced," said Scholer, "but there are no short cuts or simple cures." The remedy "lies in a continuation of our balanced program of traffic enforcement, fully using the laws we have to work with."

What's In The Bag For Women Past 60? $ $

Are you versatile?

Are you careful about your appearance?

Are you willing to change from a procedure to which you are accustomed?

If a woman past 60 can answer "Yes" to these questions and possesses almost any kind of skill there is nothing to stop her from finding a job.

This fact came out in talking with several employment counselors about the opportunities for part-time or temporary employment for the older woman.

"What do I do now?" many mature women ask themselves after they have raised their families and find time heavy on their hands.

Some face the same question when they reach the age of retirement set by their particular company and their income is either stopped or reduced.

Still others desire to add to their husband's social security or pension after he retires.

The dismay which so many feel in not knowing where to turn is usually needless if they are "young in spirit" and willing to adapt.

It is only the woman who cannot or will not learn new ways or new fields and who has "let herself go" that will find the business world has no place for her.

The possibilities are amazing and some far from the hum-drum. Robert Simmons, owner-director of Personnel Associates mentioned cookie tasting. Ralph Gabele, area director of the Ohio State Employment service spoke of telephone sales. The demand for knitting and needle point instructors and women who have a knack for trimming hats was brought out by Miss Marie Liggett of Columbus Vocational.

Any office skill—that of the filing clerk, the receptionist, the typist, the legal secretary, the person who can post accounts or even courteously answer the telephone is constantly in demand. Mrs. Velma Schulz of Ballou Service Inc., pointed out.

Simmons who offers to his clients a service known as the Kelley Girls explained how many firms use temporary help to relieve the "peak load." By this method of meeting the need for more help at especially busy periods, the employer is relieved of the necessity of having a regular staff without enough work to keep them busy during the average week.

In the trade the women who fill such jobs are known as the "the girls," and certainly the term is used loosely.

Simmons cited the 84-year-old girl who takes reservations at night in Detroit for an airline, though the oldest he has on his placement list in Columbus is a lass of 72.

One of Mrs. Schulz' girls who is 59 has just started to business college to add to her skills by taking shorthand.

Every director who was questioned mentioned the importance of appearance. Simmons emphasized how excessive make-up is frowned upon. Mrs. Schulz stated that it is extremely important that an employe report to work with hose on summer and winter, and well-pressed and neat, though not necessarily expensive clothes. A smile is the most important item of apparel, according to Miss Liggett's viewpoint.

The older person looking for part-time employment competes with the student for the available opportunities, Gabele acknowledged, but often the experience and the enthusiasm of the older worker will win the job.

Another reason many employers give the green light to the more mature office worker was pin-pointed by Mrs. Schultz.

"They don't hop up and down so much and take as many 'breaks' as the young do," she explained.

Also, she mentioned that too many young employes operate only "as machines" and apparently are incapable of making the simplest decision for themselves.

Mr. Gabele mentioned a very recent field that has come into being with the opening of the self-service, coin operated laundries and dry cleaners. Quite often the supervision of such establishments is given to a retired person, he said.

Again and again it was brought out that the person who is "set in her ways" has two strikes against her before she starts.

The woman must be willing to perform her job the way her boss wants it done, which may not be the way to which she is accustomed.

Mrs. Schulz stated that a major objection to the older typists is that many do not readily conform to the "block-left" form used in most offices today. Only 40 percent of employes know how to properly use a telephone, she lamented. "What's yer name and whatcha want to talk to Mr. X about" is no more acceptable than the reply she was given the other day of "He ain't here."

Simmons, too, stressed the value of "flexibility." It is the woman who is still interested in learning that will be called upon, he said.

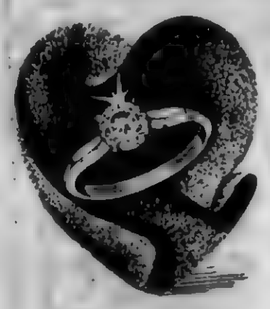
Miss Liggett feels that when a woman has difficulty finding work in her customary field that she has only to utilize her other skills acquired throughout her life.

"Possibly a woman who was once a machine operator or school teacher can make wonderful pies and become a pastry cook," she suggested.

Exploring other new vocations she brought out that a woman who has never worked in her life may possess good handwriting which would earn her a job in ledger work, or that a pleasant manner can qualify a woman to work as a cashier.

Here are but a few of the occupations suitable for the older woman that were mentioned that the average person might not think of: manning booths and registration of those attending conventions; food demonstrators in supermarkets, telephone and home interviewing for public opinion research outfits, recreational and study course instructors in community church homes and proof reading for printing firms.

No "girl" past 50 doesn't have to start baby-sitting unless she wants to if she really desires to work.



The desire to work was the final point emphasized.

Some will apply for work according to Simmons, with tales of desperate need. However, when they are actually called upon, "their hair is always up or their laundry down," he laughed.

For the woman who has everything except something to keep her busy, the state employment director reminded that volunteer workers in hospitals and the United Community Council offices are always needed.

The answer to the vocational problems for the mature woman is simple as ABC — apparance, buoyancy and change.

Whether you want to earn money for the rent, a new refrigerator or two weeks at a resort, get a good permanent, send your best suit to the cleaners and start out. The odds are with you.

FRUIT SALAD PLAYS DUAL ROLE

Frozen fruit salad may well play a double role in meal planning. A sweet satisfying salad, it may also be considered as a dessert.

Women who meet for dessert bridge, an afternoon devoted to charity, or high tea, find this salad a wonderful choice for refreshments. It may also be a dramatic finale for a dinner party where it functions as both salad and dessert.

Though the salad is often served without dressing, a combination of equal parts of mayonnaise (or salad dressing) and slightly sweetened whipped cream enhances both its flavor and appearance.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD ELEGANTE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups milk
1 egg
2 egg yolks
¼ cup grated orange rind
1 8-oz. package cream cheese
2 cups orange sections
½ cup sliced banana
2½ cups canned pineapple chunks, drained
Watercress
Orange sections
Banana slices
Cherries

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt. Scald milk; stir into gelatin mixture. Beat eggs and egg yolks; blend with milk mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, coats spoon. Remove from heat; cool and add orange rind. Beat cream cheese until creamy, gradually add milk mixture, beating until smooth. Fold in orange, banana and pineapple. Pour into deep refrigerator tray. Freeze firm. Unmold on watercress. Garnish with orange, banana and cherries. Makes six servings.

April 1963 — 65 S. 4th St., Columbus 15, Ohio

Hartley Newspapers are pleased to cooperate with the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus in presenting herewith the following material compiled from answers to questionnaires which were submitted to candidates. The candidate's own words have been used and replies are on file in the League office.

The League of Women Voters is non-partisan; gives unbiased information to its members and the public; is concerned with a candidate's position on important issues; is working towards an informed electorate; is open to all women.

In gathering the information for this Bulletin the League gave the candidates an opportunity to specify their party affiliation.

PRIMARY ELECTION

TUESDAY, MAY 7, 1963

Polls Open 6:30 A.M., Close 6.30 P.M.

Explanation of City Council

The legislative power of the City is vested in the council, consisting of seven members elected at large.

The Charter provides that at least fifty regular meetings shall be held each year. The term is for four (4) years, and the salary is $4800 annually.

There are 10 candidates. Vote for only four (4).

Question asked City Council Candidates:

A. What financial problems do we face in providing community services such as: water, welfare, police and fire protection or any other areas of particular interest to you?

B. What are your proposed solutions?

Harvey H. Alston Sr. 56
1893 Greenway, S. — R
Columbus 19

Education: Graduate of East High School, Columbus, Ohio.

Occupation: Retired. Former Police Inspector of Columbus Police Dept.

A. 1. Water Division
2. Div. of Electricity
3. Police undermanned
4. Automotive equipment

B. 1. Bond issues to be retired on expected revenue
2. Bond issues
3. Gradual buildup
4. City car pool.

Education: 1922—Graduated Mechanical and Electrical Engineer. 1923— Graduated Accountant. 1931—U.S. Licensed Aircraft Pilot. 1933—U.S. Licensed Radio Broadcast Engineer. 1941—Certified by U.S. Government in Industrial Methods and Efficiency.

Occupation: Consulting Engineer, specilizing in Efficiency and Economy. Income Tax Economic Specialist. I am now serving my fourth year as City Councilman.

A. We have faced the same financial problem for years. The above services suffer due to diminished funds caused by waste of taxpayers' money on un-needed or less important services, or services which should be performed by city personnel.

B. There is little a councilman can do in this matter except complain, and hope for results, since this is under administrative control. But I shall continue to cry to High Heaven regarding this and other waste.

Education:. Graduate of North High School of Columbus, Ohio. Attended the Capital College of Oratory and Music.

Occupation: Member and President of City Council.

A. We need extensions and repairs on water and sewer lines, although more work has been done on our sewer lines in the past two years than has ever been done previously; because of the increase in our population, more money is needed for the welfare problem; I recognize that more employes are needed in the police and fire departments in order to give adequate protection to all sections of our city; in many sections of our city, sidewalks and streets are needed to give protection to our children especially near our school districts.

B. Mopey for all of these projects has been allocated in our Capital Improvements Budget. I voted to approve this Budget and if more money should be found available during the year for any of these projects, I will work to see that it is used where it is mostly needed.

William P. Hoermle 60
2434 Beverley Pl. — D
Columbus 9

Education: I was born and raised in Columbus. My primary education was received at St. Mary's Grade School, and high school education was obtained, by attending evening classes at Central and South High Schools.

Occupation: For the past 38 years I have operated my own Appliance Store on Parsons Ave. Previous to 1925, I worked as a salesman for Heatons Music Store. During the years of my business experience I have endeavored to serve my business associates and community, by actively participating in the following organizations. I am past president of the South Side Business and Industrial Association, past president of the Columbus Appliance Dealers Association, member of the National Appliance Dealers Association, past president of the Southeast Lions Club. At the present time, I am chairman of Selective Service Board No. 39 and have served on the Selective Service for 23 years. For eight years I have been a member of the Board of Trustees of Mercy Hospital, and a member of the Board of Directors of Main Federal Savings and Loan Association for five years. I am a Board member and an officer of Redi Foods. I hold the Silver Beaver award in Scouting, and have been a member of City Council since 1958, and have served on all committees of that body.

A. The needs of the General Fund Departments can best be met through using our present revenue producing systems more effectively. This means more diligence in treasury investments and better business economics in purchasing, and administration of various departments. With improved methods and business practices, additional money would be available to furnish the manpower needed in the departments.

B. One of the major solutions for the administration of these departments, would be a closer co-operation between various department heads. Great economy would be gained, if the various departments would not overlap in their functions, and many man hours could be saved by closer co-ordination of efforts.

Education: Grammar School—Newport, R.I., High School—Newport, R.I., and Lawrenceville, Va., Bachelor of Arts (Sociology Major)—Virginia Union University, Richmond, Va., Bachelor of Divinity—Lutheran Theological Seminary, Columbus, Ohio, Further Graduate Study—Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Occupation: Minister — Staff Associate; Columbus Area Council of Churches.

A. Government at all levels is faced with the matter of adequate funds to provide sufficient services to all areas of the city, i.e., water, welfare, recreation, police and fire protection, flood control, etc. In all of these areas of service there are inadequacies at present which could develop into real crises situations in our city. To illustrate, one might call to mind the series of molestings, purse snatchings, etc., which have plagued us recently. Manpower shortages in the Police Department is a definite factor in this instance.

B. 1. A thorough analysis of our revenue - producing services to be sure that the rates charged are sufficient.

2. A more positive approach on the part of city officials in their interpreting the true financial needs of government to the public. It is my firm belief that citizens are willing to take whatever steps are necessary to provide the funds needed for the various services if they are given positive leadership at the top.

3. A study of other revenue-producing means, which will be equitable and yet productive in terms of the city's financial needs.

Occupation: Practicing Attorney, self employed, 471 S. High St., Columbus.

A. We have the problem of raising sufficient capital to enable us to provide the capital improvements, in the way of a modern community facilities plant, i.e. water, sewer, highway and electric systems and improvements in our municipal safety systems.

The same problem confronts us in establishing the Columbus Industrial Development Authority which I propose.

All of these are vitally needed to attract new industry to the city.

B. Sale of general obligation bonds for non-revenue producing capital improvements and revenue bonds for those which do produce revenue, e.g. water and sewer services. These bonds will be retired from the increase in general revenue (in the case of the non-revenue projects) generated by the better value tax duplicate produced by the addition of the new industry they will bring to the City and by the revenues produced by the facilities themselves (in the case of the revenue projects).

For the financing of the Columbus Industrial Development Authority I propose the issuance and sale of bonds of the Authority which will be retired from revenues produced by the sales of and rentals of industrial tracts which the Authority will make to new industries, attracted to the city by the availability of these tracts.

Maurice D. Portman 48

Education: Bachelor of Arts—Ohio State University, Attended — Franklin Law School, Post Grad. Pol. Science — (Municipal Government), University of Chicago. I was Executive Assistant to Mayor Sensenbrenner of Columbus, '54-'58; First Director of Finance, '58-'60; Consultant to Municipal Govt., '60-'62.

Occupation: Stock and Bond Broker, Investment Consultant.

A. The city of Columbus lacks adequate revenues to provide capital improvements in the division of water. There is a woeful lack of police and fire manpower. Columbus has failed to keep pace with other large cities in contribution toward welfare needs. In this area our level of assistance is far below bare minimum need. Obviously, the present allocation of revenues from the General Fund is inadequate as the budget is being administered.

B. In the case of water, the first thing to be done is application of administrative reform and the use of performance measurement as recommended by myself in 1959. Then we should examine the rate structure, for possible revision.

Any specific recommendation for solution to the above problems in the General Fund departments would be incomplete and foolhardy at this time. Suffice it to say, the city needs more courageous fiscal planning to coincide with its planning for the city's physical (capital) requirements. There are several ways to do this and I plan to recommend them as the campaign gets underway.

A. We face all of the financial problems of - providing community services such as education, transportation, water, sewer, welfare, police and fire protection, that any community faces where the population and motor vehicle registrations are greatly in excess of the average community.

B. The preparation of a comprehensive regional plan to solve the problems created by our rapid growth has been under study for several years by the Franklin County Planning Commission, the Columbus City Planning Commission and allied committees.

This study is about completed and as a Columbus City Councilman I would work to put the Comprehensive Regional Plan into operation.

Carl G. Thompson 39

Columbus 11

Education: Graduate of Central High School, Class of June 1941.

Occupation: Employed by North American Aviation Company.

A. City of Columbus has what is known as "Growing Pains." We are in area, the largest city in Ohio. This affects us financially. A large share of the $63,000,000 budget this year has been appropriated towards our inner belt road system and capital improvements. Our finances are limited and our money is channeled to many needed projects; but with an outlay of millions of dollars, we still find ourselves not adequately protected by police and fire service. We also find some of our annexed areas without sufficient water and sewer service; that goes with annexing to our city.

B. (1) Welfare—Set up a good Case Worker Program, where the people who really need help will get it. In this way we get rid of the chiselers and help those who are deserving.

(2) Water—Economize in the departments of the city and we can find money to go for sewer and water service.

(3) Police and Fire Departments — Set up a Citizens Committee to restudy our budget for 1963, and see what can be cut and diverted to these departments for our immediate protection.

Ronald Tuggle 26

Columbus 27

Education: Grade School: St. Johns The Evangelist. High School: Linden McKinley. Graduated.

Occupation: Sub-station operator for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.; Secretary of Local Union 1466, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Committee of Political Education Director of same local union.

A. I believe that our biggest problem is that most of our city department employes are underpaid, therefore the turnover is great and the training of employes is very costly. Also this wage structure does not tend to attract all of the most desirable employes, which has a tendency to lessen departmental efficiency.

The inadequate and obsolete equipment which we have in our electrical, water and sewage plants is not effective and highly costly to maintain.

We also need street lighting in many areas of the city, if we light up the streets of Columbus we will take a big step toward curbing the muggings and molestings which despite the current effort to paint a bright picture has reached an all time high. Those factors of our society which are responsible for these conditions abide in the darkness and are dispelled under the harsh light.

B. The solutions to these problems are, I believe, quite apparent. First a study of the overall cost of city employe wages and efficiencies would be necessary, but this can be done without the expense of costly outside investigators.

As far as the obsolescence of the equipment and the maintenance of the same is concerned I feel well qualified to examine this on my own and make numerous recommendations as to correcting this situation on a low cost program.

In regard to the problem of crime I believe along with the lighting of city streets, the enforcement of the city curfew on juveniles, coupled together with a strict law enforcement program will alleviate this situation. Also the enactment and enforcement of a "Green River Ordinance" regulating and controlling door to door solicitation, as it is in Minerva Park will help make the women safer in their homes.

VOTE BALLOT WITH AN "X"

Shall the Charter of the City of Columbus, Ohio, be amended by the amendment of Section 181 and the enactment of Section 181-1 to read as follows?:

"Section 181. City's portion of cost.

The city shall pay such part of the cost and expense of improvements for which special assessments are levied as the council deems just, which part shall not be less than one-fiftieth of all such cost and expense; and, in addition thereto the city shall pay the cost of intersections. The council may provide for the payment of the city's portion of all such improvements by the issuance of bonds or notes thereof, and may levy taxes, in addition to all other taxes authorized by law, to pay such bonds or notes and the interest thereon; but the above provision as to the payment by the city of not less than one-fiftieth of the cost and the cost of intersections, shall not apply to the construction or repair, in the manner hereinafter provided, of sidewalks or to the construction of sewers or water mains or the laying of sewer or water connections."

"Section 181-1. Petitions for Improvement.

"When a petition subscribed by the owners of sixty per cent of the front footage of property abutting upon a street, alley, easement, or other public improvement, or the owners of seventy-five per cent of the area to be assessed for such improvement, is regularly presented to city council, the total cost of such improvement, including the cost of intersections, regardless of the limitations of Sections 180 and 181 of this charter or of general law, and without reference to the value of the lands of those who subscribe to such petition, may be assessed and collected in equal annual installments, proportioned to the whole assessment, in a manner which may be fixed by city council. When the lot or land of one who did not subscribe to the petition is assessed, such assessment shall not exceed thirty-three and one-third per cent of the actual value including improvements thereon, as enhanced by the improvement for which the assessment is levied, such value to be determined as of the date of the assessing ordinance.

SCOTTIE LETTERMEN GUNNING FOR BASE HITS

AREA BASEBALL BEAT

Warriors Win Two; Whitehall Splits Pair

Eastmoor's baseball forces, combining timely hitting with stingy pitching, highlighted area diamond play during the week with a pair of victories.

The Warriors followed up their 9-0 whitewash of Hartley with a 6-5 opening City League game victory over a tough Whetstone nine.

PITCHERS DOUG Cromer and Jerry Aggas held the Hawks to a single hit while Eastmoor batsmen pounded out 10 hits, icing the game with a six-run fifth inning.

First sacker Vince VanHorn made most of the noise against the Braves, knocking in five of Eastmoor's six runs with a double and a home run.

VanHorn's circuit wallop, with two Warriors on base, snapped a 3-3 tie in the sixth, giving pitcher Jerry Myers the victory.

WHITEHALL SPLIT a pair of games, losing to Pleasant View, 3-0, before dismissing West Jefferson from the unbeaten ranks, 7-4.

The Panthers broke up a scoreless tie with three fourth-inning tallies while three P-V hurlers combined to blank the Rams on three hits.

Sophomore Steve Schafer and vets Bill Dildine and Jay Ketzmier split mound duties as Whitehall handcuffed the Rough Riders on four hits. Dave Millington and Bill Ross each collected two of the winners' eight hits.

BEXLEY AND Hartley battled to a doubleheader standstill as both nines won a game.

The Lions won the opener as letterman Joel Brandt flipped a two-hitter. Bexley wrapped up the game with a three-run rally in the sixth frame.

Randy Rodich's two-run single with the bases full in the last inning earned Hartley the nightcap victory, 10-9. The Hawks outhit the Lions, 9-4, but had to settle for the tying and winning tallies in the seventh on Rodich's bingle.

NEITHER STARTING pitcher lasted through the first inning as 13 runs crossed the plate in the first two frames.

JOHN HOPGOOD tossed nothing but goose eggs at Walnut Ridge as Marion-Franklin spoiled the Scotties' City League opener with a 1-0 win.

The Scots could solve Hopgood for only one hit, losing out when the Devils scored their lone tally in the fifth inning. John McQuaid, who allowed only five hits, took the loss for the Scots.

In other area play, East edged Aquinas, 5-4, and Academy blasted Rosary, 14-0. The Vikings pounded out 17 hits in their victory, keyed by the three-hit pitching and four-for-four hitting of Dan Fouche.

Too Much Emphasis Put On Major Sports

It has always been our contention, while trying to keep our finger on the pulse of sporting activity in this country, that too much emphasis is put on the so-called major sports.

Although the majority of the public is naturally more interested in physical activities such as football, baseball and basketball, it seems a shame that national sports page: slight such small-time sports as pigeon racing, squash and kite flying.

A NATIONAL shoe company has taken a step in the right direction by publishing a 60-page booklet listing the who's, how's and wherefore's on 82 American sports, major and minor.

Unfortunately, there are several sports that the booklet apparently has overlooked in its desire to inform the public.

As a public service, we would like to supplement this list with several athletic diversities that have found favor with at least a minority of participants.

UMPIRE BAITING — Origin—Although the experts are a little cloudy on this point, umpire baiting (not to be confused with the advanced "player baiting" and "bench jockeying") began sometime in the late 1800's when the first umpire missed a close call at first base.

Participants—At least seven; to every ballpark (major, minor, college or high school leagues). Equipment—Strong lungs and tonsils, gruff vocal tones and usually a beer or soda pop bottle to wave threateningly in the right hand.

CLUB THROWING — A popular sport among golf enthusiasts in this country — Origin—John McGregor, Scotland, 1872, after three successive slices into the woods off number four. Equipment—Ordinary set of golf clubs that won't hit the ball straight regardless of your talent. Bad disposition and even worse attitude helps to increase your proficiency at this sport.

The sports' national headquarters reports that if you're over 35 and take your game seriously, you've thrown a club an average of 12.8 times per golfing month. Record — 37 feet, nine inches (1956, Tommy Bolt).

GOAL POST DISMANTLING — Seasonal sport connected with last college football game of the year in most parts of the country. Participants — High-spirited college students and higher-spirited alumni.

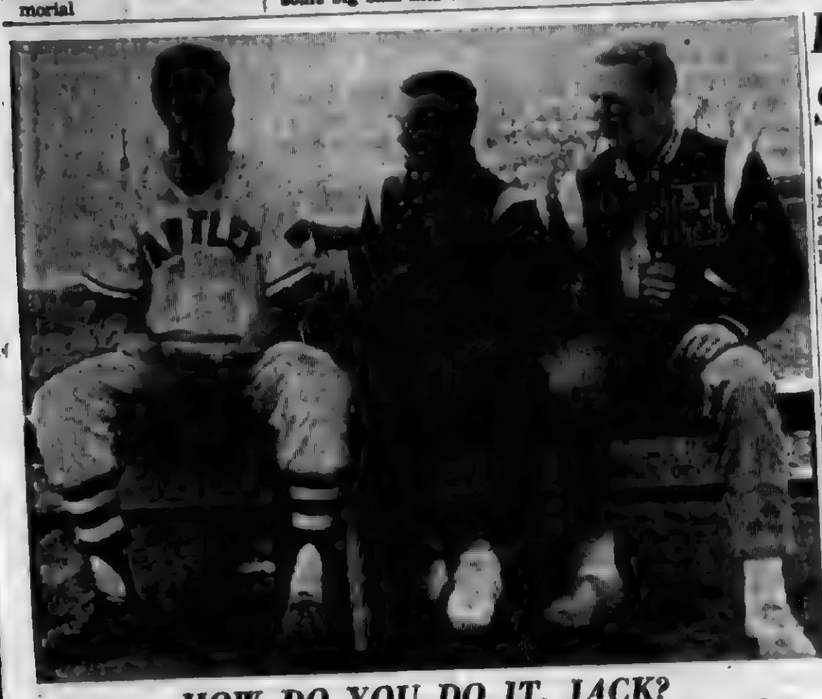
Equipment — Brute force with six coaches for every player. This sport is sometimes referred to as "rioting" when goal posts are on opponent's field.

DRAG RACING — Sport concerning the operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of speed. Organization — Amateur (on track) early 1920's; professional (on highways) 1905.

Equipment — New or old model car equipped with full race cam and competitive driver. Turnover — Fantastic.

FLOOR LITTERING — A new sport usually confined to basketball and founded in Bloomington, Ind. Organization — Ohio State-Indiana game, 1960. Equipment — Soft drink cups, programs, sour grapes, etc.

PRO-WRESTLING SARCASM — Origin — Sometime in the mid 1950's when TV introduced the sport to a wide audience. Procedure — Sit behind an avid fan and root for the opposition or degrade the integrity of the match.



Equipment — Plenty of fortitude, a spirit of recklessness and a 6-2, 220-pound physique. If you are of a scrawny nature, the national headquarters suggests making the sport a team activity.

INJURY FEIGNING—Origin—Notre Dame-Iowa football game, 1954. Procedure — Collapse on the field to stop the clock when your team has consumed its regular number of time outs.

Equipment — A sense of dramatic timeliness, good facial expression and the ability to writhe with pain. National headquarters inform us that over 500 participants win letters in this sport each season.

POOL HUSTLING — Origin — Unknown. Procedure — Let yourself get talked into a friendly, penny-ante game of eight ball. Goof a couple of side pocket rail banks and then find a comfortable high chair. Equipment — White shirt with blue chalk marks on the sleeves, a retiring, nervous gaze and strong thumbs.

FISHING BOAT STRAFING — A highly competitive new sport with strong international flavor. Origin — Gulf of Mexico, about 45 miles south of Florida, 1963. Equipment—One or two jet fighters with fun-loving pilots at the controls. The national headquarters warns that this sport can be dangerous when conducted on an amateur level.

HOW DO YOU DO IT, JACK?

HARTLEY HIGH baseball teammates Mark Lang (center) and Steve Ortman (right) marvel at the healthy condition of Hawk pitcher Jack Diamond at a recent practice session. Lang, a second baseman, and Ortman, a catcher, are currently nursing foot and arm injuries. Ortman is a junior while Lang and Diamond are seniors. All three are returning lettermen.

Handball, Golf, Softball Events Set

Joe Altman, chairman of the Jewish Center Handball-Paddleball Committee, has announced a new and unique approach to stimulating handball in Columbus.

The objective would be to concentrate on a youth building program, utilizing adults skilled in handball.

JEWISH CENTER Junior High School and high school boys interested in learning the game of four-wall handball will be assigned to an adult player. The adult will teach fundamentals and guide the participant in strategy and techniques.

Doubles tournaments will be scheduled during the season, pairing the teacher and student.

MRS. ART POLLACK, president of the Jewish Center Women's Golf League, announces that the handicap round is slated for Monday. All interested Jewish Center women must be registered by Sunday in order to play this year.

Advanced golfers will play at Groveport Country Club. Beginning golfers have elected to play at Hillcrest Country Club. The handicap round will determine flight assignments for the season.

League competition will be on an individual basis utilizing a point system. A player may win a mixmum of four points a game. Trophies and awards are established for each flight. A $5.00 fee has been established to cover the award banquet and trophies.

League play for both divisions is scheduled for Monday mornings. A special rules clinic is being planned to orient players.

SUNDAY MORNING practice sessions for the Jewish Center A.K. softball program will start Sunday in order for the new players to be rated and for conditioning. All Jewish Center men are invited to attend these sessions whether they play A.K. ball or not.

The registration fee for A.K. ball is $6 this year. The fee includes a team shirt, insurance and $1 for imoroving the athletic field lights.

Jewish Center A. K. softball is a program for men, 30 years of age and over. Games are played on Thursday evenings under the lights. The pitching is underhand slow pitch utilizing a 14" softball.

As is the Jewish Center policy, everyone who signs up is guaranteed to play a minimum of a game and a half every two weeks. A substitution system eliminates forfeits thus providing an enjoyable evening for everyone.

The practice game schedule is set for May 2 and May 9. Official league play starts on May 16. Boys, women or men interested in any of these programs should contact Howard Banchefsky at the Center (BE. 1-2731).

Gahanna Poor Host As Lions Win Relays

Gahanna proved to be a poor host Saturday as the Blue Lions took first place honors in their own relays, outpointing runner-up Whitehall, 53-38.

The relays, which attracted eight other schools, highlighted the area's track schedule during the week. East, Groveport and Hartley were other area winners.

THE UNBEATEN Lion cindermen nabbed blue ribbon honors in six events, establishing new meet records in four of the six firsts.

New marks were established in high hurdles (60.8), the mile relay (3.38:4), the broad jump (61'6"), the four-mile relay (20.75:5), 880 relay (1:36.0) and sprint medley (1.40:3). The latter two marks were set by Westerville and Eastmoor respectively.

Eastmoor, the Relay winner last year, finished in third place with 32 points. Other team scores were: Lancaster, 23; Brookhaven, 19; Westerville, 18.5; Groveport, 10; Mifflin, 9 and Springfield Shawnee, 8.5.

IN OTHER track action around the area, East's Tigers shattered three marks enroute to a tight 62-56 verdict over Worthington. The Bengals' Sherman Lundy was the meet's top performer with three first-place finishes in the 220 (new record), 100 and broad jump.

The other two marks were set by East in the 880-yard relay (1:33.5) and mile relay 3:31.8). The losers cracked an additional two marks.

Groveport outdistanced DeSales, 72-46, as Mark Green took first-place honors in both the shot put and discus. Kirk Sharrock won four events for the losers.

HARTLEY'S HAWKS downed St. Marys and Aquinas to win their own triangular meet despite a one-man show by the Rams' George Maurer.

Hartley accumulated 69¾ points to top St. Marys (57 5/6) and Aquinas (19.5). Maurer scored a total of 15¾ points while taking firsts in the shot put, discus throw and high jump, plus running on the Rams 880-yard relay team.

Whitehall, paced by steady Clark Fuller, slipped by Newark, 60-58. Fuller's 18 points included firsts in the 220, high hurdles and broad jump in addition to a second place finish in the 440 event.

BILL WAKEFIELD set a new pole vault record of 11' 4" but Pleasant View settled for a third place finish (44) behind Mifflin and Franklin Heights who tied for the triangular laurels, 52-5½.

The Falcons' Larry Graves was the meet's top point getter with a total of 14¼ markers.

Gahanna notched firsts in 10 of 15 events to crush North and Walnut Ridge in another area triangular, 89-43-14.

DUBLIN'S BOB LaValley took first in both the 220 and 440 and added a second place finish in the 100-yard event but Hilliard edged the Shamrocks, 56⅓ to 52⅓. LaValley scored a total of 13 points.

Steve Thompson and Jerry Lugger scored eight points apiece for the winning Hilliard club. The Wildcat runners also scored 2⅓ points in the Mansfield Relays, finishing 32 positions behind meet winner Cleveland E. Tech (28 points). Hilliard also lost a 64-54 decision to Arlington earlier in the week.

Mike Patterson ran up 13½ points to pace Hamilton Township to a 89-10 win over New Albany. Other area meets saw Academy top Canal Winchester, 63⅓ to 54½, Grove City clobber London, 75.5-42.5 and Eastmoor outscore West and Marion-Franklin, 84-60-3.

HERE ARE some of the individual results:

Bullheads After Sunset Is Spring Fever Tonic

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By BOB COCHRAN

It was a hot summer day, typical of June or July in Ohio. School had been out for sometime and barefeet were in style. Two or three of us gathered on the bank of a muddy pond, a forerunner of today's farm ponds. Cattle were standing in the water to cool, and were swishing flies with their tails.

Some heavy black line was tied to a willow pole, and was baited with a worm. In went the rig with considerable commotion. Soon the bobber dipperd. Once. Twice. The anxiety was too much. A big yank flopped a bullhead onto the grass behind, and I had caught my first fish.

THIS, PERHAPS, is not the storybook birth of an angler—a trout or bass should have been the star performer, and a big one at that! But it was a bullhead that cast the die. In real life, as they say, this is more often the case than not.

All of this reflection was started because it is bullhead season, and they are hitting at Buckeye Lake and elsewhere. Long stringers are being taken by those anglers who have the zeal to fish all night and work hard at it.

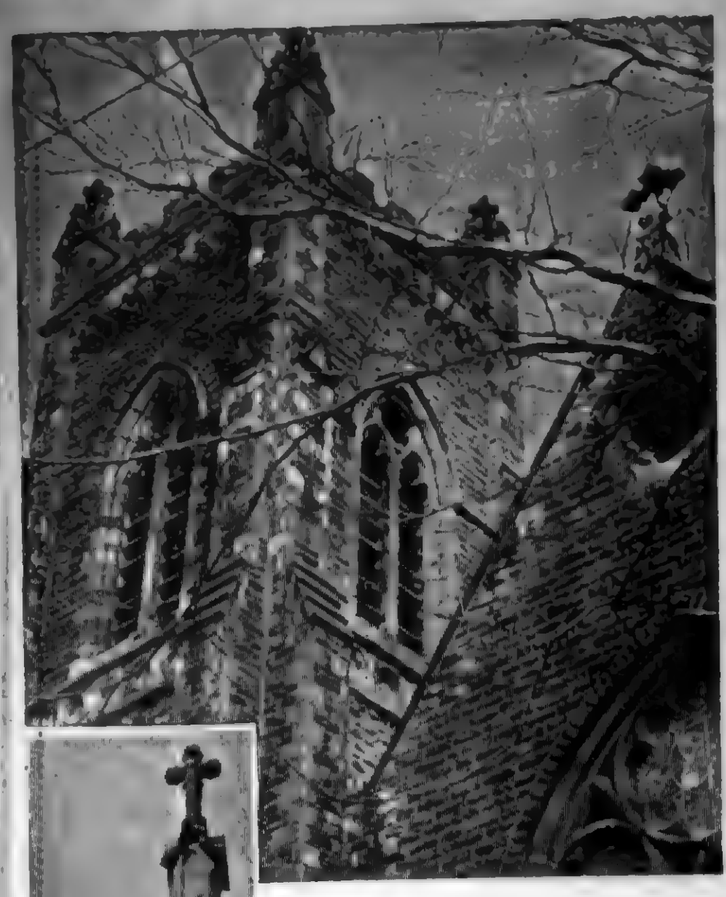
You may make more modest catches by not working so hard. Bullheads are traditional spring fever medicine. Along morel mushrooms, which will be showing up in a week or two, bullheads offer the first real excuse to get outdoors again.

CATCHING BULLHEADS is not demanding in its simplest form. You find a grassy bank near the water, one that is sheltered from the wind and that catches the spring sun. You bait your hook with a garden worm or nightcrawler, and throw it in the water.

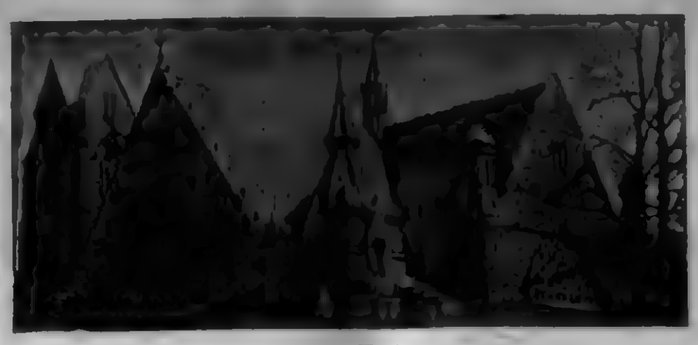
Then you retire to the bank, where you can see migrating warblers flitting in the treetops, or watch fleecy clouds drift by. When you get a nibble, let him chew awhile and then set the hook firmly. You pull in the wriggling bullhead and repeat the process. This, happily, is medicine that you can take as often as necessary.

Quiet water with silt bottoms are best for bullheads. Lakes are better than streams, and Buckeye Lake seems to be ideal for them. The bullhead catch there some years has been truly phenomenal.

MEMBERS OF THE catfish family, bullheads feed best at night. That's why confirmed anglers lose sleep in the spring of the year. Typical bullhead fishermen at Buckeye take off in a small boat at about dark.



They go to a favorite location and anchor. Here they light up gasoline lanterns, set up their rigs and begin fishing. They are bundled against the chill night air, and are well stocked with thermos' of hot coffee and sandwiches. The bullheads keep them from getting sleepy.



A bullhead safari is not complete, of course, until the fish are cleaned and deep-fried. Then you sit down to a repast that brings back memories. Bullheads will make a boy of you again.

Steeples Soar In Downtown City's Skyline

Their spires are neighbors to downtown skyscrapers, their chimes strike a melodious note in the medley of city traffic.

By Betty Daft

The heart of Columbus has a busy beat — hurried by the rush of business, nervous with noisy traffic, strong with the authority of city, county and state affairs. . .

And reverent, with more than a dozen churches standing within a few blocks of Broad and High.

Many are very old, first houses of worship of some of the city's largest denominations. And their membership includes families whose names have been on the rolls for generations. Most members now live in various parts of the city and suburbs, but their loyalties have remained with their "home church."

Built a century or more ago, of enduring stone and hardwood, these churches with their interesting architecture stand serenely unaware of the brash, noisy downtown area. Behind magnificent old doors are islands of calm, dimly lit with quiet lights, candles and sun streaming faintly through stained glass.

Differing from neighborhood churches whose primary concern is for their own people, downtown churches also serve travelers and the business community. Services are held frequently, and many of the churches are open for rest, meditation and prayer.

Thirteen churches of the larger denominations, one vacant at 72 E. Mound-st, and a number of smaller houses of worship are located within the boundaries of the Scioto River, Livingston-av, Washington-av and Long-st.

And just beyond are others — Broad Street Presbyterian, St. Paul's Episcopal, Shiloh Baptist, St. Paul's AME and St. Patrick's and St. Mary's Catholic churches.

Within the downtown area are two Methodist, one Christian Science, one Congregational, two Roman Catholic, three Baptist, one Evangelical Protestant, a Presbyterian, Episcopal and a Lutheran church.

The distinctive spire of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran, 404 S. Third-st, dominates the neighborhood. Founded in 1848, it has occupied its present site since 1856. Rev. Harold S. Goers is pastor. The church numbers 604 confirmed members and a Sunday School enrollment of 300.

St. John's Evangelical Protestant, 61 E. Mound-st, was founded on its present site in 1872, and the present church was dedicated in 1924. Rev. William von Brauchitsch is acting pastor, and Rev. E. Bruce Jacobs, visiting pastor. There are about 1,400 communicant members, and 400 in church school.

Central Presbyterian, 132 S. Third-st, was founded at Cherry and S. Third-st in 1839, and the present building was dedicated in 1860. There are 400 members and 175 in church school, and the minister is Rev. John W. Omerod.

The seat of the Bishop of the Diocesan See of Columbus, and also a parish church served by Msgr. Joseph E. McGlynn, the Gothic, St. Joseph Catholic Cathedral on E. Broad-st, at Fifth-st, was consecrated in 1878. The parish was founded in 1866. About 3,500 attend eight Sunday masses.

Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, 428 E. Main-st, with its large marble cross in front was built in 1927, and the site purchased eight years earlier. Dr. H. Beecher Hicks is pastor, and of the 1,600 members, 400 are in Sunday School.

The spire with its large cross has made Holy Cross Catholic Church at 204 S. Fifth-st, a landmark. First mass was celebrated in the church in 1838. Fr. George Fulcher, pastor, is also editor of The Catholic Times.

First service of Trinity Episcopal Parish was led by Rev. Philander Chase in 1817 in the home of Dr. Lincoln Goodale, and the church school, formed in 1827, was the first in Columbus. Worship was held at Broad-st and Pearl-st from 1834 to 1869, when the present church was built at 125 E. Broad-st. Rev. Roger B. Nichols, rector, is assisted by Rev. Robert R. Hansel. Noonday Lenten services are a tradition at Trinity.

Gay Street Baptist at 496 E. Gay-st, was originated as the People's Baptist at 146 Talmadge, and the present structure was built in 1926. Rev. U. G. Campbell is pastor.

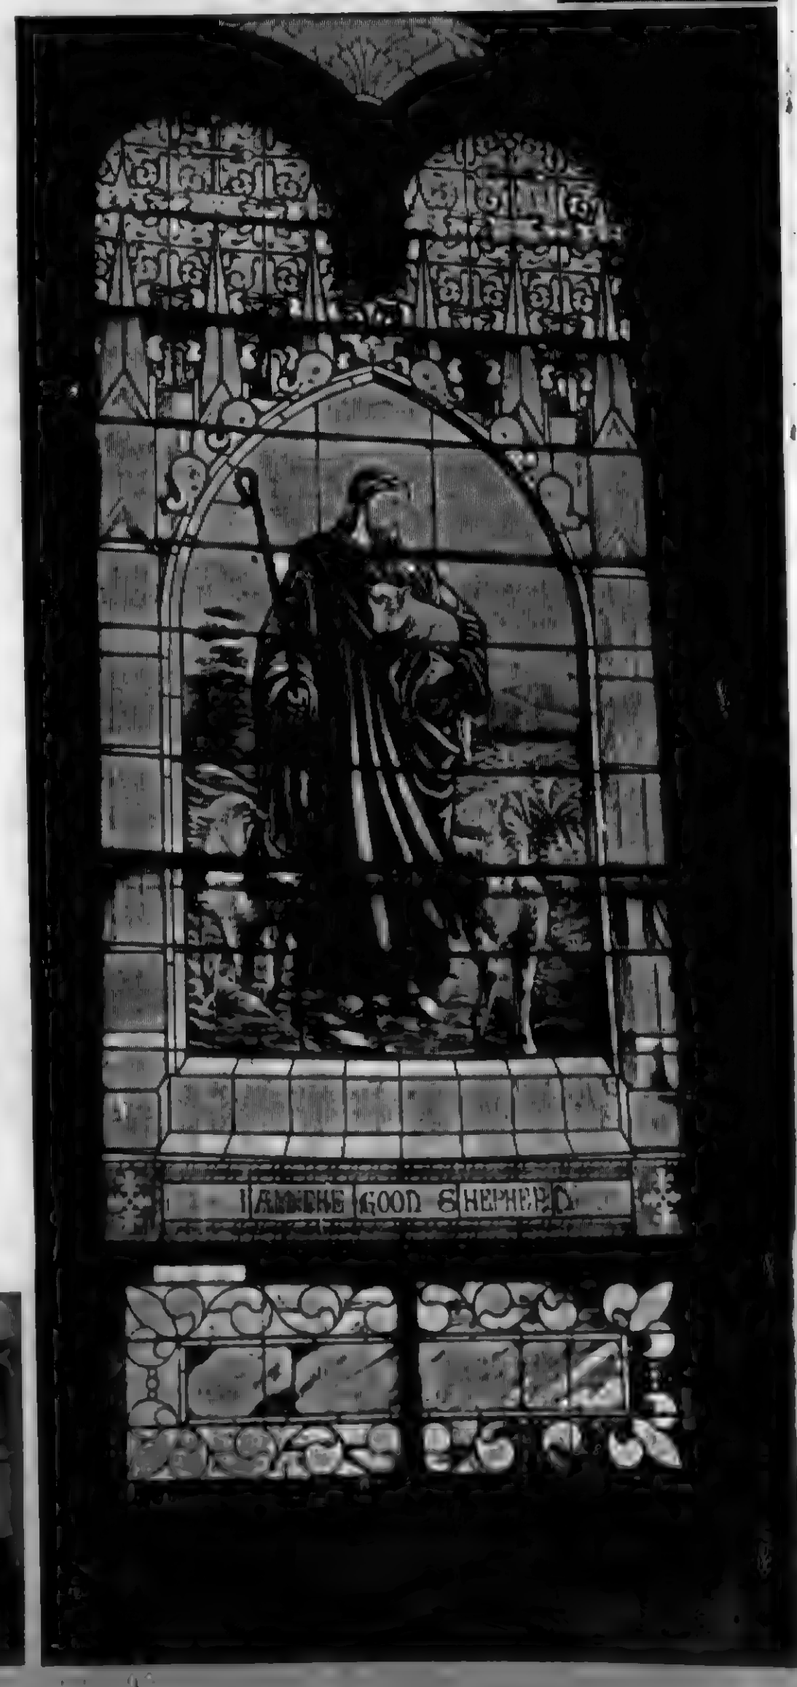
Livingston Methodist, 76 E. Livingston-av, was founded in 1834, near its present site, as the German Methodist. The present church, built in 1878, is expected to be razed this year to make way for the expressway. Rev. Roland G. Perkins is pastor.

Founded in 1922 at Grant-av and Donaldson, Friendship Baptist Church building at 442 Donaldson-st, was once a Jewish synagogue. Pastor is Rev. R. T. Gleaves.

A feature of First Congregational Church, 444 E. Broad-st, is the fleche, or spire, rising directly over the intersection of the cross that is the floor design of the church. The church was founded in 1852 on the site of the old Columbus Citizen. A structure was built at Third and Broad-sts in 1857, and the present one in 1931. There are about 1,800 members, with 300 in church school. Rev. Chalmers Coe is pastor, Rev. Ralph Colby, associate pastor, and Rev. Howard Russell in charge of youth work.

First building of Broad Street Methodist Church, built on its present site at 501 E. Broad-st, was a frame, dedicated in 1875. The present green serpentine stone was dedicated in 1885. Rev. David W. Skeen, pastor, is assisted by Rev. Richard Calentine. Of its 1,000 members, 200 are in church school.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, 457 E. Broad-st, is a branch of The Mother Church in Boston, Mass. Two locally elected readers conduct services. After the first formal meeting in 1896, First Church congregation outgrew three other locations before establishing its present church in 1914.



The role of urban churches in a city's religious life is the concern of denomination leaders everywhere, who recognize the added responsibility of downtown churches to their community, as well as to their own people.

This challenge to the urban church is being met by many. Varying programs of adult education, social services, and extensive youth activities are their answer to a city's need.

Downtown churches . . . their architecture a note of grandeur in the downtown scene, and their sanctuaries a place of peace for the business community and travelers . . .may they ever linger on.

Trucks Receive Limited Routes

An ordinance passed in Whitehall city council Tuesday night has altered the access of heavy trucks to streets other than E. Main-st, E. Broad-st and Hamilton-rd.

The legislation states that heavy trucks, as distinguished from "panel-bodied, pickup or having a capacity of one-half ton or less," are not permitted on streets other than the three main thoroughfares unless it is for the purpose of doing business, or transportation to and from the trucker's residence on one of the lesser roads.

An Easter P.S.

Rev. Edward Zavell, pastor of the St. John Chrysostom Catholic Church at 1409 Hawthorne-av, will explain the Byzantine Rite when he speaks to Eastern Civitan members, wives and guests.

The talk will be given at the Defense Center's Officers' Club on Wednesday, Apr. 24, at 6:30 p.m.

Guests of the Eastern Civitan will be the four military officers recently named as the top military personnel in the area, and their wives.

The Chrysostom Catholic Church celebrates Easter two weeks after the normal sacred day.

Know Your Postman . . .

Robert E. Loe

From Springfield to Columbus came Robert E. Loe and he has spent the last seven years working for the Post Office out of the Livingston Station. The past four years have found Loe walking between Ludington, Shady Lane-rd, Livingston-av and Hamilton-rd.

When not in this vicinity, he will probably be found home, 1564 Wilton-dr, with his wife and four children. Or out taking pictures, a prime pastime with him.

Loe is a member of the American Legion and Branch 78 of the National Association of Letter Carriers. He spent his service tour with the Air Force in Alaska. He is also a member of St. Philip's Catholic Church.

don't know." He added that the dollar-value in terms of manufacture's profit would be small.

Bond Issue Also OK'd

A windy ordinance providing for a bond issue to repair four Whitehall streets met with unanimous approval in the same council meeting. Ordinance 49-63, involving a $62,000 bond issue to repair Andrus-av, Rickenbacker-av, Elaine-rd and Mound-st, was issued in conjunction with a repeal of a previous ordinance asking for more than $63,000.

Andrus-av, between Pinecrest and Yearling-rd, will be renovated to the tune of a paved street, sidewalk, driveway approaches and a storm sewer.

Hidden under Elaine-rd, between Pinecrest and McAllister-av, will be an eight-inch sanitary sewer.

E. Mound-st, between Beechwood-rd and Pinecrest, will sport a repaved street, sidewalks, sewers and water lines.

Rickenbacker-av, between Virginia-ct and Yearling-rd, will get the full treatment—grade change, permanent street, new curbs, sidewalks, driveway approaches, water lines "and appurtenances thereto."

There will be 62 bonds, all except the first being worth $1,000 each. No. 1 will have a value of $1,118.40. They will pay four per cent each year, payable semi-annually.

No contractor or starting date for the construction has been named.

In other action, the council approved a petition to object to the bill before the Ohio Legislature calling for a reduction in the tax on personal property. That bill has since been passed by the Ohio Legislature. A new service station will be built on Hamilton-rd, and Davidson-Green Volkswagen has been given the green light to expand their operation by 35,000 square feet.

Tifereth Israel Temple To Seat Officers, Board

New officers and members of the Board of Trustees of Temple Tifereth Israel will be installed at the annual congregational dinner, to be held in the temple social hall Sunday, Apr. 28, 6:30 p.m.

Arthur Westerman, chairman of the dinner committee, has arranged a program of songs and dances, to be presented by the educational department of the temple.

Dinner reservations may be made by calling the temple office 253-8523.

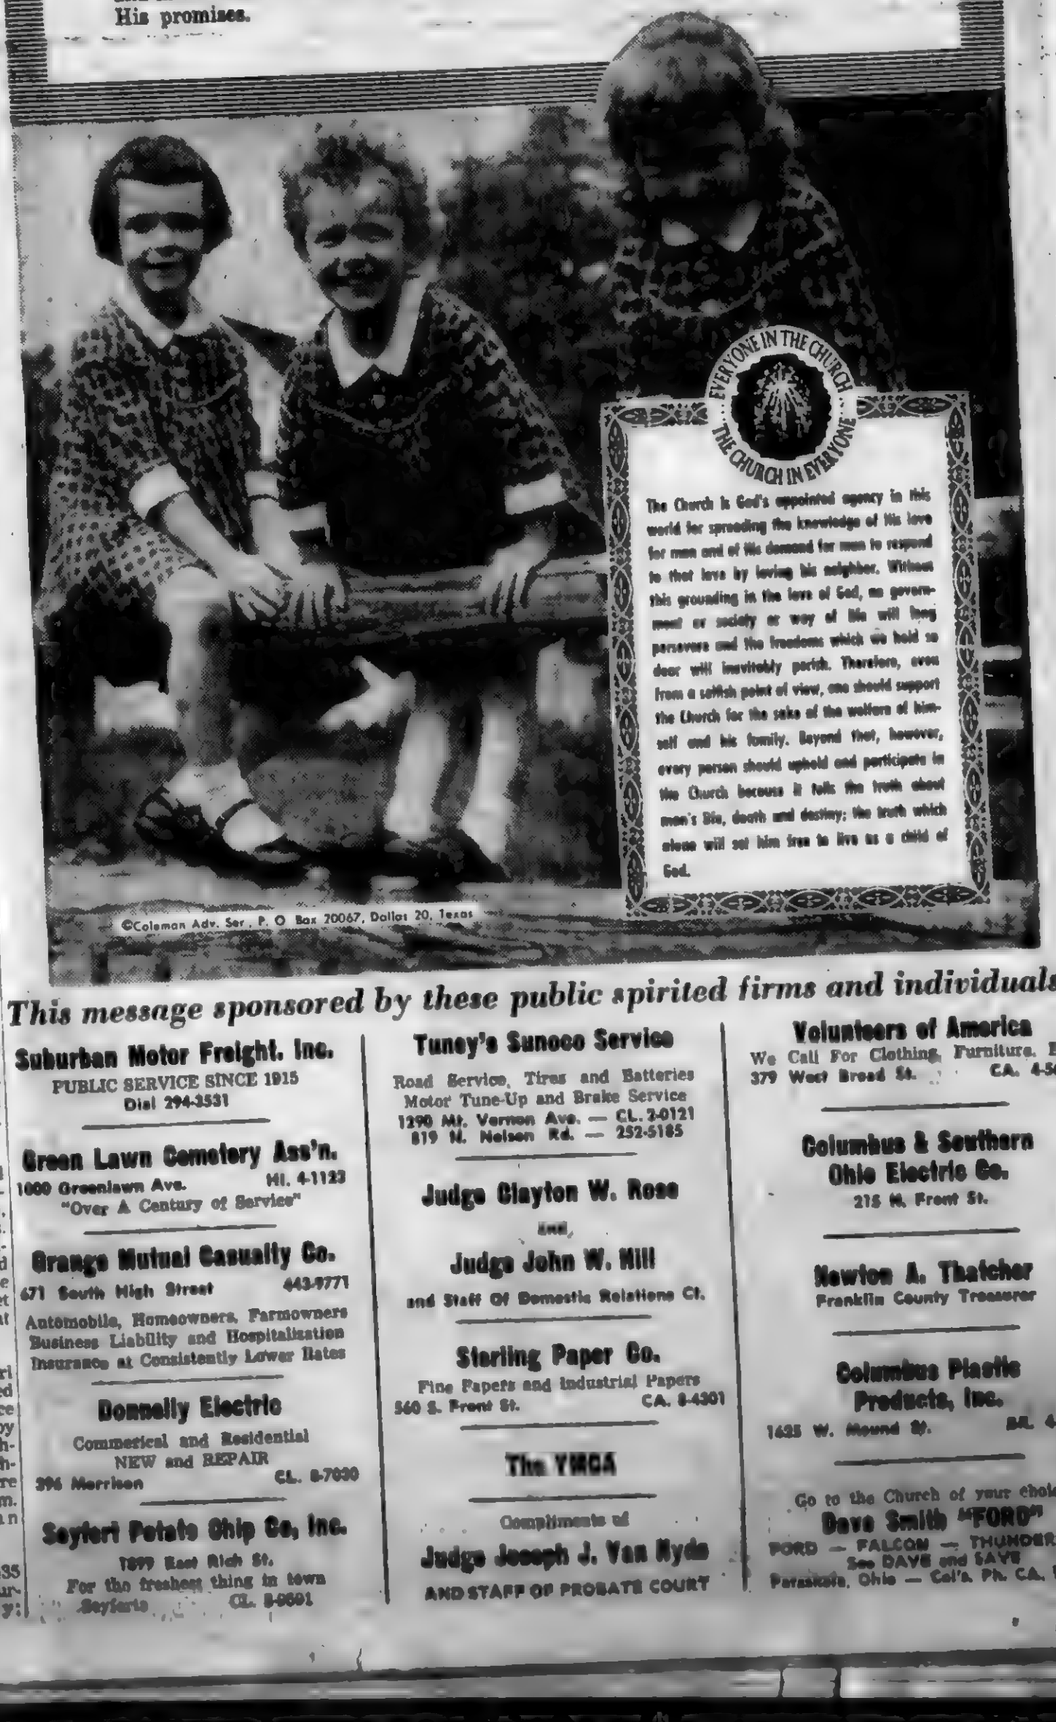
Dear friends,

A local citizen recently said, "I just can't make a personal call of sympathy when my friends are bereaved...I never know what to say."

We have observed that it isn't necessary to say anything. Your presence speaks for itself.

Friends mean more to a family, in time of bereavement, than anything else. The act of sharing their grief is deeply comforting.



Respectfully,

Arthur B Leach

How Precious OUR CHILDREN

In telling us of the heritage of the servants of the Lord, the prophet Isaiah says, "And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the peace of thy children." Isaiah 54:13. We want our children to be taught the ways of love for God, for their neighbor, and for their fellow man. We know that if they are educated in the ways of love, great will be their peace and happiness, creativeness, and productivity.

What other agency is assigned by our Lord the task of teaching love of God and man than the church? Take your children to church this Sunday and claim His promises.

Three Types Of Diplomas Predicted For High Schools

By CONNIE STEWART
Contributing Writer

"There has been more grouping going on in our schools than we have ever known before," said Dr Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus Schools, at a high school press conference Wednesday, Apr. 10.

Dr. Eibling stated that educators are trying to group students according to their ability but "advanced" classes must be "A" or "B" students to begin with."

He explained that when students are grouped entirely according to ability, three classes or types of diplomas should be offered. One would be a diploma with distinction for the advanced student; one would be an average diploma for the average student; and the third would be the modified diploma for the student in a modified or slower class.

A certificate of completion for those who complete the occupational service courses, as those now offered at Central High School, is also a possibility.

"There isn't a good answer," he said, as to whether communism will be taught in high schools in Columbus. He explained that many people feel that students must thoroughly understand democracy before they study communism to any extent.

What makes Henry wear such a happy look?

The happy reason is Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin — the new super-processed linseed oil that makes your home look like a million.
You'll be happy with the smoother, glossier, solidly covered look Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin gives when new. And you'll find that this new Poly-Lin paint looks better years later . . . in whiter white, or colors that stay fade-free bright.
You'll be happy to find that Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin sells for less than most advertised brands. And you save, too, because only 5 economical gallons per coat does the average 6-room home. See us today. Or ask your painter-decorator to use the paint that's made with Poly-Lin. He will know what you mean. Happy news travels fast.

Notice the tighter, tougher, locked-together structure of Dean & Barry Poly-Lin — the wonderful new super-processed linseed oil that makes your next house paint job years away. No premature aging, no unsightly dull-out. And Poly-Lin gives Dean & Barry house paint a much smoother and brighter look, too. Try it and see.

Columbus Fire Insurance Premium Rates May Drop

A team of engineers from the National Board of Fire Underwriters began a survey in Columbus this week which may lead to a reduction in fire insurance rates. The premium drop may reach five per cent, according to Mayor W. Ralston Westlake.

The survey will take from six to eight weeks to complete. Then the team will turn its findings over to the Ohio Fire Inspection Bureau, the organization which establishes the rates.

The engineers will analyze the water supply (location, pressure, etc.), the fire department and its new facilities (buildings and equipment), the new fire alarm system and the new series of building regulations.

Any rate changes will affect commercial establishments, as well as homeowners, the mayor said.

Dream To Aid Children With Exceptions Materializes

"MAYBE IT'S THE TRANSFORMER." Thomas Harwood, psychologist, finds an effective way of counselling a boy is at play, on a child's own level.

By BETTY DAFT

The modern, bright brick building on the corner of Souder and State-st is a dream-come-true for baffled educators and distraught parents . . . and a lifeline for the children most often misunderstood and neglected.

Here, children with exceptions find assistance and understanding, and an opportunity to build happy, well-adjusted and productive futures.

The rapid development of the Diocesan Child Guidance Center is matched only by the faith of its founder and director, Sr. Francois, SND.

Under her inspired leadership the center, opened in 1953 in third-floor quarters in the Diocesan office building, 246 E. Town-st, soon needed enlarged quarters, and moved to 1000 Bryden-rd. Finally, in the fall of 1961, it occupied the new, specially designed and equipped building across from Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Children of all ages, of all races and religions with exceptions ranging from speech and hearing defects, and emotional disturbance to an unusually high mentality, are helped here.

In their efforts to solve the increasingly complex problems of young people, from "Why Johnny can't read," to "Why Janey has lost contact with reality," parents and teachers are turning more and more to the center for help.

Sr. Francois and her expertly-trained staff study the uniqueness of each child's case through exhaustive physical and psychological testing, and recommend a course of training or treatment.

Children are treated on an out-patient plan. Very nominal fees are charged to those who can afford them, but none are refused because they cannot pay.

Careful, thorough physical examinations are given each child to determine his speech, hearing and seeing capabilities. Psychological testing follows. Finally, after consultations with the child and his parents, a remedial program is planned.

Babies are also given exhaustive physical and psychological testings at the center before being placed for adoption.

Sr. Francois, her name synonymous with the Child Guidance Center to Columbus educators, is the bridge between troubled children and their parents, and the highly specialized services at the center.

Her personal interest in each child and his needs, mirrored in her cheerful, friendly, informal manner, is reassuring to all who seek her help.

Of the center, Sr. Francois says, "With our heads in the clouds and our feet on the ground, we have dreamed this dream." Her faith that the dream would be matched with a million dollars and be materialized in the new Child Guidance Center never wavered.

"My hope," she continued, "is that we will be able to take care of all children with exceptions — the exceptionally bright children who will be brilliant leaders of tomorrow, the mentally retarded, the palsied, the deaf and the blind children.

"And," she said wonderingly, "just imagine — until this year we never charged. All our services were free to anyone who needed them. But it costs more to operate this building; our bills are so high.

"The best is so expensive and, of course," she added emphatically, "nothing but the best will do for our children."

There is surely no skimping on the quality of education in the center's staff. Ph.D. degrees and impressive records of training and practical experience are the rule.

Sr. Francois herself was a long time readying for her unique role at the center. Her career in the classroom covers many years of experience in academies of Notre Dame, from intermediate grades through high school levels.

She was, for a while, a member of the faculty of the University of Dayton, and supervisor of Notre Dame academies and high schools.

Her wealth of knowledge of children and their ways was gained through many years.

Her success she attributes to a deep reverence for the human personality and unshaken trust in God for guidance in caring for His children.

WITH THE SURE INSTINCT of the young, every child at the center recognizes the sincerity of Sr. Francois and responds to her friendship.

Jewish TAC To Give Stunt Nite

The Teenage Council of the Columbus Jewish Center will stage its 12th annual Stunt Night Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the center, 1125 College-av.

In the past, each of the 12 Jewish clubs has presented a short skit of its own. This year, however, there are 16 clubs, and a skit apiece required too much time. The clubs have been paired off—a male and a female club—to give a combination skit.

The entire production has been staged entirely by the teenagers. "No adults allowed," chimed Stunt Night chairmen Ted Sutton and Susie Wolman in unison.

Tickets for the expected sell out are available at the door at a price of 75 cents each.

Trash Gets New Incineration Time

Whitehall City Council Tuesday night passed an amendment to an existing ordinance restricting burning hours within Whitehall.

The original ordinance specified only in what type of containers trash and rubbish could be incinerated. The amendment restricts the hours for burning from sunrise to sunset.

The amendment, according to Ray Shipley, "doesn't stop cookouts, just the guy next door from burning tires—at midnight."

FLYING ARROWS HAVE TO WAIT

FIVE YOUTHFUL ARCHERS and their instructor are shown on are archery range at the YMCA's Camp Alfred L. Willson that will open its 1963 camping season June 16. The camp is on a 337-acre tract three miles from Bellefontaine, O. The program includes a full schedule of camping activities, including water sports on the 70-acre Lake Mac-O-Chee.

Creeping Socialism Sneaks Up In Many Ways

Charles W. Claybaugh, publisher of The News and Journal, Brigham City, Utah, and president of the National Editorial Association, concluded his remarks at the recent annual convention of the Ohio Newspaper Association with this modern fable

Although it is pointed to editors and publishers, we pass it on to our readers because it has wide application and speaks of a symptom of the times more in truth than in fable:

This modern day fable is about the young man who lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus and ate the government subsidized hot lunch. He entered the Army, and upon discharge enrolled in the state university journalism school under the GI bill.

Upon graduation, he married a public health nurse, and bought a farm with an FHA loan. He took a Civil Service job at a nearby Air Force base with the public information staff. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of the Veterans' land program and obtained emergency feed from the government. Later, he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments soon paid off his farm and ranch. His father and mother lived very comfortably on the ranch on their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied cheap electricity and the goverment helped clear his land. The county agent showed him how to terrace the land, and the government built him a fish pond and stocked it with fish.

His children grew up, entered public school, ate hot lunches, rode free school buses, played in public parks under supervision of the city and county recreation departments. He got another FHA loan on his farm and bought a newspaper, complaining because the Small Business Administration couldn't make loans in the mass media field.

As a stalwart and fearless leader of the community, he campaigned editorially for the federal highway program and was instrumental in getting a new post office building, circulated petitions seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his depressed area, got federal Hill-Burton funds to enlarge the county hospital, FAA aid to improve the airport, a grant-in-aid to enlarge the sewer plant, urban renewal funds to clean up the run-down section of town.

He went to Washington with a group from the Chamber of Commerce to ask the government to build a great dam so that the area could get the benefits of subsidized electricity, irrigation and recreation. He petitioned the government to give the abandoned air base to the county.

Then one day he wrote a burning editorial, addressed to his Congressman: "I wish to protest these excessive governmental expenditures and attendant high taxes," he wrote. "I believe in rugged individualism. People should stand on their own two feet without handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitution and the policies of states' rights."

"Does anyone in the audience happen to know an editor like that?" the speaker asked in conclusion. Needless to say, no one did. The only editor known to these Ohio editors who may have remotely resembled the fabled character never owned a farm, didn't have children or had never asked for a post office for his home town.

Frosting On The Cake

By

"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Quiet simple truth spoken modestly, is still the greatest single force for genuine leadership in all social progress. The ideal of the "common good" has always been kept alive in the minds and hearts of free men by those real leaders who dare to dream and then persist politely to make those dreams come true.

The ideal of excellency is always a great spiritual tonic, and all individuals who have made that priceless discovery about life and the living of it, achieved healthy soul status in this life and assured comfort and peace of mind about the life to come.

When we hear an evil thing about a neighbor, we must not repeat it. We must believe it untrue unless it is validated. And even if validated, pray for the moral recovery of the one accused.

Of all the deadly sins, the vilest is ingratitude, because the ingrate is both morally blind and spiritually sick. People who constantly take everything they can grab by hook or crook, are never happy individuals.

Snakes in the Garden of Eden are still doing business. They are Hurry and Worry. Hypertension kills more people than all the wars and disease put together.

How About Aid for Us TAXPAYERS?

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

So, Who's A Hero?

"Do I have within me the stuff of which heroes are made?"

This is a question that all men, from boyhood on, ask themselves. Most are lucky and never find the answer.

McPeek

The question began to plague me at about 10 when I read the verse about the boy who stood stupidly on the burning deck whence all the smart ones but he had scrammed . . . .

Perhaps if I hadn't read that gung-ho piece of literary goop I would have been content to go blissfully through life as a coward in ignorance . . . or maybe even a hero unaware.

As a boy I had little chance to find the answer. Never did I have the opportunity to rescue a fainting old lady from the path of an onrushing streetcar as did juvenile heroes in the Horatio Alger novels. But this, I consoled myself, may largely have been due to the total absence of streetcars in my small hometown.

Nor did a moment of possible glory present itself to me to rescue a swaddled infant from a burning house. Probably this was because the only fire I witnessed as a boy was when the drugstore on the square burned. Any thoughts I may have harbored to rush into the smoking building to see if any baby, swaddled or unswaddled, was in need of such attention vanished at the sight of candy bars scattered into the street with other debris thrown out by the firemen.

The bars quickly were gathered up in handfuls by myself and several other urchins, after which we fled to a cooler site to enjoy our unexpected feast. (Who needs to see the last ember extinguished?)

It was not until the war when I scrubbed my acneyed face and marched off to battle the Axis (actually, in keeping with Greyhound's great wartime slogan, "Leave the marching to the Marines, and ride with us," I took a bus), that I encountered my first real hero's test.

It came on my first visit to a kool-ade parlor where I and several other smartly uniformed warriors on pass had repaired to quench our thirst and brag about our training camp adventures. Vaulting onto stools, we clamored for service—whereupon a Sophie Tucker-type creature, clad in an alpaca T-shirt and GI physical training trunks, rumbled up from behind the bar.

"What'll it be, Patriots?" she rasped cheerfully. But then sighting my warm little eyes peering over the top of the mahogany, she curled her hemplike lips and muttered:

"Who let you in here Junior? Cub Scouts meet down the street in the 'Y'."

My first mortified impulse was to carom a spittoon off both her heads, but noting her log-sized biceps I restrained such manly instincts.

"Look, Sophie," I said snarling, "I don't know why you haven't been fitted with treads and sent off to the tank corps, but spare us your jokes; It's not amusement we want——it's aboozement."

"Funny, funny, Sonny!" she sneered. "But you're going to have to do your growing up somewhere else. If you don't crawl down from that stool and vamoose, I'm going to restage the War of the Bourbons and you'll be the first to get a Burple Heart."

So saying, she advanced menacingly around the end of the bar. Then came the moment of truth. I stood my ground . . . or rather, my bar stool.

Seconds later I found myself scrambling awkwardly across the sidewalk in front of the sawdust oasis. Mortification of mortifications! To be thrown bodily out of a saloon by a wartime female bartender.

I clung to a pole until my trembling subsided, then crawled down the street to the "Y" where a USO matron applied cold compresses to my flushed brow.

Needless to say, from that day on I was of little value to my country and spent the remaining two years of the war touring the more sedentary islands in the backwaters of the Pacific, a creature shorne of any possible heroic fibers.

Which probably explains why I married relatively late. (If one has to be a coward, why be a stupid coward?)

Through bluff and diplomacy, I thought I had concealed my weaknesses from my mate. But the other day, in a moment of forgetfulness, I recalled aloud Emerson's immortal words:

"Each man is a hero and an oracle to somebody, and to that person whatever he says has an enhanced value."

"Is that right, Dear? Do you think of me that way?" I asked my tender wife.

Guffawing widely and rolling on the floor, she exclaimed: "Good grief! You are a scream! Where do you get all that nonsense?"

ALAS! I'm a husband. Color me yellow.

Trade Supports Reds

To the Editor:

The citizens of America, and of the free world generally, must be mindful of the arrogant boast of one of Communism's chief architects. That boast concerned itself with the observation that the way to financing the eventual domination (by Russia) of the world lay in the area of world trade.

The workers in Communist-held countries labor to exhaustion for ridiculously low wages, which enables the Red masters to tighten their hold upon the workers and to expand their deceitful and fallacious theories into "movements" and "coups" in non-totalitarian countries.

The Communist system must have money in order to accomplish its duality of sinister purpose for the propaganda machine to be used against the minds of men, and for the machinery of violence and death.

Since the Soviet Russian propaganda is increasingly costly and demands new revenues, foreign trade became the object of attention.

The attention given foreign trade culminates in the appearance, upon local shelves, of slave-made merchandise. Retail merchants thus aid the conspiracy to enslave themselves and all free men. Through corruption and blackmail in the political field, through naivete in the citizen purchasing Soviet goods . . . to economic and social ruin of this nation, runs the continuity of Communist purpose.

This Card's To Your Credit

The week of Apr. 21-27 will mark the seventh observance of National Library Week. It is a good time to consider the power of the library card.

The wallet-sized card is unpretentious. It retains its shape, neatness and readability much longer than most other cards because it is much less used.

But it is as powerful a tool as any you will find in a factory.

The library card is an entrance visa, an exit visa, a passport and a magic carpet. It represents the opportunity to escape from the sometimes oppressive realities of life; yet it affords avenues of return to reality.

A trip to the library can provide us with the means of touring the world from our living room easy chair. We can travel to outer space without donning a space suit; increase our knowledge in the arts, sciences, or world affairs; or relax by reading nonsense rhymes to the smallfry.

If you don't already have a library card, we remind you that the service it represents is one of the few not affected by inflation — it's still free.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Do Away With Sawdust Sandwiches!

If we can ever cure the asininities of the "look-say" method of teaching reading, which has condemned many hundreds of thousands of young Americans to word-guessing, it will be time to start in on the content of grade-school textbooks.

These beautifully printed and illustrated books include texts so remarkable for their dullness that it is little wonder young America can hardly wait to get back to the TV. Most of them have been steam cleaned of every vestige of excitement, of inspiration and romance.

Jones

There is no reference to God or religion. This is regarded as controversial. There is no story of war. If we don't think about it, maybe it will go away. There is nothing that would give rise to patriotism. How old-fashioned!

I have before me a fifth-grade reader, "Days and Deeds" published last year by Scott, Foresman and Company and standard in many American school systems.

With a puerile vocabulary, it discusses such things as Uncle Lem's new outboard motor, John's lawn-mowing business, and how Wally, the bloodhound, helped Jerry, the police dog, find his missing bone.

I have also before me a reprint of McGuffey's Fifth Eclectic Reader, published in 1879. Let's skip through the list of contents: "The Relief of Lucknow," London "Times"; "Battle of Blenheim" by Southey; "Sands of Dee" by Charles Kingsley; "An Old-Fashioned Girl" by Louisa May Alcott; an account of a riot in the Massachusetts State Prison; supposed speech of John Adams by Daniel Webster; excerpts from "The Virginian" by Thackeray and from Hamlet; "Dissertation on Roast Pig" by Charles Lamb; "A Frigate Chase in the English Channel" by James Fenimore Cooper; "The Boston Massacre" by William Wirt; "Religion, the Only Basis of Society" by William Channing.

Blood and thunder? Plenty of it. Heroism? Of course. Moral homilies? In profusion. Religious preachments? Unashamed. Patriotism? With pride. And, in addition, tough words and involved sentences that would flabbergast the fifth-grader who has been brought up on the thin consomme of today's "Days and Deeds" series.

On June 20, 1961, Dr. Max Rafferty, school superintendent of La Canada, Calif., made a speech that caused a sensation and resulted in his election last fall as superintendent of public instruction over the dead bodies of the progressive educators. He asked: "What happened to patriotism?" and I quote:

"We have been so busy educating for 'life adjustment' that we forgot to educate for survival. Words that America had treasured as a rich legacy, that had sounded like trumpet calls above the clash of arms and the fury of debate, we allowed to fade from the classrooms.

"'Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable.'

"'We have met the enemy and they are ours.'

"'Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute'."

Search for these towering phrases in vain today in too many of our schools. The golden words are gone. Patriotism feeds on hero worship and we decided to abolish heroes.

The quest for the Golden Fleece has been crowded out by the visit of Tom and Susan to the zoo. The deeds of the heroes before Troy are now passe, and the peregrinations of the local milkman as he wends his way among the stodgy streets of Blah City have taken over. Bobby and Betty pursue this insipid goal of a ride in the district garbage truck while the deathless ride of Paul Revere goes unsung.

For Roland at Roncesvalles we have substituted Muk-Muk the Eskimo boy. It is, I think, significant that education during the past three decades has deliberately debunked the hero to make room for the jerk!

No wonder these heroless American kids often broke down before the Red brainwashers in the Korean prison camps. They had no points of reference. They had no understanding of the traditions of liberty. In many cases, the Communists were delighted that there was so little to erase. It was a cinch to unteach those who had never been taught.

In commenting on a modern sixth reader, "Bright Peaks," put out by Houghton Mifflin, Dr. Russell Kirk says: "With the exception of a poem by Sara Teasdale, another short poem by Robert Frost, and an autobiographical piece by John Muir, every selection is by a fourth or fifth-grade writer."

Why? Could it be that the fifth and sixth graders can't read the classics as they did in the days of McGuffey? Could it be that the bankruptcy of the "look-say" method and the stubborn refusal of many school administrations to admit the error have required them to pretend that there is special virtue in extending kindergarten-style reading to the upper grades?

It's time America got a new set of textbooks. It's time we quit boring bright students to death with the banalities of John and Jane visiting the henhouse. It's time we put romance and courage and excitement and some frank moral indoctrination before our children in their most impressionable years.

We don't have to go back to McGuffey.

There's plenty of good writing. But let's give our children some literary taste, some ethical calories and patriotic vitamins.

To hell with these sawdust sandwiches!

Evils Of Liquor A Blot On History

One of our major problems in America is drunkenness.

Day after day, year after year, liquor threatens to eat away the luster of our gleaming past, and corrode the brightness of our future. The creeping paralysis of liquor is sapping our morals, ruining our homes, and luring people away from the church. Many Christians have been too smug about this great evil. Negatively they have folded their hands and said: "Drunkenness does not bother me," while at the same time they do nothing to "bother drunkenness," and to destroy its devastating power.

Rev. Anthony

Strong drink caused Noah to commit the first sin following the flood. It brought a moral blackout to the family of Lot. It played a tragic part in David's sins of adultery and murder. It was employed by Absalom when he murdered Amnon. It debauched and killed Nabal, a descendant of grand old Caleb. Ahasuerus dethroned good Queen Vashti because she refused to promenade her beauty before his drunken party. Mighty Babylon fell while Belshazzar with a thousand of his lords drank wine and praised the gods of gold and silver. John the Baptist got his head cut off at a drunken birthday party.

Evangeline Booth, who, with her Salvation Army, went around the world gathering up the human wreckage from the streets and gutters, never spoke truer words than when she declared: "Drink has drained more blood, hung more crepe, sold more homes, plunged more people into bankruptcy, armed more villains, slain more children, snapped more wedding rings, defiled more innocence, blinded more eyes, twisted more limbs, dethroned more reason, wrecked more manhood, dishonored more womanhood, broken more hearts, blasted more lives, driven more to suicide, and dug more graves than any other poisonous scourge that ever swept its death-dealing waves across the world."

The Bible very emphatically declares, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." I stand with the Bible on the question of drunkenness. Any sin which can keep a man from inheriting the kingdom of God, I must denounce; and the Bible says: "No drunkard . . . shall inherit the kingdom of God."

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY — The files of Ada County, Idaho, revealed that 96 per cent of juvenile delinquent cases in that county, coming before the court, involved liquor. But what can we expect when many modern parents have liquor in the family cabinet?

IMMORALITY AND DIVORCE — Drunkenness not only dulls the mind and depresses the spirit; it inflames the baser passions and brings out the animal in man. One expert authority estimates that more than 50 per cent of the divorces in America are the result of, or are related to, drunkenness.

DRINK IS A KILLER — At least 10,000 people die every year, and more than 250,000 are wounded in accidents on our streets and highways involving people who are drunk or nearly drunk.

We could go on compiling facts depicting the evils of drunkenness, but that would be useless. Drunkenness is not merely a disease — it is a vicious, ugly, devastating sin.

If you are bound down by this evil habit, come to Christ today, confessing and forsaking your sins, and by faith accept Him as your personal Saviour and He will change the desire of your heart and fill it with something that satisfies. He will give you happiness without a headache, real joy without a hangover, and a thrill without a highball.

PRIZES FOR DIAMOND COUNTING

CULMINATING the month-long celebration of their 75th Diamond Anniversary, Main Federal Savings and Loan Association presented, three of the winners of the "Count The Diamonds" contest with their prizes. Harold C. Esper, president, hands Eva Slosian, 2865 Eastmoreland-dr, the first prize, a lady's diamond studded wristwatch. Watching are Mrs. Wayne Davis, 1851 Richmond-rd, second prize winner and Mrs. Mary Blankenship, 190 S. Richmond-av, third prize winner, who will both receive gifts of lightweight luggage.

Instant Car Wash Offers Speedy, Inspected Service

"We specialize in wash jobs only and like to feel we give the customer full value for his money." Those were the words of Ray Kuhner, manager and part-owner of Instant Car Wash, 3943 E. Broad-st.

Offering the advantage of fast service, Instant Auto Wash completely scrubs the outside, washes the inside, cleans the tires, vacuums the seats, rinses the outside, cleans the windshield and dries an auto in from eight to 10 minutes.

This is done, according to Kuhner, by utilizing the latest and best in automatic washing equipment along with a staff of from 12 to 20 men to complete the job.

"The job is not completely automatic, but much of the work is done by machines to speed up the process," said the manager.

"We use a steam cleaner for much of the chrome, the wheels and hard to get at places on the outside of the car," he added. "We then use brushes for the sides and top of the auto and a 60 horse-power blower is used to quickly dry the car. In the meantime members of the staff are busy cleaning tires, vacuuming the inside and wiping off excess moisture with lint-free towels."

The whole process takes less than 10 minutes, according to Kuhner, and is then inspected to make sure nothing has been missed.

Established at the same location 10 years ago, Instant Car Wash has a reputation for offering quality work and the advantage of very fast service. Experienced personnel are on hand at all times to handle any and all car wash jobs.

The only problem, according to Kuhner, is that it might be pretty hard to shave while waiting in the car for the wash job to be completed, because the staff is nearly as busy cleaning up the inside as they are the outside. It might be pretty hard to shave with a vacuum sweeper running and with several men polishing the windows, scrubbing the dash and wiping off the interior chrome.

Over 3300 To Take Part In PTA Music Festival

Almost 3,300 Columbus Public School children will be participating in the 27th annual Parent-Teachers Association Music Festival Friday, Apr. 19, 8 p.m. at St. John Arena.

Kenneth R. Keller, director of music education, said over 1,000 senior high, 900 junior high, 1,000 sixth graders, 125 senior high orchestra members and members of a junior orchestra, stage band and dancers will be performing.

Theme of the program is "Accent on Youth." One of the features will be piano selections played by Miles Fusco, North High School. Following the processional, "Pledge of Allegiance" and "Star Spangled Banner," the program is as follows:

The combined choral and instrumental groups open the program with "While We're Young," directed by Keller, who is participating in his 23rd PTA Music Festival.

"It's a Good Day," 11 senior high school choirs, directed by Jerry Maxwell; "Freddy and His Fiddle," junior high school festival orchestra, directed by Richard Wallick.

"This Old Man," sixth grade festival chorus, directed by Mrs. Katharine S. McGill; "Three Sketches for Strings," senior high school festival orchestra, directed by Charles C. Geedey.

"Fifty Nifty United States," junior high school festival chorus, directed by Mrs. Jean S. Porter; "O Brother Man," senior high school festival choir and senior high school festival orchestra, directed by Paul L. Morris.

"Relay Race," junior high school festival orchestra, directed by Glenn K. Harriman; "The Orchestra Song," sixth grade festival chorus.

Senior high school festival stage band and Walnut Ridge dance group, directed by Miss Garlen Habenicht and Jim Hill.

"Halls of Ivy," junior high school festival orchestra, directed by Stanton C. Gilliland; "Dear Hearts and Gentle People," junior high school festival chorus, directed by Mrs. Kathleen Woodrow.

"West Side Story," senior high school festival orchestra, directed by Howard Cozart; "All Things Bright and Beautiful," sixth grade festival chorus.

"When the Lord Restored Zion," junior high school festival chorus, directed by E. Carroll Schick; "Concerto for Piano, Opus 16, Allegro Moderato," senior high school festival orchestra, directed by Randal W. Near.

"O Come, Let Us Sing," senior high school festival choir, directed by Max Bunker; "God of Our Fathers," combined choral and instrumental groups, directed by Kenneth R. Keller; "Fanfare and Grand Recessional," directed by Daniel H. Baker.

Proceeds from the program go for scholarships and student aid, as well as to meet the PTA Council's budget requirements.

Science, Health To Be Published In Paperback

A paperback edition will be published on May 3 of one of the world's most widely-circulated religious books — "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

This book, for nearly 70 years, has been read along with the Bible at all Christian Science church services, in place of sermons by ministers.

Although this will be the first paperback edition of Science and Health, the book has already reached sales of several millions since it first appeared in 1875.

The new 700-page paperback, like all other editions of Science and Health, will be published by the trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, in Boston. Printed on standard book paper, it will be priced at $1.95, the publishers have announced.

It will be distributed by Harper and Row, Inc., of New York, Evanston and London, to book stores throughout the world, and also by the publishers' agent to Christian Science reading rooms.

Dec. 12, 1918, President Wilson reached Brest, France, where he was received with ceremony, enroute to Versailles to participate in the peace negotiations following World War I.

These Tips Will Promote Safety In Family Pool

Whether you now own a swimming pool or hope to build one some day, knowing the rules of swimming pool safety may make a vital difference to you and your family.

Here are some protective pointers:

1. Arrange for an adult to be present whenever the children are in for a swim. In case of neighborhood kids, make an informal rule that no small children will be allowed unless accompanied by an adult.

2. Be sure that swimmers stay out of the pool for at least an hour after meals.

3. Have a life preserver handy — an inflated inner tube is fine.

4. A high fence around the pool will protect wandering tots — and possibly save you from negligence charges. Keep the gate closed whenever the pool is not in use.

5. Electric lights in the pool area make night swimming safer, help prevent falls into the pool.

6. Filters should be run so that pool water is completely filtered every 18-24 hours.

7. Filters must be cleaned every 3 to 10 days.

8. Keep water well-chlorinated to fight the growth of algae and bacteria.

9. During the off-season, pool should be constantly covered with a plastic or canvas top strong enough to support the weight of a person who might fall or step onto it.

Choosing Right Size Vital In Buying Air Conditioner

When buying a room air-conditioner, it's important to select one with the right cooling power. There's no point in buying a 12,000 BTU/hr unit if an 8,000 BTU/hr unit will do the job. A unit with excessive cooling capacity won't do a better job, but it will cost more to buy and operate.

COMPACT air conditioner keeps kitchen free from heat and heavy food odors. Model shodwn by General Electric.

Room air conditioner dealers are equipped to advise families on what size units they'll need and where they should be installed, but dealers need information to arrive at an accurate estimate.

Pertinent Points

The homeowner should be able to tell a dealer:

1 The size and use of the area to be cooled.

2. Number and location of windows.

3. What exposure outside walls have to the sun.

4. Whether electric circuits are 115, 208 or 230 volts.

5. Whether ceiling or roof above is insulated.

The National Better Business Bureau, Inc., in a current booklet on room air conditioners, advises families to draw a simple floor plan to show the area to be cooled in relation to the rest of the house. Using the above information, a dealer can determine the cooling capacity needed in BTU's per hour.

Blend With Decor

Families who buy room air conditioners this year will find it's easier than ever to get a unit to meet specific cooling needs. In addition, many new room air conditioners blend better with the decor of a room.

The larger-capacity units are becoming increasingly popular. Often one or two units are installed in the walls while a house is being built to provide air conditioning for the entire house.

Some families place the through-the-wall models under a window, while others prefer a spot high on a wall to provide maximum circulation of conditioned air.

For Added Rooms

Home owners who add a room to their house can easily install batts of blankets of mineral wool insulation themselves, as long as this is done before interior walls and ceiling are finished. The basic tools needed are a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun.

Here are a few installation tips to keep in mind:

1. Always install insulation with vapor barrier toward heated-in-winter side of walls, ceiling and floors.

2. Use plenty of staples, no more than six inches apart.

3. Insulation should fit snugly between studs and and joists.

4. Insulation with a reflective facing should be installed to provide air space between it and the inside wall.

Through the concern for the freedom of others our own heritage of freedom is best preserved and strengthened.—J. Irwin Miller

Most Homes Need More 'Housepower'

To keep pace with modern electric living, wiring in four out of every five homes needs upgrading. With twice as many electric appliances and much more lighting than they originally had, most homes 15 years or more years old are limping along with wiring virtually unchanged since the house was built.

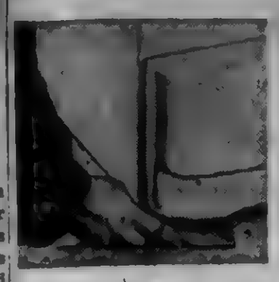
The result is that when appliances go on, lights often flicker or dim, the TV picture shrinks or winks, radios fade and fuses blow. Other symptoms of outdated wiring include "octopus connections" in outlets and extension cords strung around rooms.

In an adequately wired house, a family can take full advantage of the electric appliances it contains, conveniently, safely and with assurance that there is sufficient power to permit them to operate at peak performance.

For example, full housepower wiring permits the use of an increasingly popular appliance, the room air conditioner, without the need for additional wiring.

This is the kind of wiring always found in Gold Medallion Homes, which are all-electric homes designed around the concept of modern electric living. Wiring in these homes must conform to the American Standard Requirements for Residential Wiring, which are an excellent guide for the adequate wiring of older homes, too.

One requirement for adequate wiring is a 100 ampere electric service entrance. In older homes this would replace the 30 or 60 ampere service entrances with which most of them originally were equipped.



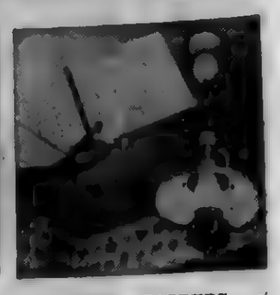
Another feature of an adequately wired home is the generous use of branch circuits. These include general-purpose circuits for lights, radios and the like; small appliance circuits for electric housewares such as toasters, waffle irons and broilers, and heavy-duty circuits to serve single major electric appliances, such as electric ranges.

Full housepower wiring also calls for electric outlets located so that no point along the floor line in any usable wall space is more than six feet from an outlet. In the kitchen, one outlet for every four feet of counter space is required.

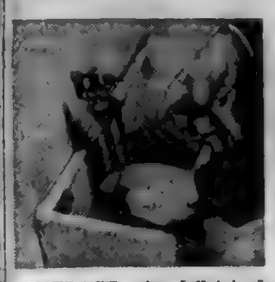
More and more homeowners are turning to multi-outlet systems to assure them of outlets where they are needed for now and the future.

These continuous outlet strips provide electrical outlets so placed that they will always be available. In general, a multi-outlet system consists of a metal channel with outlets located at predetermined intervals, from six inches to five feet, along a continuous strip.

Ways To Eliminate Bothersome Home Noises



VIBRATING refrigerator can create distracting noise. Shore it up with a resilient mounting.



DRIP, DRIP, DRIP from faucet is nerve-wracking. A new, easy-to-install washer will stop it.

HEAVY DRAPES will absorb a lot of noise from outdoors and prevent it spreading through house.

RUBBER CASTERS on chairs will eliminate a lot of squealing and squeaking; save floors, too.

REPLACE noisy toilet tank flush mechanism with the silent type. Out-of-order tank wastes water.

BANGING doors are very annoying. Install mechanical door closers to stop this aggravation.

LOOSE PIPES are apt to rattle in their clamps, get on everybody's nerves. Simply tighten clamps!

TO ABSORB noise, install acoustical materials on ceilings. About 200 patterns available.

Steady Savings On Fuel Bills Soon Cover Entire Cost Of Installation

IT'S EASY to install insulation blankets on exposed ceilings and walls of attics. This do-in-yourself project helps keep the house warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Practically everyone can think of exciting ways to improve a home — but they all cost money. However, there is one home improvement that has consistently appealed to even the most budget-minded of families: it's having their homes fully insulated to meet recommended standards.

BLANKETS of insulation are installed on the attic floor.

BATTS of mineral Wool are readily installed between ceiling joists.

HOSE pneumatically forces loose mineral wool into spaces between wall studs to insulate home. Individual shingles were removed and holes cut in sheathing to admit host nozzle. At Job's end, shingles were replaced.

These families reason that:

1. Insulation will pay for itself in a few years in savings on fuel bills.

2. It will continue to save money for them indefinitely.

3. If the house is sold, the original cost of the installation usually will be completely recovered because insulation is a permanent improvement.

4. They would welcome the added comfort: a warmer home in winter, a cooler home in summer.

Various studies conducted through the years show that when a house is thoroughly insulated, families will realize a saving on heating of from 30 to 40 per cent compared to their inadequately insulated homes. It doesn't take long at that rate for savings on heating to equal the initial cost.

Promotes Comfort

Insulation provides added comfort. The temperatures throughout the house are even and easy to maintain; chilling drafts eliminated.

Families who want to make sure they get optimum results from their insulation can follow the Quality Home requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. These call for insulation to provide an installed resistance to heat flow of R-19 or R-24 for ceilings, R-11 for walls, and R-13 for floors.

The "R" number indicates its resistance to the passage of heat. The higher the number, the more effective the insulation.

The development of new installation techniques using "blowing wool" has made it possible to insulate older houses without damaging existing walls. To insulate the walls of an older house, a contractor first removes sections of the exterior siding. He then cuts neat holes into the sheathing and with pneumatic equipment forces the insulation through a hose into the spaces between the wall studs. After the walls are filled, the exterior siding is carefully replaced.

In the attic, the hose is often brought in through a louver, and the mechanic simply fills the spaces between the joists to the proper level. Batts or blankets are used where required.

Bags of blowing wool used to insulate existing houses are marked with the coverage needed to provide the resistance to heat flow specified for each of the key areas of a house.

WHOA, THERE! NOT SO FAST

Someone's Counting Chickens Before They're Hatched

Editor's Note: In the past several years we have encountered many unhappy people who have purchased homes only to find that the real facts of their purchase were unraveled after the deal was closed. Unincorporated areas are finding themselves faced with real school problems as a result of promises made by developers. We asked our reporter to inquire about a new housing project in this county. Names and locations obviously have been changed . . . but not the facts.

By JANE ROBINSON

Anyone shopping for a house in "Boondock Bungalows" subdivision last Thursday could meet "J. O. Doaks."

He was on hand to show model homes and discuss financing with those interested in the subject.

Though describing himself as "an office boy sent out to keep an eye on the furniture," he also revealed that he was one of the two who must pass on credit before a sale can be approved. Not many office boys are given this responsibility.

He pointed out to at least one person the site where "an elementary school will be built this summer." He stated that the local school board had bought 14 acres for the purpose, However, he did not argue the point when reminded that though acreage was set aside for a school when the subdivision was platted for approval by the Regional Planning Commission, no purchase has been made.

Confirming his statement that the building would be started soon was the project superintendent for "Boondock Bungalows."

Asked what would be done if by any chance this school did not materialize by September, the "office boy" explained that "shell houses" would be thrown up to provide classrooms until construction was complete.

Such a pat solution would be welcome news to those in the school district who have been alerted to the possibility of double sessions for at least some of the primary grades.

The only sour note is that the announcement of such "school board plans" is news to the executive head of the district (called here John Brown).

"I have never discussed school plans with any representative of 'Boondock'," he stated definitely, when informed of the new picture of the situation.

"Brown" once again listed the facts of the situation.

Ten, not 14, acres of land were set aside when the development was platted, and can be purchased by the school board at $3,000 an acre.

Looking forward to a big jump in enrollment this fall as about a thousand families are expected to move into the subdivision, the board has on the drawing boards plans for an elementary school at the site. This is only part of future construction the board feels must be undertaken.

Three times a building bond issue has been put on the ballot. Three times it has failed.

In May, approval is being asked for $1.2 million worth of construction bonds. As a 60 per cent majority is required to pass an issue in an odd-year election, there remains a big "if" in any building plans.

The length of time which it takes to advertise for bids and award contracts makes it virtually impossible for construction to be completed by September under any circumstances.

"Brown" stated that at one time the board had discussed the use of "shell homes" for schools with "Podunk Patios," major builder in the subdivision.

However, according to the executive head, the board decided the plan was impractical as it would involve considerable expense for makeshift facilities.

"Doaks" was overheard stating what monthly tax rates will be on each of the two homes. (One model is more expensive than the other.)

Told of the figures given, "Brown" agreed they were reasonably accurate, "if the bond issue FAILS."

A call was later made to a "Podunk" salesman.

The representative at first said he believed school construction was to begin immediately, but when asked if there was not a bond issue that must first be passed, he said he would check and call back.

This he did, with the advice to call "Brown," as he was the person best qualified to report on the school board plans.

"I would not want to tell you one thing and have him tell you something else," he said.

"Brown" said that the president of "Podunk Patios" has attended several school board meetings at the board's request and is well informed of the school situation.

Retired Minister Dies At Home Devotions

After serving his church for over 40 years, Rev. Carl H. Heminghaus, retired Lutheran minister, died Monday while at devotions in his home, 3383 Broadmoor-av.

Service was to be held Thursday afternoon with Dr. Edward C. Fendt, president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, and Rev. Samuel Goers officiating.

Mr. Heminghaus retired as minister of the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, 492 Oakwood-av, last year, but this week held the Easter service at the Capital University chapel, where his old congregation has been meeting.

A native of Columbus and Capital graduate, he headed churches in Hubbard, O., and Baltimore, Md. before returning here in 1948.

Taking a prominent part in inter-church affairs, he was for many years the vice-president of the Board of Inner Missions.

In addition to his wife Helen and two daughters, he is survived by five grandchildren, a brother and four sisters. His daughters, Mrs. Helen Simone and Mrs. Jeanne Horne, live in Wisconsin and California, respectively.

Do not get out of bed until you have set your thought on God. Remind yourself that He is waiting to illumine your spirit each morning as you awake. Never get into bed with a burdened or a heavy mind. Night is a holy time, a time of renewing and refreshment. — Muriel Lester.

GREAT DAY IN HER LIFE . . . moving into her new home! Mom and Dad knew she'd like it . . . that's one of the reasons they bought it . . . to give her a nice place to live, love, laugh and be happy in for many years to come. Buckeye Federal helped, too . . . by providing low-cost home financing, featuring advantages not found everywhere. Other families planning to buy or build new homes can expect the same fine, friendly home financing services, too . . . at Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association's Great Eastern Shopping Center office, or the main office at 36 E. Gay, with drive-in and customer parking at 43 E. Long.

Brachin To Take Higher Post At Cap

Richard K. Brackin

New assistant director of admissions at Capital University is 36-year-old Richard K. Brackin.

Brackin, a 1956 Capital graduate, joined the university staff in 1958 as an admissions counselor. Prior to 1958, he taught business education in Carrollton (Ohio) High School and worked as editor and advertising manager of the Scio Herald.

Cadet Staff Is Named To Head Whitehall CAP

Whitehall Civil Air Patrol Squadron Commander 1st Lt. Harlan Horne announced the appointment of his complete cadet staff last week. They include:

Raymond Bull, cadet commander; John Rowley, executive; Thomas Isner, information; Marvin Waugh, supply; Michael McConnell, operations; James Donoghue, training; James Cook, finance; Patrick McCarrick, adjutant; George Hivick, administrative NCO; Stanley Robinson, first sergeant; Roger Scher, "A" flight leader, William Weber, assistant; Glen Burke, "B" flight leader, Bruce McLeish, assistant.

The staff is chosen on leadership ability, military bearing, academic rating and personal experience.

The Civil Air Patrol headquarters is located in the rectory of the Holy Spirit Church, E. Broad-st and Yearling-rd.

Do not wait for great strength before setting out, do not wait to see very clearly before starting; one has to walk toward the light. Take this step! Perform this act! —Vernier

Walnut Ridge World

By PATTY WHITE and TERRY WOODS

Kathy Vian, John Guzzino and Tom Wessel received superior rating in the District Science Fair at French Field House on the OSU campus last Saturday and will participate in the State Science Fair in Wilberforce, O., on Apr. 26.

A superior rating was received by the Senior High Girls' Ensemble last Saturday. The Boys' Senior High Ensemble received an excellent rating in the state contest.

Teachers of Walnut Ridge were given a tea after school Tuesday by the Senior FTA club.

The annual PTA music festival will be presented tomorrow evening at St. John's Arena. Tickets may be purchased at Walnut Ridge Music Department for 50 cents each.

Christine Lindenberg left today on a seven-day trip through Washington, D.C., Gettysburg, Penn., and the historic and scenic places of Virginia. Chris won the trip for writing the winning article in the American Legion Essay Contest this year.

Parents who want help in elementary school work for their children may call the Walnut Ridge Guidance Department for information on hiring high school students to tutor this summer.

Seniors with 2.5 average or better will take over the duties of many of the Walnut Ridge teachers on "Senior Teacher Day" next Tuesday.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Reader Backs Whitehall Trash Collector's Position

I read with sorrow and sympathy the statements by Whitehall councilmen Ray Shipley and Darrel Todd criticizing the North Haulage Co. (garbage collectors) because they had the fortitude and intestinal stamina to fulfill the terms of their contract with the City of Whitehall.

We had a cold winter causing almost everyone difficulty of some kind.

The railroads were running late due to snow, burst lines and freezeups, but they kept plugging and finally were back on schedule.

The meter-readers for the gas company were behind schedule, but they plugged along and were eventually back on schedule.

Garbage collections in Columbus and Franklin County were tardy, all this because of conditions over which had no jurisdiction.

The North Haulage Co., was no exception, but they plugged away, even late at night, to fulfill their commitment to Whitehall. Now they are criticized for doing it.

Councilmen Ray Shipley and Darrel Todd say they are for a city-owned garbage collection at increased cost. Sure, they want political jobs for politicians, a chance to build a bigger political machine in Whitehall.

I don't believe in profiting by another man's adversity, political or otherwise.

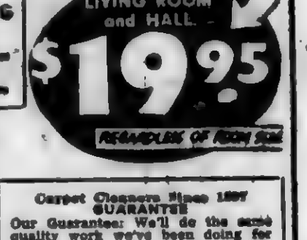
Educators To Judge Capital Arts Festival

Judges for the Capital University Creative Arts Festival being held through Apr. 20 were announced Thursday. They include:

- Sandra Burris, '61, teaching at Franklin Junior High School, in drama;
- Richard Phipps, Worthington schools art supervisor, fine arts;
- Vickie Blaine, Ohio State University, interpretative dance;
- Elaine Hottenroth, Worthington schools English teacher, literary arts;
- Fred K. Schadler, Mus.D, teacher and composer, music.



The Creative Arts Festival is being held in the Schumacher Gallery, Huber Hall, on campus.

The earliest known mention of church pews was made in a will signed by John Rocke of London, Dec. 11, 1488.
